SUDDEN DEATH AT KINDERSLY SASK., OF MR. J. T. JACKSON

Shocking news reached Mrs. T. F. Jackson, 318 Boswell Ave., this morning, by telegram, informing her of her husband's death at Kindersley, Sask., which occurred from heart failure after a three days' illness, from acute rheumatism.

The sad duty of informing her of her loss fell to Rev. W. C. Reddiford, pastor of Park street Baptist church, of which the deceased was an active member previous to his leaving Peterborough last year.

In the last letter received from him by Mrs. Jackson he stated that he was in excellent health. He had just purchased a homestead, and intended having Mrs. Jackson come west to reside in the autumn.

Mr. Jackson when here was proprietor of a grocery store at the corner of Aylmer and Charlotte streets. He was very well known and generally liked. He was a consistent member of the Park street church, and a graduate of Woodstock College. Before coming to Peterborough he resided at Port Hope. He was 40 years of age and is survived by his widow.

The body will be brought to Port Hope for interment.

Rev. Mr. Reddiford will officiate at the funeral services.

RATEPAYERS COMPLAIN THAT GARBAGE IS NOT BEING REMOVED

The garbage collection system has not yet entered upon smooth sailing as was shown last night at the City Property Committee meeting when several of the members told stories about complaints they are receiving from citizens whose garbage is not being collected, but for which they are paying good money.

Garbage collector Downer has not yet affixed his signature to the contract, claiming that the by-law does not enforce with sufficient definitness the places where garbage must be placed for the convenience of the collector. Ald. Duncan, chairman of the committee, however, said that he had been receiving complaints over people leaving their garbage on the sidewalks and in places where its aroma is decidedly prominent and unwelcome.

Other members of the committee told their little stories of similar complaints.

Ald. Duncan wanted definite action taken at once in order that the people might know where they are at. If the garbage collector will not put his name to the contract, the chairman advised having the garbage collected by corporation help.

A hitch confronts the committee if they adopt that plan, owing to lack of suitable dumping grounds.

The committee finally decided to have the chairman inspect the three properties previously offerd in North Monaghan, with a view to having Council on Tuesday evening next, take definite action in regard to employing men to remove garbage, etc., and taking care of the same on property acquired for that purpose.

Tenders for coal were ordered to be divided among the different dealers who tendered at $7.50 per ton.

ROLLER RINK DENOUNCED BY REV. FATHER McCOLL

The roller rink came in for some scathing criticism from the pulpit of St. Peter's Cathedral on Sunday evening during the course of the sermon delivered by Rev. Father McColl.

The rector denounced the resort, attributing it as the cause of the moral downfall of numerous frequenters of the place, particularly young girls.

When seen this morning on the matter, Rev. Father McColl said;

"You may say that I have forbidden my people from attending the place, and furthermore, they do not go, save perhaps an occasional small boy, who slips in. The worst feature about it is the fact that small children are granted admission.

"If there is a Social and Moral Reform Society here, it is time they woke up, and demonstrated that they are not merely all talk, but capable of action as well.

"I am thoroughly opposed to the place," he said, "and I have spoken from the pulpit against it right along."

H. LeBRUN & CO.'S OFFER FOR MONTREAL STOCK ACCEPTED

H. LeBrun & Co. received word from Montreal to-day that their offer for a large stock of clothing in that city, has been accepted. The details of the negotiations were given a few days ago.

The goods will be shipped to Peterborough at once and on their arrival will be offered to the public at prices which will render this one of the greatest sales of men's and boys' clothing ever held in this city.

Full particulars will be published later. It is probable that when the sale is inaugurated the firm will include some of their present stock in the reduced lists and furnishing goods, can in that case be obtained at out rate figures.

DEATH OF FORMER LOCAL PHOTOGRAPHER

Word reached the city to-day of the death at Lynn, Ont., near Brockville, of Mr. J. W. Green, who previous to leaving Peterborough four years ago, conducted a photographing establishment.

The funeral will take place here on Thursday.

CHANGED HIS MIND.

He Was Awful Strong, but He Took a Dislike to Boxing.

Talking of the padded mitt and its practitioners, some one remembered a story of Tom O'Rourke when he was managing that black warrior, Joe Wolcott. Every now and then some greenhorn would happen along and beg to be tried out. It afforded Mr. O'Rourke and Mr. Wolcott a great deal of innocent pleasure to try them out—plenty. On one occasion a large walnut colored man came, hat in hand, to O'Rourke. "Ah'm most powerful desperit, Mr. O'Rourke," said he, "an' strong! My, my, Ah'm that strong Ah'm jes' natchally afraid to leave mahself go. Ah want you to match me to fight wiv somebody."

O'Rourke said that would be easily done if the caller was as good a fighter as he believed himself to be. But he'd have to be tried out first. The stranger said he was willing, and O'Rourke called Wolcott. "Take this man out in the gym," said he, "and try him out."

The pair fiddled and fenced about for awhile. Then Wolcott got his chance, whanged that right hand over, and the stranger bounced three times before he came to rest. By and by he waked up to find O'Rourke bending over him. "Mebbe Ah'd make a pretty good wrestler, Mr. O'Rourke," said he hopefully.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Montreal Printers Ask More.

Montreal, June 25.—Negotiations are in progress between the local typographical unions and the printers and publishers of the city for a revision of the scale of wages which has prevailed for the past five years. The scale for compositors on day work is now $16 a week, and an increase to $20 is asked. An addition to the overtime rate has also been requested, so the net increase is over 25 per cent.

A Debt Owed the Grasshopper.

On top of the Royal Exchange, in London, Eng., is a great golden grasshopper. And thereby hangs a tale. Sir Thomas Gresham, a noted merchant, put it there when he built the first Royal Exchange in the time of Queen Elizabeth. All the Greshams were very fond of grasshoppers, and they took it as their crest. The founder of the family was born in the Norfolk village of Gresham, and his wicked mother left him in a wood there to die, but a grasshopper hopped down beside the poor little urchin and began to chirp. It chirped so loudly that an old woman was attracted, and, finding the baby, she took it home and cared for it.

CHIEF HOWARD WENT ON FISHING TRIP AND MUST ANSWER TO HIS COMMITTEE

Took Two Firemen and Went to Bobcaygeon Using One of the Department's Horses—Ald. Morgan's Motion Asking for Resignation of Chief Not Seconded—Matter to be Threshed Out at Meeting To-morrow Night.

What will become of Fire Chief Howard? is a question that will be settled as far as Peterborough is concerned, to-morrow night. The Fire, Water and Light Committee are very much incensed over a recent escapade of the Chief, and determined last evening to have the fire-fighter up on the carpet on Wednesday evening and if he can not give any fit reason for his action, Peterborough will undoubtedly witness the Chief shake the dust of the city from his feet forever.

Ald. Johnston, the chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, became hot last night as he unfolded the story of the Chief's unpardonable conduct.

A FISHING TRIP.

Some time ago, Chief Howard asked permission to go fishing when the season opened. The request was granted on the understanding that the Chief would be accompanied by two members of the brigade, for whom he would secure substitutes; and that the party would go by auto. Later it was settled that the party travel to the fishing grounds by train. They were to leave on the trip yesterday morning.

Chief Howard however, took the goat by the horns. Taking one of the best horses in the Fire Hall, and two of the brigade, together with any paraphernalia that might prove useful, the trio hit the trail for the nibble of the speckled beauties in the region of Bobcaygeon, on Sunday afternoon. No permission was asked or none of the Fire, Water and Light Committee were informed of the change in the Chief's plan for the expedition.

The three men forced the horse to Bobcaygeon and back, arriving home without any of the F. W. and L. being the wiser.

Continuing his story of the outrage, Ald. Johnston thought that such action on the part of the Chief should not pass unreprimanded or unnoticed.

"I think I have fulfilled my promise, which I made when I accepted the chairmanship of this committee," said the chairman, "that I would endeavor to do the right and fair thing with the Chief."

"It seems to me too bad that the Chief would do this thing without any authority whatever. After the Chief told me what he had done, I told him plainly that I would not assume any blame in the matter, but would bring it up before the committee."

MEN LEAVING THE HALL.

Ald. Johnston also stated that there were men leaving the Fire Hall, refusing to stand for the line of talk parceled out to them by the Chief.

"Personally, I am grieved about this thing," said the chairman, "and I'm not going to stand for it."

Ald. Morgan—Are things going on at the Fire Hall to your liking, Ald. Johnston?

Some of the aldermen looked at each other and smiled at this question.

Mayor Bradburn corroborated all that the worthy chairman had stated in reference to the chief's misdemeanor. He stated that it was not right that the Board of Works officials or any of the other city authorities should walk, and the chief be allowed to take a horse and proceed anywhere he wished.

Chief Howard visited the chairman of the committee after his trip and told him about it.

"What did he say?" the chairman was asked.

"Well, he tried to make light of it, and regarded it as a huge joke. He endeavored to show that he had done a fine thing, and that it would have been a good opportunity had there been a fire here, to show how quickly he could have got back home with the horse.

Ald. Johnston again vehemently asserted that he would not stand for it any longer.

"I may look like a dough-head, gentlemen," he added, "but the chief will discover that I'm not." He also stated that he had been informed that Chief Howard has not been sleeping at the fire hall as often as he should, and that he was often away as many as ten or thirteen nights in a month.

"How long, how long, how long?" asked the chairman dramatically, but with unmistakable seriousness, "are we to put up with this thing? I think it has come now, to the stage when the best thing he could do is to ask the chief to resign, for I'm certainly not going to be made a figure-head of any longer."

THE DEPUTY CHIEF.

Ald. Brown said that he had always felt that the employing of an assistant chief at the fire hall afforded Chief Howard too much laxity. He thought, however, that the chief had been doing better under Chairman Johnston's administration.

Ald. Morgan didn't agree with the remark of Ald. Brown.

"I was in the fire hall at the time of the Peter Hamilton fire," said Ald. Morgan, "and there were only four or five men about, and both chiefs were absent. Chief Howard knows that it is against the by-law for both chiefs to be absent in time of fire."

Ald. Gordon here remarked that Ald. Morgan was keeping up his name for engaging some one to act as detective on the actions of the chief.

Ald. Morgan and Johnston both explained how they came to be present at the fire hall on the day in question, namely, for the purpose of looking at some rubber boots.

The question was asked if the firemen who went on the fishing trip wore their uniforms.

Ald. Morgan—"No, they didn't wear them but took them along with them.

Mayor Bradburn—"How do you know that."

Ald. Morgan—"The detective that Ald. Gordon, referred to, told me about it."

Ald. Anderson said that he was sorry to hear of the episode. "The Council decided," he said, "to give Chief Howard every opportunity to make good, but the Chief evidently has not been doing his duty, but had been doing decidedly wrong." I always have felt like giving him a chance, for, to a man holding a responsible position like he does, it is a serious thing to dismiss him. Something has got to be done, and the sooner we get someone else the better.

Ald. Boller agreed with Ald. Anderson, saying that the Chief had been given plenty of opportunities to do better.

Ald. Johnston—"I want it distinctly understood that I am not actuated by any animosity to the Chief."

The committee assured the chairman that they were quite confident that he was working only in the interests of the city, and thoroughly backed up and endorsed every step he had taken in connection with the matter.

The committee felt that an explanation should be demanded from the Chief anyway.

Ald. Anderson—"I don't think the Chief's actions could be justified in any way."

Ald. Morgan—"I've nothing against the Chief, personally, I rather like the fellow, but I'll move that his resignation be asked for. This is too nice a city to have to put up with such a man."

Ald. Gordon followed with the motion that Chief Howard be asked to meet the Fire, Water and Light committee at 7.30 Wednesday night to hear if he has any justification of the course he took. Ald. Buller seconded the resolution, and it carried.

Ald. Morgan's motion found no seconder.

Boudoir of the Kisses.

One of the strangest boudoirs in the world is that belonging to the Princess Abamelsk-Lazarew of Florence, Italy, a member of the Russian family of the Demidoff.

The small room is in the famous villa of Pratolina, outside Florence, near Fiesole, and all the pictures, furniture, lights and ornaments represent the osculatory art. In the backs of chairs are cherubs in the act of kissing each other; in the chandeliers are pairs of doves with their beaks touching. Even the electric bell on the table near the princess' couch is made of two little peasant figures, and the sound comes only when their lips touch. There are dainty pictures of all the great love scenes in history and romance, the leavetaking of Romeo, the farewell of Mary Stuart and David Rizzio, the Huguenot lovers, Launcelot and Guinevere and their unhappy followers, Francesca da Rimini and Paolo. The cushions of fine embroidered silk or tapestry show rustic love scenes wherein the actors are saluting each other in vigorous fashion. The princess has passed years in gathering her Cupid trophies, and her room in that wonderful villa is filled with the treasures of the Medici.

Man v. Bear.

Maryborough, Queen's County, Ireland, had the curious spectacle recently of a fight between a man and a bear, happily involving no serious injury to the man. The animal, which belonged to a traveling circus, was being led by a boy along a road in Maryborough when it became vicious and attacked its custodian. Mick Hale, a man from Belfast, went to the rescue, and an exciting contest on the roadside followed for about 15 minutes. Eventually, Hale, who is a powerfully built fellow, got clear of the bear's embraces, and made a dash for a farmhouse some distance away, with the now infuriated, but, luckily, muzzled beast in hot pursuit. Fortunately, neighbors turned up with pitchforks and spades and the bear was driven off. Hale was in a very exhausted state when taken into the farmhouse, but fortunately he escaped with a few slight flesh wounds.

Cold Blooded Man.

"Man is the coldest blooded animal there is," said a well known doctor. "Man's low temperature," the doctor went on, "is responsible for more than half his ailments. Your normal temperature is 98½ degrees F. It is only when you have a bad temperature that you get as warm as any of the lower animals—that is to say, when you are in a high fever, with a temperature of 102, you are at the normal heat of the cat, the dog, the ox, the rat, and so on. In the coolest of seas the porpoise is never cooler than 100 degrees. The bat, the rabbit, the guinea pig, the hare and the elephant likewise are all cool at 100 degrees. The hen has the highest temperature of all the lower creatures, and it is a good deal warmer, too, when a chicken. Its temperature then is as high as 111, but age and experience cool its blood by 3 degrees."—New York Globe.

WEDDING BELLS

CAMERON—CAMPBELL.

A pretty and very quiet wedding took place at the Presbyterian church, Keene, on June 23rd, Midsummer Eve, when Miss Jean, youngest daughter of William Campbell, was united in marriage to Mr. H. G. Cameron, of Vancouver.

The bride entered the church on the arm of the groom to the strains of the wedding march played by her sister, Miss Lillian Campbell. Rev. D. D. McDonald performed the ceremony. The bride looked charming in a dress of ivory satin charmeuse and carried a bouquet of roses, young oak, ash and thorn. The young couple were unattended, and only a few friends were present. They will be at home at Vancouver after July [illegible]

HUNTER—HUGHES.

St. John's church was the scene of a very pretty, but quiet wedding, at seven o'clock this morning, when the marriage was solemnized of Miss Fannie Ethel Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hughes, 480 Aylmer street, and Mr. Albert E. Hunter, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hunter, 299 Boswell Ave.

The Rev. Canon Davidson performed the ceremony, and the young couple were unattended.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hunter left for a trip to Niagara and Buffalo, and on their return will reside at 794 Keele street, West Toronto.

McKIBBIN—FINNEY.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at 404 Dublin street this afternoon, when Miss Annie Isabel Finney was united in marriage with Walter E. McKibbin, of Calgary, Alta., by the Rev. Robert Pogue, of St. Paul's church.

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. J. A. Finney, while Miss Ada Graham, cousin of the bride, played Lohengrin's wedding march. Miss Margaret Cameron, niece of the bride, made a charming little flower girl.

The happy couple left on the 4.19 C.P.R. for London, Rochester and Buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. McKibbin will return to Peterborough before starting for their future home in the west, where they will be followed by the best wishes of their many friends.

MILITARY MEN VISITING IN CITY

Company Inspection for 57th Regiment This Evening.

Major Lowe, of the 14th Regiment, Kingston, and Sergeant-Major Clarke, of the 41st, of Brockville, are in town to-day, making final arrangements regarding the visit of their respective regiments to Peterborough on July 1st.

The inspecting officer will be here this evening to take the company inspection and muster call of the 57th. The regiment is asked to be out in full strength and every non-commissioned officer and man must be present to answer to his name.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE REV. FATHER CONWAY

With all solemnity and that respect due all who passed from this earth after a life of work for others, the funeral of the late Rev. Father Conway took place this morning, High Mass being said at St. Peter's Cathedral, after which interment took place at St. Peter's cemetery.

With His Lordship Bishop O'Connor on the throne, Rev. Father McColl officiated as celebrant of the mass. Deacons of Honor were Father Murray of Cobourg, and Father Cline, of Oshawa. Father Fitzpatrick of Ennismore was Deacon and Father Kelly of Norwood, sub-Deacon, Rev. Dr. O'Brien was master of Ceremonies. Ven. Archdeacon Casey, of Lindsay, during the course of the sermon said, "We are here to honor and remember our departed brother and priest, Father Conway. A priest is the instrument of Jesus Christ in the sanctification of souls. He is a man separated from mankind to administer on earth for God. He dispenses the mysteries of the Lord baptizing children, visiting the sick and administering the communion. So it was because Father Conway was a priest that we loved him

"Now he rests from his 83 years of life and 57 years of saving souls for God.

"How many souls has he caused to enter into God's presence, because of his never ending work. How many new old, has he prepared for their confirmation and sent to their first communion!

"It is remarkable that in all his ministry, that he never refused the call of the dying. Whether in winter or summer, fine weather or wet, storm or tempest, he always went to administer the communion. It is remarkable because he performed his his journeys when there were no railways or stages, only a horse and he always went no matter how far. His human frailties were taken up by his greater work.

"Let your prayers be offered up, and your next communion be taken, remembering our dear and departed brother, Father Conway."

Other priests present were—Rev. Father McGuire, of Downeyville, Rev. Father Scanlon, of Grafton, Father Phelan of Peterborough, Father Brethren of Hastings, Father Whibbs of Campbellford, Father Maguire of Douro, Father Guiry of Lindsay, Father F. O'Brien of St. Peter's Cathedral, Father McCauley, Church of Sacred Heart, Father Joseph O'Sullivan, Victoria Road, Father F. O'Sullivan, of Port Hope, Father John O'Brien of Lakefield.

JUDGE HUYCKE URGES THAT BOTH PARTIES USE REASON AND COMMON SENSE

The following is the judgement of His Honor Judge Huycke in the Dickson vs. Graham action.

This is a proceeding brought under what was formerly known as the Overholding Tenants' Act, now Part Three of the Landlord and Tenant Act, 1 George V., Cap. 37., Section 75 et seq.

A number of preliminary and technical objections were taken at the inception of the case, but it was proceeded with subject thereto. These objections taken were more or less formidable, but in the view I have taken of the law and evidence I do not decide as to their force, nor whether they or any of them are necessarily fatal to the plaintiff's case.

The defendant has been for nineteen years and still is, in possesion of the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, as tenant of the plaintiffs or their predecessors in title. His lease expired on May 1st., 1912, and he now holds possession plaintiffs say wrongfully—he says rightly and pursuant to a new agreement for further tenacy. Negotiations were undoubtedly entered into and their effect reduced to writing, a small memo only, by Mr. Gordon, at that time acting as solicitor for the defendant. This writing has been lost or mislaid by the plaintiffs or their manager. This is not very important however, there being little if any dispute as to the nature and contents. The defendant says it was an absolute and binding bargain, to be reduced into a formal lease; the plaintiffs contend it was tentative only and conditional on the assent of other parties not then present. A lease was subsequently tendered by plaintiffs for signature by the defendant which differs materially from the terms contended for by either party as the result of the meeting and negotiation mentioned.

The evidence is very contradictory and not in my mind wholly reconcilable. I before suggested settlement, a suggestion which proved futile. The chief bone of contention is now apparently the license—the defendants being apparently as determined to retain its control as the plaintiffs are to obtain it.

The contest is apparently bona-fide conducted most strenuously and forcibly on both sides. The proceeding is a summary one; its result important and perhaps irrevocable and under a Statute which still I think must be construed and applied fairly strictly. I say "still," for I quite realize the difference of the present Statute and its predecessors. Under the old Statute including the words "without color of right," the plaintiffs counsel would not I think ever ask for an order on the evidence submitted.

The present Act omits I must assume purposely the words "clearly" which was an essential. Part of the immediately preceeding Act R. S. C. 1897 Cap. 171. Were it in the present Act I would have no hesitation in finding for the defendant. But it is not there and what is the effect of its omission. In view of the fact that the onus is on the plaintiffs, I fail to see that the difference is great. The onus must be borne, the burden shifted, before the order can be made in my opinion, even under the existing conditions.

In summary proceedings such as this the case must certainly be "clearly" made out before an order is made. The word in the former Statute seems superfluous, an ample reason for its omission in the late revision. This is a summary proceeding confering unusual and extraordinary powers, which is another cogent reason for the strict construction of the statute and for requiring the landlord to show clearly and undoubtedly that the order for possession should be granted.

The word "wrongfully" is still an essential part of the Statute. This adverb is as said by Boyd C. in Ennure vs. Davis 4 O. L. R. 87, seems to be used emphatically and must be satisfactorily and adequately met by the applicants—the landlords. I am no referred to, neither can I find any case under the new Act as to the method of its construction of application.

In view of the fact that there may probably will, be further litigation in another Court (but with proper pleadings) and discovery between these same parties on the same facts and same evidence, I do not think it fair that I should either assist or prejudice any party or witness by a specific finding on the facts in controversy or any of them. I simply say I have not been convinced or satisfied that the defendant or tenant "wrongfully holds" the premises in question within the words of the statute.

The application is therefore refused. Rent (the amount agreed on) has been tendered and refused.

I think that it should be paid until either settlement or termination of the litigation. It is not fair that the tenant hold without payment of rent. I did suggest that the parties agree on some person to whom the rent might be paid, $61.00 per week. I again urge this course, and if they cannot agree, then, if I have power to do so I order that this money be paid into court weekly, awaiting further order. This is to be without prejudice to further litigation to either party. But it is eminently a case for a settlement. The tenant wishes to retain his hotel; the landlord Company wish to rent it and find little or no fault before me with the present occupant. A little reason and common sense should bring them together, and I strongly urge this upon all parties.

With this in view, I refrain from making any disposition of the costs of this application. They may be spoken to again if and when the parties finally fail to arrive at an amicable settlement of their difference.

"E. C. S. HUYCKE."
Judge.

NEW UNIFORMS FOR FIREMEN

Messrs. T. L. Anderson and George Ball, tailors, submitted tenders to the Fire, Water and Light committee last evening for supplying new outfits for the firemen.

The tenders called for fourteen coats, one officer's uniform, twenty-eight pairs of trousers and fourteen pea-jackets. Mr. Anderson's tender totalled $575 and Mr. Ball's figure was $590. A generous quantity of samples of cloths accompanied the tenders. Some of the aldermen's ideas on the merits or identity of the various cloths were rather vague. Ald. Brown confusing a freize with a serge through his inexperience. The tenders did not strictly conform with the specifications, hence some slight confusion of the samples occurred.

"What had we better do about them" said Chairman Johnston; Mr. Ball has been making the clothes for the firemen in the past.

Ald. Gordon moved that George Ball's tender be accepted providing it is within the specificatons.

Ald. Butler said, let the chairman get more information on the matter.

Ald Morgan moved that T. L. Anderson's tender be accepted.

Finally it was decided to leave the matter with the chairman to bring in a report to the Council, on the distinctions twixt the materials with their respective prices.

The placing of lights in several places throughout the city which have been asked for, was left to be decided by the committee on Wednesady night, when they will make a trip to the various places in question.

A Convention City

Ottawa is rapidly becoming the convention city and the "Chateau Laurier," the Grand Trunk's two million dollar hotel, the convention headquarters of the Dominion. The latest body to hold its deliberations at the Chateau is the Canadian Electrical Association, which together with a large number of ladies and guests held a banquet there on Friday last. Over 300 sat down to the splendid repast provided, while the speakers were of a most representative character, including the Hon. Charles Murphy, Deputy Post Master of Canada, and Controller Hinchey, acting Mayor of Ottawa. Mr. R. F. Pack, Toronto Electric Light Company, has been elected President for the ensuing year and Mr. T. F. Young, Hon. Secretary. A permanent Secretary will be appointed by a Committee of Management at a later date.

The mutilated body of a man, supposed to be Andrew Ballagh of Glencoe, was found on the railway near London.

BUILDING TRADE SHOWS INCREASE

During the first five months of the present year building permits aggregating $120.763 were issued in the City of Peterborough. Toronto heads the list of Canadian cities in the building business with an aggregate of $9,912,505, or something over two million dollars more than Winnipeg, the next on the list. According to the Financial Post building operations in Canada for the period referred to show an increase of over fifteen million dollars as compared with the corresponding months of last year.

LIFE PRESERVERS FOR MOTOR BOATS

A local launch owner calls attention to the fact that none of the gasoline launches owned by Peterboro residents are equipped with life saving apparatus, and that in case of a fire the occupants would have no means of escape, but would be entirely at the mercy of the flames. He suggests that every launch be fitted out with at least one life preserver for each passenger, and with a life buoy to be used in case any one should fall overboard.

"The present," he urges, "is the time to take these precautions, and no one should procrastinate until some calamity shows the necessity for them."

GRANTS MADE RURAL SCHOOLS

P.S. Inspector Richard Lees, Peterborough East, makes the following announcement with regard to grants to the rural schools in his inspectorate:

The most important part of the grant to rural schools is paid on the basis of the teacher's salary, certificate and length of experience. Requisition for these grants must be made to the Department before the 22nd of June and they are payable at the beginning of August.

In townships where the total assessed value amounts to an average of less than $30,000 per school section, the grant is 40 per cent. of the salary in excess of $150. This includes the townships of Belmont and Methuen, Burleigh and Anstruther, and Chandos in this inspectorate.

If the average is above $60,000 the grant is 40 per cent of the salary in excess of $350. This includes all the rest of the inspectorate. It will be observed that in these townships the starting point has been raised from $300 to $350, so that grants are, this year, $20 per teacher less than they would have been on the basis of last year.

Following are the amounts asked for each school. About the payment of these sums there is practically no doubt except in a very few cases where the regulations have not been observed and where special consideration will be necessary:—

Asphodel—1, $125; 2, $75; 5, $60; 6, $75; 7, $72.50; 9, $65; 12, $30. Total, $502.50.

Belmont and Methuen—1, $185; 2, $134; 3, $136; 4, $130; 5, $130; 6, $150; 7, $110; 8, $110; 9, $120; 10, $130; 11, $80; 12, $250; 13, $100; 14, $60. Total, $1,825.

Burleigh and Anstruther—1B, $236; 2B, $60; 1A, $215; 2A, $112; Total, $623.

Chandos—1, $110; 2, $48; 3, $90; 4, $150; 5, $106; 6, $160; 7, $30; 8, $54. Total, $748.

Douro—1, $65; 3, 77; 4, $32; 5, $65; 6, $30; 7, $60; 8, $52.50; 9, $0; 11, $85; 12, $20; 41, $62.50. Total, $614.

Dummer—1, $60; 2, $75; 3, $135; 4, $40; 5, $10; 6, $22; 9, $18; 11, $20. Total, $380.

North Monaghan—1, $75; 2, $165; 3, $40. Total, $280.

Otonabee—1, $85; 2, $79; 3, $75; 4, $175; 5, $72.50; 7, $70; 8, $75; 10, $85; 11, $85; 12, $65; 13, $115; 14, $50; 16, $80; 17, $75. Total, $1,186.50.

ERRORS BEHIND TRACEY WORSTED HIM IN GRAND BATTLE WITH JACOBSON

White Cap's Backstop Won Batting Honors With Home Run, Triple and Two Bagger—London Comes to Riverside for Wednesday and Thursday With Brantford Following on Friday and Saturday.

Seven cruel blows delivered when they would do the most harm eliminated Ken Tracey as a possible winner in yesterday's battle.

Three of the enemy who made the firstbag on miscues, crossed the plate for three runs. The score was 5-4 with the Saints on top. The first two innings broke the way of a pitcher's battle and the fans settled back with the expectation of witnessing a scrap between Skipper Jacobson, Manager Dad Stewart's best card and the local beaver.

But things broke badly for Tracey in the third. Jacobson was safe at first, when Jack White, rather strange to remark, juggled his fly and allowed the ball to drop. He was sacrificed to second and took third when Nasher made a low throw to Barthold, off Graney's grounder. Stewart banged a grounder down first, that stopped him but scored Gurney. Powers dropped the ball over the fence for a homer and two more counters were added. Nasher changed his pace and threw high on Forgue's grounder and Kopp scored the shortstop on a double.

In their half of the eighth, the Saints took another. Powers hit and took second on Forde's sacrifice and went on to third on Kopp's out to centre. Sweeney lined one at Barthold, the ball going through, allowing Powers to score. Sweeney stole second but was out at the plate on a good throw by White following Wilde's single.

The Petes took their first tally in the third, Trout first man up, wafting the ball over the fence. Tracey fanned, Nasher was safe on Kopp's error, the ball getting away from him. Rowan sacrificed and Beard grounded.

Two more came in the seventh, after Barthold was out on a long fly to Graney. Byrnes was safe at first when Gurney went out to the mound and dropped a fly. He went to third on Tully's two bagger, and both came home when Trout hit one to left field for three sacks. The Petes catcher made fast time around the bags. Tracey grounded and Nasher flew out. The fourth run came in the eighth. Rowan grounded to second but Beard and White singled to center. Barthold was out on a long fly were three on and one down. Byrnes sent a fly to Graney that scored Beard, and Tully, sad to relate, missed three.

It looked like a win in the ninth as Trout hit inches inside the fence for two bases. Mr. Trout then forgot that the visitor's pitcher had a head besides a good twirling arm. Jacobson got the sign from the catcher and Forgue, who was playing for the bag and ready for the trap, took the throw from the box and Trout was out. Tracey grounded short to first and Forgue landed the game with a pretty stab of Nasher's drive.

First base on errors—St. Thomas 7, Peterborough 3. Home run—Trout, Powers. Three base hit—Trout. Two base hit—Trout, Tully, Jacobson, Kopp. Sacrifice hit—Gurney, Graney, Stewart, Forgue, Jacobson, Rowan. Sacrifice fly, Byrnes. Stolen base—Graney 2, Powers, Forgue, Kopp, Sweeney, Jacobson. First base on balls—Off Jacobson 1, Barthold. Struck out by Tracey—Gurney 2, Powers, Graney, Stewart. By Jacobson—Beard, Tracey 2, Trout, White, Tully. Double play—Trout to Nasher. Left on base—St. Thomas 5, Peterborough 6.

Umpire Pearson was a big improvement.

Tracey got Manager Stewart in the seventh for the third out on strikes. Jacobson was on third and Graney at second.

Stewart made a great catch in the seventh that retired the Petes. He came in on Nasher's short fly, and although he fell, Dad held on to the leather.

White had his leg injured sliding into third in the fourth round, and had to leave the game. It was another case of hard luck for the Saints. Powers was shifted to second and Keifel took the big mit.

Johnny Barthold was the only man to get free transportation to first base.

St. Thomas play again to-day. London comes for Wednesda and Thursday, while Brantford will finish out the week. There will likely be a double header on Saturday.

Thursday will see the inception of Ladies Day at Riverside Park, when ladies will be admitted free to the grounds and the grandstand.

BRYAN ASKED FOR BREAD BUT CONVENTION HANDED HIM THE PROVERBIAL STONE

Defeated by Judge Parker for Temporary Chairman the Democratic Leader Declines to Become the Head of the Committee to Draw up Platform.

Special To The Review.

Baltimore, June 27—William Jennings Bryan, refused the chairmanship of the resolutions committee, which was unanimously tendered him this morning, giving as his reason that he was not in sympathy with the force that is seemingly in control of the Democratic National Convention.

It is predicted that he will precipitate another fight on the floor of the convention at the earliest opportunity by taking the position that precedent should be upset and the nomination for presidency made before the platform is written or adopted.

Baltimore, June 26.—The vote by which former Judge Alton B. Parker of New York was elected temporary chairman over Mr. Bryan—579 to 510—was interpreted last night in many ways.

The Champ Clark adherents are openly claiming the nomination and there were many at the convention yesterday who were inclined to agree that it would be either Speaker Clark or a "dark horse."

Talk of Mr. Bryan has not ceased by any means. Some of his friends claim that yesterday's vote was no test; that many of his most ardent supporters were compelled by circumstances to vote against him as temporary chairman. They claimed, on the other hand, that the vote of 510 given to Mr. Bryan indicated that he held a "veto" power in the convention which put him in a position of dominance as to who should be the nominee.

The conservative element, it may be stated, is practically prepared to accept a radical or progressive candidate. They frankly admit that to name a conservative, or so-called reactionary, would result in strengthening the hand of Col. Theodore Roosevelt in his organization of a third party. This the leaders are anxious to avoid.

The straight-out Wilson delegates yesterday threw their support solidly to Mr. Bryan in his fight against Judge Parker. This, the leaders figured, would make the conservative element choose Clark in preference to the New Jersey governor as the progressive candidate.

There was a report abroad last night that the 90 votes of New York, a controlling factor in the situation, would go to Clark. This report was based largely upon the action of New York yesterday in voting against Bryan. The fact that the Missouri delegation also gave Parker of its votes—22 to 14—quickly called out reports of a coalition of interests between New York and Missouri.

This naturally led to talk of Clark for President, and a New York man for vice-president. The man mentioned most prominently in this connection was Senator O'Gorman. There was talk last night, also, that the Underwood forces might come into this combination, the plan being that Underwood should have the Speakership of the House in the event of Mr. Clark's elevation to the Presidency. Most of the Underwood states are said to be against Mr. Bryan on almost any position whatever. Certain it was that most of these states located in the south—voted against Mr. Bryan yesterday.

Senator-elect Ollie M. James of Kentucky was discussed last night as the probable permanent chairman of the convention. This is in line with the policy of the conservatives to placate the progressives, now that they have defeated Mr. Bryan. His choice would also be further evidence of the Clark strength in the convention.

Mr. Bryan claimed the right to speak yesterday on the ground that in three Presidential campaigns he had borne aloft the banner of democracy, as its Presidential nominee. Now that the fruits of victory were at hand, he said, he should not be denied an opportunity to rejoice with his party. The Democratic party, "a pillar of fire by night for the plain people," now that the dawn had come, should, he declared, be made "a pillar of cloud by day."

Mr. Bryan made another point which elicited unbounded enthusiasm from his hearers. He declared that the sinister influences, which had been at work in the Republican national convention at Chicago, were operating even more brazenly at Baltimore. But, he added, the Democratic party could not be run by the Ryans or bought by the Belmonts.

Mayor Gaynor was also talked of last night as a possible running mate of Champ Clark, while Senator Culbertson of Texas, and Senator Kern of Indiana, are regarded as possibilities for permanent chairman.

Mr. Bryan, after the opening of the convention, first nominated Senator Kern to oppose Parker. The latter declined the honor and named Mr. Bryan to make the fight. The Nebraskan made an eloquent plea "for the cause he had represented for 16 years, but it was unavailing.

The debate preceding the roll call threw the convention into wild disorder.

A motion to declare Judge Parker's election unanimous was declared carried, and a committee appointed to conduct Parker to the stand.

"Will the judge meet me on ground which means victory or death?" asked Senator Kern, when Judge Parker had declined to accept the compromise candidates previously suggested.

When the judge made no reply Kern continued: "Then let the responsibility rest where it belongs.

"The leader must be worthy of the cause and the leader must be W. J. Bryan."

Bryan come forward and again began to speak. He said he stood ready to support any progressive, but if no other progressive appeared, he would accept the leadership.

Theo. E. Bell, of California, followed. He announced that he would support Parker. He was frequently interrupted by shouts for Bryan.

KNIGHTS DRILL IN BLAZING SUN

Toronto, June 26.—With swords glittering brightly in the blazing sunlight the special drill squads of the commanderies of the Knights of St. John executed a series of fancy drills at the Island Stadium yesterday. Special drills by the ladies followed. With floating plumes and bright uniforms the sight was a striking one, and the judges were put to it to pick the winners, which were awarded upon points for general carriage, condition of uniforms, execution of manoeuvres and manual drill with the swords. Thousands of the attending knights and their ladies watched and cheered the performance of the picked squads.

A solemn requiem mass for the departed knights and ladies was held at St. Michael's Cathedral, which was largely attended, and then the orders, the knights and the ladies' auxiliaries got down to business. The men met at St. Mary's Club, in Bathurst street, and the ladies at the Normal School. Both meetings were held behind closed doors. At the business meeting of the men the annual reports, all of an exceedingly satisfactory and encouraging nature, were presented.

Guilty of Manslaughter.

Sault Ste. Marie, June 26.—The jury in the Guiseppe Nardoni murder trial, in the spring assizes before Judge Sutherland last night, returned a verdict of manslaughter, with a recommendation to mercy.

Nardoni shot Mike Papa in a west end boarding house on Feb. 21 and was at liberty for a week. At the trial a feature was the production of witnesses for the defence, who claimed Papa had a revolver and the inference was he had shot himself during a scuffle resulting from a drunken row.

Nardoni will be sentenced during the present assizes.

London, June 26— A reporter for the Daily Chronicle announces this morning that through the aid of the Otophone, a machine invented by Fournier Dalbe, who declares he can make light audible, he heard through highly sensitive receivers, such as are used by wireless operators, a rapping sound made by electric light. Dalbe insists that the moon is quite audible, and the sun roars like a cataract.

ROOSEVELT EXPECTS HELP FROM DEMOCRATIC SPLIT

He Thinks Conservatism at Baltimore Will Help Him.

Oyster Bay, June 26.—With the organization of the new Progressive party definitely under way, ex-President Roosevelt returned home yesterday from Chicago. He was smiling and he said in fighting trim. His neighbors in Oyster Bay, who have followed the political fortunes of Col. Roosevelt for a good many years, did not know whether to receive him as a returning champion or a vanquished warrior, but he assured those who saw him that he was not in the least dismayed by the happenings in Chicago.

"I understand that some of the newspapers to-day," the colonel remarked, "said that I returned from Chicago greatly aged, with lines of care on my face. By George, isn't that funny?" He threw back his head and laughed.

"You see how I look," he continued. "I never felt more fit in my life. And those of you who were out in Chicago know that if there was a man who was not concerned or nervous, it was I."

Col. Roosevelt was greatly pleased at the news from Baltimore. He showed how closely he was keeping in touch with the situation, thereby reciting the vote by which William J. Bryan was defeated in his contest with Alton B. Parker over the temporary chairmanship.

Should serious differences develop, it is Col. Roosevelt's belief that the new party will profit by it, in the way of receiving support from disaffected Democrats. With this in mind, Col. Roosevelt and his associates will take no definite steps until the Democratic convention has come to an end. Their first meeting is to be held late next week in New York. Its chief work will be to fix the date for the national convention and issue the call.

Each state, he said, would select its own national committeemen, and there was no guarantee that any man on the present committee list would be the representative of his state after the convention.

May Break "Solid South."

Norfolk, Va., June 26.—R. T. Thorp, nominated for Republican Presidential elector-at-large, from Virginia, has telegraphed Theodore Roosevelt that he stands ready to join Roosevelt's independent party and to give such aid as he can to "disenthral the south from the incubus of a name."

Mr. Thorp says the name, "Republican party," is all that has held the "solid south" for the Democrats.

Thorp says he never has been officially advised of his nomination to be elector, but has been informed of it through Democratic newspapers.

Sun Spot 10,000 Miles In Diameter.

Pasadena, Cal., June 26.—The largest sun spot which has been detected within a year, a cool patch in the sun's surface, 10,000 miles in diameter, is now under observation at the Carnegie Observatory and has been photographed.

The area of the sun spot is approximately 78,540,000 square miles, a surface nearly ten times the size of North America.

"As far as we know," said Prof. W. S. Adams, "these spots are cooler than the other parts of the sun's surface.

"The question of whether the sun is growing hotter or cooler is still debatable. It would take us thousands of years to ascertain whether the sun is becoming cooler.

Gould, R. J. Moore and Major Sam B. Sharpe, M.P., and others took part, it was decided to call a meeting of the representatives from Scarboro Junction to Breckin to discuss the possibilities of Hydro-electric power through this district.

GREAT PAINTER HAS PASSED AWAY

He Was Born In Holland In 1836 and Failing to Obtain Admission to the Dutch Schools, He Went to Antwerp—Moved Later to England, Where He Became a British Citizen—Painted Many Great Works.

Wiesbaden, Germany, June 26.—Sir Laurenz Alma-Tadema, the famous English painter, died here Monday night. He had been suffering from ulceration of the stomach and was undergoing the cure. He was in his 77th year.

Laurenz Alma-Tadema was born in Dronreyp, Holland, on January 8, 1836, and was educated at the gymnasium of Lieuwarden, where he conceived a passion for Egyptian and Graeco-Roman archaeology, which had a profound influence on his art life.

The painter's father died when Laurenz was only four years of age, and before the father died he expressed the hope that Laurenz would be a lawyer. When five years of age, however, Laurenz began to paint portraits, and his mother, who sympathized with his artistic tastes, used to wake him early in the morning so that he could use the daylight hours for drawing and painting.

In 1851, when he was only fifteen years of age, without ever having received proper tuition, Laurenz Tadema sent a portrait of his sister to one of the Dutch galleries, which was duly accepted and hung.

Holland, though, was not to have the honor of training her brilliant son, for the student failed to obtain admission into the Dutch schools, and he decided to go to Antwerp, where he entered the Art Academy and studied under Wappers in 1852. After hard work at this school, endeavoring to make up for time lost through sickness, young Tadema entered the studio of Baron Henry Leys. It was when studying with Leys at the age of 23 that Tadema assisted that famous artist in painting the frescoes of the Antwerp Guildhall.

Over three hundred paintings have been left to the world by the deceased artist. Amongst the more famous works are: "The Education of the Children of Clovis," 1861; "The Vintage," 1870; "A Roman Emperor," 1871; "The Spring," 1894; and "How the Egyptians Amused Themselves 3,000 Years Ago," 1864.

Mr. Tadema did not travel a great deal and had not curiously enough, visited Greece and Egypt, the countries he so loved to paint. The artist was knighted by the late Queen Victoria in 1899; received the Order of Merit in 1905; a member of the Royal Academy in 1879, together with many other honors.

HARD PUSHED FOR CAMPAIGN POWDER

Regina, June 26.—The Liberal campaign in Saskatchewan is being conducted largely on the question of reciprocity, and they are raising a cry that the Conservative party is tied up to the big interests. The leading Liberal paper, The Regina Leader, in a seven column head yesterday, announces that the issue is:

"Shall the people or the big interests rule Saskatchewan?"

A five-column cartoon depicts the big interests as an octopus, with its head at Toronto and its tentacles around Ottawa and Winnipeg, and reaching out for Saskatchewan. Underneath is the following reading: "With the advent of Premier Borden to power last September the big interests octupus from its lair in Toronto began to reach out boldly to fasten its blood-sucking tentacles upon the people of Canada. Now the beast is hovering over Saskatchewan, prepared to encircle this province. Should Saskatchewan by any chance succumb to it, and a Borden-Haultain Government be placed in power, then nothing could prevent the octupus from working its will upon the common people of Canada. The fight today is a fight between the common people and the big interests octupus and for the common people it is a fight for very life."

The Conservatives declare that reciprocity is absolutely dead, and the Liberals are only raising it to prevent discussion of their administrative record.

IRISH PRIEST SAYS HIS RACE PERSECUTES THE FRENCH

Many of the Bishops on the Platform Were so Pleased That They Embraced the Orator When He Concluded His Speech.

Quebec, June 26.—A most remarkable scene took place in the University of Laval yesterday morning at the first regular session of the French speaking Congress. An Irish priest, Father Quinn, who was brought up in a French-Canadian family, delivered a speech which he called "A voice from Ireland." It was an impassioned protest against the persecutions which, he said, the French in Canada were made to suffer, particularly from the Irish-speaking Catholics. The Irish people, he said, had suffered so much persecution themselves that they should be the last to persecute others. He described the fight of the French-Canadians in Canada for their language and religion, and declared that they had twice defended the country from foreign enemies, this was forgotten, and they still had to fight for their rights in Canada.

So powerful was the effect of his address that at its conclusion many of the bishops on the platform embraced him, and numbers of the audience were in tears.

Another incident of this session was the speech made by Hon. Dr. Reaume, Minister of Public Works, Ontario, in the course of which he said: "Before we leave this congress we should make a vow to raise and educate our children in the French language, no matter what part of Canada we live in."

SOCIALIST MEMBER MAKES SCENE IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

HON. W. J. HANNA.

He does not deny the latest rumor that he will resign as Provincial Secretary to accept the chairmanship of the Dominion Railway Board.

George Lansbury Denounces Premier Asquith for Permitting the Forcible Feeding of Hunger-Striking Suffragettes and Becomes So Excited That the Speaker Threatens to Have Him Ejected by Force.

London, June 26.—Intense embitterment has been engendered in England by the forcible feeding of the imprisoned suffragettes who declared a hunger strike while in jail.

This was reflected in an extraordinary scene yesterday afternoon in the House of Commons when George Lansbury, a Socialist member, denounced Premier Asquith and the Government in such vitriolic terms that he was ordered to leave the House by the Speaker, who threatened to have him ejected unless he went out voluntarily.

Timothy Healy, the Nationalist, had appealed to Premier Asquith to release the women and the Premier replied that they could leave prison in the afternoon on giving an undertaking not to repeat their offence.

Mr. Lansbury immediately projected himself at the Treasury bench, shaking his fist in the face of Premier Asquith and others.

With his face only a few inches away from that of Mr. Asquith, Mr. Lansbury screamed: "You're beneath contempt. You know the women cannot give such an undertaking. It is dishonorable to ask them to do so. Talk of Russian atrocities, why you will go down to history as the torturers and murderers of innocent women. You ought to be driven from office."

The House was quickly in disorder.

The Speaker, however, finally secured quiet and ordered Mr. Lansbury to leave.

He replied: "I am not going out while these contemptible things are torturing and murdering women."

He yelled this out in a loud voice and appeared to be much overwrought; but when the Speaker warned him that he would be forcibly thrown out unless he went of his own accord, the Labor members gathered about their colleague and induced him to quit.

SECRETARY HANNA WILL NOT DENY RUMOR OF APPOINTMENT

Special to the Review.

Toronto, June 26— There were no denials of the rumor that Hon. W.J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, will resign to take the position of Chairman of the Dominion Board of Railway Commissioners issued from the Parliament Buildings this morning.

Sir James Whitney, who denied a similar assertion a week ago, referred newspapermen to Mr. Hanna. The latter was non committal.

"Nothing to say, why, I don't even look resigned." was the comment of the Provincial Secretary.

It is believed that Mr. Hanna will shortly resign to take the position rendered vacant by the death of Judge Mabee, if he has not already notified the premier of his intention of doing so.

TREMENDOUS FIRE RAGING IN A TOWN NEAR MONTREAL

Special to the Review.

Montreal, June 26.—Shortly before eleven this morning the Montreal Fire Department received a call for aid from the town of St. Scholastique, 32 miles north-east of here, where a tremendous fire is reported to be raging. An engine and force of men were at once dispatched on a special train. No information is procurable from the stricken town as the wires are all down.

About two o'clock telephone communication with St. Scholastique was restored and it was learned that a number of stores and houses had been burned but the conflagration was about under control. The damage is estimated at $50,000 and 75 families have been rendered homeless.

ANOTHER STAR SETS

Another star is setting behind the political horizon in the United States. W. J. Bryan, once the Democratic idol, offered himself as a candidate for temporary chairmanship of the convention which opened yesterday in Baltimore, against Judge Parker, recognized leader of the conservative faction of the party, and was buried. It is significant that Judge Parker's support came chiefly from the Southern States, where the Democrats must look for the bulk of their votes in the November election.

Like Roosevelt, Bryan is a back number. The people chose him three times their leader, and three times he failed dismally to deliver the goods, each successive defeat being more decisive than those he met with before. Every plank in his former platform has been shattered, and every political doctrine he ever preached has collapsed. If he were nominated for the presidency now, an improbability in the light of his defeat yesterday, any policy he espoused would to a large extent be a repudiation of the theories he held in the past. His party have come to regard him as unstable and dangerous, just as Roosevelt on the other side of the political fence, is so regarded by the stand pat Republicans.

If Bryan wished to test his strength at the outset he has accomplished his purpose to the satisfaction of his opponents and the dismay of his friends.

POWER OF THE CHURCH

No later than yesterday Peterborough had an illustration of the influence which a Roman Catholic priest exerts over the members of his flock, when Rev. Father McColl told the Review that he had forbidden his people from visiting a local place of amusement which he considered dangerous to their morals. On a purely social question such as this any interdiction on the part of a Protestant clergyman would take the form of counsel, but Father McColl, according to his own words, issued an imperative order and it is a safe assumption that for any violation of his decree the penalties provided by the church discipline would be imposed.

We have become accustomed to hearing this influence wielded by the Catholic clergy referred to indifferently as terrorism or coercion. By whatever term it may be designated the fact remains, patent to the world, that in the hands of the priesthood this influence may become a weapon for the accomplishment of great moral good, a powerful engine to save the members of the church from the sins which beset humanity on every hand.

That staunch champion of Protestant faith, the Montreal Witness, commenting on the marriage question in a recent issue lays at the door of the Church of Rome the following tribute:

Late extraordinary assaults upon marriage de facto, putting asunder those who had long been, according to divine teaching, one flesh, making the commandment of God of none effect through ecclesiastical traditions, must not blind us to the fact that the Roman church has done its positive duty by its people on the subject of marriage as no other church has done. Its people have been diligently instructed on the duties of husbands and wives. Under it people have entered early into matrimony and become the parents of large families, while among Protestants the whole subject has been neglected, with the effect that, with large numbers of the best people marriage is neglected or belated and the race has ceased to increase. Indeed some of the practical teaching of Protestant ministers on this subject has been the very reverse of wholesome. Though the matter is neglected as a subject of moral instruction, it is a bad usage on festive occasions to treat the holy tie as a huge joke. We have heard pleasantries of this sort which have been really more profane than the vulgar swearing of the street. But these seldom fail to evoke broad smiles from the matrons present. So long as this is the one and only light which the church sheds upon the most sacred thing in life, we can only look for bad results. The wide and general discussion of a number of marriage cases which have just culminated in judicial decisions is a favorable time for the Protestant church to review its own attitude on this all important question.

THE IMMIGRATION TANGLE

The letters from the Department of Immigration to the local Federal member, as published in another column show beyond a doubt that neither the Ottawa officials nor Mr Burnham are to blame for the serious trouble in handling the recent arrivals of immigrants in this city. Immigration Officer Howson received authority from headquarters nearly a month ago to secure a waiting room for the accommodation of those whose interests he is supposed to supervise when they reach this city. This he has not only failed to do but has neglected to report to the Department any information bearing on the subject.

If immigrants have been compelled to stray around the streets for lack of a place to go no one besides Mr. Howson himself can be held responsible for this unfortunate condition of affairs.

NOTE AND COMMENT

One judge may sentence a window smasher to prison, but the entire legal machinery of the country can not make her eat.

Bryan nominated Senator Kern and the Senator turned round and nominated Bryan for temporary chairman. Before which act of fealty the friendship of Damon and Pythias faded from sight.

As the solitary supporter of Bryan put off a delegation of twenty-three from his own state, Indiana, Senator Kern must have felt as lonely as the single member of the Opposition in New Brunswick.

Now that the suffragettes have taken to masculine disguise as a strategic point to render easier their personal attacks upon the members of the British Cabinet, the latter may as well abandon the field and take to the woods.

If the flimsy proceedings to show that Harry K. Thaw is not of sound mind continue much longer, suspicions as to sanity may be diverted from the original subject to some of those who are actively engaged in the case.

A Kentucky colonel, now visiting in Toronto, is amazed at the quantity of whiskey drunk in that city, declaring that his state is beaten by a length or two, and then some. Probably it is the use of a chaser that astonishes the visitor, an unknown quantity in his home state.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, June 25.—The export trade in all lines of grain is dull. There was not a single bid received from foreign buyers for wheat to-day, and a sale of only one load of oats was made. The local trade in oats is quiet, but the feeling in the market is firm. A sale of 10,000 bushels of No. 3 Canadian western was made at 48½c ex-store. Demand for flour shows no improvement and business is slow. Millfeed steady. There was an improved demand for butter for shipment to the west. Considerable business was worked over the cable in cheese and the tone of the market is steadier. Eggs fairly active and demand for provisions increasing.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, June 25.—Receipts of live stock were 61 cars, containing 800 cattle, 456 sheep, 493 calves and 400 hogs.

Butcher Cows.

A good quality sold at from $5.50 to $6. There were two fairly good-appearing lots, but the trading was desultory at times. Mediums ranged from $4 to $5.50, with canners taking the usual low quotations of $3 to $3.50. Some of the latter were not inviting buyers at even the prices named.

Steers and Heifers.

In this grade the quotations were more firm, with the supply being about equal to the demand. The good quality was rated at $8, with only an occasional one fitted to bring this figure. The range was on the fair grade, at from $7.50 to $7.80. The mediums were quoted at from $7 to $7.40.

Bulls

The top-notch ones brought from $5.50 to $6.50, while the medium grades were bid in at $5. Only a few good ones were on the market, with a number of yearlings of a minor class.

Calves.

The supply was above the number that has been coming in recently, and the price ruled about the same. The good grades brought from $8 to $9. The common ones ranged from $4 to $7. In total the quality was slightly under the usual offerings.

Sheep.

Heavy ewes held steady around the $4 to $4.50 mark. The usual briskness in the sales was lacking. Light ewes were quoted from $4.50 to $5.75, with just fair offerings. Spring lambs were quoted at from $8.25 to $9.50, a slight drop from Monday's price. Bucks went in at figures of from $4 to $4.25.

Hogs.

There was no deviation from Monday's quotations. The supply was fairly good. The $7.90 f.o.b. price, $8.25 fed and watered, with $8.50 delivered, were general with all the dealers. Gunns (Limited) paid above figures.

Milkers and Springers.

In milkers the supply was better than on several previous market days, and the prices of from $40 to $70 did not change.

Springers were of about the usual number, with no change.

Stockers.

Only a few were picked for feeding purposes, as generally when the stocker is fit for a fairly high quotation it is sold for beef. One drove of short-feed cattle was taken at a fair figure of from $6.50 to $6.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., June 25.—Cattle—Receipts 50 head; active and steady.

Veals—Receipts 200 head; active and 25c higher; $4.50 to $9.75.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 600; active and steady; unchanged.

Acute Dyspepsia

Restoration of Stomach Power Comes Quickly With the Right Medicine.

"My food seemed to decompose in my stomach," writes Mr. Ralph Clemmons, of Newbridge, P.O. "I had a stomach that failed in some way to perform its work. Digestion seemed more or less arrested and I grew thin, yellow, nervous. The stomach became distended and impeded apparently the action of the heart, for often at night it would do great stunts. At times I would vomit a mucous mass, and at these times my head ached most terribly. A friend, who had been cured of a similar condition, advised me to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly, which I did. The result in my case was simply marvelous. Dr. Hamilton's Pills removed the cause, strengthened the stomach, excited the liver to normal action, the kidneys were released of excessive work. Health soon glowed within me. I can now eat, sleep, and live like a live man."

Be advised—Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they are sure to do you good. 25c per box, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills Cure Indigestion Dyspepsia.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years, was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address—F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

"I had suppose," Mr. Yazimoto went on, "that there was excellent chance that you might step from doorway during evening. You did so, with exactitude. With the honorable assistance of my friend—we not necessitate to mention his name—I strike you, not serious, not with brutalness. There was not, I honorably assure you, the desire to kill or cause most unfortunate inconvenience. I trust you will accord me the honor of frank belief?"

"Why, with pleasure, Mr. Yazimoto," laughed Brockett. "Go on with your story."

Mr. Yazimoto smiled amicably again. "I take, as you say in honorable discourse, the long chance. Also I do—I hear your collegians speak thus—the rough stuff that I may accomplish the honorable purpose. You understand, I have nothing of doubt, my wish. I must accomplish what I am required to do."

"I understand you perfectly, Mr. Yazimoto. You wanted to get certain documents from my pocket, and thought they would doubtless be in that pocket when I stepped out into the dark."

"You speak of perfect knowledge, Mr. Brockett. So we make you in the unconscious condition, using no force greater than essential. But before we can take what we required from your pockets, we are attacked. We are overpowered. I, myself, am expert in the jiu jutsu, but while I am occupied seeking for your pocket this boy, this young Samurai, for he most honorably great as a fighting man, spring upon me, seize me by the ankles, and throw me prostrate, so that the jiu jitsu cannot aid me."

Mike McKane gurgled gleefully.

"That's one trick youse overlooked, Mr. Yassy," he chuckled. "You get a guy round the ankles, an' give him one jerk—why, say, a baby could throw Jack Johnson! One kid in New York did sling Jack Johnson that way, a little newsboy—aw, say, 'scuse me, Harry. I'm hornin' in on yer game."

Mr. Yazimoto eyed the stocky messenger, not at all resentfully.

"It was honorably so, as the boy explain. I shall remember that attack—some time I may make estimable use of it. I am thrown down with this assault of the boy, Mr. Brockett—then you return to sensibleness, and I am with great speediness defeated."

"How about your friend, Mr. Yazimoto?" put in Solano. "He didn't seem to have any jiu jitsu ready for me. I followed Mickey through the door; your partner tried to stop me, and one good kick brought him down in a heap. Couldn't you have picked a better helper?"

Mr. Yazimoto looked rather ruefully upon his associate, who had not opened his mouth since entering the house, and was simply nursing his bruises.

"My friend," said the Japanese, "is not what you would say of expertness in personal encounter. With the bolo, possibly, he should do admirably well, but he has not of sufficient skill for honorable battle."

"He's no Jap, all right," commented Mike McKane, studying the silent prisoner.

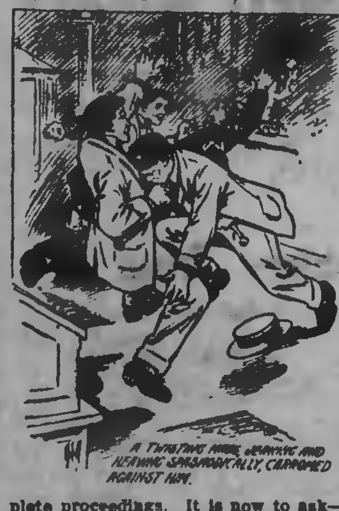
"No. Not of Nippon," exclaimed Mr. Yazimoto. "He is of long, long duration my friend, however, and for many reasons he is in accompaniment with me this evening."

"Filipino, I should judge," remarked Solano. "Let me talk to him." The Cuban spoke briefly but emphatically in Spanish, and the prisoner returned a short and equally emphatic answer. Solano looked somewhat crestfallen as he translated.

"He says," interpreted the Cuban youngster, "that he has no information to give me; that Mr. Yazimoto can do all the talking necessary, and that I am a renegade and a dog to be mixed up with Yankee pigs."

There was a general laugh, in which Mr. Yazimoto joined as heartily as anyone. Then the Japanese looked up at Brockett with a quizzical air.

"The explanations are honorably finished, Mr. Brockett. You have now the fullest comprehension of the complete proceedings. It is now to ask—what shall you, being victorious, do with us, being honorably defeated?"



A TWISTING MASS, JERKING AND HEAVING SPASMODICALLY, CAREENED AGAINST HIM.

"I suppose," responded Brockett, "that we ought to have you run in. Still, that might cause unpleasant complications. I don't care to have the morning papers—and everyone who reads them—fully posted as to the reasons for your attack upon me, Mr. Yazimoto. On careful consideration of the whole affair, I am strongly tempted to let you go. Don't you think that would be best, Ramon?"

The Cuban gave unqualified assent.

"They didn't get what they were after, Harry, and they did get a trimming that they won't forget in a hurry. Let them be on their way, and in a hurry."

Brockett conducted his prisoners to the door, and dismissed them with a ceremonious bow.

"Good-night, Mr. Yazimoto. Come again."

The Filipino limped sullenly away, but Mr. Yazimoto turned, with a smile that illuminated his scarred face for an instant.

"Good-night, Mr. Brockett. You have been most honorably generous. It may be so, sometime, I have excellent opportunity to repay. Good-night."

CHAPTER V.

After the vanquished Orientals had departed, Brockett and Solano proceeded to investigate the thick envelope which Mike McKane had brought them. The messenger sat by—a wise little owl and a loyal one—while Mrs. Brockett and Bertha fluttered to and fro, still more or less excited by the events of the evening.

A packet of yellow-backed bills was first brought to light, and then a letter, penned in the firm hand of Chief Wilkins. Another sheet was next opened, revealing the handwriting of General Cole, which was not unfamiliar to young Brockett. Both boys were relieved and pleased to find that nothing typewritten had been sent them.

"No chance for any treachery there," remarked Solano, as Chief Wilkins' letter was placed upon the table. "If your stenographer counted on getting a copy of this particular document, she loses."

Brockett laughed light-heartedly, and then whistled in surprise. Excepting a few unimportant sentences at the beginning and the close of the letters, both were in his own cipher, and even the addresses upon two smaller envelopes folded between the sheets were in the same hieroglyphic script. Harry rapidly read through Chief Wilkins' letter, and found it to be as follows:

"Simple enough," remarked Brockett as he finished the letter. "Tomorrow morning, you will go by as circuitous a route as can be traveled within eight days to Rancho Nogal, where you will find Gomez Esteral. Give him letter and cipher key. Bring reply."

WHEN TEACHERS SMILE.

Unconscious Humor of the Notes Sent Them by Parents.

The unconscious humor of schoolboy "howlers" is sometimes eclipsed by the amusement derived by teachers from the letters which illiterate parents of pupils send, apologizing for the non-attendance of their son or daughter, or criticizing the method of teaching, says an English paper.

Sir,—My boy has been learning shorthand at your school for more than a year, and he can't speak it yet. I intend to send him to some other school where they know how to teach.

Here is another specimen taken from Mr. W. J. Sargent's entertaining booklet, "Humors of School Life":

Dear teacher kindly excuse Willie we kept him at home yesterday. We wanted to give him a little pleasure so we took him to see his grandmother's grave.

After examining the eyesight of a number of scholars, a master wrote to the father of one lad, telling him that his son was suffering from myopia, and needed attention. The father wrote back, saying:

Thanks for your note about Harry. Just you knock it out of him, for I haven't time.

Another note, about hair cutting, was received through a teacher asking a scholar where he got his hair cut:

Sir—You seem to be anxious to know where my boy got his hair cut, I wish to tell you that I put him in the cellar all last night so as the rats could nibble it off and I could save tuppence.

Another parent, who apparently wished to impress the teacher with his medical knowledge, wrote:

Dear Master,—Excuse James from attending school as he had had an illustrated throat with glaciers on both sides and cannot yet eat any solemn food.

An assistant master who had spent a good half-hour in teaching the exercises in drill termed jumping got this note for his pains:

Dear Sir,—Please leve off teeching Fred any more jimnasticks. If I want him to jump I can make him jump.

It often happens that object lessons in school bring the teacher into trouble:

Sir,—You told my boy that drinking beer injures the coat of the stomach. Please do not interfere with my family affairs.

On another occasion a parent wrote:

Sir,—Tom came home to-day with his clothes all covered with mud. He says he had to mix some clay for the teacher. His father is a navvy, and God knows I've enough washing without having to wash the lad's clothes. The next time Tom comes home dirty I'll send you the clothes to wash.

CRITICAL TIME OF WOMAN'S LIFE

From 40 to 50 Years of Age. How It May Be Passed in Safety.

So. Wellington, B.C.—"For a year during the Change of Life I was all run down. I was really too weak to walk and was very despondent and thought I was going to die, but after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier my health and strength returned. I am very thankful to you and praise your medicine. I have advised several women who suffered as I did to try your remedies. You may publish this if you wish."—Mrs. David R. Morris, South Wellington, Vancouver Island, B. C.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. We know of no other medicine which has such a record of success as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For more than 30 years it has been the standard remedy for woman's ills such as inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and we believe it is unequalled for women during the period of change of life.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Printing Without Ink.

Printing without ink is a discovery of an English inventor. In the course of some electrical experiments he accidentally pressed a coin, which had fallen on to the table and was rolling off, against a metallic plate covered with a piece of paper, and at the same time against an insulated electric line. To his amazement he saw a sepia print of the coin impressed upon the paper. This happened about twelve years ago. Since then the inventor has followed up this observation and has now developed a process for printing without printing ink. He uses dry paper impregnated with certain chemicals, whose nature is not disclosed. In the process of printing the paper travels over a metallic plate and the type is applied on the opposite side, a current of electricity passing through the paper. According to the particular metal used for the substratum and according to the mode of impregnation of the paper, a great variety of different colors can be produced, so that multicolor printing becomes an easy matter.

The Two Echoes.

Two echoes, each with mouth and ears,
Lived peacefully for many years
Till one, not meaning to offend,
Said: "Let me hear your voice, my friend
I know my voice is very fine,
But which is finer, yours or mine?"
"Mine," said the other, loud and clear.
"Mine," said the first in tones severe.
"Mine," said the other echo next.
"Mine," said the first one, rather vexed.
And "mine" was all that they would say,
And neither of them would give way.
For, though most echoes can be mute,
If spoken to they will dispute,
And I am sure these always will,
For there they are disputing still.

ST. GEORGE'S CHORAL SOCIETY

No More Rehearsals to be Held Till the Fall.

There was a good attendance last night at the rehearsal of the above society, this being the last until fall. There were several part songs to hand from England, which no doubt will be put on at the next concert. The members seem to have developed an appetite for the "Messiah" choruses, and when they meet again on the second Tuesday in September, everybody will no doubt enter enthusiastically into this great work, as well as in preparation for the annual concert next winter. This society has been very successful since its formation, and is winding up its season's work by an excursion up the lakes to Burleigh Falls. This will be a great opportunity for those staying in town for the festivities on Monday to get at least one day on the cool lakes.

In the canal the chase for the finy tribe is at its best. Some large and weighty bass have been caught in its waters. One gentleman got a four-pounder on Monday night.

The fishing in Stony Lake and district is also excellent. Some good catches have been made. The high water this spring had one good effect and that was to protect the spawn and the increased propagation has assisted the fishing materially. Inspector Watt reports an excellent season.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—An "Examiner special" (no less) dated from Belleville, June 25th, gives, with big type, an account of a sad accident in Lakefield that happened two weeks ago last Friday. That's the Examiner all over; away behind the times.

GET GOING.

LAKEFIELD CANOE CO.

The Regina, Sask., Province prints the following—.

"A leviathian motor boat, which makes all the others on the lake appear Lilliputian, was seen cleaving the waters of Wascana Lake last evening at a terrific speed. The boat was being tried out by her owner, J. F. Anderson, who purchased her from the Lakefield Canoe Co., of Lakefield, Ont. She is a powerful boat, carrying an 18 h.p. engine, and tears through the water at a speed of 20 miles an hour. When running down the centre of the lake, she creates sufficient wash to deluge the jetty at the livery boathouse.

WICKLESS AND VALVELESS BLUE FLAME OIL COOKING STOVE

There is no wick that needs trimming.

No wick to char and smoulder if the oil burns out of the reservoir.

No wick rachet to get out of order; no re-wicking.

There is no valve to clog or leak.

There is no delay in starting; no delay in putting out— The oil DRAINS out of the bowl instead of BURNING out.

There is no surplus of oil when you don't want it, and no lack of oil when you do want it. The oil is supplied at the burning point as fast as it is consumed and no faster. There is no waste of oil.

ENTERTAINED HIS STAFF AT LAWN SOCIAL

Enjoyable Evening Spent at Residence of Mr. F. J. Might

Summer with its myriad opportunities for the cultivation of outdoor social amenities, offers no more popular or welcome form of entertainment than the garden party or lawn social. The gorgeous settings, the delightfully informal atmosphere, and the floating strains of the orchestral music always in evidence at these events, are responsible for the immense popularity they have attained. Such a scene, in all its attractiveness was reflected last evening at the handsome residence and on the surrounding grounds of Mr. F. J. Might 803 Stewart street.

Mr. Might's residence is situated on a most healthy and cool elevation, with extensive terraced lawns at the front and two sides. It is most refreshingly shaded in day time by spreading maples. Wide colonial verandahs afford ample space for outside socialities.

The lawns were nicely illuminated by festoons of Chinese lanterns, interspersed with gay pennants, flags and bunting presenting a rare and effective setting. The freedom of the entire place was extended to all present, and the house being beautifully decorated with locusts and carnations. Just inside the open French windows Howarth's popular orchestra discoursed the latest instrumental numbers of the season, delightful waltzes and snappy two-step numbers.

The event was given by Mr. Might, proprietor of the J. C. Turnbull Company, in honor of the staff of his store, and including the guests, about one hundred were present. The affair was tinged with just sufficient formality to make things in every sense agreeable and pleasing. Mr. and Mrs. Might, assisted by Miss Ethel Caldwell, of Toronto, received the guests on the front porch.

The guests then mingled on most social terms, all present spending a most friendly and appreciated evening.

Cool and shaded bowers were arranged in a most thoughtful manner for those who desired intimate chats.

Grand opera selections by the world's most celebrated artists were supplied on the graphanola. Buffet luncheon was served during the evening, of most dainty refreshments, that part of the proceedings being ably performed by Messrs. Hooper Bros.

Euchre served to pass away part of the evening for its devotees, and other forms of diversion and amusement were introduced.

Mr. and Mrs. Might were excellent hosts, putting their guests at ease and providing for all one of the most enjoyable evenings of the season.

Miss Ethel Caldwell and Mr. Clifford Caldwell, of Toronto, were the only out of town guests.

Mr. Might's kindness and sociability in providing such an enjoyable evening for his staff is but another evidence of the co-operation which exists between employer and staff.

A little over eleven years ago Mr. Might purchased the business, of which he is now in charge, from Mr. J. C. Turnbull. During that period it has increased over 100 per cent. this spring, notwithstanding the cold and wet weather, being the most profitable and encouraging season ever experienced. This large increase Mr. Might attributes largely to the ability and loyalty of his staff.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR MOONLIGHT

The prospects are bright for one of the most successful moonlight excursions of the season on the evening of July 6th, under the auspices of the "We Never Sleep" club. A first class orchestra will be on board and dancing will be indulged in.

The rise of the "We Never Sleep" club, from a comparatively obscure organization last year to a strong and enterprising club, capable of undertaking a moonlight excursion, speaks well for the ability of its youthful members.

The boys have chartered the steamer "Stoney Lake" for the occasion, which means that there will be ample accomodation for all who want to take in the trip.

DEPARTMENT LETTERS SHED LIGHT ON LOCAL QUESTION

Immigration Officer Howson Received Authority From Ottawa Nearly a Month Ago to Provide a Waiting Room for New Arrivals.

The following letters from Ottawa officials will shed new light on the immigration question as it concerns Peterboro.

Ottawa, Ont.,
25th June, 1912.

My Dear Sir—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 22nd inst., regarding the question of handling immigrants at Peterborough. I am taking the matter up with the Superintendent of Immigration, and ascertaining what was done in reference to your letter of sometime ago in which you ask for the opening of a waiting room, and also for the installation of a telephone.

Yours sincerely,
G. W. BUSKARD,
Private Secretary.

Ottawa, Ont.,
25th June, 1912

Sir—I have referred to me from the Deputy Minister's Office, your telegram stating that immigrants just arrived are compelled to stand in the streets, presumably because no accommodation has as yet been provided for them. I may say in this connection, that I sent Mr. Howson a telegram on the 8th inst., authorizing him to secure a waiting room for immigrants for a period of three months if necessary, and instructed him to report action, but I have not yet heard what has been done in this connection. I am writing to remind him of the matter and to ask what he is doing about it.

Your Obedient Servant,
L. A. FORTIER,
For Superintendent of Immigration.

LET ALL THE AUTO OWNERS JOIN IN THE PROCESSION

The big automobile parade on Dominion Day, should be something worth seeing, if every motorist will enter his car and swell the number of entries and the length of the procession. It is estimated that there are over one hundred cars in the city and the sight of these in line should certainly be imposing and interesting. The success or failure of the parade therefore rests upon just the amount of enthusiasm that is thrown into the proposition by the auto owners of the city.

LONG DISTANCE PED TOUCHED PETERBORO ON 3128 MILE JAUNT

Peterborough was visited last Saturday evening by a long distance walker, Charles L. Haufman, who is walking from San Francisco to Montreal, a distance of 3,128 miles. On leaving San Francisco, he had 120 days in which to make the trip and his arrival in Peterborough made the 100th day on the road.

There is upon his arrival at Montreal the sum of $5,000 waiting for him and $100 per day for every day he arrives in advance of the scheduled time.

Mr. Haufman, who is well known in California, is a prominent member of the Oakland Country Club, and his present trip is the result of a wager. He has paid his own way along the route having started from San Francisco without a cent and having $1 in his possession when he reached Kingston. During his journey across the prairie he had one trip of 420 miles without a stop between ranches.

During the trip so far he has worn out five pairs of shoes and three suits of clothes. He left San Francisco on March 13th and has travelled on an average of 50 miles per day ever since. He has visited Seattle, Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, Winnipeg, Duluth, Milwaukee, Buffalo, Toronto and Peterborough. He anticipates no trouble in reaching Montreal ahead of time.

PETES BATTED FOR THREE RUN LEAD AND BROKE EVEN WITH ST. THOMAS

Visitors Biffed the Ball Over the Fence for Five Runs and Looked Dangerous Towards End of Game—Osborne Relieved in the Ninth and Held the Saints Shoreless—Ladies' Day To-morrow.

Thanks to five healthy clouts, two of them for the middle bag, and a wild peg by the Saints' backstop, all of which were turned into five runs, the Petes could afford to stand for a strong finish by St. Thomas, yesterday afternoon and won out with the figures standing 7—5.

Jenny Derr endeavored by wild flinging to give the visitors every chance to grab the fourth game of the series. He had the fans on edge for the greater part of the eight innings he twirled and there was a sigh of relief when the ringside lad failed to show up in the ninth, Manager Rowan having decided that if the game was to be saved, Osborne was his one best bet.

And the lanky one proved to be the white haired boy. Gurney, first up, flew out to Jack White, and Graney drew a pass. Stewart followed with a double and while Trout dropped the third strike on Powers, he got the runner to first. Any old kind of a hit outside the paths meant two runs and a tie score, but Osborne stopped Forgue with three strikes.

Nothing out of the ordinary happened. There were two home runs and clever catches by Jimmie Beard in the middle garden, but performances such as these are becoming a habit at the ball lot. Manager Stewart poled the first homer, driving in Graney who had been passed. This was in the visitors' first.

Again in the eighth, Stewart singled to left and Powers sent another one at White, who misjudged the ball in the sun. Forgue had been limping about the field all through the game, owing to his injured knee, and the Petes hardly expected a four base crack by him. He delivered, however, and it meant three runs for the Saints. Forgue who has been playing on his nerve, deserved the hand he received from the fans when he rambled across the plate.

ALL THE PETES WENT TO BAT.

Nasher drew a pass in the Petes first half and stole second with Rowan batting. The catcher threw badly to second and Nemo went on to third, and scored on a sacrifice fly by his manager. Beard shot a beauty over second and stole second easily. White fanned. Barthold hit one to the fence which Kopp couldn't get and Beard came home. Byrnes followed Barthold's example and the Petes first sacker counted. Tully drove one too hot for Powers to handle and stole second. Trout scored both basemen with a speedy drive through short. Derr flew out to Kopp.

With two gone in the fourth Nasher hit a lulu to the vicinity of the scoreboard for three sacks. Rowan walked and Beard with his second single scored Nasher. Rowan was out getting into second.

Tully opened the eighth with a foul fly to the catcher. Trout singled to left and went to third on Derr's hit over second. Nasher laid down a pretty sacrifice that brought Trout home and Rowan grounded out.

There was no mistake about the manner in which Dad Stewart hit the ball. He had a homer, a double and two singles and only a beautiful catch by Beard of a hard drive in the fifth prevented his getting away with a clean sheet.

Johnny Barthold had a double play unassisted in the first, when he got Forgue's drive by way of the bag and also Powers who led off.

President Stevely and Manager Bowerman of the London club, expect to see Montreal and Toronto in the Canadian League within a year or two. They aim to have Hamilton, Ottawa, London, Toronto, Montreal, and two or three other cities in the circuit.

◆

Derr fanned Howick for the third out in the fourth, after Sweeney and Keifel had singled.

It was either McDonald or McGarry to do the mound work for the Petes this afternoon.

The lady fans, and among them are some of the best rooters for the home team, will be the guests of the club at to-morrow's game with London, all ladies being asked to pass the gate and take a seat in the grandstand without charge. Now, who is going to be the Ladies' Day twirler? The chances appear bright for Jimmie Beard to win the appellation.

SENATOR POIRIER SAYS THE FRENCH ARE LOSING GROUND

Nova Scotia Politician Urges His Compatriots to Make Less Noise in Their Devotion to Their Religion and to Improve the Educational System of Quebec Province.

Quebec, June 27.—Amid the flood of eulogies which so far has been the distinguishing feature of the speeches at the French-speaking congress came one last night from a man who dared to give the other side of the picture, to point out some of the discouraging features of the situation, and some glaring faults which cry out for correction in the French-Canadian system of education. He was Senator Poirier of Nova Scotia, and he dared to criticize his fellow-Catholics for making "too much noise in their devotion to their religion." While their secondary schools were among the best in the world, the more advanced courses of instruction, he said, left much to be desired, and French-Canadians were stupidly allowing themselves to be pushed aside from the positions they have held in the Dominion.

His remarks were received almost in silence. He concluded with the words: "Do not condemn me for what I have dared to say. I love my country, I have the pride of my race. I am French and I am Catholic. I give full honor to the devotion of our clergy. It is not because I love my people less than others that I have said these words. It is because I think I love them more."

Senator Poirier declared there were certain disquieting signs on the horizon. "Our influence in the high councils of Parliament," he said, "is not what it was. In the public domain we have stupidly allowed the strangers who have been pouring into the country to take away from us the Province of Manitoba, our own Manitoba, without being aware of what was taking place until it was too late. The best places, the most important positions, have been taken away from us.

"Who are the men who are carrying away the honors in science and literature? They are the graduates of the Protestant schools of the United States and Canada. Before our very faces they are taking away our honrs, while we are standing at the gate of the cemetery, looking back at our glorious past, and doing nothing. Our religion remains. It is a glorious recompense, but would it not be possible to express our fidelity to it with a little less noise? The people of the other races in Canada interpret it as an attack on their various beliefs, and the consequence is that they become intolerant. It is us of Acadia and the west who suffer as a result."

SIR JAMES WHITNEY SAYS MR. HANNA WILL NOT RESIGN

In Emphatic Statement Made Yesterday the Prime Minister Declares That the Provincial Secretary Has Refused the Chairmanship of the Railway Board, But Will Go On With Present Office.

Toronto, June 27.—Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, will remain with the Ontario Government. Mr. Hanna has decided not to accept the position of chairman of the Dominion Railway Board, which post was rendered vacant by the death of the late Judge J. P. Mabee. He notified Sir James Whitney yesterday of his decision, and the Premier gave a statement to the press to this effect.

The following is the statement of Sir James: "I am tired of replying to allegations in the press on this subject. I am bound to say, however, that I am not surprised to see that Mr. Hanna's name should be so persistently connected with the vacant chairmanship of the Dominion Railway Board. His work as a member of the Provincial Government can leave no doubt as to his fitness for the position. However, the importance of that work and his interests in it, has decided him to remain with the province. This is all I have to say. Possibly there will be statements in the press contrary to what I have just said, but I cannot hope to stop that."

HON. W. J. HANNA.

When seen, Mr. Hanna said that he did not wish to add anything to the statement given out by the Premier.

U. S. Solicitor-General Resigns.

Washington, D.C., June 27.—Frederick W. Lehmann, Solicitor-General of the United States, has placed his resignation in the hands of President Taft.

Lehmann is a Democrat, and has been prominently mentioned for a place upon the Supreme Court Bench. He has been regarded by many as a possibility for Attorney-General if a Democratic administration should come into power.

His plans are not known, though some of his friends believe he may become active in politics in the coming campaign.

Steamer Sinks; Deckhand Drowned.

Detroit, June 27.—The steamer S. S. Curry of the Hawgood Line collided with the steamer Bothnia in the St. Clair Flats, near Star Island, yesterday. The Bothnia sank and Ralph Williams, a deckhand, of Parkhill, Ont., was drowned.

The Bothnia, 178 feet long, was built in 1895, and was owned by the Montreal Transportation Co.

Another Abigail Becker.

Keewatin, Ont., June 27.—H. T. Cassey, superintendent of the Lake of the Woods Building Co., and his party were aboard a thirty-foot launch which was burned in fifty feet of water Tuesday night. A young woman camper rowed a mile and rescued them at the last moment.

KNIGHTS HAVE CHOSEN OFFICERS

Toronto, June 27.—Supreme officers were chosen for the next ensuing two years by the Knights of St. John yesterday afternoon. James B. Dugan of Canton, O., was chosen to succeed Peter Fettig of Connersville as supreme president. Emiel Conerse, of Massilon, O., and Henry Leider, Buffalo, N.Y., were re-elected as first and second supreme vice-presidents, while C. W. Wallace, Columbus, O., was re-elected supreme secretary. Wm. T. Hohnherst, Covington, Ky., was once more chosen for the position of supreme treasurer. Fred Kleinhaus succeeds the supreme president as supreme trustee and William Heinbush of Detroit will serve with him in that capacity.

The place for the 1914 convention was left to the supreme board.

The day was spent by the men in business sessions, and such sessions also occupied the time of the ladies, save that 400 visited the leading stores at the close of the morning session. In the evening a moonlight was held on the steamer Cayuga. Many members of the order were turned away owing to the fact that tickets were sold to the public when there were more than enough of the attending delegates to have crowded the steamer.

C.N.R. PLANS ARE APPROVED

Ottawa, June 27.—The route map of the entrance of the Canadian Northern Railway to North Toronto was approved yesterday afternoon by the Minister of Railways, no objection being urged.

The line will run from a little east of Yonge street, north of and parallel with the C.P.R. easterly to Eglinton avenue, then in a southeasterly direction till it joins the present line to Ottawa, in Scarboro Township.

The Minister also approved the C.N.R. line through Lincoln and Welland Counties, without change.

WOMEN RIOT IN PRESENCE OF KING

Cardiff, Wales, June 27.—King George and Queen Mary, who are making a tour of South Wales, were brought face to face with suffragette militancy yesterday afternoon when a suffragette broke through the police cordon and sprang at Reginald McKenna, the Cabinet Minister in attendance on Their Majesties.

The King and Queen were proceeding to the cathedral at Llandoff when a woman named Helen Cragg, muttering threats against Cabinet Ministers enjoying a tour of the country while women were starving in prison, hurled herself upon the Home Secretary.

Simultaneously with her attack upon Mr. McKenna the woman shouted an appeal to the Queen to help the suffragettes.

The woman was promptly dragged away by the police and lodged in jail.

Please Kill That Fly!

HOUSEHOLDERS PLEASE READ

BECAUSE

1. The fly is the most dangerous wild animal in America.

2. Flies breed in manure and other filth. Filth is the flies' food. Flies carry filth to our food.

3. Flies walk and feed on excreta and sputa from people ill with typhoid fever, tuberculosis, diarrhoeal affections and many other diseases.

4. One fly can carry and may deposit on our food 6,000,000 germs.

5. One fly in one summer may produce normally 195,312,500,000,000,000 descendants. Therefore kill the flies before they begin to breed.

6. A fly is an enemy to health, the health of our children, the health of our community!

A fly cannot develop from the egg in less than eight days. Therefore if we clean up everything thoroughly every week and keep all manure screened there need be no flies. Will you help in the campaign against this pest?

RULES FOR DEALING WITH THE FLY NUISANCE

Keep the flies away from the sick, especially those ill with contagious diseases. Kill every fly that strays into the sickroom. His body is covered with disease germs.

Do not allow decaying material of any sort to accumulate on or near your premises.

Screen all food and insist that your grocer, butcher, baker and every one from whom you buy foodstuffs does the same.

Don't buy foodstuffs where flies are tolerated.

Don't eat where flies have access to food.

Keep all receptacles for garbage carefully covered and the cans cleaned or sprinkled with oil or lime.

Keep all stable manure in vault or pit, screened or sprinkled with lime, oil or other cheap preparations, as 98 per cent of the flies come from stable manure and 2 per cent from garbage and other filth.

Keep the streets and alleys clean.

See that your sewage system is in good order; that it does not leak, is up to date and not exposed to flies.

Pour kerosene into the drains.

Burn pyrethrum powder in the house to kill the flies or use a mixture of formaldehyde and water, one spoonful to a quarter pint of water. This exposed in the room will kill all the flies.

Burn or bury all table refuse.

Screen all windows and doors, especially in the kitchen and dining room.

If you see flies you may be sure that their breeding place is in nearby filth. It may be behind the door, under the table or in the cuspidore.

Remove all refuse and filth from house, yard and outhouses and thus prevent flies from breeding on your premises.

If there is no dirt and filth there will be no flies.

IF THERE IS A NUISANCE IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD WRITE AT ONCE TO THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

"Health is wealth," and "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

There is more health in a house well screened than in many a doctor's visit.

The only safe way is to keep out the flies.

BUMPER CROP OF FRUIT IS NOW PROMISED IN CANADA

In Spite of the Heavy Rains In May the Department of Agriculture Announces a Big Apple Yield and Pears Will Be Plentiful—Peaches Not So Good — Grapes Suffered During the Winter.

Ottawa, June 27.—The fruit crop report from the Department of Agriculture speaks favorably for a good season throughout the country. Despite the abnormal amount of rain that fell throughout May and early June, the crops on the whole are in good condition and have suffered no injury excepting a few isolated instances where vegetables have been injured by frost in low lying fields.

Prospects are maintained for an excellent apple crop, though serious damage has been done in parts of eastern Ontario and Quebec by the tent caterpillar. The number of orchards have been increased and particularly heavy crops are expected from Nova Scotia and British Columbia.

The pear crop per tree is also reported to be in good condition though an amount of damage has been done by "blight," but conditions are very favorable in British Columbia for a large crop.

The plum crop is a little above the average, despite irregularities in the Japanese varieties and good expectations are held for European and American brands.

The Niagara district has a good setting of most varieties of peaches, but the crop in southwest Ontario is reported to be very short and both districts are showing cases of winter killing not previously reported. The loss in western Ontario is considered very serious and may discourage future plantations for some years. The British Columbia crop, however, is reported good, though the quantity is small.

Signs of winter killing are also shown amongst the sweet cherries, but an excellent crop of sour cherries is expected in all districts.

Grapes have also suffered from the severe winter, though the damage is not sufficiently serious to make a marked difference in the crops and the growth is healthy in most vines, though a little late

Weather conditions have been favorable towards the strawberries, though the standard of last year's plantings is poor, but the crop per vine is good. The acreage, however, is very low and the market is likely to show high prices on all small fruits.

Tomatoes, though retarded by cold weather, are now in excellent condition, and a largely increased crop is expected this year.

New Wreck Commissioner.

Ottawa, June 27.—Captain H. St. G. Lindsay, of Ottawa, has been appointed acting wreck commissioner to succeed Captain Demers, recently appointed harbor commissioner of Montreal. Captain Lugar has been appointed acting chief examiner of masters and mates to succeed Captain Lindsay.

Powder Convention Blew Up.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 27.—After waiting two days for the arrival of representatives of the independent powder manufacturers in the U. S. powder trust, representatives yesterday abandoned the convention to have been held at the Clifton Hotel. Just what the convention was planned for cannot be learned, but it is reported the trust wanted to take in the independents, not one of which sent in a representative.

General Booth May Yet Come.

London, June 27.—General Booth, the head of the Salvation Army, in the course of an interview yesterday said:

"I am still hoping to go to Canada and the United States as I bargained for."

General Booth is now on the high road to recovery, although he is incurably sightless.

ALEXANDRA DAY IS INSTITUTED

Special To The Review.

London, June 27.—Between one hundred and fifty and two hundred thousand dollars was raised yesterday by the sale of wild roses on the streets of London in honor of the fifty-eighth anniversary of the arrival in England of Queen Alexandra. The fund will be devoted to charities in which the Queen Mother is particularly interested and Alexandra Day will be annually observed hereafter.

St. Kitts' Women Drowned.

St. Catharines, June 27.—Two St. Catharines women, it has just been ascertained, lost their lives in the sinking of the dock at Eagle Park in Grand Island, Niagara River, on Sunday. They are Mrs. (Captain) John Gallagher and her daughter, Mrs. Edward Westphal.

Three bodies have been recovered, and will be brought here for burial to-day. Both women resided in Buffalo, Captain Callagher being in command of the steamer Avon.

FIRST BREAK IN TEDDY'S RANKS

Lincoln, Neb., June 27.—Governor Aldrich yesterday announced that he would not serve on the committee of eighteen, appointed by Governor Johnson of California, to take the lead in organizing the new "progressive" party, composed of Roosevelt adherents. Governor Aldrich declared he would "stay regular."

Politicians interested in preventing a schism in the party in Nebraska have evolved a plan for fusion of the third party and the regular Republicans on everything but the Presidential ticket.

SIR DONALD MANN DONATES $10,000

Montreal, June 27.—A subscription of $10,000 for the relief of the sufferers of the Chicoutimi fire has been made by Sir Donald Mann, vice-president of the Canadian Northern Railway.

Sir Donald has also made the announcement that all supplies for the relief of the homeless and suffering will be transported free by his company upon a signed statement of G. De Lisle, secretary of the relief committee, which has been hastily organised to handle the matter of securing relief for the victims of Monday's fire.

According to the announcement of Secretary De Lisle, approximately 1,200 people are without food or shelter, and are in need of assistance badly.

At 7.30 in the evening special cars will leave Jackson Park for a round trip through the City.

Ice cream and soft drinks will be obtainable on the grounds. td

EXCURSION STEAMER SANK WITH SIX HUNDRED ABOARD

Shallow Water Alone Prevented One of the Worst River Tragedies on Record.

Special to the Review.

Calais, Me., June 27.—Low tide probably prevented the drowning of six hundred excursionists on the steamer Grand Mann on the St. Croix River, near here, early this morning, when the steamer crashed into a dredge sinking the latter and springing a leak. The steamer settled to the bottom, but the water was so low it was not immersed and passengers were removed in small boats. Second Engineer Carr, of Boston, asleep in the captain's cabin of the dredge, was crushed to death. The excursion party were from St. Stephens, N.B., and were returning from a moonlight trip to St. Andrew's, N.B.

DR. BEATTIE NESBITT HAD NO USE FOR J. R. STRATTON

Swore To-day That if He Had Known the Farmers' Bank Had Borrowed Money From an Institution in Which Mr. Stratton Was interested He Would Have Had Nothing to do With It.

Special to the Review.

Toronto, June 27.—Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, who was on the stand to-day in the Farmers' Bank investigation, declared that he strongly disapproved of Hon. J. R. Stratton and had Travers ever told him that the bank had borrowed money to secure a charter from the financial institution with which Mr. Stratton was connected, he would never have been induced to have anything to do with the Farmers' Bank.

He denied all knowledge of money having been borrowed to make up the necessary deposit to secure a charter, and said he thought the amount necessary had been secured from subscribers in a legitimate way.

RESULT IS STILL UNCERTAIN IN BALTIMORE CONVENTION

The Champ Clark Boom Seems to Have Weakened and the Wilson Forces Are Claiming Gains, But Bryan Is the Dominant Force and Secured Several Progressive Victories Yesterday.

Baltimore, June 27.—With nominations due to be made to-day the situation in the Democratic national convention with respect to a Presidential candidate was as complex and uncertain last night as at any time since the delegates began to pour into Baltimore.

There was much talk of a subsidence of the Champ Clark wave, which reached its crest Tuesday night, but the Speaker's compaign managers were not willing to admit there had been any wavering in their forces. At the same time they went to the convention hall last night with the expressed purpose of forcing the issue at the earliest possible moment. The opposing forces hearing of this plan prepared to block it. They did not wish the nominations to be made until to-day, hoping the situation might clear a little by that time.

The adherents of Woodrow Wilson claimed last night that their candidate had made distinct gains during the day. They asserted, without giving details, that some of the Clark sentiment was turning toward the New Jersey governor, and were in a more hopeful mood than at any time during the convention period.

"Dark horses" were being discussed everywhere by the leaders and delegates last night, but there appeared to be some difficulty in crystalizing sentiment as to which one of the "dark horses" was darkest.

Senator John W. Kern of Indiana, Mr. Bryan's choice for temporary chairman of the convention and chairman of the committee drawing the party platform, still appeared to hold among the "dark horses." The coalition of the Bryan and Wilson forces in the first fight of the convention, however, led to talk of the Bryan strength ultimately going to Wilson.

The one outstanding fact in the situation seemed to be the absolute impossibility of any candidate having a sufficient number of votes on the first ballot to nominate. The two-thirds rule prevailing in Democratic conventions always make the picking of a candidate in advance a difficult problem.

After the first ballot is taken it remains to be seen how well the Clark managers can hold their vote together. Some of the delegates predicted last night that the voting would run through a large number of ballots, while others predicted with equal confidence that the "break" would come quickly and a nomination made on the second or third call of the roll.

Friends of Mr. Bryan practically ceased to boom him as a Presidential candidate yesterday, though they were reported alert to take advantage of any psychological moments that might happen along.

It was reported that Bryan buttons and banners had arrived in town, but they were not distributed yesterday.

Last night Mr. Bryan reported the platform as "coming along nicely."

It was said the platform would be ready for the convention by the time the nomination for President had been made. At Mr. Bryan's suggestion it had been determined not to present a platform until after the candidate had been named.

It was generally reported about the convention hall last night that a number of the western Clark delegations who cast their vote for Judge Parker for temporary chairman, were beginning to "hear from home" on account of alleged desertion of the progressive cause. It also was common gossip that there was a good deal of feeling between the Bryan and Clark forces.

Some of the Wilson men claimed last night that sentiment in the big New York delegation was turning toward their candidate.

Champ Clark's Presidential balloon may not be completely punctured, but the Missourian's prospects have visibly faded during the past 24 hours.

It was a day of Bryanite victories, ending last night in a vote to set aside the provision that state delegates must vote en bloc. Champ Clark's followers fought against interference with the machinery, but the Wilson adherents, with Bryan as the power behind, were all powerful.

The Progressives appear to be in control of the convention.

"Roosevelt and Bryan."

Chicago, June 27.—"Roosevelt and Bryan" badges, long ribbon streamers, have made their appearance in Chicago. Several hundred have been distributed to suburban train passengers. At the progressive headquarters it was said there was no opposition to the proposed ticket.

Eager to Back Teddy.

Oyster Bay, N.Y., June 27.—Offers of assistance in the formation of the new progressive party are reaching Col. Roosevelt by mail and telegraph, he said yesterday, at such a rate that he will be unable to acknowledge most of them for some time. When he reached home from Chicago he faced hundreds of telegrams awaiting him, and yesterday they continued to come in. Many of the letters contained money to be used in the work of organization.

Kingston's Power Supply.

Kingston, June 27.—R. S. Kelch, Montreal expert appointed by the council to report on the offers of the Hydro-Electric Commission, and Seymour Electric Co. for power supply, has been received, but will not be made public until the meeting of the civic utilities committee, to be held in a few days.

HALLMAN CLAN HOLDS REUNION

Berlin, June 27.—A unique gathering of the Hallman clan, who trace back their ancestors to Anthony Hallman, a pioneer settler, yesterday held a reunion in Victoria Park picnic grounds. Nearly a thousand participated and paid tribute to their illustrious forefather. The history of the Hallman family in America dates back to 1714, coming from Germany and settling in Philadelphia, and later near Hespeler, Ont.

It is estimated that there are over two thousand descendants in the immediate vicinity of the county and over ten thousand descendants in and about the city of Philadelphia alone.

Pay-as-you-enter cars have been put into operation in Gateshead, opposite Newcastle.

The picture known as "Rembrandt's Father," purchased as a copy, but declared to be the original, has been sold for $112,500.

OTTAWA MAN'S CORPSE MISSING

Ottawa, June 27.—The finding of the body of an unknown man in a creek just below Cumberland, Ont., Monday evening, coupled with the mysterious disappearance of the same body the next morning, excited the town of Cumberland to some extent, but the news that the diligent hunt of a searching party of the surrounding country has not resulted in locating the body, makes matters even more incomprehensible.

Dr. J. W. Shillington, a relative of the late Robert Taylor, who has been reported missing for almost two months, journeyed to Cumberland on Tuesday night in the hope that the body found was that of the missing relative, but a search of several towns on both sides of the river was fruitless, and the doctor returned to the city confessing that he was bewildered.

THE PROFESSIONAL MASHER

Miss Marie Watson, graduated from McGill University, Montreal, last spring and then went to Minneapolis to study American Sociological conditions. She accordingly hired herself to a female detective in that city and went through the byways and streets to act as a decoy to the flirt, or masher, as he is variously called.

Miss Watson entangled in her net a fish upon the very first cast. A young man, of German extraction according to his name and from that fact presumed to be of a stoical and unimpressionable nature, fell before the charms of the fair detective and striking up an acquaintance, invited her to accompany him to a neighboring dance hall. They started away together but the ensnarer of the guileless German, delivered her escort into the hands of the first policeman she encountered and he was thrust into a cell. Next morning on Miss Watson's testimony he was fined in the police court and the social peace and security of the city was accordingly established.

The average citizen of to-day is beset on all sides by pitfalls and traps of every description. Every stranger he meets may, for all he knows to the contrary be a detective in disguise seeking to ensnare him in the meshes of the law. Secret service men, and private sleuths tempt him from the paths of rectitude, decoying him to mysterious rooms in hotels where concealed stenographers and invisible mechanical contrivances record every word of his conversation to be used against him in court when the plot has been developed.

It seems remarkable that any magistrate should lend himself to the evolution of such a scheme as that worked out by Miss Watson and her employer. The inference in this case is that the female decoy, ambitious to succeed, encouraged the luckless swain in his advances to the extent, at least, of securing from him an invitation to visit a public function. She was at least an accessory before the fact and as such should have shared the punishment which was meted out to her gullible victim.

It has been decided in high courts of justice that no man can be held morally guilty of a crime into the commission of which he has been inveigled and abetted by others. No movement in the interests of public morals can possibly flourish by the employment of such implements. Questionable means are not always justified because the end in view may be worthy and desirable.

AT THE ENTRANCE EXAM.

Our Omemee correspondent in his last budget declares that among the pupils who wrote at the recent entrance examination the third problem of the arithmetic paper was considered the limit. Among the bright aspirants for educational advancement in the district which our correspondent represents so ably, there should be no difficulty in solving the problem referred to. The answer to the question as worked out by our mathematical expert is $483.84. Convert the right angled triangle into an oblong, two sides of which are respectively 16.48 and 9.75, take the area of that, then half the result gives the required number of acres, to compute the value of which at $60 an acre is a simple matter.

JUDGE PARKER'S SPEECH

Judge Parker, in his opening address to the Democratic National Convention, made an extended reference to Canadian affairs, and assumes the role of prophet in forecasting the future policy of this country on the trade question. Coining a new word he regrets that the electors of Canada failed to "effectuate" the Reciprocity Treaty, but he is certain that the rejection of the measure was only temporary, and that "sober, second thought would induce the people of this country to reconsider their verdict. The Democrats in the House of Representatives have left the trade door wide open by refusing to repeal the treaty, and Judge Parker is satisfied that Canada will soon avail itself of the opportunity to enter in at the inviting portal.

So far as Canada is concerned it has been the general belief that Reciprocity was a dead issue, but the free trade party of the United States persist in dragging the skeleton into the arena in season and out of season. It is established now, beyond all refutation that a large section of the American people still believe that in the Reciprocity pact the advantage was all on their side, and that they still cling to the forlorn hope that the treaty may yet be "effectuated" with the Dominion.

Bryan evidently believes in silver yet but prefers it now as a tinge to his oratory.

A machine that will extract sound from electric and other lights and make the sun roar like a cataract will be worse as a disturbing element in a residential quarter than any phonograph that was ever invented.

Chief Howard should entertain no fear for the future. Anyone who could put up so plausible a defence as he did before the Council last night, when he was called upon to explain his recent joy ride, ought to succeed in any kind of an undertaking.

A Virginian politician thinks that it is possible to break up the solid south in November. Let him charge head foremost at a stone wall and then reconsider the matter.

As Prof. Adams says it will require thousands of years for scientists to ascertain whether the sun is growing cooler, the majority of us will not live to see that great problem solved.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years, was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

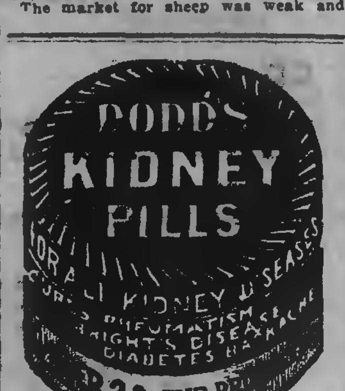
CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, June 26.—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market the receipts for the week ending June 25 were 975 cattle, 1000 sheep and lambs, 1580 hogs and 1650 calves. The offerings on the market for sale to-day were 860 cattle, 900 sheep and lambs, 1000 hogs and 1200 calves.

Owing to the more liberal supplies of common, half finished grass-fed cattle coming forward, a weaker feeling developed in the market and prices for such scored a further decline of 25c to 50c per cwt. The offerings of good to choice stock were limited, and the demand good, but on account of the depressed feeling in the lower grades prices were reduced 25c per cwt. The gathering of buyers was large and as they all wanted some beef to carry them over for the balance of the week, the demand was fair and a fairly active trade was done. A few top quality steers sold at $8 to $8.25, but the bulk of the trading was done in stock ranging in price from $6.50 to $7.50, while the lower grades sold at from $4 to $5.50 per cwt. The supplies of common and inferior butchers' cows were liberal and much lower prices had to be accepted by drovers. Prices ranged from $2.50 to $3.50, while the better grades sold at $5.25 to $6.50 per cwt. The top price realized for the best bulls offered was $5.50, and the common sold from that down to $3.50 per cwt.

The market for sheep was weak and prices declined 50c to $1 per cwt. on account of the increased supply and sales were made at $4 to $5 per cwt. The demand for lambs was good at $8 per cwt., and calves at from $3 to $8 each, as to size and quality. The tone of the market for hogs was weaker and prices declined 15c to 25c per cwt., with sales of selected lots at $8.85 to $9 and mixed lots at $8.50 per cwt., weighed off the cars.



Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, June 26.—Cattle—Receipts, 19,000; market beeves steady to 20c lower; cows and heifers strong to 15c higher. Beeves, $5.75 to $9.95; Texas steers, $6 to $7.60; western steers, $6.30 to $8.30; stockers and feeders, $4.40 to $6.60; cows and heifers, $2.60 to $7.90; calves, $5.50 to $8.30.

Hogs—Receipts, 31,000; market weak, mostly 10c lower; light, $7.10 to $7.45; mixed, $7.15 to $7.52½; heavy, $7.10 to $7.75; rough, $7.10 to $7.25; pigs, $5.30 to $6.80; bulk of sales, $7.35 to $7.50.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 22,000; market weak, 20c to 40c lower; native, $3 to $5.10; western, $3.25 to $5.15; yearlings, $4.75 to $8.75; lambs, native, $3.75 to $7.25; western, $4.25 to $7.50.

A Baseball Romance

"Easily understood," commented Solano. "We can doubtless find Rancho Nogal on the maps, and we are to go there by as roundabout a road as possible—within a limited space of time. Reasons for the circuitous journey are easily seen. Our tropical friends, the little brown men, might be trailing us. What does the general say?"

"His letter is short and to the point," answered Brockett, spreading out the screed, worded in this fashion:

"Pos TO SH PO FA Pos L TC 2BH
HR T SH PO SH TO TO SH W PB
BA SH WP TO TC R TC PO TC E
SH PO PO SH BB 3BH L Brooklyn
R Pos T pos PO W WP."

"'At El Paso, give letter and key to Colonel Lewis, Sixth cavalry.' Simple enough, but do we see the colonel on our way there, or coming back?"

"Probably left to our own judgment and convenience," answered Solano. "Now, then, let's locate Rancho Nogal."

"I think I have found the place, Harry," spoke up Bertha Brockett. "While you were reading the last message, I glanced along the map of the Mexican border—good thing we have an atlas—and located Rancho Nogal. It seems to be a small station, perhaps ten miles south of Presidio del Norte, in Chihuahua."

"Some names, them," remarked Mike McKane. "Howinell will I ever get the hang uv 'em?"

"You, Mickey," laughed Solano. "Forget them before you sprain your tongue."

"Forgit nothin'," replied the messenger boy. "I gotto learn 'em just the same as youse two."

"How do you figure that out, Mike?" queried the amused Brockett. The stubby messenger grinned back at him.

"Because I'm goin' along wit' youse two. See? I got in on this thing so far, an' it looks better'n all the Old Sleuth an' Nick Carter stuff that was ever pulled. You gotta take me in, for I'm goin'. If youse don't count me in, I'll follow anyhow, an' reskoo youse two ginks when the enemy has got youse by a toehold."

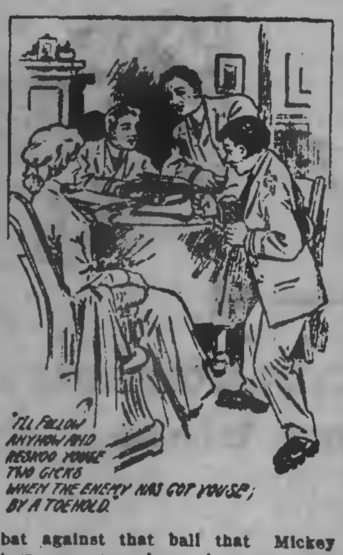
Mr. McKane's declaration, naturally, was received with hilarious laughter. "Not a chance, Mickey, not a chance," cried Brockett. "You couldn't get away without losing your job, for one thing; for another, you'd go broke before you had traveled two hundred miles, and, finally, if you ever did manage to get as far as Mexico, they'd shoot you for a monkey."

"I'll take me chances, any time," returned the messenger. "As for the monkey part of it, look out youse two ain't put on exhibition in a cage. And as fer me, never worry. I'm a-goin'. I can see, plain enough, youse two don't want me along. That's all right. I ain't kickin'. Maybe the chief wouldn't stand for no three in a bunch where he only counts on two, so I got nothin' tuh say. But youse two guys just watch. Just keep your lamps open when youse is down among the greasers, an' see if Mickey the Marvelous Messenger ain't campin' on your trail! I gotta be goin' now. Good-night, Mrs. Brockett. Good-night, Miss Bert. I'll see youse two heroes a little later."

"Great kid that," laughed Brockett as the sound of Mike's footsteps died away. "I only wish we could take him along. He might be useful."

Ramon Solano smiled, and his black eyes danced with humor.

"Harry, I have a bat that you have wanted for the last two seasons—a bat made of Cuban hardwood, and one that can't be broken. You have a ball that the great Delehanty gave you the week before he died. I'll risk that bat against that ball that Mickey turns up somewhere along the road, and makes good on all he said. Is it a bet?"



"I'LL FOLLOW ANYHOW AND RESKOO YOUSE TWO GICKS WHEN THE ENEMY HAS GOT YOUSE; BY A TOEHOLD."

"I can use that bat," answered Brockett, "and that seems an easy way to get it. All right—consider the bet made."

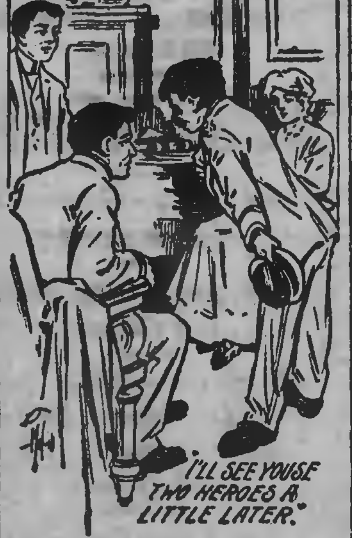
"Mrs. Brockett—Bertha," cried Solano, "I solemnly book you as my witnesses. You are to see that Harry pays up, and that he hands over the genuine ball, not something he buys downtown and palms off to save his treasures."

Discussion of the route to be followed and of the outfits needful for the trip occupied the youngsters till late into the night. It was promptly agreed that the greater part of whatever might be required for Mexican journeyings could be bought near the border, and that it would be foolish to carry a heavy bulk of any kind during the earlier stages of the trip. The packet of yellow-backed bills, of course, was counted up, and found to amount to rather more money than Brockett had ever handled, even in his family's more affluent days. There was $2,500 in the packet, and Brockett attempted to make an equitable division, only to be negatived by the Cuban.

"Keep it all," said Solano. "I will take as much with me. Remember, this is my vacation, my summer holiday. Your government cannot pay my expenses. No, no. I won't take it."

"Have your own way," Brockett answered. "I know I cannot make you accept anything when you are so anxious to spend your own money. Don't you think we should, at least, arm ourselves before starting? We can get horses and heavy weapons in Texas or New Mexico, but how about a small revolver, or something of the sort, to carry when we leave here? We may not have seen the last of Mr. Yazimoto and his Filipino friend."

"Exactly," assented Solano. "I think I have just what we need. I happen to own two curious little French pistols. They are four-shot guns, perfectly flat—half an inch at the thickest part. Instead of having a revolving cylinder, they have a four-barrel device, one above another, and it automatically rises as each shot is fired, bringing a fresh cartridge in line with the muzzle. They throw a 25-caliber, steel-jacketed ball—small, of course, but with plenty of penetrating power. It seems to me that those are about what we need—anyhow, I'll bring them over in the morning."



"I'LL SEE YOUSE TWO HEROES A LITTLE LATER."

"Sounds great to me," said Brockett. "Well, then, let's return to discussing our route. Question before the house: How to reach the Nogal Ranch within eight days, and yet to cover as large an extent of country as possible, and in as criss-crossed, intricate a fashion as we can."

"Why not go to New York?" suggested Mrs. Brockett. "You could throw almost any pursuer off your track in the mazes of Manhattan, and then take your choice of an immense number of trains when you wished to resume your journey."

"The idea is excellent," said Solano. "We could give even your esteemed chief the slip in New York, I believe. Then go north into Canada, west to Chicago, and keep turning on our tracks—with due regard to the passage of time—and so regulate our travels as to arrive on the Mexican border one day inside the time limit. Doesn't that seem feasible?"

"Entirely," Brockett acquiesced. "We will make New York the real starting place of our adventures, then. How early can you get up tomorrow?"

"I will rout you out of bed at six," asserted the Cuban. "Better set the alarm so that I won't frighten you all to death when I begin to ring."

And, with a few cheery bits of nonsense as parting sallies, Solano started home, leaving Brockett to a final study of the cipher-penned instructions.

CHAPTER VI.

Mr. Yazimoto, carefully dusting his clothes till hardly a trace of the recent fray was visible, walked away in the darkness, while his companion, limping in a fashion that showed how badly he had been battered in the fight, went painfully beside him. The Filipino was evidently sore of mind as well as body, and occasionally muttered objurgations in Spanish, Tagalog, and curiously mingled dialects of the far east. Mr. Yazimoto, however, was philosophical. The little Japanese bore a swollen lip and one of his eyes was almost closed, but he grinned almost cheerfully as the execrations of his friend came sputtering to his ears.

"Patience, my dear Senor Aguilar," remarked Mr. Yazimoto, in the gentlest of tones, "is of the greatest of honorable necessity. In the life of the man who follows the admirable pursuit of trade, patience must be of a mingling commensurate with great judgment. Should not the man who makes transactions in the honorable affairs of nations be restrain doubly his emotions and his notable adjectives?"

Senor Aguilar's somewhat irritated reply seemed to indicate that he was almost wholly lacking in the desirable quality so strongly advocated by his colleague. He gave free rein to his sentiments as they paced along, and only intermitted his remarks when they turned into a side street and stepped quickly into the basement areaway of a substantial brownstone house. Mr. Yazimoto knocked lightly twice; the door opened without noise or the preliminary rattle of bolts, and the Orientals passed inside.

A black man ushered them into a small room, sparsely furnished with a few chairs and a mission table, strewn with maps and plans. Beside the table, his huge frame resting at ease in a gigantic morris chair, sat a mountain of a man—a portly German, so vast in every measurement that his seated figure seemed to tower above the stocky Asiatics as they paused before him. Bushy gray eyebrows, a thick white mustache, and a bald head of enormous brain capacity made up the impressive total—a mammoth of a man and a deep thinker, such as those who serve the War-lord have to be.

The big German surveyed the battered Asiatics grimly and half quizzically. "My vrendts," he chuckled, "chudging by der ocular efidence, you haf had a stormy efening. Und from de exbressions by your faces, I also chudge you haf agomplished a larch and gonsbicuous failure."

"The judgment of the honorable Herr," purred Mr. Yazimoto, "is equalled by nothing except the unworthiness of his regretful associates. He gives most admirable judgings—we have, as he so intellectually speaks, accomplished a failure."

CORNWALL CENTRE, ONT.,

Reaches Top of Mount McKinley.

New York, June 26.—A despatch from Seattle, Wash., says: Professor Hirschel Parker of Columbia University, has reached the top of Mount McKinley, America's highest peak, 20,424 feet high, which has hitherto been unscaled, and is now on his way back to tell the world of his success.

The word was received yesterday by letter by Mrs. George Browne, of Tacoma, mother of Celmore Browne, Professor Parker's companion. The letter, which was dated April 15, said that at the time the party were on the summit. They had but little difficulty, and would reach Cook Inlet on their way out before July 1.

Important geographical discoveries, including a new route to the peak, and two new glaciers were reported by Browne.

Chicago Desperado Caught.

Sarnia, June 26.—The Russian desperado, Frank Molton, who shot Policeman Marshall Monday evening, was captured while trying to escape yesterday morning near Blackwell, after a pitched battle, in which revolvers played no small part. The man put up a strong fight and it required the combined efforts of three big policemen to put him in the handcuffs.

The man had in his kit several dynamite bombs, caps, drills, counterfeit bills, besides a full burglar's outfit.

Provincial Detective Acton shot the man through the neck, but he is conscious and will survive. It is thought that he is connected with a band of desperadoes at Chicago.

Crew Shipwrecked on Labrador.

St. John's, Nfld., June 26.—The wreck at Battle Harbor, Labrador, reported in a Montreal despatch yesterday, is that of the Norwegian full-rigged ship Thalatka, Captain Iverson, which left Shields, England, May 10, for Point Leamington, Nfld., to load lumber for Buenos Ayres. The Thalatka was forced on the rocks by an immense icefield on the night of June 10, and became a total wreck, the crew escaping with difficulty.

China Rejects Loan.

Washington, June 26.—China has rejected the $300,000,000 loan from the banking group of the six Powers, probably because of the stipulation for foreign supervision of its expenditure.

The stranger who hurriedly boarded the steamer Saronic at Sarnia was not, as suspected, the Humber murderer.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I have read the article in Saturday's issue of your paper with reference to Rev. Father McColl's criticisms of our roller rink. The article says that "He denounces the resort, attributing it as the cause of the moral downfall of its frequenters."

I am amazed that such statements were ever uttered by his reverence; in fact, if I had not seen it in print, I would not have believed that such was possible.

I have been an enthusiast of roller skating for several years past, not in the rink in question, but in rinks similarly situated.

I have visited this rink several times within the past few weeks, and again last night after reading Father McColl's criticisms of it, and I feel that he has done a great injustice to the owners or proprietors of the rink, whoever they are, as well as insulting those who frequent the place.

The statements he makes are almost too absurd for any right-thinking or sensible person to take any notice of. Only for the fact that he stands up before the people, being a person who is supposed to be above the rest of his flock in leading them in the paths of righteousness; therefore I feel it my duty to personally resent the insult, and to try in a small way to vindicate my character, as well as those of my fellowmen and women who go to those places of recreation and pleasure, with minds that are not dipped in the dye of immorality, as he would choose to make us.

To the pure all things are pure. I would ask his reverence to tell us wherein skating has any immoral affect on the bodies or minds of such that enjoy or indulge in the pleasure?

Another part of the article says: "If there is a Social and Moral Reform Society here, it is time they woke up and demonstrated that they are not merely all talk, but capable of action as well."

If there is such a society here, I think that their first duty would be to stop the mouths of those who make false accusations as to places and people being immoral where no grounds for such statements exist.

If Father McColl can find any trace of immorality existing on the premises complained of, why does he not state such, so that the authorities could take action? Oh, no; he can't do that. I would challenge him or anyone else to walk into the rink and point out anything of an immoral influence on any person.

The rink is run as many others that I have seen, everything wide open to the gaze of the public, who wish to see for themselves, and no charge is made for looking on, either.

Why he should single out our roller rink from the theatres, parks, river or other places of recreation and pleasure is something I cannot conceive. Possibly he can explain.

There is one thing that I would like to draw his reverence's attention to, and would be pleased to see him use his energies in that direction, and that is to stop the breaking of our criminal laws in the matter of playing games of chance, or in plain words, gambling. Why should church people be allowed to break the very laws that are practically made by the church, for is not our civil law based upon our christian or religious laws? Then why should such be broken by those enacting them?

Why should tickets be sold in the name of a church society for gambling purposes any more so than by any private individual?

This is a hint for his reverence, and I think he will not have to look far for the evidences of such. If he is so anxious for the safeguarding of souls, no better good could be done them that the influence of gambling be removed from the Church and State.

I would not have taken up so much of your valuable space, Mr. Editor, if I had not felt that an injustice was done not only to the proprietor of the rink, but to those who see fit to frequent it.

Thanking you kindly for this opportunity, I remain,

Yours in all fairness,
CITIZEN.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS TO MRS. (REV.) HENDERSON

The parsonage of the Charlotte street Methodist church witnessed a genuine surprise party last evening, when Mrs. (Rev.) Henderson, wife of the pastor, who is leaving soon for St. Catharines, was the recipient of a magnificent presentation, and an eulogistic address from the Ladies' Aid and the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of the church.

The presentation was cleverly planned, the entire affair being arranged without any demonstration whatever, and came as a complete surprise to the recipient.

At the close of the mid-week service last night those present adjourned to the parsonage, accompanied by the pastor and Mrs. Henderson.

To Mrs. Allum fell the honor of reading the address. At the proper time the swinging doors separating the back parlor in the parsonage were thrown back by Mrs. Stocker and Mrs. Wright, disclosing a beautiful casserole, a salad bowl, table mirror, table linen, and some elegant articles of cut glass.

While deeply affected Mrs. Henderson recovered from her complete surprise sufficiently to thank in feeling terms her appreciation of the ladies' kindness and thoughtfulness and expressed her regret at being compelled to leave their pleasant and helpful associations.

The address was as follows:

Dear Mrs. Henderson— As the time has arrived when we must reluctantly say good-bye to you, we cannot let the occasion pass, without some expression of our love and esteem for one who has so endeared herself to us by her faithful service in every department of the church, and by her ready and tender sympathy, whenever any occasion has arisen for her help.

As president of our W. M. S. Auxiliary, over which you have presided with so much grace and tact, our relations with you have been characterized by a spirit of harmony and Christian fellowship. while our meetings have been both interesting and profitable, not to the wealthy alone, but to the humblest member of our church, has your sympathy been given. But you will not wish for our praise; you record is on high Be assured we shall not forget you In accompanying our esteemed pastor to his new field of work, you take with you our best wishes for your happiness and success, and we trust that God will abundantly bless you both as you labor together in this cause.

May your path be that of the just which, as the shining light, shineth more and more unto the perfect day.

Now, Dear Mrs. Henderson, we will not say farewell, only good-bye, as we hope to meet you again.

That you may have a reminder of your Charlotte street friends, and sometimes cast a thought to us, we ask your acceptance of these gifts.

On behalf of Ladies Aid and W. M. S. Auxiliary.

HANDSOME GOLD WATCH FOR MR. NEALE FROM CENTRAL PUPILS

Mr. W. J. Neale, of the Central school teaching staff, was presented at noon yesterday with a handsome gold watch, the gift coming from the pupils of the school, as a mark of their appreciation of him as a teacher, and one who always displayed warm interest in their welfare. Particular interest did Mr. Neale take in the boys, and in their sports they always found him ready to assist at all times. He has been with the Central school for two years. Mr. Neale is leaving the city to accept a position on the teaching staff of the Ottawa Public schools.

RECEPTACLES FOR GARBAGE MUST BE OF GALVANIZED IRON OR TIN AND INCLUDE A COVER

Section 19, schedule B, of the Public Health Act reads as follows:

"Every householder and every hotel and restaurant keeper, or other person, shall dispose of all garbage, for the disposal of which he is responsible, either by burning the same or by placing it in a PROPER COVERED RECEPTACLE, the contents of which shall be regularly removed at least twice a week."

The inspector states that the receptacle must be either of tin or galvanized iron, and must include a top. It is important that all those concerned should bear this in mind. A wooden receptacle will not do, and as the inspector intends to enforce this section, it would be well for all citizens to act accordingly.

Owners of horses, should also bear in mind, that manure must be placed in proper receptacles, as in the case of ordinary garbage. One case is called for police court, owing to a violation in this respect.

SLUGGING BEE BY TECUMSEHS GAVE THEM TWENTY-ONE HITS AND SIXTEEN RUNS

McGarry Was Good Till the Sixth When He Became Too Generous With Passes — McDonald Who Followed Him Was Batted for Seventeen Bases.

After working five innings against London, yesterday, without showing any signs of becoming an aviator, little Jim McGarry cut loose and passed three of the first four men to the plate, and Mr. Frank Lefty McDonald an acquaintance of the Tecumsehs, was lead forth to his doom. What Bowerman's willow artists did with Lefty may be explained by the fact that the scoreboard manipulator couldn't count 'em fast enough. The score was 16-2.

There were three on when Lefty was led forth. The score was then 4-2. Silcox dropped one half way to to the pitcher, but alas Trout forgot that on such a play, it was necessary to touch the plate. McDonald fielded nicely and when Umps Pearson called Cocash safe at the plate, everybody howled, but nevertheless, Pearson was correct, and certainly didn't deserve the numerous oral bouquets that came his way.

After that, Mr. Frank Lefty McDonald got his without any mistakes being made. Two runs had come in and a single by Hendeburne and a fence clearer by Blake brought in three more.

EVERYBODY WAS DOING IT.

But the Bowerman boys didn't stop there. Lefty took the mound again in the seventh and this is what happened: Powell grounded, Nicholls tripled, Cocash cleaned the bags with a homer, Brant singled, Bowerman singled, Silcox singled, Hendeburne singled, Blake doubled, Bierbauer grounded out, Powell doubled, Nicholls flew out to Byrnes, total seven hits, seven runs.

It being decided that Mr. McDonald had done his share, Osborne was the next to be spotted. He started the eighth by fanning Cocash. Brant was walked and was hit to third by Bowerman, but went out between home and third. Silcox fanned.

Hendeburne in the ninth drove one out to Beard and in trying to stretch the effort into a double was out at the middle bag, Byrnes taking the throw. Blake singled, Bierbauer flew out to Byrnes, and Cocash skied to Swartz.

The Petes gathered their brace in the first. Nasher went out, short to first, Rowan walked, Beard fanned, Swartz hit for two bags, and Barthold drove in both runners. Byrnes grounded.

In the second, Tully opened with a two base smash, Trout was out on bunting third strike, McGarry hit to the pitcher, Tully going out at third Nasher sent a fly to Blake.

The next best performance by the Petes was a waft by Beard in the fifth to the grass at the scoreboard, which Cocash recovered in time to hold the runner at second. White batted for McDonald in the seventh and drew a pass as did also Dorrey, in batting for Osborne in the ninth.

INDIAN RIVER NEWS

Special Correspondence.

Indian River, June 27.—Mr. Dave Kidd is having his house bricked. The work is being done by a Peterborough man who is making a first-class job of it.

Mr. John Lonergan is making arrangements to build a new cement house, which goes to show that Otonabee is a real live, progressive township.

We are glad to be able to state that Mr. C. Munn, C.P.R. agent, who is at present visiting at Vancouver, has completely regained his health and is expected to be back soon at the old stand and hustling for business as formerly.

The nights are very quiet now at the C.P.R. station since the Italians with their musical instruments have moved west.

Several of the boys from the neighborhood have gone to Petewawa to learn the art of warfare.

Saturday afternoon a happy, rollicking crowd held a picnic on the banks of the river near the C.P.R. bridge. Everyone voted it a huge success and we understand plans are being laid for another one in the near future. The only drawback is black gnats and a few mosquitoes.

This week will see the closing of the schools.

Everyone is talking of taking in the social at South Dummer Tuesday night and another one at Mr. Dave Fife's on Wednesday night. More about this will appear next week.

CENTRALS TOOK FINAL GAME IN SCHOOL LEAGUE

At the Oval yesterday afternoon, with Mr. Firth of the Collegiate Institute umpiring, the Centrals defeated the South Centrals, in the final game of the senior series, of the school ball league, by a score of 13—7.

With Cecil Richardson twirling for the Southerners, the Victoria Park boys, took an early lead, by their hitting and the South Centrals' errors, and played a winning game to the finish.

The win gives the Centrals the championship, and with the Junior Centrals as winners of their series the two shields go to the Central school.

The batteries were: Centrals—Cavanah and White; South Centrals—Richardson and Seden.

Life Insurance

Marriage is a good thing. It is a part of the duty every young man owes to his race and to the community. And one of the first duties after marriage, is life insurance. The young man of riches may scoff at this, but riches sometimes "take wings" while a life insurance policy in a sound company is something that is not affected by mischance or ill fortune. The young man who depends upon his own efforts for a living, more than any other young man, should follow marriage with life insurance, and thus provide surely for a wife, or for a wife and babies, against the inevitable. Such a young man may demur at this, on the theory that he "can't afford it." But youth is not inclined to consider all possibilities in such a case. Life insurance is one of the things that should be afforded at the expense of something less important. If a young man smokes, he surely can curtail his tobacco supply by one cigar a day, or he can save an equivalent by cutting off something else he does not need. The cost of a single medium price cigar a day will pay the premium on a life-insurance policy, say, for $1,000. And thus, by a slight concession as to a single habit, some necessary provisions may be made for the future.

You will find the most up-to-date policy of to-day issued by the SUN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

There is no wick that needs trimming.

No wick to char and smoulder if the oil burns out of the reservoir.

No wick rachet to get out of order; no re-wicking.

There is no valve to clog or leak.

There is no delay in starting; no delay in putting out—The oil DRAINS out of the bowl instead of BURNING out.

There is no surplus of oil when you don't want it, and no lack of oil when you do want it. The oil is supplied at the burning point as fast as it is consumed and no faster. There is no waste of oil.

THE EXPLANATION FROM CHIEF HOWARD REGARDING FISHING TRIP TO 'CAYGEON

Chief Says There Was a Misunderstanding That He Deeply Regrets—The Men Who Accompanied Him Deserved the Holiday He Says — One Was on His Annual Holidays—Committee to Advertise for Deputy Chief.

For practically two hours last evening the Fire, Water and Light Committee carefully and impartially dealt with the question of making a just disposition of the case of Fire Chief W. A. Howard, who recently incurred the displeasure of the committee through his actions in going on a fishing expedition.

The Chief was not dismissed as many considered he would be, but after probing the facts of the case thoroughly, the committee came to a decision affecting the future management of the Fire Hall that appeared to offer the only possible solution of the problem. No resolution to the change, however, was put on record.

The Chief appeared before the committee in compliance with the notice served upon him, to offer any explanation that he could, justifying his alleged misdemeanor.

"I deeply regret," he said, "that there has been any misunderstanding over the matter, and I assure you that it was nothing more or less than a misunderstanding. There was not the slightest intention of doing anything wrong, and what I did do was with the purest of motives.

"Under the circumstances, and were I placed in the same position again, I would do the very same thing.

"The chairman has told you the correct particulars of the case.

"On Saturday night I was called up by Ald. Johnston and informed that both the Mayor and he, did not approve of my going on the trip. Ald. Johnston personally did not approve of it, and neither liked the idea of my going out of the city. He said however, that both he and the Mayor wanted to do the square thing with me.

"I said to Ald. Johnston, if you and the Mayor do not approve of me going then I wont go. I would have much preferred not to go at all, rather than be censured. Ald. Johnston told me that he did not wish to block me, but if I must go, I must bear the responsibility for anything that might occurr during my absence. He refused to sign an order granting me leave of absence.

"I felt after that," said the Chief, "that I was in a very embarrassing position; that I was to go fishing on the understanding that I was to assume all responsibility while away. On Sunday, therefore, while still thinking it over, I thought that I had better take my own rig. This I did, taking the precaution when I arrived there to phone to the station in the city the name of the hotel I was at, so that in the event of fire, I could come back, leaving the two men who were with me to follow in a hired rig. I also phoned my wife to be on the look-out.

"It has also been said," he continued, "that I abused the horse. That is not so. The horse I had was one of the best in the city. When I got that horse it was in such a poor state that a would-be purchaser backed out when he saw its condition. With the aid of a veterinary, the horse was patched up, and with plenty of exercise it can be kept in good condition. All it requires is abundant exercise, and in the four years I have had the horse I have brought it up to its present first class state.

I feel that the trip did not hurt the horse, and that it should have a similar trip once or twice a week. The horse shows the results of the care he has had.

"Another thing I wish to refer to is about what I gather from reading between the lines of the newspaper reports, that I have not been filling my position as I ought as a civic officer. I want to say it right here that I have always been most respectful and thoughtful in all my actions towards the Mayor, the chairman and the city officials. I have never gone out and gossiped on the matters which occurr from time to time between myself and the city officials, and I have never acted disrespectfully in any manner. I think the Council will agree and consent that that has been my conduct since coming to Peterborough.

"If I were discharged here tonight I would submit to it as being the outcome of the sincere efforts of the committee to carry out their duties to the best of their ability. I would not go out and tell tales, but would take it as a matter of fact, I have never been a sorehead.

There was no intention on my part of doing anything wrong. I have been trying sincerely to get along in Peterborough. This year I have felt that the Council were friendly toward me and on that account I hae been exerting special efforts to render satisfaction.

"I hope you will accept this explanation gentlemen," he said, "and apply the old rule of etiquette, that where there is no offence intended there is no offence."

"I hope that if you consider I have done wrong, or acted unwisely, in any way, that you will accept my earnest apology, and I am willing to answer any questions that you may have in mind, which I have not explained to your satisfaction."

The Chief was asked to explain about leaving the fire hall short handed by taking the two men with him on the expedition.

"One of these men has received very little leave of absence since his year's connection with the brigade. The man was raised around Bobcaygeon, and he told me some months ago that he would like to go fishing when the season opened. This man was entitled to a little holiday for the extra time he put in. The other man who went with me was on his annual vacation.

Ald. Johnston—The fault was Chief in the fact that you did not call up and inform me of what you were doing.

Chief Howard—Well Ald. Johnston, I really thought you would look at it as all right.

Mayor Bradburn asked the Chief to explain why he had not been sleeping in the Fire Hall as reported.

Chief Howard—I have been sleeping in the hall.

Mayor Bradburn—All the time.

Chief Howard—No. I want to be home with my family a few nights like any other man. One night in particularly referred to, when I was not at the hall, my wife was ill, and also I don't think a Chief of a Fire Department ought to be tied down to every twelfth night. I have served my apprenticeship and gained my promotion through hard work, and when a man knows his business and has been promoted, he should be allowed a little license. I do not mind sleeping at the Hall, but man is human and likes to be home with his family once in a while.

Ald. Morgan—I think the Chief's explanation has been very thorough. It doesn't sound near so bad now.

Ald. Johnston—How do you make that out?

Ald. Anderson—So far as I am concerned the Chief's statement has not altered my opinion in the least. His action this time I consider the last straw.

Shortly after the chief was requested to retire and the committee went into consultation on his case.

The members thoroughly reviewed the matter, Chief Howard's action in taking the horse and rig without the consent of the chairman being strongly condemned.

Before he retired Chief Howard was asked how he intended to get to Peterborough in the event of fire.

Ald. Johnston—You would have driven that poor horse the full 25 miles from Bobcaygeon at top speed, I suppose?

Chief Howard—Oh, no; I know enough about horses not to abuse them in that way. I have better judgement than that, Ald. Johnston.

Mayor Bradburn referred to the item in the newspapers about Assistant Fire Chief Grange's appointment. He did not think it wisdom in the event of the chief being given his discharge to have the fire hall handicapped for lack of fire chiefs.

DEP. CHIEF WANTED.

Ald. Gordon moved that the chairman be given authority to appoint an assistant fire chief until the committee can advertise tenders for a permanent assistant chief. Mayor Bradburn, seconded the motion, which carried.

Mayor Bradburn—We have got to secure an experienced man.

Ald. Brown—I'm not going to move for the discharge of the chief; I'm going to buck against it. The chief has been no worse on this occasion than on others.

Ald. Gordon stated during the discussion which followed that he had been accused of being Fire Chief Howard's legal adviser. He admitted having done some work a year or so ago for the chief, but not since. Several people had informed him over the 'phone that the chief was a good disciplinarian, but, of course, they had nothing to say relative to the chief's alleged disobedience. He thought, however, that the chief's actions in sleeping away from the hall should be stopped immediately.

The committee then came to the decision previously mentioned, and adjourned about ten o'clock.

CHAMP CLARK LEADS IN FIRST BALLOT TAKEN AT BALTIMORE

Woodrow Wilson Second in the Race and Bryan Draws One Vote—The Nebraska Man Will Write the Party Platform and Wins in His Fight Against Influence From Wall-st.

Special to the Review.

Baltimore, June 28.—At 6.43 this morning after sitting since eight o'clock last night, Chairman Ollie James, of the Democratic National Convention, ordered the first roll call on the Presidency. An attempt was made to introduce a motion to adjourn, which the chairman overruled and the roll call proceeded. It resulted as follows:

Clark 441 1-2, Wilson, 324, Harmon 148, Underwood 117 1-2, Marshall, of Indiana, 31; Baldwin, Connecticut, 22; Sulzer, New York, 2; Bryan 1. Necessary for a choice, 728.

The Convention recessed until 4 o'clock this afternoon, immediately after the first ballot.

Baltimore, June 28.—William Jennings Bryan last night led the Democratic convention into a declaration of progressiveness, unheard of in political history.

A resolution introduced by him, which was passed by a two-thirds majority, declared the convention opposed to the nomination of any candidate for President under obligation to J. Pierpont Morgan, Thomas F. Ryan, August Belmont or any "privilege-seeking class."

The convention was thrown into a furore by the proposition, which, as originally introduced, called for the withdrawal of Ryan and Belmont, delegates from Virginia and New York respectively. This part of the resolution was resented as invading the rights of sovereign states, and when its full import became known, boos and catcalls, jeers and hisses were mingled with hand-clapping, cheers and stamping of feet in the galleries and on the floor. When Virginia and New York refused to ask the withdrawal of that portion of the resolution which affected Belmont and Ryan, Bryan withdrew it himself, and thus changed the sentiment of the gathering and resumed his sway.

At the conclusion of the roll call on his resolution, Mr. Bryan had the following to say in regard thereto:

"This vote eliminated all of the reactionaries, and we can now proceed to the election of a progressive, put him on a progressive platform and go out and win. There are some things which I think would be wise for the candidate to do, but they need not be announced until his nomination."

Before the result of the roll call was announced, Delaware, Florida, Connecticut, Montana and half a dozen other states shifted votes to the aye column. Then others followed.

The official result was: Yeas 889, nays 196, not voting 2, absent 1.

Mr. Bryan: Wilson progressives won another victory this afternoon when the delegates overturned the report of the credentials committee and seated ten Wilson delegates from South Dakota.

The Wilson supporters claimed that the vote made the nomination of Woodrow Wilson a practical certainty.

New York's 90 votes, which Wednesday went to the Clark-Harmon combination, were yesterday cast in a block for the Wilson delegates. The announcement of New York's vote was greeted with cheers from the Wilson delegates. The total vote on South Dakota contests to adopt minority reports seating Wilson delegates: Yeas 639 1-2, nays 437, not voting 5 1-2, absent 2.

Ollie James of Kentucky was elected permanent chairman on the report of the committee on permanent organization.

Nominating Starts.

Baltimore, June 28.—After disposing of the Bryan resolution, the Democratic convention proceeded with nomination speeches for a candidate for President.

At 10.52 p.m. the roll-call of states was begun.

Nominating speeches were limited to thirty minutes, and seconding speeches to five minutes.

Wm. B. Bankhead of Alabama nominated Oscar W. Underwood for President.

Bankhead concluded at 11.18 p.m., and the Alabama delegates leaped to their feet cheering. They were joined by the Georgians and other Underwood delegates. Underwood banners and Underwood pictures were held aloft. The band played "Dixie." A Georgia delegate rushed to the platform and released a white dove, which fluttered to the clerk's desk.

Arizona yielded to Missouri, and Senator James A. Reed placed Champ Clark in nomination.

After a stormy meeting the New York delegation early in the evening decided to cast the state's ninety votes for Governor Harmon of Ohio for President.

Wanted Hadley to Run.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, June 28.—Governor Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri yesterday confirmed the statements of Colonel Roosevelt and Comptroller Prendergast of New York that Taft leaders had offered at Chicago to seat the Roosevelt delegates from Washington and Texas if Roosevelt would consent to the nomination of Governor Hadley or some other third man. Governor Hadley passed through here yesterday.

"This proposition was made to me and I understand that it was also made to Col. Roosevelt," said Governor Hadley. "I refused to consider it or discuss it, unless it first had the approval of Col. Roosevelt, as I was for him for the nomination, and no one else. I was told afterwards that Col. Roosevelt had refused his consent."

Deserts Taft Banner.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 28.—"I will not be a member of any committee managing President Taft's campaign, neither will I personally support him."

This was the declaration here yesterday of C. F. Frankie, chairman of the Iowa Republican State Central Committee. Mr. Frankie took the position that the entire Republican state ticket should receive the support of Republicans, but than any Republican "knowing the exact condition of national affairs, and who stands for honesty in politics, is justified in not supporting Mr. Taft."

SARNIA'S FIRE YESTERDAY WAS WORST IN ITS HISTORY

Sarnia, June 28.—A disastrous fire occurred here yesterday morning at 10.30, when the electrical plant of the Sarnia Gas & Electric Light Co. was totally destroyed. Only the smoke stack and boilers of the plant are left and the whole town is without power or light, excepting natural gas.

The origin of the fire is a mystery as it started in the dead end of the building, where there was not a wheel turning and spread so rapidly that the head engineer was compelled to crawl on his hands and knees to pull out the switch.

An inspection of the plant, which was undergoing improvements, had been made by three of the directors only fifteen minutes before the outbreak, and they were but a short distance away when the end of the building was blown out through a steampipe bursting.

No one was injured, but that something more serious might have happened is a miracle, as the big gas main passed through the basement.

Streams of water were used by the Cleveland-Sarnia Saw Mills Co. before the city brigade arrived, which had the effect of flooding the basement before the lead of the gas main melted, and which saved their own plant, which is only a couple of hundred feet away. The estimated damage to the company is about $100,000, and to the many dependent for power, the inconvenience is great.

The directors are negotiating with the Grand Trunk to load their wires from the tunnel power. In the meantime no street cars can be run. In any event, it will be some time before the power can be utilized.

The National Flag of Canada.

London, June 28.—In consequence of the controversy as to the national flag of Canada, the Colonial Secretary has addressed a despatch to the Duke of Connaught, stating this to be the Union Jack, which may be flown on land by all British subjects.

Alliance is Criticized.

St. Thomas, June 28.—Many of the citizens of St. Thomas are very indignant over the decision of the courts in the action of Wm. Kerly and the Lord's Day Alliance against the London & Lake Erie Railway & Transportation Co., to prevent the company from running their cars on Sunday.

The Trades and Labor Council have passed the following resolution unanimously: "That the Trades and Labor Council condemns the action of the Lord's Day Alliance in using Mr. Kerly as an agent to keep the workingmen of St. Thomas from visiting the lakeside on Sunday by way of the traction line and denying them the rights of breathing God's fresh air on the Sabbath at Port Stanley."

PREMIER ASQUITH ONCE MORE ATTACKED BY SUFFRAGETTES

Women Who Aspire to the Franchise Inaugurate a General Window Smashing Program in England

Special To The Review.

London, June 28.—A general campaign of the destruction of post office windows throughout the country was inaugurated this morning by the Suffragettes at Manchester, when they smashed the windows of the central Post Office and Reform Club. Some London branch offices and those at Hitchin and Letchworth were similarly raided. A number of women who were arrested announced that the action was the beginning of a plan to smash the windows of every post office in England.

Premier Asquith was again assaulted by Suffragettes last night while attending a reception given by Lady Glenconner.

Post offices in Edinburgh, Aberdeen Derby, Ilkeston, Ludlow and the South End were among the victims of the suffragettes' window smashing flying columns in the course of the day.

ITALIAN MURDERER EASILY EVADES THE TORONTO COPS

Italian Charged With Slaying Two Poles at Humber River, Toronto, Was Given Victuals, Clothes and a Weapon by His Friends in Mimico—He Was Rich Enough to Travel First Class.

Toronto, June 28.—While the posse of detectives and police were searching for him, Frank Sastito, known as "Big Frank," wanted for murder in connection with the fight at the Humber Bay colony last Sunday, stole a march on his pursuers. The Italian got into communication with his compatriots in the camp at the Mimico Yard and was supplied with food, clothes and a weapon. This is according to a story which has come from an Italian who lives in the colony at Mimico.

How the trick was accomplished is unknown, but it is further stated that "Big Frank" had a score of friends in the camp who would take the risk of being shot or arrested to assist him. Several of these friends took out the food and clothing to him in small parcels, which would not be easily detected.

Although he always dressed in the latest style, Frank saved money, and this, with what was supplied him by other Italians, would permit him traveling first-class out of the country. There is a feeling in police circles that the fugitive is still around the locality, and County Constable Simpson has searched several places where he was reported as having been seen. Definite news of his whereabouts may be received to-day.

All the English-speaking witnesses connected with the murder were examined by County Crown Attorney Greer last night at the inquest into the death of Mike Gyrada, Joe Napoli, held on a charge of murder, was present. Coroner Dr. Carman Ricker hopes to get on with the evidence of the Poles when the inquest is resumed.

Dr. Forbes Godfrey, who with Dr. Gordon Bates, made the autopsy on the body of Gyrada, stated that death was due to a hemorrhage of the left lung, caused by a puncture about three inches in depth made by a sharp knife, probably double-edged. He thought the knife used would be long and narrow and it was driven with great force as the other wounds also showed. There was no marks of bullet wounds on the body. Dr. Bates corroborated the evidence of Dr. Godfrey.

CHAMP CLARK.

He led on the first ballot for the presidential nomination in the Baltimore Convention.

A QUESTION OF SALARY ONLY

Special To The Review.

Toronto, June 28—An Ottawa dispatches announces that because of the opposition of Sir James Whitney to Hon. W. J. Hanna accepting the chairmanship of the Dominion Railway Comission, the position is now being tendered to H. L. Drayton, K.C. corporation counsel of Toronto, who spent some time in conference with Hon. Frank Cochrane last night. If Mr. Drayton accepts, the salary will be raised to $15,000 a year.

As Mr. Drayton is now drawing $10,000 from the city, and $4,000 as a member of the Hydro Electric Commission on this citys commission, his friends dont think he will accept.

NO ONE CAN BE BLAMED FOR THE EAGLE PARK DISASTER

Special to the Review.

Buffalo, June 28.—After the inquest into one of the thirty-nine deaths which occurred last Sunday night, when an excursion dock at Eagle Park, Grand Island, collapsed and dropped a crowd of nearly two hundred excursionists into the Niagara River, Guy B. Moore, first assistant district attorney, said to-day that probably nobody could be held criminally liable for the catastrophe.

"It was established," said Mr. Moore, "that the dock went down because it had rotted and because there were too many people on it. The law does not impose upon anyone the duty of inspecting or of keeping in repair these docks."

Clinton, Ont., June 28.—For selling beer in the military camp, Goderich, which was said to be local option beer, but in reality was the ordinary kind, Reuben Graham and N. Fitzsimmons, Clinton, George Atkinson, Shiloh, A. R. Smith, Sarnia, were fined yesterday by Magistrate Reid $100 and costs. Inspector Johnson of Centre Huron raided the canteens last week and seized 11 kegs of lager beer.

TRAVERS STILL REFUSES TO TELL WHO GOT THAT $3,000

Special to the Review.

Toronto, June 25—Not even the intimation that he might be committed for contempt of court, and kept in prison until he consented to answer, succeeded in drawing from W. R. Travers, former manager of the defunct Farmers' Bank, the revelation of the name of the party who received a cheque for $300. Investigator Frank Hodgins, K.C., and Commissioner Sir William Ralph Meredith, have been endeavoring to secure this information since the investigation into the affairs of the bank was begun.

Travers twice refused to tell the Commissioner this morning and an adjournment was made until late this afternoon to give him time to consult counsel.

Stuart Lyon, associate editor of The Globe, was on the stand at noon for fifteen minutes and explained he had seen certain papers, relating to the case, which have not been produced at the investigation, in Detective Inspector Duncan's office. He had seen a letter from Travers to Col. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer, with reference to loans, but not one from Matheson to Travers.

DR. BEATTIE NESBITT SAYS HE TRUSTED ALL TO TRAVERS

Former President of Farmers' Bank on Stand Says Had He Known of the Loan From the Trust Company He Would Have Resigned at Once—Ex-Whip Calvert Appears and Denies Rumors About Him.

Toronto, June 28.—Dr. W. Beattie Nesbitt was on the witness stand nearly all of yesterday in the enquiry into the affairs of the defunct Farmers' Bank before Sir William Meredith. The doctor testified with much of his old-time vigor and then, parrying the questions of F. E. Hodgins, K.C., with a humorous sally, or meeting some insinuation with emphatic denial. His counsel, Hartley H. Dewart, K.C., was on hand to look after the doctor's rights, but the latter showed no disposition to shield himself behind any privilege and answered with apparent frankness every question put to him. Mr. Dewart called the attention of the commissioner to an editorial which had appeared in a Toronto paper on June 21, and which he said so grossly misstated the facts that some proceeding in the nature of a contempt of court ought to be instituted. Sir William Meredith made no comment, having upon a previous occasion rebuked the paper.

Wm. S. Calvert, ex-M.P., and former chief Liberal whip, appeared voluntarily as a witness and emphatically denied that he had ever received money from Travers or from the Farmers' Bank in payment of his influence with the Government at the time that the certificate to the bank was issued by the Finance Department. He disclaimed all connection with the bank or its affairs, although he had, as a matter of courtesy, introduced Travers to Mr. Fielding when Travers was in Ottawa waiting for the certificate.

Dr. Nesbitt in his testimony foreshadowed to some extent what will be his defence to the criminal charges now pending against him. He said that he trusted implicitly in Travers, who had been recommended to him in glowing terms by Mr. Fyshe of the Merchants' Bank. Travers was believed to be an expert in banking and a reliable man. "I knew nothing about the details of a banking business," the doctor continued, "and trusted my general manager implicitly, as does every other bank president. You must either trust your general manager altogether or not trust him at all."

The doctor denied most emphatically that he had any knowledge of the $80,000 borrowed from the Trusts & Guarantee Co., and explained that he would have pulled out of the bank at once had he known of the transaction, as Hon. J. R. Stratton had been his bitter political enemy for years. He said he had borrowed money from the Farmers' Bank, but always in a legitimate business transaction. In finally settling up with the bank he had surrendered his interest in the Keeley Mines, which he believed and still believes to be of very great value. He had once asked Col. Matheson, Provncial Treasurer, to give the Farmers' Bank some deposits, but this had occurred in 1907, long before he had ever heard of the Keeley mine. He had never repeated the request. Travers had been disappointed at his not getting more deposits and had twitted him with his lack of influence with the Whitney Government. Shown the draft letter from Travers to Col. Matheson, which the latter had never received, containing references to loans made to Nesbitt and to The World, and referring to the fact that friends of Beattie Nesbitt had been promised that the bank would receive additional deposits, Dr. Nesbitt said: "It is all hot air."

Mr. Hodgins: "How do you explain the letter?"

Dr. Nesbitt: "Why do you ask me? I know nothing about the letter. I had retired from the bank long before it is dated and I knew or know nothing about it."

In the course of his evidence the witness rehearsed the story of the Keeley mine affair.

Dr. Nesbitt betrayed no bitterness toward Travers, or indeed, anyone else. He did complain, however, that the newspapers had spoken slightingly of his business ability. He had accepted the presidency of the bank at the solicitations of Travers, and had subscribed in all for stock to the amount of $10,000. Half of this sum he had paid at once, obtaining the money from W. J. Lindsay, who advanced it to him out of his commission on the sale of bank stock. Nesbitt agreed to get Lindsay the exclusive right to sell the remaining stock. The doctor is not clear as to how much of the remaining $5,000 he had paid. He retired from the presidency of the bank after about a year. He knew nothing of how the Keeley mine was financed, because he was not concerned with that. He was to get one-quarter of the net results as his commission for turning over the option.

Mr. Hodgins: Well, you got out?

Dr. Nesbitt: I was frozen out.

Mr. Hodgins: You knew that the bank was getting harder and harder up?

Dr. Nesbitt: Absolutely no. Travers always told me the bank was in good shape and making money.

The hearing will be resumed to-day.

Says Darrow Offered Bribe.

Los Angeles, June 28.—For the first time a witness in the Darrow trial yesterday charged Clarence S. Darrow with having personally offered him a bribe to turn over to him certain evidence against the McNamara brothers.

The witness, Guy Biddinger, a Chicago detective, one of the men who arrested James B. McNamara, and Ortie McManigal, testified he had pretended to accept Darrow's offer, and that Darrow told him he wished to learn who, in the inner councils of the McNamara defence, had been "tipping off" secret information to Detective W. J. Burns. Biddinger told him that it was E. A. Clancey, a San Francisco labor leader, and that if Darrow came to San Francisco at a certain time he would let him see Clancy and Burns together.

CHILDREN'S EYESIGHT

A medical test recently made among school children in the City of Baltimore, showed that fifty-three per cent. of the pupils were suffering from defective vision so seriously as to render school work unsafe. A number of these considered dull and stupid by their teachers, were really rendered so by their affliction and when their defective vision was remedied began at once a marked improvement in their studies.

The attention of parents generally is called to their responsibility in this matter so important as bearing upon the future physical well being of their children. What has been made apparent in Baltimore may also be the case in Peterborough. Are our schools attended by a large number of pupils who show a decided disinclination for their work and is this due to defective vision rather than a natural distaste for study? Are some pupils now considered dull really up to the average in intellectual endowment, their apparent stupidity being due to the fact that imperfect eyesight renders a close application to study something but little short of agony.

In some large cities the school boards have engaged the services of an expert oculist who makes periodical examinations of the eyes of school children. In the absence of such a system, however, the responsibility rests entirely upon the parents. The frequent complaints of headache among the little people may really be due to overtaxed optical nerves.

THE GARDEN OF EDEN

Sir William Willcocks, of world-wide fame as an archaeologist, announces that he has at last succeeded in locating the site of the Garden of Eden, but that it is now flooded by the Euphrates river, the course of which has been diverted by floods since early bible times. To reclaim the site would entail the outlay of thirty million dollars to be spent in building dykes to control the waters of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers.

In spite of higher criticism a large percentage of the people of the christian world still cling to the story of our first parents, believing in its inspired literal integrity, and all such regard the long lost location of Eden as the place where the first scene in the drama of human life was enacted. If the authenticity of the heralded discovery of the garden could be established beyond all question, the place would become another mecca for the believers of earth, second in importance only to the Mount where the greatest of all tragedies was written into history.

"THE GUARDIAN" ON MARRIAGE

The Christian Guardian commenting on the recent decision of the Supreme Court on the Lancaster Marriage Bill, says:

"If the Privy Council upholds this decision, it would seem to open the door to considerable difficulty in the future, and to make a uniform marriage law for the Dominion an impossibility, under present conditions. As the law stands now, a man may be a married man in Ontario and a single man with perfect liberty to marry, in Quebec. And yet if such a man marry again in Quebec and come to Ontario with his wife, he may be thrown into prison for bigamy. Surely this is a peculiar state of affairs, and would seem to call for some kind of uniform marriage law for the whole Dominion. It is not merely a question of the right of a Protestant minister to marry two Roman Catholics if they wish it, but it is a question of the right of the Dominion Parliament to regulate the law so as to avoid conflict between the different provinces."

In expressing dissatisfaction with the present situation the Guardian stands alone among the press of the country and the gloomy picture which it presents does not represent fairly the present status of the marriage law as established either by the Supreme Court or the recent decision rendered recently in the hearing of such cases in lower judicial bodies.

The late ex-Priest Father Chiniquy, was married in the State of Illinois, after renouncing the Catholic faith. Years after his death a church paper in Quebec asserted that such marriage was of no effect. He was sued for libel in a court in that province by a daughter of the ex-Priest and a jury the other day gave the editor three thousand reasons for regretting his utterance.

If the Guardian fears that the ne temere decree, which as it now stands was practically declared as ineffective, by the Supreme Court, may be incorporated into the civil laws of Quebec, which would result in the confusion to which the church organ alludes, then it should remember that that phase of the case was not submitted to and consequently was not passed upon by the court. If any attempt should be made by the Quebec Legislature to enact any such measures it is probable that the attempt would call for further judicial consideration. In that case there is no ground for worry over the probable result seeing that the whole trend of the legal opinions recently handed down is that the state is supreme as compared to any church no matter how great and powerful the latter may be.

NOTE AND COMMENT

So long as Mr. Bryan is empowered to write the platform of his party he cares little who is nominated to lead the Democrats from the wilderness.

The Toronto police have decided to employ a bloodhound to aid the detectives in running down criminals in a crowded city; such an animal will be useful chiefly as a bodyguard to the officers.

When Senator Poirier told the Congress at Quebec that the French-Canadians make too much noise in their devotion to their religion he had no grounds to complain that his remarks were received with any unseemly clamor.

Another launch, without any life-saving apparatus on board, took fire near Keewatin and every man on board would have lost his life but for the timely aid rendered by a young woman. Peterborough launch owners should read a warning in this catastrophe.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years, was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

She Likes American Men.

This from Lily Lena, the English comedienne, who finds in America something which she envies us—our men:

"American men are the neatest dressers in the world and their clothes fit. They are not silly in their attentions to women, but they are always courteous. They work hard and play well and pay their wives' bills, and they're fair enough to hear a woman's side of an argument and consider its value.

"The dear old souls are doing great things every day and making other nations sit up in astonishment.

"American wives, sweethearts and daughters should be proud of their men. They are the kings of the earth and their greatness is as yet unmeasured. Most visitors to this country rave about your women. I believe they are nice, but the men—well, if American women could travel about the world more and make a few observations I think the stability of homes in America would be infinitely increased and the divorce judges could sleep late in the mornings."

The great German laughed, soundlessly, interiorly, his vast form quivering like a succession of jelly-waves.

"Vait, vait," he commanded, when the tempest of mirth had passed. "Allow me dot I bicture to you und to mineself de efents of de choyous efening. You virsdt adempted de seductions of vinance. So? Und de young man repuffed you, so? Und den, subbosing dot he vould haf documents of value goncealed ubon his berson, you vaylaid him glose by his home. So? Iss id nod gorrect? But dis young man iss adletic—ha ha! Und he haas frents also, vot de Americans call husky, glose by hand. Und de young man, und his frents, dey beat de very life from aus de prilliant young Chapanese und de ambitchus Vilibino, but dey do not haf de bolice dake a hand for manifesd reasons! Haf I nod brobberly disblayed de bicture? Ha ha ha—I beg off you, bardon de laughings!"

Mr. Yazimoto's amiability remained unruffled, although Senor Aguilar seemed decidedly irritated.

"The Herr Baron," smiled Mr. Yazimoto, "might have even been honorably present, it is with such correctness of description that he speaks. It was not the admirable fortune of Herr Baron, however, to have participation in the notable combat, and of consequence there was not the fascination of seeing one honorable elephant roll upon the much-annoying pavement. It is of deep regret, most truthfully."

The huge German laughed again, the same beef-shaking quake of the interior departments.

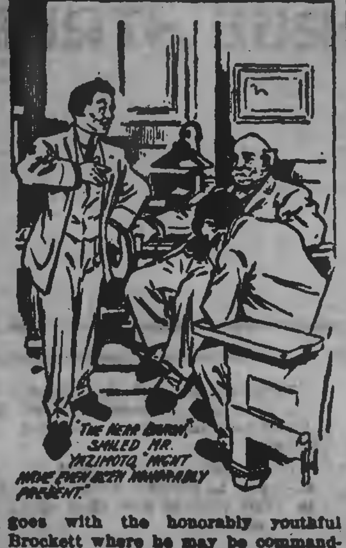
"It iss vell dot you, und I, are of de few vot haf de real abbreciation of gomedy. Our Vilibino frent—ach, humor iss defichient in his gombosichun. Ah, vell—vorget it. Led us to bitsness be attentif. I chudge dot you haf accomblished nodings mit de young man? Haf you any babers, documents, nor news of any kind for de day's laborings?"

"Exhibit One," said Mr. Yazimoto, drawing a few folds of paper from an inside pocket. "is a carbon-copy of most curious sentences, written by the honorable youth at his employment-place, and for me secured by the most excellent Miss Lawson. After examination of exceeding briefness I am force to think this only joke, and not importance in the least of measure."

The German glanced over the first "exhibit" and confirmed his colleague's verdict with an emphatic nod.

"De poy iss vise as vell as forcible," he commented. "Vot else?"

"A copy of an insignificant message sent to Cuba by the friend of the young Mr. Brockett. It is of no apparent value, excepting to show that this other young man, one Solano, goes with the honorably youthful Brockett where he may be commanded."



"THE HERR BARON," SMILED MR. YAZIMOTO, "MIGHT HAVE EVEN BEEN HONORABLY PRESENT."

"Dis Solano—he iss—"

"Of the Cuban nation, Herr Baron. He is of richness, remarkably much."

"Und id vas dis Solano dot bersonally attend to de shastisings of our frent, Senor Aguilar. How I know dot? By de annoyed und boisonous oxbression dot come ubon de face of Senor Aguilar ven de name iss menchuned. Ha ha! Haf I read Cherlock Holmes for nodings?"

There was a faint tapping upon the door; the negro attendant stepped silently to his post, and Miss Lawson—the stenographer of the secret service office—was admitted.

"Goot efening, Mees Lawson," the German greeted her. "Ve are rechoiced dot ve now again behold you. Haf you goot news for us?"

"Was the carbon copy that I gave Mr. Yazimoto of any value? No? That young Brockett is shrewder than I thought. Here is a bit of information, though, that may be worth your time: young Brockett goes away from Washington tomorrow, on some sort of secret mission, and one of considerable importance, I should judge. He takes with him certain messages in a new cipher—a cipher that the chief thinks will be absolutely incapable of translation by anyone unprovided with a key."

"Und dot key, my dear Mees Lawson?"

"That, Baron Zollern, is something that will be hard to obtain."

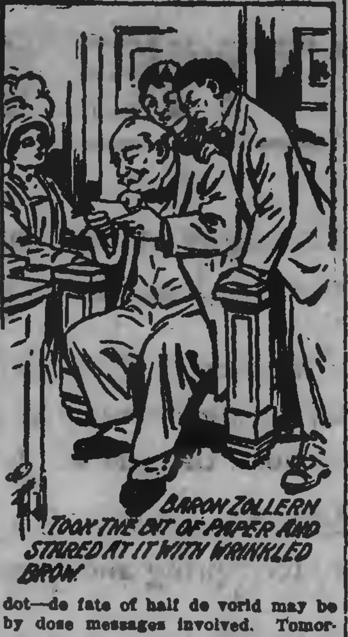
"Undoubtedly, Mees Lawson. But de remunerachun—dot vill be vorth de drouble."

"I sincerely hope so, Baron. I wouldn't care to take long chances otherwise."

"Have you obtained knowledge of real accuracy, Miss Lawson," spoke up Mr. Yazimoto, "of the time when the so trustworthy Mr. Brockett goes away, or of the route over which he is with orders to make the journeying?"

"No, Mr. Yazimoto, excepting that he will go early tomorrow morning, that he will have Mr. Ramon Solano as his traveling companion, and that he will have secret documents in the new cipher in his possession."

"De knowledge iss amply shufficheat," said Baron Zollern. "It iss imberatife und essenchul dot ve bossess oursellufs of de cipher und de messages derein. De fate of nachuns—ein, zwei, drei—ach, Gott, mohr as dot—de fate of half de vorld may be by dose messages involved. Tomorrow, ve must vatch and follow dis young man und his frent—und by de efening after, ve must haf de cipher."



BARON ZOLLERN TOOK THE BIT OF PAPER AND STARED AT IT WITH WRINKLED BROW.

"How do you expect—by what means—how can you trap him?" queried Miss Lawson, wonderingly. The huge German grinned amiably, but the quizzical good humor was fading from his face.

"Dot shall be of small difficulty, my dear Mees Lawson. Ve vill get him, und ve cannot be barticular as to de vay. It may be radder sefere for him und his frent, Senor Solano, but necessity knows no daintiness."

And the Filipino, Aguilar, still nursing his bruises, smiled venomously as the baron spoke. Mr. Yazimoto hesitated, seemed about to speak, and then subsided as Miss Lawson opened a little silver mesh-bag.

"I almost forgot something, baron. This little scrap of paper, I think, must contain a bit of the cipher, though it is probably too small to be of actual value. I found it near Chief Wilkins' desk."

Baron Zollern took the bit of paper and stared at it with wrinkled brows, while Aguilar and Yazimoto bent over his shoulders.

"A SH L L Pos 2BH SH TC E BB Pos WP W SH L Fin PO TO L Pos E HB HR TC Fin L PO WP Pos BB Pos HR TO SH BH."

The great German scowled till his thick white eyebrows almost joined together. "I haf seen many ciphers. Und many addempts at ciphers. Aber dis ist de master of dem all. My frents, it matters nod how de ting iss done—ve musd haf de cipher dot iss in de bossession of dis young man, und de messaches he carries, irresbectife of de vays und means!"

CHAPTER VII.

Solano must have conspired with the sun, for he appeared at Brockett's home the next morning before the day had fairly dawned. The Cuban was unable to surprise his friend, however—Harry had been stirring for an hour, and was fully equipped for the journey when Ramon's ring was heard. Farewells were quickly said, Mrs. Brockett and Bertha bravely struggling to keep back the tears that insisted on coming to the surface, and the youngsters were soon upon their way—messengers of peace or war, guardians of a nation's secret documents, and keepers of a cipher that was destined to bewilder the ablest interpreters of Germany and of Japan.

Brockett had figured on catching the earliest morning train to New York, and the boys further agreed that, instead of riding clear through to the new terminals in the metropolis, they would drop off in Jersey City, spend an hour in circling round that busy burg, and then take one of the ferries to Manhattan, thus baffling any enemies who might be tipped to await them at the great railroad station. They were blocking out additional plans, when they were suddenly intercepted by a huge man of rather more than middle age—a gigantic German, white of mustache and shaggy as to brows—a Bismarck come to life, and doubled in his bulky power.

The immense German came loitering down the street, almost deserted at this early hour, and almost collided with Solano. The Cuban respectfully sidestepped to permit the old gentleman's passage, and the massive German, walking painfully, uncertainly, as though troubled with rebellious feet, staggered almost into the gutter. Regaining his balance, he beamed upon the youngsters, who had advanced with ready hands to aid him, and leaned for an instant upon Brockett's shoulder.

"I tank you, young man, for de help," spoke the German. "Ach, but it iss bad ven you grow oldt, und de abbroach of age tells on de bones! Son, I belief mein tie iss disarranched. Vill you atchust it?"

Brockett promptly began a process of first aid to the injured tie, when the huge German, seizing him with a hand whose grip showed no trace of feeble age, emitted a loud bellow of "Bolice! Bolice! Robbers, robbers!"

The astounded Brockett strove to break loose from the old man's grasp, but the German's clutch was one of steel. Strong men, athletes of renown, had tried that deadly wrestle in old days in the Fatherland. The Baron Zollern had been a man of might in Prussia, and round the campfires of the German army they still tell stories of his tremendous deeds. Brockett was a powerful youngster, and an athlete in good training, but in that bearlike clutch he was like a child. Solano rushed to the assistance of his captured friend; the baron shoved him away with the open palm of his disengaged hand, and once more that hoarse yell of "Bolice, Bolice!" rang out upon the morning air.

A whistle blew in the distance, and there came the clattering sound of heavy feet coming upon the rapid run. A stalwart officer rushed up, took in the apparent situation at a glance, and laid a detaining hand on Brockett's shoulder.

"What's the trouble, sir?" the policeman queried.

"Vy," answered Baron Zollern, "dis young man adempted to rob me. He tried to seize de diamond pin in my tie, und he snatched a bocketbook from out my coat. See, here it iss!"

The baron's hand shot lightning fast into Brockett's inside pocket, and emerged clutching a small, thin wallet. Baron Zollern was not only a Hercules and an able general, but something of a master in the art of legerdemain.

"Dere iss my bocketbook, officer. Und, if I vas not mistaken, he has also taken from me some babers—an enfelope, vich gontains documents of much imbortance. Vill you hold him, und look oudt for his frent, vile I recover my babers?"

Solano was already moving forward, with a vague notion of an attack upon the policeman, when there was another clatter of feet from the rear. A second policeman was coming up. Halting about twenty feet away, this officer took stock of the conditions and, grinning cheerfully, awaited the call of his partner.

GLASS BOTTLES.

Labor and Care It Takes to Make Even the Cheapest Kind.

While the oldest bottles known were of skin, glass bottles containing wine are represented on Egyptian monuments dating back 4,000 years. Bottles of porcelain, alabaster, gold, silver and bronze were made as early as the time of the Pharaoh of the Exodus. Their elegant design and superior workmanship furnish evidence that even at that period the art of bottle-making was by no means in its infancy.

The early history of the bottle is, as a matter of fact, somewhat shrouded in mystery, for the reason doubtless that the true bottle has never been a thing of great beauty except in rare instances, but rather a humble vessel of no particular intrinsic value.

In these days glass bottles are turned out in enormous quantities. They are of all sorts, sizes and descriptions. In the manufacture of the ordinary glass bottle of commerce sand, soap boilers' waste, brick clay or other material, according to locality, is used.

When run down into a molten mass the product is skimmed and the first operator, known as the "gatherer," takes a little of the glass on the end of a heated pipe. When this has cooled somewhat he again dips his pipe into the glass, having "gathered" in the two dips sufficient material whereof to make a bottle. This he hands to the "blower," who, as he blows through the tube, rolls the product on a stone, thereby fashioning the bottle neck. The roughly shaped mass is then placed in a mold and the operator continues to blow until he has brought it to the required form.

The bottle is now passed to the finisher, who, by touching the neck with a small bit of iron dipped in water, completely severs it from the pipe. He attaches the pontee, an iron instrument tipped with molten glass, to the bottom of the bottle, thus giving it the usual rounded shape. The next step is to warm the bottle at the furnace. The finisher takes a small quantity of the product on what is known as a ring iron and, turning it around the mouth, forms the ring seen at the top of the neck. He trims the neck with shears. In the centre of one blade of the shears is a piece of brass tapered like a cork which forms the inner mouth, while the other blade has a piece of brass fastened to it for the purpose of shaping the ring. An assistant lifts the completed bottle on a fork and it is then taken to the annealing arch, which contains about ten or twelve gross of bottles placed in bins one above the other.

The above processes are those employed in the making of even the cheapest and most ordinary bottles. It may be imagined with what care and labor the workers operate to produce the bottles of the finest grade.

SLEEP AND REST.

Every Organ of the Human Body Has Its Periods of Repose.

All the organs of life rest in some way or other. The heart has an interval of rest between each combined act of contraction and expansion and the beginning of a fresh act. Between each expiration of the lungs and the succeeding inspiration there is a period of repose. Physiologists have calculated that the heart reposes during about one-fourth of the time. Certain of the other organs suspend their activity in part during sleep.

Old physiologists supposed that sleep was caused by the pressure of the blood on the brain. But modern physiology, with a tendency to regard the brain as the origin of all force and of all functions of the body, inclines to the view that sleep is caused by a withdrawal of blood from the brain.

As a rule, the larger the brain the more sleep it requires. Webster went to bed at 9 o'clock and rose at 5. General Grant used to say during his campaigns, "I can do nothing without nine hours' sleep."

A curious trait has marked men of large brain—that of sleeping at will. Bonaparte used to throw himself on the ground and go to sleep within a space of two minutes. Pitt was a sound sleeper and slept night after night in the house of commons while his colleagues watched the debate and roused him when it was necessary that he should speak.—New York Herald.

Titled Ladies Sell Flowers in Streets.

London, June 27.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—London yesterday was buried under real and artificial roses, ladies from Mrs. Asquith and the Duches of Buccleuch down in the social scale selling Queen Alexandra's favorite flower in the streets on the 50th anniversary of her landing in England. The proceeds are for hospitals. Ladies of the London Canadian colony are selling in the neighborhood of the Imperial Institute. The C.P.R. offices at Charing Cross were used as a depot for the vendors to replenish stocks. The whole scheme was wonderfully successful.

Drowning Victims Buried.

Thorold, June 27.—The three boys, Leonard Bretherick, Wm. Jacke and William Wallace, victims of last Thursday's disaster at lock 22, Welland Canal, were buried in Lakeview cemetery yesterday afternoon. Rev. Wm. Smith of the Presbyterian Church conducted the religious services over the two last named, and Rev. F. C. Piper of the English Church over the first. The bodies were carried to the cemetery on a draped wagon, and were buried side by side. The funeral was largely attended.

When Summer Stops the Swing

Most of us can remember the school lesson in the law of accumulated motion—momentum.

If you exert a pound of pressure against a man in a swing, you'll start him moving slowly "to and fro." If you continue to exert a pound of pressure against him every time the swing makes a trip, you'll soon have him going so high that he almost turns the whole circle. If you stop pushing, the momentum will die out and the swing come to rest at "dead centre."

Winning trade follows the same natural laws.

Advertisements are the force behind the swing of public favor. Each new advertisement increases the momentum. Finally, the accumulated force of these numerous impulses swings indifference to the buying point.

If you stop Advertising, you lose momentum.

The moral of which is:

Don't stop the business swing in Summer.

Keep adding the pounds of Advertising pressure.

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any recognized Canadian advertising agency, or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503 Lumsden Building, Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write, if interested.

There is no valve to clog or leak.

There is no delay in starting; no delay in putting out—The oil DRAINS out of the bowl instead of BURNING out.

There is no surplus of oil when you don't want it, and no lack of oil when you do want it. The oil is supplied at the burning point as fast as it is consumed and no faster. There is no waste of oil.

WEDDING BELLS

MEEHAN—FITZSIMMONS.

St. Basil's church, Toronto was the scene of a pretty wedding at nine o'clock yesterday morning, when the marriage was solemnized of Miss Rose Maud Fitzsimmons, daughter of Mr. P. Fitzsimmons, of St. Albans street, and formerly of Peterborough to Mr. John H. Meehan. The post-nuptial mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Kelly, and Miss Angela Breen played the bridal music. The altar and chancel were decorated with peonies and roses.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a white satin wedding dress with duchess lace and pearls. Her veil, which was of tulle, was crowned with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower of roses and lilies. The groom's gift to her was a necklet of pearls. Miss Theresa Fitzsimmons was her sister's bridesmaid, in pale pink silk with overdress of blue ninon and white picture hat. She carried pink roses, and wore the groom's gift, a gold bracelet. Mr. Selden Meehan was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Mr. Joseph Fitzsimmons and Mr. Robert O. Taylor, who received pearl tie pins, the best man getting a gold signet ring.

Mr. and Mrs. Meehan left after dejeuner at the home of the bride's father, to take the Mackinac trip before going to their home in Lindsay. The bride travelled in navy blue serge with French bonnet.

DEAN—WRIGHT.

A pretty wedding took place at high noon on Wednesday, June 19, 1912, at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Wright, "Fairview," Campbellcroft, when their third daughter, Essie Victoria was united in marriage to Mr. Chas. E. Dean, of Garden Hill. Rev. Wm. Johnston conducted the ceremony, which took place in the parlor under an arch of evergreens and garden snowballs. The bride was given away by her father and wore a pretty gown of white silk, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The wedding march was played by the bride's cousin, Miss [illegible] Ball, of Ayr.

After the wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Dean left by motor for a short trip, the bride travelling in a tailor-made suit of navy, with hat to match.

Mrs. Dean will be at home to her friends on the afternoon of July 3rd, from 2 to 6.

DUNKIN—ROBINSON.

Hamilton Spectator.—A very pretty house wedding took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when Miss Elizabeth Elmina, youngest daughter of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Robinson, was united in marriage to Gilbert S. Dunkin, of Norwich, Ont. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's parents, Simcoe street Methodist parsonage, in the presence of guests assembled from Toronto, Galt, Norwich, Arthur, Peterborough, Oakville and the city.

To the strains of Nevin's Venetian Love Song, played by the sister of the bride, Mrs. E. W. Brocklebank, of Arthur, the bridal party entered the parlor. The bride presented a charming picture in a costume of white Duchess satin, pearl trimmings, fichu of shadow lace, square court train, veil and orange blossoms, carrying a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Ruth Atkinson, of Toronto, who wore a gown of pink voile with a dainty satin stripe. The page was Master George Simons. Attending the groom was Mr. S. A. Walker, of Norwich.

The solemn ceremony was conducted by the bride's father, Rev. Dr. Robinson, the bride being given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. E. W. Brocklebank, of Arthur. The house was prettily decorated with palms and marguerites. Following the ceremony came the reception and luncheon at which was proposed the health of the bride and groom for future prosperity.

The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome pearl necklace; to the groomsman, a tie pin; to the page, a signet ring, and to Mrs. Brocklebank, a pearl pin.

The happy couple left on the 5.05 C.P.R. train for Toronto and Muskoka. On their return they will stop off at Hamilton for a while before going on to their new home in Norwich, Ont.

PARNALL—BENNETT

A quiet wedding was solemnized Wednesday afternoon at 40) Downie Street, when Miss J. Bennett, was united in marriage to Mr. Richard Parnall of this city.

The ceremony took place at 5.30 o'clock in the presence of immediate relatives of the contracting parties. Miss Allie Bennett, the bride's sister acted as bridesmaid, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Arnold Morley Bessence. Rev. Mr. Couch officiated.

As the bridal party entered, Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mrs. Turner, aunt of the groom.

The bride was given away by her brother Mr. A. Bennett. During the ceremony, Mrs. Cookson, sister of the groom sang "O Promise Me" after which the party sat down to a sumptuous wedding supper.

The happy couple left on the 9.05 G.T.R. train for Port Hope, Detroit, and other points, and carried with them the congratulations of their many friends. On their return, they will reside on Water street.

SPROULE—BOND

The marriage of Miss Fannie R. Bond, daughter of Mr. George Bond, to Mr. T. Harvey Sproule, son of John Edward Sproule, took place at half past twelve o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, in the Methodist church at Cobourg. The service, which was fully choral, was taken by the Rev. John Garbutt.

PRESENTATION TO PRINCIPAL KELLY AT KING EDWARD SCHOOL

A very pleasing event took place at the King Edward school on Wednesday afternoon, when Mr. J. W. Kelly B.A., who is leaving the city to teach in Kingston Collegiate Institute in connection with the Faculty of Education of Queen's University, was presented with a reproduction of one of Turner's masterpieces in a frame of Circassian walnut.

The pupils, when dismissed for recess, lined up in the front of the school. When everything was in readiness, Mr. Kelly was invited to come out. Mr. Kerr, on behalf of the school, made a speech in which he expressed the regret that was felt in losing such a valuable principal as Mr. Kelly, how pleased all were however, to know that his sphere of usefulness was to be increased, especially in a city where there were such great opportunities of personal advancement. He eulogized the judgment and tact of Mr. Kelly in his dealings with all, and expressed the pleasure that all would take in hearing of his future progress. Max Sloan then presented the picture.

Mr. Kelly, although taken completely by surprise, made an excellent reply. He stated the pleasure he had always had in his duties as principal of the school, and declared that no better pupils were to be found than those with whom he had had to deal. He encouraged the pupils to take every advantage of the opportunities afforded them in having such a fine school, and such an excellent staff of teachers.

He hoped that none would stop before the entrance had been passed, and that many would go to the High School, and not a few would go to the university, and spoke of the pleasure he would have in welcoming them, should they desire to enter Queen's University.

ALEX. THOMPSON JUMPED FROM LAUNCH IN LITTLE LAKE AND WAS DROWNED

Alexander Thompson, a young man employed by the C.P.R., on construction work, jumped into the water, when a launch in which he was riding collided with the steamer "Stoney Lake," last night and was drowned.

The body was recovered shortly after ten o'clock, by Mr. F. G. Young manager of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company and another man named Kirk.

Thompson became a passenger in the launch at the foot of King st. and with Harry Manley, operating the engine, the boat was driven on Little Lake. The steamer "Stoney Lake" had made Wolfe street wharf, with the St. John's church choir and was returning to Lakefield.

The launch was coming up the lake on the north side, near the mills of the Peterboro Lumber Company, and it appears that in this part of the lake the current is strong and the eddies dangerous. The engine stopped and the current carried the launch across the path of the steamer. The accident which followed by its bow striking the smaller craft was inevitable. The launch wasn ot damaged.

Thompson, becoming excited, jumped from the boat and sank to his death.

After recovery, the body was taken to Comstocks'. The unfortunate young man was in the neighborhood of twenty-one years of age. His home was at Elm Tree, in Frontenac County, five miles from Ardindale station on the line of the C.P.R.

Coroner Greer decided than an inquest was not necessary. The remains will be sent to Ardindale, on the C.P.R. local to-night.

CLOSING CONCERT AT CONSERVATORY

The musical treat of the season and a genuinely enjoyable program afforded much pleasure last evening to all who attended the closing exercises in connection with the Peterborough Conservatory of Music. The program was splendidly and appreciatively varied, and every selection deserved the enthusiastic applause given.

The orchestra's opening selection, Webber's "Der Freischutz," was without exception one of the most beautiful overtures ever performed by them. The introduction of the tube, with its clear, rich and powerful melody served to enhance the effectiveness of this selection.

Miss Clara Overend sang very sweetly two little ballads by Del Rigo and Ronald in a most acceptable manner, displaying perfect control, and a rich, well rounded soprano voice.

Miss Katy Leary, in two classical and difficult pianoforte compositions, made an excellent impression. In Greig's composition, "Klein Haakon," she shone conspicuously, this number demanding particular fingering and accurate interpretive power.

Miss Leary, previous to playing the selection, read a descriptive article written by Canon Davidson, on the impressions of the piece, as he had heard it in England several years ago.

Scenes from the "Chocolate Soldier" proved as popular as ever rendered by the Conservatory orchestra.

A Duo, march from "Faust," by Katy Leary, Gwen Smith, Iola Giles and Edwina Palmer was a stirring and well rendered number. These bright young artists are pupils of Prof. Gliddon.

The program in every sense fully justified the interest which had been manifested in it, and although the attendance was not extremely large, owing to the warm weather, all who took part can share in the success which crowned it every other way.

The following was the program:

Overture, "Der Freischutz", Webber; orchestra.

(a) "The Red Rose Wooed the White Rose,' Del Rigo. (b) "Love, I Have Won You', Ronald; Clara Overend.

(a) "Klein Haakon,' Greig. (b) "Prelude in C sharp Minor,' Rachminoff; Katy Leary.

Selection from Operetee, "Rob Roy,' De Koven; orchestra.

(a) "Happy Days,' Strelatzki; violin obligato, Miss Logan.

(b) "The Lark Now Leaves His Watery Nest,' Parker; Olive Howell.

"The Blacksmith,' Slater; Edward Hanrahan.

Scenes from "The Chocolate Soldier' Strauss; orchestra.

Duo, March From "Faust' Berlioz; Katy Leary, Gwen Smith, Iola Giles, Edwina Palmer.

(a) "Salamm' Lang. (b) The Years at the Spring," Beach; Miss Eleanor Hinchliffe.

Violin Duet, "Concertante" (No. 4) Danola; Miss Choate and Wm. Wilson

"The Lord is My Light,' Allisten; Dr. H. C. Kindred.

"Sunshine and Butterflies,' Landon Ronald; Miss McKee.

Finale "William Tell' Rossini; orchestra.

"God Save the King.'

Misses McKee and McGill, accompanists.

Mr. J. Harper played the tube and his performance called forth much favorable comment from the audience

Miss Katie Leary, whose work was one of the features of the evening, is a pupil of Mr. Gliddon.

THE MELODY OF "KLEIN HAAKON"

At the closing concert at the Conservatory of Music, Miss Katy Leary, (pupil of Mr. Gliddon,) played the number for piano "Klein Haakon," by Greig, a Norwegian composer. This composition is a very difficult one, and calls for the very highest technical skill in its interpretation Miss Leary's performance was exceptionally brilliant and effective, reflecting much credit on herself and tutor.

This selection has been much admired, and the following descriptive article has been written by Rev. Canon Davidson, on his visit to England, and who heard it played by Hon. Dorothy Pakington, at Warsley Court, Eng. He was much impressed and prepared the article from memory of its strains and movement. Miss Leary read the article, before sitting down to the piano, and it was listened to with much interest by the audience:

"In imagination I sat, with a great assemblage, in darkness and in silence. From the distance there came a sound as of the wind whispering in the trees, and gradually, in wafted snatches scarcely audible, was revealed the Melody.

Co-incidently a suspicion of mysterious light was discerned, in the slowly-increasing radiance of which dim shadowy faces began to reveal themselves. Further and further we saw them faintly outlined as the light stole in upon the recesses of the distant past.

The Melody could now be distinctly heard, low and plaintive, and inexpressibly touching. More and more brightly shone the light, suffused through the atmosphere in unearthly radiance. More and more faces appeared, but still in faint shadowy outline. Their eyes looked forth upon us wistfully, their lips seemed to speak, but their voices we heard not.

And now the Melody was increasing steadily in intensity, and seemed to speak once again to our quickened ears the messages of long ago. Louder and yet louder it grew, until from strings and reeds and brass and drums there rolled forth through the highly charged atmosphere successive billows of thrilling and reverberating sound shaking the great building to its foundations.

But, suddenly, upon the raging sea of tumultuous harmony, there fell a mysterious hush, perceived rather by the instinct than by the ear. We had all (we knew not when) risen perforce to our feet, and now, with hearts throbbing and gaze intent, we leaned forward, striving to discern more plainly, and (as it were) to lay hold of, and detain, the loved forms whose outlines were even now becoming more vague and uncertain.

But powerless and baffled we yearned in vain. For, before our longing eyes the darkness was again stealing inevitably on, and in it the companions of the past slowly disappeared, fading away imperceptibly into the distance whence they had come forth.

And meanwhile the Melody, like a tired child bereft of her playmate, was sinking tearfully to sleep. Sadly and fitfully it hushed itself into trembling whispers, and now could be heard no more."

GARDEN PARTY WAS SUCCESSFUL

Ladies' Aid of St. Lukes Realized Good Sum.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Luke's church held a very successful garden party at the residence of Mr. George Curtis last evening, when a very large number from the city and country attended. Tea was served from 6 to 8 and an orchestra of four pieces supplied music for the occasion. It is expected that a large sum of money will be realized from the garden party, and the ladies are to be congratulated upon the success of their efforts.

ALEX. THOMPSON JUMPED FROM LAUNCH IN LITTLE LAKE AND WAS DROWNED

Alexander Thompson, a young man employed by the C.P.R., on construction work, jumped into the water, when a launch in which he was riding collided with the steamer "Stoney Lake," last night and was drowned.

The body was recovered shortly after ten o'clock, by Mr. F. G. Young manager of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company and another man named Kirk.

Thompson became a passenger in the launch at the foot of King st. and with Harry Manley, operating the engine, the boat was driven on Little Lake. The steamer "Stoney Lake" had made Wolfe street wharf, with the St. John's church choir and was returning to Lakefield.

The launch was coming up the lake on the north side, near the mills of the Peterboro Lumber Company, and it appears that in this part of the lake the current is strong and the eddies dangerous. The engine stopped and the current carried the launch across the path of the steamer. The accident which followed by its bow striking the smaller craft, was inevitable. The launch wasn ot damaged.

Thompson, becoming excited, jumped from the boat and sank to his death.

After recovery, the body was taken to Comstocks'. The unfortunate young man was in the neighborhood of twenty-one years of age. His home was at Elm Tree, in Frontenac County, five miles from Ardindale station on the line of the C.P.R.

Coroner Greer decided than an inquest was not necessary. The remains will be sent to Ardindale, on the C.P.R. local to-night.

CLOSING CONCERT AT CONSERVATORY

The musical treat of the season and a genuinely enjoyable program afforded much pleasure last evening to all who attended the closing exercises in connection with the Peterborough Conservatory of Music. The program was splendidly and appreciatively varied, and every selection deserved the enthusiastic applause given.

The orchestra's opening selection, Webber's "Der Freischutz," was without exception one of the most beautiful overtures ever performed by them. The introduction of the tube, with its clear, rich and powerful melody served to enhance the effectiveness of this selection.

Miss Clara Overend sang very sweetly two little ballads by Del Rego and Ronald in a most acceptable manner, displaying perfect control, and a rich, well rounded soprano voice.

Miss Katy Leary, in two classical and difficult pianoforte compositions, made an excellent impression. In Greig's composition, "Klein Haakon," she shone conspicuously, this number demanding particular fingering and accurate interpretive power.

Miss Leary, previous to playing the selection, read a descriptive article written by Canon Davidson, on the impressions of the piece, as he had heard it in England several years ago.

Scenes from the "Chocolate Soldier" proved as popular as ever rendered by the Conservatory orchestra.

A Duo, march from "Faust," by Katy Leary, Gwen Smith, Iola Giles and Edwina Palmer was a stirring and well rendered number. These bright young artists are pupils of Prof. Gliddon.

The program in every sense fully justified the interest which had been manifested in it, and although the attendance was not extremely large, owing to the warm weather, all who took part can share in the success which crowned it every other way.

The following was the program:

Overture, "Der Freischutz', Webber; orchestra.

(a) "The Red Rose Wooed the White Rose,' Del Rigo. (b) "Love, I Have Won You', Ronald; Clara Overend.

(a) "Klein Haakon,' Greig. (b) "Prelude in C sharp Minor,' Rachminnoff; Katy Leary.

Selection from Operetee, "Rob Roy,' De Koven; orchestra.

(a) "Happy Days,' Strelatzki; violin obligato, Miss Logan.

(b) "The Lark Now Leaves His Watery Nest,' Parker; Olive Howell.

"The Blacksmith,' Slater; Edward Hanrahan.

Scenes from "The Chocolate Soldier' Strauss; orchestra.

Duo, March From "Faust' Berlioz; Katy Leary, Gwen Smith, Iola Giles, Edwina Palmer.

(a) "Salamm' Lang. (b) The Years at the Spring," Beach; Miss Eleanor Hinchliffe.

Violin Duet, "Concertante" (No. 4) Danola; Miss Choate and Wm. Wilson

"The Lord is My Light,' Allisten; Dr. H. C. Kindred.

"Sunshine and Butterflies,' Landon Ronald; Miss McKee.

Finale "William Tell' Rossini; orchestra.

"God Save the King.'

Misses McKee and McGill, accompanists.

Mr. J. Harper played the tube and his performance called forth much favorable comment from the audience

Miss Katie Leary, whose work was one of the features of the evening, is a pupil of Mr. Gliddon.

THE MELODY OF "KLEIN HAAKON"

At the closing concert at the Conservatory of Music, Miss Katy Leary, (pupil of Mr. Gliddon,) played the number for piano "Klein Haakon," by Greig, a Norwegian composer. This composition is a very difficult one, and calls for the very highest technical skill in its interpretation Miss Leary's performance was exceptionally brilliant and effective, reflecting much credit on herself and tutor.

This selection has been much admired, and the following descriptive article has been written by Rev. Canon Davidson, on his visit to England, and who heard it played by Hon. Dorothy Pakington, at Warsley Court, Eng. He was much impressed and prepared the article from memory of its strains and movement. Miss Leary read the article, before sitting down to the piano, and it was listened to with much interest by the audience:

"In imagination I sat, with a great assemblage, in darkness and in silence. From the distance there came a sound as of the wind whispering in the trees, and gradually, in wafted snatches scarcely audible, was revealed the Melody.

Co-incidently a suspicion of mysterious light was discerned, in the slowly-increasing radiance of which dim shadowy faces began to reveal themselves. Further and further we saw them faintly outlined as the light stole in upon the recesses of the distant past.

The Melody could now be distinctly heard, low and plaintive, and inexpressibly touching. More and more brightly shone the light, suffused through the atmosphere in unearthly radiance. More and more faces appeared, but still in faint shadowy outline. Their eyes looked forth upon us wistfully, their lips seemed to speak, but their voices we heard not.

And now the Melody was increasing steadily in intensity, and seemed to speak once again to our quickened ears the messages of long ago. Louder and yet louder it grew, until from strings and reeds and brass and drums there rolled forth through the highly charged atmosphere successive billows of thrilling and reverberating sound shaking the great building to its foundations.

But, suddenly, upon the raging sea of tumultuous harmony, there fell a mysterious hush, perceived rather by the instinct than by the ear. We had all (we knew not when) risen perforce to our feet, and now, with hearts throbbing and gaze intent, we leaned forward, striving to discern more plainly, and (as it were) to lay hold of, and detain, the loved forms whose outlines were even now becoming more vague and uncertain.

But powerless and baffled we yearned in vain. For before our longing eyes the darkness was again stealing inevitably on, and in it the companions of the past slowly disappeared, fading away imperceptibly into the distance whence they had come forth.

And meanwhile the Melody, like a tired child bereft of her playmate, was sinking tearfully to sleep. Sadly and fitfully it hushed itself into trembling whispers, and now could be heard no more."

It is expected that a large sum of money will be realized from the garden party, and the ladies are to be congratulated upon the success of their efforts.

A Story of "Retributive Justice"

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Although we composed the law firm of Harley & Rogers in the Spindle building, my partner, Jack Rogers, and I had so successfully solved a number of little mysteries that we were often consulted on matters that really belonged to the sphere of the detective.

I suppose that is how it happened that one fine April morning our office door opened to admit a tall, lank, dark man of past middle age, who gazed inquiringly at us from melancholy black eyes.

"Harley & Rogers?" he inquired politely.

My partner arose and offered him a chair. "This is Mr. Harley," he introduced me, with a flourish of his arm, "and I'm Rogers."

"I presume it will be necessary to consult both of you," began the stranger, producing a card which bore the name of Mr. Melancthon Thorne, known to us by reputation as a rich man and an eccentric one.

"Well, what can we do for you, Mr. Thorne?" I asked briskly, for it was our custom always to appear to be heels over head in business when as a matter of fact we had not as yet an extensive clientele of the right sort—the litigant sort, I should say.

"I have heard of your success in unraveling a number of mysteries, and I have called upon you for similar services."

"Yes?" Jack's tone was alert, and I was agog with interest. We dearly loved our adventures in "sleuthing."

"I have suffered a loss." Mr. Thorne frowned heavily, and I could have sworn a tear came into his hard eye. "It is murder, downright murder!"

We gasped. This was something new.

"Hum!" said Jack in a businesslike tone. "Give us the particulars, please."

"Well, when I arose this morning he was dead on the floor," declared Mr. Thorne.

"Who was dead?" we asked in unison, and I furtively reached for the morning paper on Jack's desk.

"Ulysses was stone dead on the rug in the library. He sleeps there most of the time. He has the asthma, and it is a warm spot."

"Ah, Ulysses is—er—your butler?" ventured Jack.

Mr. Thorne stared savagely at my partner. "Butler? Good heavens, no, man! He is my dog."

A tear dimmed the other hard black eye of our new client.

"You suspect some one of killing your dog? Have you an enemy—had your dog an enemy?"

"I suppose I have enemies—most rich men have them—but poor Ulysses could not have had one. I've owned him for years. He was a pug, a thoroughbred and a blue ribbon winner in his younger days. He was always of a kindly disposition and greatly beloved by all my servants. Indeed, I had a butler who felt quite honored when Ulysses once bit him playfully on the calf of his leg."

Jack's hand hid the smile on his face. "I suppose Hawkins felt no ill effects from the playful bite?" he asked.

Mr. Thorne shrugged a careless shoulder. "I believe he suffered from a slight limp after that, but he always said he didn't mind as long as Ulysses didn't mean any harm. In fact, I am positive the fellow didn't hold malice, for often after that I have come upon him standing in close proximity to Ulysses and looking at him fixedly—kindly, I should say."

"No doubt," murmured Jack hastily. "Is Hawkins with you now?"

"No; he has retired to a small farm outside the city. He has a family of grown up sons and daughters."

"You say you found the dog dead—you are positive he did not die from natural causes?"

"I called in a physician. He pronounced it a case of arsenic poisoning."

"Have you any idea who might have done this thing?" queried Jack.

"No. The servants in the house are above suspicion."

"Suppose we walk around to the scene of the—er—crime and look over the situation," suggested Jack, and I arose with alacrity to accompany them.

Fifteen minutes later Mr. Thorne's electric car discharged us before the door of his dignified stone mansion. He led us directly to the library, where a pathetic sight met our eyes.

There, lying in state, was the deceased Ulysses.

A white fur rug had been laid on a table and upon it was the pug dog. Around his neck was a gold collar studded with turquoises.

Rogers and I took a survey of the room. It was a handsome apartment, the walls lined with bookcases and the desks and tables littered with books and pamphlets. In one corner was a typewriting machine.

"You have a private secretary?" asked Jack.

"I did have one, but he left me recently. I have been advertising for a young woman to take his place," responded Mr. Thorne, turning from a sad contemplation of his dead pet.

"You say you left Ulysses in excellent health when you retired last night, but that you found him dead this morning?" queried my partner.

"Yes, and, gentlemen, remember that I exonerate all my servants," he said solemnly.

"Did you have any visitors yesterday in this room?"

"Several young women came in response to my advertisement for a secretary."

"Ah! Did Ulysses appear to object to the presence of any of them?"

"No—er—I believe he was rather playful with one young woman. She had removed her glove to show me a sample of her writing when Ulysses snatched at it and hid it somewhere. I was mortified that it could not be found, but the young woman was very gracious about it and said it did not matter in the least."

"You have not recovered the glove?"

"No; I haven't thought of it since."

"Did you hire the young woman?"

"No; I didn't decide upon any of them. She impressed me favorably. She is employed in a law office at present, but is dissatisfied with the situation. She appeared bright enough, but she had a bit of a Cockney accent that might grate upon me if I was compelled to listen to it daily." Mr. Thorne polished his eyeglasses with fastidious care.

"She was English, then?"

"Yes."

While my partner was talking to Mr. Thorne I was quite busy looking for the dropped glove. I found it presently and examined it with interest.

Its color impressed me at once. It was rather an unusual color in a lady's glove. It was bright green kid, or, rather, had been bright green until the playful Ulysses had chewed it into a dull looking rag. There were traces of its original color in spots, and the glove appeared to have been new. The name of the maker was there—"Panwith, London."

"I believe I have a clew, Mr. Thorne," I said, stuffing the glove into my pocket. "I will return in fifteen minutes;" and without further explanation I left the house and repaired to the shop of a friend of mine, a chemist.

He made a test and assured me that the green glove I showed him contained a deadly poison in the dye.

"Would it kill a dog if he chewed it up?" I asked.

"So dead that he'd never yap again," assured Pills solemnly, and I hastened with this information to the Thorne house.

"As a matter of fact, then, my poor Ulysses committed suicide, for his own playfulness led to his death," lamented Mr. Thorne when I had concluded. "Some one should warn the young woman of the deadly nature of the glove she still retains. I wonder if an advertisement inserted in the paper would be effective? Unfortunately, I have forgotten her name and address."

"Leave it to us, Mr. Thorne," I said confidently. "We will trace the young woman and warn her; also we will write to the manufacturer of the gloves and tell him of this fatal accident."

"You are indeed clever," said Mr. Thorne amiably as he shook hands with us, "and you merit the reputation you have gained along these lines. Poor Ulysses will be interred at the dog cemetery tomorrow. If you gentlemen care to attend"—

"With pleasure!" we murmured in unison, and it was not until we were out of sight of the house that I realized what we had said.

"How are you going to make good on the girl with the green glove?" asked Jack when we had stopped laughing.

"I'll show you," I said proudly. "I have remembered seeing another glove of this particular hue. Watch me!"

Jack watched me closely as we returned to the office and I entered my private room. I could hear Miss Dawson tapping the type machine in her cubbyhole of a room beyond. I pressed the button that would summon her to our presence.

She came, a large, fat, pink and white golden haired girl, who quivered like a blanc mange whenever she moved.

"I have found your other green glove, Miss Dawson," I said without preface.

"Oh, Mr. Harley!" she gasped, losing her pretty color. "You never did!"

"Yes. The pug dog at Mr. Thorne's snatched it from your hand yesterday and chewed it. It may interest you to know that the dog died from the effects of the feast. Are you related to the Hawkins who was formerly butler for Mr. Thorne?"

She nodded. "He's my grandfather, Mr. Harley."

"That's all, Miss Dawson—only there's a new pair of gloves coming to you; perhaps we better make it a dozen pairs."

Jack grinned appreciatively at me as she left the room smiling. "How did you ever bring her into the game?" he asked.

I lifted my waste paper basket and bade him look into it.

There on the pile of paper was an almost new bright green kid glove. Stamped on the lining the maker's name was plainly legible. "Panwith, London," it read.

"I noticed it there this morning, and the name must have stuck in my mind, because when I found the chewed glove there in the library I saw the name inside and found my first clew to our first murder mystery. Miss Dawson had thrown this odd glove away."

"Queer—queer as the devil, isn't it?" asked Jack.

"Yes, all of it. Think of the dog biting that old butler and laming him for life, and then the girl, his granddaughter, going there and by accident wearing these new gloves and the beast chewing one and dying. What do you call it?"

"Retributive justice!" declared my partner.

YOU CAN BE ABSOLUTELY SURE OF VALUES

If you carefully read the store advertisements and follow them in your buying.

Merchants advertise certain lines because they know these lines will advertise their stores. Because there is something about certain goods, they are put in conspicuous places and the people are told about them. It may be the exclusiveness or newness of design, it may be an unusual quality, it may be an attractive price.

But there is at least one definite, sure reason why a merchant advertises an article and is willing to stake the reputation of his store upon it.

Therefore, when you see an article advertised in THE REVIEW, depend upon it, the article is good value, as good value as can be obtained in that particular store.

LOCAL REPORT TO LABOR GAZETTE

The report to the Labor Gazette on labor conditions for June is as follows—

There was an increase in the activity of labor during May as compared with the month of April. Owing to the season opening late it was about the middle of the month before there was any great demand for outside labor. Now that the weather conditions are favorable, there is a good demand, especially in the building trades. Contracts have been awarded for the re-construction of the police station, the amount of the contract being $6,631. All the factories are very busy at present and Peterborough's output of canoes will be more than usually large this summer.

Farmers are very busy. The recent rains have been a boon to the crops and there is a good outlook for a prosperous season.

The progress made by the lumbering men in bringing the drives down from the back lakes is, if anything more advanced than at this period last year. The proprietors were highly pleased with this seasons operations so far.

PENALTIES FOR WIFE DESERTERS

J. J. Kelso, superintendent of the Provincial Department of Neglected Children, in his report to Provincial Secretary Hanna, recommends that more stringent legislation be enacted for the protection of wives and children from husbands and fathers who desert them. He says the present section of the Criminal Code dealing with such matters is not at all satisfactory, and this is a subject which has been agitated for years.

The Department of Justice at Ottawa will be asked to enact the desired legislation, and the indications are that Mr. Kelso's recommendations will be adopted, in which case the imposition of drastic penalties for wife desertion will be made possible.

MR. JAS. LANG IS APPOINTED APPRAISER AT CUSTOMS HOUSE

Mr. Jas. Lang, formerly dealer in gent's furnishings on George street, has received the appointment of Appraiser at the local Customs House.

Mr. Lang was the successful one of a list of applicants sent to the Minister and was subject to a gruelling examination by the Inspector.

This examination required a considerable degree of education, as well as experience and Mr. Lang, who for years was in the hardware business and drygoods business, was also a matriculated student of the Collegiate Institute. This gave him a distinct advantage.

The recommendation was made by the sub-committee of the Executive Committee of the Conservative Association to the local representative on the statement by the Minister that the Inspector had reported Mr. Lang to have passed the last examination.

The city was fortunate in having the choice from a list of very able men and Mr. Lang will no doubt give satisfaction. The office is a new one having been instituted on the application of Mr. Burnham a few weeks ago. It carries with it a salary of $1,500 which rises to $2,500. Last winter, Mr. Burnham had a great deal of this work to do at Ottawa and being informed that Peterborough had a right to one here availed himself of the opportunity with alacrity.

In all probabilities there will be additions built to the Customs House here, an application having been made by the member to that effect and a favorable answer having been received.

MAGNIFICENT GIFT TO LT.-COL. A. STEVENSON

The mess room at the armories was the scene last evening of a friendly gathering of the officers of the regiment, including several who had been in command and retired from active service. The occasion was taken advantage of to present to Lieut.-Col. A. Stevenson a magnificent silver server as a testimonial of esteem from his brother officers of the regiment.

Lieut.-Col. Stevenson's term in command of the regiment extended from September, 1907, to April, 1911, at which time Lieut.-Col. Clegg assumed command. The formal presentation of the valuable gift had been deferred to a suitable time, and advantage was taken of last evening.

A very nice and acceptable banquet was served by Caterer T. Hooper, and well enjoyed. Adjutant D. Walker filled the chair, with Major L. Hayes as vice chairman. The toast list was a brief one of four numbers.

Lieut.-Col. Clegg proposed the toast of "Our Guest," and in doing so said that thirty years ago both he and Col. Col. Stevenson were boys together in the Cadet Corps at the old Collegiate Institute. They both absorbed something of the activities of military life as shown in the militia, and further on both joined the battalion as privates. Gradually promotion came, and with it responsibility. Eventually Col. Stevenson took command, and it was during his term that the regiment moved from the quarters in the old drill shed to the new and commodious armories. During his term of office there was the best possible feeling, and a deal of good work was accomplished. His brother officers desired, in a tangible way, to express their feelings, and he had pleasure in handing to Col. Stevenson the piece of plate, as a fraternal gift.

Col. Stevenson thanked the gathering for its kindness. He was especially proud to have handed him such valuable and handsome present, and he recognized that his brother officers were more than kind in making the presentation. He would cherish it and preserve it, and it would ever be a reminder of past associations and of hearty good feeling and friendships.

The beautiful gift was accompanied by a large and beautiful bouquet of flowers for Mrs. Stevenson, the bouquet being from the garden of Capt. and Mrs. Housell, both enthusiastic and successful florists.

It was then in order for others to express opinions about Col. Stevenson and his association with the regiment. Major Hayes said some nice things, and Capt. Watt gave a song and Capt. Cluxton a recitation, all in good taste and feeling.

Major V. Eastwood proposed the toast of "Ex-Officers," and made appropriate reference to those who had been connected with the regiment. To this toast replies were made by Col. (Dr.) Halliday, Col. Miller and Capt. E. F. Mason.

Col. Halliday said he wished to add his meed of commendation of Lieut.-Col. Stevenson, whom he had found a true comrade and loyal to the traditions and objects of the regiment. He was confident that the future of the regiment would be one of large efficiency and accomplishment. He had the most pleasant memories of the years of his connection with the force and wished it all prosperity and usefulness.

Lieut.-Col. Miller made a happy and appropriate reply, speaking of the comradeship of the red coat, and the mingling of freedom with discipline, of rivalry with friendship. He spoke of the early days of the force, and its gradual growth and increase in importance to now, one of the finest of the province.

Mr. John Crane, who had been extremely quiet, was discovered and brought out into the limelight of publicity, and gave a capital song, "The Admirals' Broom."

Adjt. E. F. Mason, whose connection with the regiment was of some years ago, spoke briefly and assured the mess of his regard and interest. While now a bystander, he remembered his connection, and would time permit be glad to go back and take a share of the duties.

Capt. Mills proposed "The Press," which was responded to by Mr. Dobbin of the Review.

Several volunteer toasts followed, and when the gathering broke up it was one general handshake all around, and cheers for Col. Stevenson and Col. Clegg.

LONDON SHUT-OUT BY TRACEY WHO GAVE PRETTY EXHIBITION OF TWIRLING

Nasher Helped Some in the First by Wafting Out a Homer —Brantford Here for Third Game To-morrow at Three O'clock.

Playing a superior brand of baseball in every department of the game the Petes handed a shut out to Frank Bowerman's Tecumsehs at Homerun Park, yesterday afternoon, the final count reading 8-0. It was a great game of baseball with Ken Tracey, winning his spurs as Ladies' Day twirler.

Tracey had everything and his clever work in the box made a big hit with the crowd which included a large number of the members of fair fandom. Only once did he pass a man, Fox in the fifth, his first gift in two games. His beautiful control of the ball as in his work against St. Thomas, when he certainly deserved to win, was a performance that the fans greatly appreciated.

He allowed but seven one base hits, not more than one coming in any innings. Against such twirling, and the fielding, as put up by the Petes, no team could hope to win.

The play of the locals was a complete reversal from that of the first game, and the win did the Caps a heap of good, as well as the supporting fans.

Furrsedon, the ex-Toronto heaver didn't appear to have anything over the limit. He walked two and hit one in the fifth, made a wild heave and these gifts with two errors at short, gave the Petes four runs. He started in the fifth, but after passing Beard, and being hit for two singles, rode the derrick, in favor of Reitzman, a left hander. With Barthold at the bat, the new comer, let loose with a wild pitch that advanced Beard to third and Swartz to second, and Barthold hitting into right garden, scored both runners.

Reitzman then settled down to business and fanned three out of the next four men facing him, and remained steady during the balance of the game.

BREEZES FROM THE DIAMOND

Hal Chase, first baseman for the New York American League baseball team, has started proceedings against his wife for an absolute divorce. His complaint has been filed with attorneys for Mrs. Chase. The Chases have been married about three years, and have had two children, one of whom died suddenly. Mr. and Mrs. Chase met while he was playing an exhibition game in New Jersey. Since the marriage Mrs. Chase has never missed a game on the home grounds. She and her baby were always to be found in a box near the first base line. It is said that she will deny all of her husband's charges, attrubuting the trouble to his jealousy.

PETES MADE GOOD START

The Petes got away to a good start in the first of the double header with Brantford, at Riverside Park the score reading 8-1 for the Petes at the end of the fifth. Beard was pitching in winning form while the Petes were batting Baker and were being assisted by free passes to first.

GOVERNMENT'S PRICES FOR COAL

The Dominion Government has secured the year's supply of coal for use in the Federal buildings at $6.09 a ton. The Ottawa City Council pays $7.75 for the same kind of coal, and $7.50 is the price asked by the local dealers from the city of Peterborough. The variety of coal in each case is said to be practically the same. While the Peterborough City council has the better bargain as compared with that made by Ottawa aldermen, the Government has them all beaten in securing favorable terms for its supply of fuel. Probably the amount required for the heating of public buildings regulates the price to a great extent, but the Ottawa papers claim that a difference of $1.66 a ton is not entirely accounted for by the quantity of fuel furnished in each case.

Other Drugs Worse.

London, June 28.—Lewis Harcourt, Secretary of State for the Colonies, deprecated the agitation for the immediate and total suppression of the opium traffic while introducing the Colonial Office estimates in the House of Commons last evening. He said: "There is grave and undoubted evidence that the compulsory reduction of the opium traffic has led already to an increase more deadly of the vices of morphine and cocaine and until international action has been taken it will not be wise to proceed further towards the desired goal of the total cessation of the opium habit."

Cousin Charlie

He Played an Audacious Game, but Won in the End

By MARY PRICE BURNHAM

"My dear Cousin Sue," wrote Miss Auchincloss, cousin by marriage, "we are now settled in our new place at Waverly and claim your long promised visit. We are all anxious to meet you, having heard a great deal about you from different members of your side of the family. Charlie will call for you tomorrow afternoon after luncheon with the auto and bring you out. The distance is only twenty-five miles, and an hour will be quite sufficient for the journey."

"Well," mused Miss Auchincloss, "I dare say they will all be very kind to me, Delia having married my cousin, but since I have never seen any of them, not even the connecting link, Charlie, I suppose I shall not feel very much at home among them. However, I shall get acquainted with him on the ride and that will be a help with the others."

The next day at the appointed time Miss Auchincloss was ready for the journey with a suit case standing in the hall. Going to the window she saw a young man just pulling up to the curb in a beautiful new automobile, painted fawn color. A man on the sidewalk advanced and the two talked together, the autoist sitting in his seat. Then the autoist alighted, and the two men walked away, leaving the machine standing where it had been stopped.

It occurred to Miss Auchincloss that she would rather wait for her cousin's return in the auto. He had evidently met some one he knew and they had gone off to do something, she didn't know what. When he returned she would be ready for him. She was much pleased with his appearance and this had taken away a good deal of her repugnance at visiting persons whom she had never seen. So carrying her suit case with her she put it in the auto, then got in herself on the seat beside the steering wheel.

She sat there ten minutes, when the autoist returned. He looked at Miss Auchincloss somewhat surprised as he approached, and when he reached the auto, hat in hand, there was an inquiring expression on his face.

"I'm your Cousin Sue Auchincloss. I received Cousin Delia's letter saying that you would call for me this afternoon to take me out to Waverly. I saw you drive up to the door and walk away with your friend. I thought I'd be ready for you on your return."

A meeting between two persons who have never met before is apt to be a little stiff, and for a few moments the young man showed embarrassment; then he muttered a few incoherent nothings, took his seat, attached the power, and the two sped away. The formality of a first meeting soon disappeared. Cousin Charlie asked a great many questions about his relatives, the Auchinclosses, and Cousin Sue asked a great many about his branch of the family, the Chamberlins. He was especially pressing in his queries, surprising Miss Auchincloss by his want of knowledge of his kin on her side of the house. When each had been satisfied in this matter they fell to general conversation and got on famously. Miss Auchincloss was delighted with Cousin Charlie, and Mr. Chamberlin was delighted with Cousin Sue.

When an hour had passed Miss Auchincloss asked if they were not near Mr. Chamberlin's home, his wife having written that the distance could be covered within that time. Mr. Chamberlin smiled and said he had no idea of taking so short a ride and had chosen a far longer route. Coming to a roadhouse, he said he would telephone that they would not arrive as soon as expected and, alighting, went inside for the purpose. He was gone some time and when he returned explained the length of his absence from the fact that the wire was busy and he was obliged to wait.

It was three hours after the starting that the auto pulled up in the grounds of a handsome place, and several young women came out on the porch to receive the guest. One of them, whom Cousin Charlie called Delia, advanced, gave Miss Auchincloss a kiss, and the rest followed suit. A small boy of ten who announced himself as Cousin Frank insisted on carrying Cousin Sue's suit case, and the party went into the house. They were all young and seemed very well pleased at the meeting. The guest was shown to her chamber, where she made a toilet for dinner, putting on the one dressy costume she had brought with her.

"Dear me," she said to herself when left alone, "I didn't know that Charlie Chamberlin was so well off as to live in this style. I wonder if the funds don't belong to his wife."

The dinner went off pleasantly, though it seemed to Miss Auchincloss that there was an uneasiness in her cousins, and as time wore on Charlie, though evidently much pleased at having his cousin with him, appeared especially distracted. Little Frank seemed inclined to do a good deal of chattering despite efforts made to muzzle him. He kept calling those at the table by their wrong names and was constantly saying things to make the occupants of the house uneasy. Finally just at the conclusion of the dinner he addressed Cousin Delia thus:

"I say, Mollie, why don't you get married?"

There was a laugh, which on the part of the hosts was mingled with a good deal of constraint. Cousin Charlie looked frightened, and Cousin Delia turned red in the face. No reference was made to the boy's having called Delia Mollie, and in time the equanimity of the party returned. After dinner it was still day, for it was the season when the twilights were long, and all went on to the veranda.

"Charlie," said Delia, "you had better show Cousin Sue the grounds before it is dark."

"Oh, I wouldn't think of separating a newly married couple. Come with us Cousin Delia," said Miss Auchincloss.

Several of the party turned their backs at this reply, and it looked to the guest that it was for a reason. There was something going on underneath this cousinly welcome that mystified Miss Auchincloss. Cousin Delia excused herself on the ground that she was obliged to get a letter written to be sent out before the mail closed. It did not seem to Miss Auchincloss that there was anything husbandly and wifely between her and Charlie. They had been married but a short time, and even between couples who have lived together for years there is a certain something that marks them as belonging to each other. Nevertheless while Miss Auchincloss noticed the absence of this something it did not occur to her that the couple were anything but man and wife.

"Cousin Delia," she said to Charlie as they strolled away together, "looks enough like you to be your sister."

"W-h-a-t!"

"I have never seen a married couple resemble each other as you two do."

"Y-e-s; several persons have spoken of that. I don't see it at all," replied Charlie, then turned the subject.

He led Miss Auchincloss about the grounds which covered a dozen acres attractively laid out, a rivulet running through it spanned by rustic bridges and here and there broadened into a fish or a duck pond. As they strolled along together Charlie seemed to lose that embarrassment which had troubled him, but he surprised Miss Auchincloss by certain glances and words that were altogether too flirtatious to come from a married man, especially one who had been recently wedded. Miss Auchincloss suggested that, the sun having set, the air was becoming a trifle chilly and she thought she would return to the house. They found the auto standing before the door.

"Why, you're not going out again in your machine tonight, Cousin Charlie?" remarked Miss Auchincloss.

"I thought we would have another ride," was the reply. "The moon is coming up, and it is full tonight."

"But"—

"But what?"

"Why, don't you think you'd better take Cousin Delia out with you?"

"Oh, she doesn't like to ride in an automobile; she's afraid."

They went into the house, and Charlie announced his intention to take his cousin for a moonlight ride. This did not surprise the others, and when Miss Auchincloss offered to give place to Delia the latter repressed a smile and said that her moonlight rides with Charlie were a thing of the past.

So the cousins got into the auto together and started forth. They had not been out long before it was evident that Cousin Charlie was trying to get something out. He made several attempts, all of which were failures, when Miss Auchincloss said:

"There is something about this visit of mine that I can't understand, a secret among you all, to which I have not been admitted. I wish you would tell me what it is."

Cousin Charlie made another effort and was soon launched upon an explanation mingled with frequent excuses and apologies. He told her that when he saw her in his auto he knew at once that she had made a mistake. He was not her Cousin Charlie at all. The temptation to impersonate that gentleman and take her for a drive was too strong for him. Then it occurred to him to take her home with him for dinner. He had prepared the family for the event by telephone and asked one of his sisters to impersonate his wife. They had protested against the plan at first, but finally consented. The matter would have gone off more smoothly had it not been for Frank, who kept them in constant terror lest he should let out the plot.

It took Mr. Chamberlin the greater part of the ride to smooth Miss Auchincloss' ruffled feelings, but gradually it came over her that the affair was a very good joke, and she admitted that she had made some very pleasant acquaintances. She asked Cousin Charlie in what direction he was driving, and he said that he was taking her to her real cousin's. He had telephoned them that her arrival would be delayed. She asked when her suit case would be sent to her, and he told her that it was stowed away in the rear of the auto.

It had been very easy for the young man to play the game; indeed, Miss Auchincloss had walked into it of her own accord. It was another matter to smooth her ruffled feelings. Nevertheless by dint of penitence and persuasion he finally succeeded.

And so ended the first chapter in a love story which was quite awhile in developing. Miss Auchincloss was prevailed upon to visit again those who had entertained her, and they all became very intimate. Cousin Charlie, or Fred Warrington, took her on many an auto ride and one moonlight night in the autumn secured her promise to be his wife.

NORWOOD NEWS

Special Correspondence

Norwood, June 27.—The Norwood Methodist and Presbyterian Sunday schools will hold their annual excursion on Friday, July 5th, by train to Peterborough in the morning, thence by boat to Jubilee. As this is a good trip for a Sunday school picnic, a large crowd is expected, and we are anticipating a good time.

On account of the high water in the Trent River very few of our local anglers have any big fish stories to tell so far this year, but if the dry, hot weather continues we expect to hear good reports from those who visit the favorite fishing resort on Monday next, July 1st.

Miss M. B. Williams has received her new Ford auto. This makes six cars in Norwood, and all Fords.

Mr. H. H. Morrison, who spent a couple of weeks in the West, has returned and has resumed his position as local agent for the Prudential Insurance Co.

The Asphodel Council has had the stone crusher engaged in crushing gravel in the Norwood gravel pit for the purpose of improving the roads leading into the village. This week the Norwood Council have engaged the crusher and are having crushed gravel placed on some of the village streets. The work done last year in the same way was so satisfactory it was considered advisable to spend a couple of hundred dollars in gravelling some more of the streets this year.

While Asphodel and Norwood are engaged in street and road improvement, Belmont is not behind, and for the past week their grader has been busy on the Havelock road, east of the long crossing to Sharpnag's Hill in grading the road and getting it ready for a coat of gravel. This will make a splendid job and we anticipate that the Havelock to Norwood road will be second to none in the district.

On Wednesday afternoon last death removed from our midst Mrs. Burkell, widow of the late Mr. John Burkell, who predeceased her only on the Sunday previous. Mrs. Burkell had been very ill for some time past, and no doubt the shock of her husband's very sudden death tended to hasten the end.

Mrs. Burkell's maiden name was Sarah Hilbert, and she was married to her late partner in 1865.

Mr. and Mrs. Burkell lived in the township of Alnwick up till about four years ago, when they came to Norwood to take life easy.

The surviving children are: Thomas, of Norwood; George W., of Copeville, Alberta; Edward J., of Sovereign, Sask., and Oscar, of South Porcupine, Ontario; also three daughters, Mrs. W. T. Carbery, of Norwood; Miss Annie, who resided with her parents, and Mrs. W. Robinson, of Winnipeg.

The double funeral took place from their late residence, Spring street, on Friday afternoon at 2.30, to the Norwood cemetery.

Wednesday of this week is Division Court day for Norwood.

Mr. Will Birt, of Pence, Sask., is visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Birt, Belmont street. Will's many friends here are pleased to hear of his success in the West. He is carrying on a successful general store business in the prairie town.

The merchants of Norwood will close their places of business on Wednesday afternoon during the months of July and August.

The schools close this week and already some of our villagers are preparing to go to Stoney Lake to keep cool during the hot weather.

The Militia Dept. has issued a memorandum respecting applications for grants from the veterans of 1866-70.

The 13th Royal Regiment, Hamilton, is planning to celebrate its semi-centennial in September.

ECCENTRIC BEQUESTS

THE VAGARIES OF THOSE POSSESSING MONEY ARE STRANGE.

Employes Who Have Left Sums of Money to Their Employers in Sarcasm or to Relieve Conditions of Fellow Workers—Mean Husbands Who Have Put Hard Conditions on Their Wives.

The home of strange wills is in the old country, although Canada, young as it is, there have been some bequests made which have caused our worthy inhabitants to wonder at the vagaries of the old and even of the comparatively young. For instance take the case still recent in the minds of Montrealers in which an erstwhile inhabitant of the city, at the time of his death desiring to remember in a public manner, the city in which he claimed to have received his first start in life, bequeathed to the Corporation of Montreal a considerable sum of money to be devoted to the relief of the poor. Here are a few English incidents which illustrate curious wills much better.

Judging by the frequent examples of strange wills that every now and again come to light there seems to be a strong tendency among a large class of testators to make their "last wills and testaments" as eccentric and peculiar as possible.

Not so long ago, for instance, an eccentric Manchester gentleman died who held strong views as to the undesirability of marriage between cousins. Dying childless, he left a large fortune the interest of which was to be divided equally between his nephew and neice, the only children of two elder sisters. Attached to this legacy was a strange proviso that did the young people marry one another, the money should revert to a well-known Lancashire charity. The nephew lived in Blackburn, the neice in Bristol. They had never met, and, under ordinary circumstances, probably never would have done so. Curiosity led the nephew to spend a holiday in Bristol, and there to visit his cousin, the girl whom he was so strangely forbidden to wed. It was a case of love at first sight. In a fortnight the cousins were engaged, and before the year was out there were wedding bells, which caused the trustees of the Lancashire charity to rejoice.

Some of the most amusing wills are those that are inspired by feelings of spite against a testator's kith or kin. The late Mr. Sydney Dickenson takes high rank among testator humorists of this type. He bequeathed $300,000 to his widow on these grimly ironical conditions: "When I remember that the only happy times I have enjoyed have been when my wife sulked with me, and when I remember that as she was nearly always sulking my life with her has been fairly happy, I am tempted to forget the repulsion the sight of her face inspired me with, and leave her the sum of $300,000 on condition that she spends two hours a day at my graveside for ten years in company with my sister, whom I know she loathes more than she does myself."

It was a similar sense of gratitude which inspired Mr. William Darley, of Ash, in Hertfordshire, to leave his wife a shilling, "in admiration of the skill with which she was in the habit of robbing me of all small sums she could lay her hands on."

A mariner of Bristol, who had evidently been blessed with a spouse none too conspicuous for her domestic traits, instructed his executors: "To pay out of the first moneys collected to my beloved wife, if living, one shilling, that she may buy hazel nuts as I know she is better pleased with cracking them than she is with mending the holes in her stockings."

A testator's employer sometimes becomes his legatee but when this is the case the bequest is usually made with some ulterior motive. A Welshman who left the handsome sum of one shilling to his master did so in order that the latter might purchase a "book on manners," as he sadly lacked the merest semblance of the same when dealing with his subordinates. A case not dissimilar to this was that of the lawyer who died of overwork, and who bequeathed $100 to the solicitors who had employed him, conditionally on the sum being devoted to the paying of overtime fees to such of the clerks as were compelled to work after ordinary office hours. In both cases there was more a desire for better conditions of labor than a wish to benefit the employers.

Some executors are called upon to carry out the most peculiar instructions. Thus, a prosperous merchant, who lived and died in the Midlands, desired that his funeral should take place a week after his death, an hour before dawn, and with the strictest economy. At the same time he expressed a wish that eighteen of his bosom friends, whom he mentioned by name, should be present at his interment, and that in return for their services each should be paid ten pounds out of his estate. No signs of mourning were to be allowed, and every acquaintance of his who attended the burial was to be presented with a pair of white kid gloves, and afterwards with a bottle of wine, that they might drink to the health of his soul, "then," as he expressed it, "on its journey to purification before the eternal rest."

It is questionable if any will ever survived a more adventurous ordeal than the one which was made by a laborer who died in New Zealand in 1868. He left all he had—some $1,500 in the British Postoffice—to his wife, who lived at Rye, in Sussex. The will was rather an elaborate affair, engrossed at prodigious length on parchment, and adorned with the seal of the Supreme Court of New Zealand in the bottom left hand corner.

The will after being wrecked off the Scilly Islands was picked up on the beach by some Cornish fishermen and sent on to London.

Where They Resemble.

"A man, like a watch, is known by his works," observed the epigram maker.

"And by the hours he keeps," added the wife.

"And by the spring in him," said the athlete.

"And by his being sometimes fast," remarked the reformer.

"And by the way his hands go up," put in the pugilist.

"And by his not always going when we want him to," finished the girl who'd been robbed of her beauty sleep.—Boston Transcript.

PHILIPPINE SAVAGES.

The Uncouth Tinglans Are Fond of Ornaments and Gay Colors.

There are many strange, uncivilized people among the Asiatic Americans of the Philippine Islands.

The Tinglans are a very uncouth tribe of savages. Their head women have their arms almost completely covered with strings of beads, wound so as to form beautiful and striking designs. A long, heavy string of beads is also twisted around the hair and hangs down the back like a braid. The skirt of these head women is white, with a blue border, and the waist is of light yellow. They smoke pipes of solid silver, ornamented with bangles, in the bowls of which pieces of cigar are inserted.

The typical young Tinglan chieftain wears a stiff collar of beads and a gayly colored calico shirt, over which is a sort of scarf trimmed with many silver coins. The members of this tribe are very fond of silver. They make a large number of finger rings from silver coins, and each man usually has from five to ten of these rings about his person, but not necessarily on his fingers.

The Tinglans are fond of a peculiar dance. The music is produced by beating with the palms of the hands on "gansas" or tomtoms. The dancers, a man and a woman, with arms outstretched, circle about each other in a spiral, the man pursuing the woman with a quick, jerky step. As they approach the center of the spiral he suddenly sweeps upon her, when she always eludes him by suddenly darting out of his reach.—Forrest Clark in Leslie's.

Good Business.

A famous pistol shot told a shooting story at a supper in San Francisco.

"There was a party of amateurs here in Frisco," he said, "who thought they would do some live pigeon shooting, so they ordered thirty birds from a suburban dealer.

"The shoot came off duly. It was a wonder. To give you a correct idea of it I must quote from a letter sent by the dealer to the amateurs the next day. The letter ran:

"'Gentlemen—I thank you for your order and beg to state that I will be only too happy to supply you with birds for all future shoots. The entire thirty pigeons, for which you paid me 15 cents a head, returned home safely and, moreover, brought two strays with them. My price to you hereafter will be 1 cent per pigeon.'"—Los Angeles Times.

Life Insurance

Marriage is a good thing. It is a part of the duty every young man owes to his race and to the community. And one of the first duties after marriage, is life insurance. The young man of riches may scoff at this, but riches sometimes "take wings" while a life insurance policy in a sound company is something that is not affected by mischance or ill fortune. The young man who depends upon his own efforts for a living, more than any other young man, should follow marriage with life insurance and thus provide surely for a wife, or for a wife and babies against the inevitable. Such a young man may demur at this, on the theory that he "can't afford it." But youth is not inclined to consider all possibilities in such a case. Life insurance is one of the things that should be afforded at the expense of something less important. If a young man smokes, he surely can curtail his tobacco supply by one cigar a day, or he can save an equivalent by cutting off something else he does not need. The cost of a single medium price cigar a day will pay the premium on a life insurance policy, say, for $1,000. And thus, by a slight concession to a single habit, some necessary provisions may be made for the future.

You will find the most up-to-date policy of to-day issued by the SUN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

CHAMP CLARK LEADS, BUT THE CONVENTION IS DEADLOCKED

Even With New York's Ninety Votes the Missouri Man Still Lacks One Hundred and Four of the Required Majority on the Twelfth Ballot.

Special To The Review.

Baltimore, June 29—Twelve ballots had been taken without any sign of a break of the deadlock, when the Democratic National Committee, at 3.05 this morning decided to adjourn until this afternoon, in the hope that some agreement might be reached as to the presidential nominee. Unless conferences which are to precede the afternoon session are more productive of results than those previously held, the existing deadlock may be definitely prolonged.

The New York vote, which swung over to Clark on the tenth ballot this morning, it is claimed, cannot be held for him, unless he makes substantial gains. He was 104 votes short of enough to nominate him even with this support. Underwood, it is said, will be the next to have a chance to secure New York vote.

Baltimore, June 29.—After 24 hours, the deadlock in the Democratic convention over nominating a candidate is unbroken.

Six ballots showed Champ Clark of Missouri leading Woodrow Wilson by 91.

Immediately the seventh roll call was ordered, and the grind went on. While the roll call was proceeding a circular denouncing Wilson was distributed among the delegates. A Wilson man from New Jersey objected, and the distribution was ordered stopped. It took a squad of police to stop it, and for a few minutes trouble seemed imminent. But the disorder was quieted, and the roll call proceeded.

While the seventh ballot was in progress, Murphy of New York, Taggart of Indiana, and Sullivan of Illinois, were in earnest conference endeavoring to agree upon some concerted plan of action. It was said a determined effort was being made in the Illinois delegation to swing it to Wilson.

The vote on the seventh ballot was: Clark, 449 1-2; Wilson, 352 1-2; Underwood, 123 1-2; Harmon, 129 1-2; Marshall, 31; Kern, 1; Bryan, 1. The changes were immaterial.

Despite rumors that New York and Massachusetts would shift their votes in an effort to break the Clark strength, the eighth ballot showed no marked change. In Ohio one of the Wilson votes went to Senator-elect Ollie James of Kentucky, the chairman of the convention. Tenessee, which has never cast two consecutive similar votes, shifted again and added Mayor Gaynor of New York to its list.

The changes from the seventh ballot were: Clark lost 1, Wilson lost 1, Underwood lost 1-2, Harmon gain 1-2. Gaynor and James were added to the list with 1 each.

The announcement of the vote was followed by the start of the ninth roll call at 11.25 o'clock.

The heat in the hall was stifling and the proceedings dragged heavily. The delegates gossiped among themselves or perused newspapers.

The leaders of the various factions hurried about the hall. The air was full of rumors of "deals" and "trades." A shift that would throw a deciding vote to one candidate or another was looked for on every ballot by some of the delegates, while others expected an all-night session.

The Democratic platform as approved by the committee entrusted with the nailing of planks promises a host of reforms, but makes the tariff chief issue.

The high Republican tariff is blamed for the unequal distribution of wealth, and it is declared that the American farmer and laboring man are chief sufferers, as it raises the cost of the necessaries of life, but does not protect their product or wages.

This plank proceeds to demand immediate downward revision, insisting that material reductions be made on the necessities of life and that articles entering into competition with trust-controlled products and articles of American manufacture sold more cheaply abroad than at home be put on the free li

H. L. DRAYTON IS CHAIRMAN OF DOMINION RAILWAY BOARD

Toronto's Corporation Counsel Is Authoritatively Announced to Have Accepted the Post at a Salary of $15,000 a Year and Will Commence Work on Sept. 1.—Has a Splendid Record.

Toronto, June 29.—Mr. H. L. Drayton, K.C., corporation counsel for the city of Toronto, will succeed the late Mr. Justice Mabee as chairman of the Dominion Railway Commission. Mr. Drayton probably will take his seat on the board at the beginning of September, and it is understood that the salary paid to the new chairman will be $15,000 per annum.

The position sought the man. Twice Mr. Drayton sought to escape its great obligations and responsibilities, on the ground that acceptance would entail serious sacrifices, both to Mrs. Drayton and himself, and it was not until last evening that the announcement was officially made by a Minister of the crown that he had been prevailed upon to accept. Mr. Drayton himself, however, was reticent, and, when interviewed, declined to make any statement in the matter.

The chairmanship of the Railway Board is the biggest non-elective position in Canada, and the appointment of Mr. Drayton is a tribute to his splendid ability, earnest work, legal knowledge, and zeal for the public interests. He brings to the service of his country a strong, trained and well-equipped mind, developed along lines of progressive endeavor.

Henry Lumley Drayton, K.C., corporation counsel for the City of Toronto, is a native of Kingston, Ont., where he was born on April 27, 1869. His father, Mr. P. H. Drayton, K.C., official arbitrator for this city, is of English birth and ancestry. He came to Canada as captain of the 16th Rifles of England. Mr. Henry L. Drayton was educated at the schools of England and Canada. He became a law student in 1886, when he entered the law office of Messrs. Lount & Marsh, this city. He was admitted to the bar of Ontario in 1891.

Mr. Drayton became assistant city solicitor in 1893, under City Solicitor C. R. W. Biggar, and later under Sir Wm. R. Meredith, who succeeded Mr. Biggar. He was also assistant city solicitor [illegible] Mr. J. S. Fullerton. He retired [illegible] service in September, [illegible] partner of Mr. Char[illegible] K.C. He was appointed [illegible] Attorney for York on January [illegible], 1904, and in November, 1909, he retired from this position to resume the practice of law with Mr. Holman. He was appointed a K.C. in January, 1908.

Mr. Drayton became corporation counsel on April 25, 1910, when he succeeded Mr. J. S. Fullerton, K.C., who had resigned owing to ill-health. Mr. Drayton is a member of the Toronto Hydro-Electric Power Commission, having received this appointment from the Ontario Government on May 11, 1911.

No One Is to Blame.

Buffalo, N.Y., June 29.—After an inquest into one of the thirty-nine deaths which occurred last Sunday night, when an excursion dock at Eagle Park, Grand Island, collapsed and dropped a crowd of nearly two hundred excursionists into the Niagara River. Guy B. Moore, first assistant district attorney, said yesterday that probably nobody could be held criminally liable for the catastrophe.

"It was established," said Mr. Moore, "that the dock went down because it had rotted and because there were too many people on it. The law does not impose upon anyone the duty of inspecting or of keeping in repair these docks. Since that is so, there could be no charge of manslaughter, because manslaughter is based upon wilful neglect and there can be no wilful neglect where nobody is charged with a duty. It was developed that national or state legislation is needed for the examination of docks and their maintenance in a safe condition for the use of the public."

Bill Miner Got Loose Again.

Millville, Ga., June 29.—"Old Bill" Miner, the aged outlaw serving a term for train robbery in Georgia, escaped by filing his shackles on Thursday night and with a companion, left the state convict farm.

This is the second time Miner has escaped from the prison farm in the last few months. In his flight he was hampered by an ill comrade and soon he was recaptured.

Miner, whose real name is supposed to be Anderson, is wanted in the Northwest on the charge of train robbery. He was serving a life sentence in New Westminster, B.C., penitentiary when he escaped two years ago and came back to the United States.

BISHOP FALLON MAY BE DENOUNCED

Quebec, June 29.—A sensation has been caused at the Congress of the French language by the publication of an announcement to the effect that Mgr. Fallon, Bishop of London, had forbidden his priests to absent themselves from the diocese for more than a day during the congress.

There is a large section of the delegates who favor expressing a strong protest in the form of a resolution against the action of the bishop, and a resolution was in fact drafted and presented to one of the sections of the congress yesterday. It caused a lively discussion, and after several amendments had been suggested it was decided to leave the matter over for a general discussion.

Baker Solicitor-General?

Ottawa, June 29.—A Montreal paper yesterday published a story to the effect that H. G. Baker, M. P. for Brome, the man who defeated Hon. Sydney Fisher on Sept. 21 last, will be appointed Solicitor-General. The report cannot be confirmed. At any rate, nothing will be done in reference to the appointment until Premier Borden returns from England.

Lake Steamer Burned.

Green Bay, Wis., June 29.—The steamer Sidney C. McLouth, of Marine City, Mich., which left this port Thursday afternoon, burned on Green Bay, about twenty miles from here late Thursday night. Captain Shorkey and fifteen men of the crew got into lifeboats. The steamer was built in 880, was 285 feet long and 4 foot beam.

Darrow Juror Ill.

Los Angeles, June 29.—The sudden illness of juror J. H. Leavitt halted the trial of Clarence S. Darrow yesterday. Leavitt was stricken Thursday night with an attack of what appeared to be appendicitis. The trial was adjourned until Monday.

Sent For Trial.

Toronto, June 29.—Antonio Longrino, the Italian said to have instigated the attack against Jictro Nicefaro, which an Italian named Rosso carried into effect, was sent to the assizes for trial yesterday morning on evidence of Alex. Jobin, the man who captured Rosso after his unsuccessful attack on Nicefaro. Jobin testified that he had seen Longrino within 60 feet of Nicefaro when Rosso was making his murderous attack. Nicefaro told the court through an interpretor that Longrino had at different times threatened his children's lives, and his own life if he did not leave his (Longrino's) boarding-house. He had said that he could easily procure a man to murder him for $100.

TRAVERS PLEDGED HIS WORD NOT TO TELL WHO GOT CHEQUE

Detective Duncan Says Crown Attorney Corley's Delay Was Responsible for Dr. Nesbitt's Escape—Hastings Lawyer Suggests That the Government Be Proceeded Against For Negligence in Issuing Charter.

Toronto, June 29.—W. R. Travers still refuses to tell the royal commission which is investigating the affairs of the defunct Farmers' Bank who received the mysterious check of $3,000 in return for influence in securing the bank certificate. During the hearing yesterday the ex-manager declined to reveal the name, even if his term in prison were lengthened. As nearly all the evidence has been taken, the evidence may conclude some time to-day.

Hartley Dewart was present at the afternoon session on behalf of Travers.

A number of witnesses were examined as to the loss of the letter from Travers in reply to the manager's request for the promised Government deposit. The present whereabout of the check for $3,000 was taken up, but no new testimony was given.

"Don't you think you had better tell about that $3,000 check and get done with it?" asked Sir William of Mr. Travers.

"I don't think I can."

Inspector Detective Walter Duncan was called and questioned with regard to the statement made by Stewart Lyon of The Globe during the morning hearing. He did not recollect turning over a file of Farmers' Bank documents in his office one day while Mr. Lyon looked over his shoulder. It was impossible for him to swear whether or not the letter was there or not, although Mr. Lyon claims to have seen it.

"Travers said that when first examined by you that this check for $3-000 was pulled out by you and you said that you knew who got it," continued Mr. Hodgins. "You mentioned a name and Travers said that was not it, but he says you were so near it that it made him uneasy; do you remember that?"

"Yes; I asked him a name, but he said that was not it." Duncan remembered the check because it was marked with the mysterious "C."

Sir William: "What was the name you mentioned?"

Mr. Duncan: "Calvert."

The inspector stated that Travers would not admit who got this money, but if the right name was mentioned, agreed to tell the truth. Should the police lay a criminal charge against this party, the manager said he would testify.

The long delay in securing a warrant for the arrest of Dr. Beattie Nesbitt was told by Duncan. He had applied for a warrant two weeks before the escape of Nesbitt, and been refused it by Crown Attorney Corley. Finally he took the matter up with Chief of Police Grasett, and he laid it before the police board. According to Duncan, Mr. Corley declared that he and he alone was the one to decide when a warrant should be issued. Finally, the inspector consulted Mr. Cartwright, Deputy Attorney-General and got a statement as to the crown atorney's power. He then secured a warrant and started after Nesbitt, but it was too late.

It was possible that he looked over the file that was said to have held the missing Matheson letter, stated the witness, as he remembered passing the remark that he could find nothing there to lay a criminal charge against The World newspaper.

In explaining a statement made in the morning that he would not tell where the proceeds of the check for $3,000 went, no matter what the consequences were, Travers left some suspicion that it may have gone to W. S. Calvert, but when questioned on this point in the afternoon by Sir William, he said that it was not his intention to create any suspicion and that he never paid the money to Mr. Calvert.

Mr. Carmichael of Hastings, representing some of the subscribers, addressed the commission toward the close of the session of the cause of the failure of the bank. He desired the report made to show that had Mr. Fielding taken notice of the reliable information he received warning him against issuing the certificate, the loss to the subscribers would not have occurred.

If it were possible to get a fiat against the crown, said the solicitor, a good case of negligence could be established, as a result of the alleged carelessness of the treasury board and Finance Department in not paying heed to the letters written about the deception practiced in founding the bank. Sir William was of the opinion that they could secure a fiat, and advised Mr. Carmichael to try. The solicitor, in closing, hoped that the commission would recommend this action in his report.

In modifying his statement made previously that loans were forced from him through fear of exposure, Travers said that he lent the money because he wanted to be friendly to old associates. He did not feel disposed to tell the names of the parties who got these loans, however.

Sir William reminded him that many people were suffering through the failure of the bank, but the banker was firm, and even when warned that the commission had power to order his permanent detention in prison, he repeated his arguments that his word of honor was at stake and he could not tell where the few thousands he paid for friendly assistance went.

J. Seymour Corley, crown attorney, was called, and stated that he never refused to authorize the issuance of a warrant against Nesbitt when the evidence was once secured.

Zeppelin Dirigible Destroyed.

Dusseldorf, Germany, June 29.—The Zeppelin dirigible balloon Schwaben I., stationed here, was totally destroyed yesterday morning. The balloon was lying at anchor in front of the balloon shed when a strong gust of wind caught it and broke it from its moorings, causing it to collapse in the middle. A number of mechanics seized the ropes but the balloon was wrenched out of their hands into the air, where a moment later it exploded, caught fire and was totally burned up. Several of the workmen sustained injuries.

LINK UP EMPIRE BY WIRELESS

New York, June 29.—A London cable says: The wireless convention, now in session here, which has found its greatest difficulty in dealing with wireless telegraphy as a commercial agent, has at last learned some particulars of the agreement between the Marconi Company and the British Government. England, like other European countries, regards wireless as a great instrument of war, and the agreement with the Marconi Company has been made with this as the leading thought.

It provides that the British Government supply the Marconi Company with $3,000,000 with which to build five great wireless stations, Australia to supply $500,000 for another station, and the six to form a wireless circuit around the globe at known points.

One station is to be in England, one in Australia, one in India and a fourth at Port Said. The other two, it is presumed, will be in South Africa and at Hong Kong. There is already a station at Glace Bay, while land installations cross the Dominion of Canada.

It is estimated that if the work is begun immediately the stations will be finished in a year, and that England will then have a circuit of communication around the earth, independent of cables.

Telephone Commision Resigns.

Winnipeg, June 29—The chairman and other members of the Provincial Telephone Commission have tendered their resignations, to take effect on Monday next. This involves a reorganization of the management and of the system. It is said Barry of Minneapolis, the expert, who handled the investigation into the retiring commission's methods, will be chairman of the new commission. Rates will not be advanced as recommended by the retiring commission.

Shot Woman and Himself.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 29.—L. H. Scheurman, said to be a wealthy furniture manufacturer of Carrollton, Ky., early yesterday shot and fatally wounded Miss Elizabeth Morse, 28 years old, daughter of the postmaster at Myona, Mich., in a closed taxicab, and when pursued by the police he turned the gun on himself, inflicting wounds that are considered fatal.

According to a witness, the shooting was the result of the woman's refusal to marry Scheurman, who is several years her senior. Scheurman has been here attending the furniture show.

Arrested for Looting Cars.

Winnipeg, June 29.—Captain J. W. Jordon, of the 18th Mounted Rifles, was arrested at the military camp at Sewell, Man., Thursday night, charged with complicity in the looting of the railway company's cars in Winnipeg.

Nine other men had been arrested during the day for looting or for receiving part of the alleged stolen goods.

The police assert the loss of the railways exceed $10,000 through the operation of this gang during the year. Jordon is night yardmaster of the C.N.R.

RESCUE WAS THRILLING ONE

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 29.—Geo. Farley, a lineman, fell from the top of a forty foot pole at the Canadian approach to the lower bridge last night, rolled down an almost perpendicular river bank aonther forty feet, and was saved from death in the raging whirlpool rapids 150 feet below by Dr. W. H. Wixon, an American physician, and several others, the rescue being among the most sensational in Niagara's annals.

Hundreds witnessed the rescue and cheered as the human chain with Wixon on the end dropped down the bank and brought the injured man up. Farley was so badly injured that he was taken to the general hospital, where it was said his condition is very serious.

While working at the top of the pole Farley lost his balance and fell. When he struck the ground he rolled down the bank, his body bounding from rock to rock. Finally his body lodged on a projecting crevice, where he remained unconscious. He was so near the edge that when Wixon went down with the human chain it was with difficulty that the man was removed without hurling him into the torrent below.

Farquhar McRae Released.

Ottawa, June 29.—R. A. Pringle, K.C., counsel for F. D. McRae, received notification yesterday that the Governor-General has signed an order for the release of F. D. McRae, who has been confined in the Portsmouth penitentiary under a life sentence for manslaughter.

It will be remembered McRae was charged with the killing of William Shaw, who had gone with Dr. Magee and others to the residence of D. C. McRae, in the County of Glengary, on the 1st of July, 1911, for the purpose of obtaining Dr. Magee's child, who was with its mother on D. C. McRae's farm.

A petition was circulated asking that McRae be released. It was signed by over 10,000 people. The Minister of Justice made a recommendation to the Governor-General for his release. He was sentenced last fall.

Hon. Adam Beck, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission, addressed a meeting at Cooksville last night at the request of the ratepayers of Toronto Township.

The corrected and final financial statement for the fiscal year which ended on March 31, was issued by the Department of Finance yesterday. The total revenue for the year was $136,130,857.

Robert Feldman, 30 years of age, was found last night in a room at 22 West Adelaide street, Toronto, in an unconscious condition from gas poisoning. The room door was locked, the window closed and the gas jet turned on.

Cause. Rush of Blood, Fullness, Dizziness.

J. T. Chetland, the well-known railway engineer of Hamilton, found the strain always resting upon men of his occupation vastly intensified by a tendency of the blood to rush to his head, and often at times when clearness of vision and great steadiness were demanded. Finding some difficulty in bending—a stiffness with pain having settled in his back, it occurred to him that his kidneys might be at fault. "This was a happy idea, for by it I not only got rid of the pain but many other troubles as well. I took a full dose of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and was glad to note that some obstruction of the kidneys, which I had lately noticed, was at once relieved. The flushed appearance of my face gave way to a more rational color and there was a perceptible improvement in my appetite. Dr. Hamilton's Pills certainly act splendidly upon the blood, removing heat and fulness and that sort of dizziness that makes a man at the throttle wish when it siezes him that he were elsewhere."

No medicine gives such unquestionably good results for stomach, liver, and blood troubles as Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are mild, certain, and always curative. Refuse any substitute.

THE SKELETON AT THE FEAST

The Board of Trade in the City of Belleville, recently entertained at a banquet the members of the County Council the object of the gathering being to foster more kindly relations between the city and the rural districts. Only one unpleasant incident marred the harmony of the festivities and this was a break on the part of no less a personage than W. B. Northrup, K.C., M.P., for East Hastings who was elevated to his present public position by the Conservative voters in that riding.

With questionable taste Mr. Northrup turned what was purely a social function into a political meeting and in his address proceeded to criticize the leader of his own party for his attitude on the navy question, completely ignoring the fact that Mr. Borden and two of his ministers were just on the point of starting for England on that very mission. "It was time," said the speaker, "that the Government stopped talking and got to doing something."

No one, with the possible exception of the member from East Hastings, can charge the Government with indiscreet utterances on the navy or any other question of great moment to the public, the tendency being to act quietly rather than to expend their energies in acclaiming their purpose. However, on general principles, Mr. Northrup's advice is good and if he acted upon it himself it would save him from many an awkward situation.

It was at a gathering in which peace and harmony and brotherly love were supposed to predominate, that Judas left his place at the board and went abroad to enrich himself by playing the traitor to One whose bread he had broken and who had never worked him anything but good. Judas loved money but other people may be obsessed with a thirst for fame even though it may not reach a higher standard than weak and ephemeral notoriety.

THE FAMINE IN CHINA

The Review has just received a copy of the North China Daily News, published at Shanghi, in the Celestial Republic, in which harrowing details are given of the famine and appeals are made for contributions to the fund that millions of unfortunates in the central portions of China may be saved from starvation. Canada has already sent financial assistance to the famine sufferers and in this charitable work the churches of Peterborough have been represented.

Things must be seriously out of joint somewhere when a country that has just shaken itself free from the tentacles of a despotism and has overthrown a dynasty and established a Republic should permit its people to slowly starve to death while the financial resources of the new government are dissipated in the increase of the national armaments. The president of the youngest Republic seems more anxious to establish his status as a world power than to care for those who are slowly starving to death throughout his domains.

China recently negotiated a loan with five other countries but later refused to accept the money because the powers interested reserved the right to dictate as to how the money should be expended. The supposition was that China would employ the funds in placing herself upon a footing to enable her to become a menace to her neighbors. That the young Republic refused to accept the money on these terms is the best evidence that the suspicions of her neighbors was well founded.

Any nation with sufficient credit to borrow money should be able to take care of its own people who are dying of hunger and this is one of the great lessons of civilization which China should be taught without further delay. Why should outside countries or private individuals contribute funds for such a purpose while China's new president is concerning himself chiefly with improving the fighting strength of his army with the obvious object of humbling the national pride of some of his neighbors?

MORE WINDOW SMASHING

Mrs. Pankhurst, after serving a week or two of a nine months sentence was released from prison because she refused to eat and the authorities feared that she would die on their hands. This mistaken leniency is already bearing fruit, and the militant suffragettes in England with no fear of a prison term before them, have become more destructive than ever, as witnessed by the window smashing campaign inaugurated yesterday, and the attack upon the person of Premier Asquith.

If Mrs. Pankhurst had been some unfortunate prisoner condemned, let us say for stealing bread to keep her starving children alive, she would have been compelled to work out her sentence or to commit suicide by the slow process of starvation, if she preferred that course. Why should any favors be shown to a prisoner, who not only broke the law herself, but incited other less strong minded females to acts of violence, which if committed by men, would be suppressed, if it required an armed force to do it?

Mrs. Pankhurst has lost all claims to be regarded by the public, either as a heroine or a martyr. Her conduct proved that she is not game in the generally accepted meaning of that popular expression, because, like the true martyr, she refused to submit heroically to the punishment which her devotion to a principle brought upon her. Her discharge has inspired her followers with new hopes of immunity from punishment and the wholesale window smashing of yesterday was the result. What the suffragettes hope to gain by their methods is still a mystery, seeing that the destruction of property and personal assaults wins for their cause no sympathy from the public or consideration from the Government.

Yesterday, Editor Lawrence, whose paper backs up the window smashers was released from prison, after serving a few weeks of his term. No reason is given, but with Mrs. Pankhurst's case before us, we are justified in the inference that prison fare did not agree with him, and his surroundings generally, were distasteful.

RELIGIOUS VS. SECULAR EDUCATION

When Senator Poirier told the Congress at Quebec that the French race was losing ground, and that its influence in the affairs of the country was waning, the reason he gave was that the Roman Catholics of that province devoted more time to religious than to secular teachings. He failed to say directly, but his plain implication, was that the hierarchy of the church was responsible for this condition.

Archbishop Bruchesi's heated reply to the New Brunswick senator would show that the former so understood the speaker and that he differed from him entirely. Each man viewed the situation from a different standpoint, but the senator not only had in mind the Acadian French of his own province, but the French in Quebec as well.

There can be no doubt that the senator spoke only after a careful study of the conditions which prevail among the rising generations of his compatriots. Their religious training is all important and is given prominence over secular education. The Church in Quebec is "too noisy in its devotion to its creed," according to the sensational address which fell upon the Congress much in the nature of a wet blanket. When the young men and women so trained start out in life they are handicapped at the very beginning when they enter into competition with those who have been educated in the higher institutions of learning in the country, and in the end find themselves left behind, according to the senator.

Every child, be he of French or English descent, is entitled to receive the educational advantages that this country affords him. If the Church interferes through zeal in the cause of religion or for any other reason, as Senator Poirier intimated then, it is clear that a condition exists that is as deplorable as the New Brunswick man would have us believe.

And the power to remedy any defects in the system, according to the same speaker, is in the hands of the French people themselves as they alone are responsible for it.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The fact that Mr. Bryan received only one vote on the first ballot places him under the horrible suspicion that he voted for himself.

From now until election day the public will be pestered with declarations of American citizens that they will not support the nomination of their party. Any man has a right to bolt when he pleases so long as he keeps it to himself. No one should take himself too seriously for there is nothing formidable in the spectacle of a solitary citizen marching to the polls a solid phalanx of one, and casting his vote against any particular candidate.

THE MARKET

Latest Quotations in Grain Dairy Products, Live Stock Etc.

CHICAGO, June 28.—Rain and cooler weather in the western part of the Canadian wheat country to-day took the price of cereal a few pegs down. The close was easy, ⅛ to ¼ to ⅜c. under last night. Latest trading left corn unchanged to ⅛c. lower, oats off ⅛ to ⅜c., and provisions varying from 12½c. decline to a shade advance.

The Liverpool market closed to-day on wheat ⅛d to ⅜d higher than yesterday and on corn ⅛d to ¼d higher. Wheat at Buda Pest closed ⅜c higher, at Antwerp ⅜c higher and at Berlin ⅜c higher.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, June 28.—There was a good demand from foreign buyers for oats and as cables were stronger, at an advance of 1½d to 3d per quarter, sales of several loads were made to Liverpool, Bristol and Manchester. The demand for wheat was better, but as bids were still 1c to 3c per bushel below cost, business was impossible. The local market in coarse grains was quiet. The demand from European sources for spring wheat flour was much better and sales of over 10,000 sacks were made for July-August shipment. The local market was quiet, but strong. Bran is weaker and $1 lower. Butter and cheese fairly active with a firmer undertone. Eggs steady. Demand for provisions increasing.

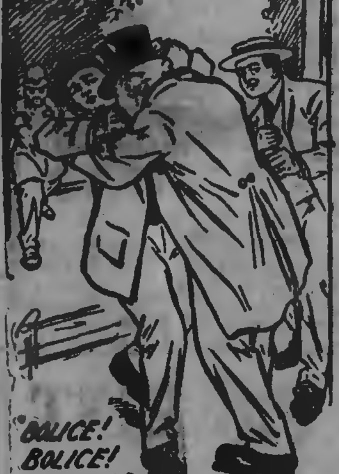
Brockett had to do the fastest thinking of his life. An explanation to the policemen—who seemed a zealous but particularly thick-headed pair—would be worse than useless. They would simply arrest the boys and, undoubtedly, permit the baron to go upon his way with whatever plunder he could find upon his captives. The baron's searching hand was again thrusting eagerly into his inside coat-pocket—which, as it chanced, contained nothing but a few letters and wholly worthless objects. He would find nothing there, but his search, aided by the policeman at his side, would be a thorough one.

"I'll give you your papers, sir," spoke up the prisoner. "Will you let me off if I hand them over?"

The baron smiled benevolently. "I fear dot I vould be gombounding a felony," he purred. "Still, I vould be easy mit you if de gase efer game to a drial. Vere iss my bapers?"



"BOLICE! BOLICE! ROBBERS, ROBBERS!"

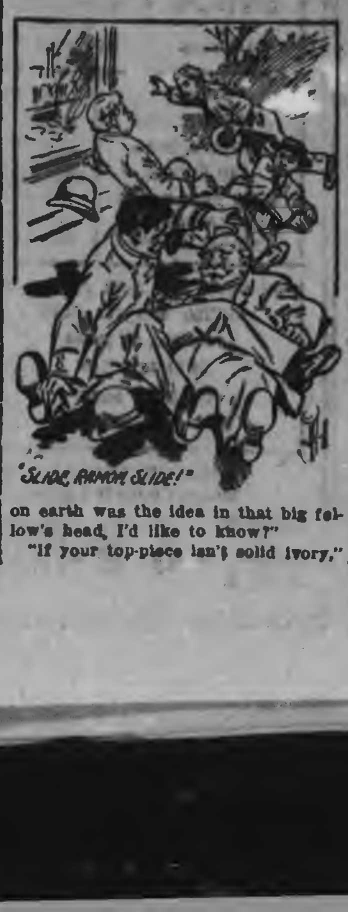
Brockett began fumbling in his waistcoat. Baron Zollern, smiling broadly, stood by with extended hand, and the officer dropped his paw from the captive's shoulder. Brockett delved through his vest pockets for a moment, brought up his empty hand, and then, with the speed of a pouncing leopard, flung himself to his knees, seized Baron Zollern's ankles, and pulled savagely.

The huge German, with a roar of surprise and helpless rage, toppled backward, landing on the base of his spine with a crash that fairly shook the street. Brokett, regaining his feet at once, made a half turn, and darted off, while the astounded policeman, making one wild clutch in the air, managed to catch his toe against the prostrate form of the baron, and fell heavily upon him. The grunt with which the baron hailed the advent of the officer upon his stomach was a fitting anti-climax to the thud of his earlier fall.

Solano dashed after his friend, but the second policeman sprang eagerly to intercept him. Brockett, glancing back in full flight, saw the predicament of the Cuban, and, halting for an instant, shouted, "Slide, Ramon, slide!"

Solano went to the pavement in a compact, moving mass, and shot along the stones, feet first. The oncoming shoes caught the policeman on the legs. He rose like some light and joyous bird, shot through the air with a howl of dismay, and joined the popular assembly on the stony ground. Before any of the three fallen men could pull his senses together or even struggle to his feet, Brockett and Solano had turned the nearest corner, dodged up an alley, and headed down a side street. As they ran they heard hoarse bellowings, the shrilling of whistles, and the thudding of clubs upon the pavement, but the sounds grew fainter, fainter, faded to a whisper and died away. The boys pulled up in the shadow of a flat-building, and regained their wind.

"I'm sorry for the big German," remarked Brockett. "That bump will keep him in bed a week, if it doesn't cripple him for life. It's a vicious trick, a devil's own bit of work, but I couldn't see any other chance. What on earth was the idea in that big fellow's head, I'd like to know?"



"SLIDE, RAMON, SLIDE!"

"If your top-piece isn't solid ivory," returned Solano, "you know well enough. It's a dollar to a crushed lemon that our Japanese friend was waiting round the next corner to grab the papers, and I'd risk a little something that those policemen were planted ahead of time where they could come forward in a hurry."

"You slid beautifully, Ramon," laughed Brockett as they resumed their march, jogging along at a fairly rapid gait. "If you had only slid home that way when we needed it on about ten afternoons I could mention, we could have saved a flock of games."

The Cuban flushed, and then laughed back at his friend.

"This was a different occasion, Harry. I felt more as if I were sliding at an umpire this time. Somehow or other I never could bear the idea of spiking an infielder, and that's why I slowed up so often when I should have hit the grit."

"This time, though," Brockett chuckled, "you slid for keeps. I shudder to think what would have happened to that policeman if you had only had your spikes on."

Solano stopped, and lifted one foot. Something flashed keenly, venomously, from the sole and heel.

"I had them on," confessed the Cuban, "and that officer must have the worst-looking pair of shins that were ever taken to a hospital. Honestly, Harry, I'd feel like a brute if it wasn't for the circumstances, and for the value of the work that we have set ourselves to do."

Silently Brockett shook the Cuban's hand, and the youngsters, fully rested from their run, jogged onward to the railroad station.

CHAPTER VIII.

The journey north was made without special incident, and the time was spent in figuring out as complex and ramified a route as possible. With railroad maps and time tables, the boys outlined a tour that would twist and turn like a collection of S's, and yet, even with due allowance for delayed trains and possible intervals on foot or on horseback, would land them at Rancho Nogal within the time-limit set by their superiors. Neither of the youngsters was so optimistic as to expect a smooth, uninterrupted journey, and each, as he speculated upon the chance of trouble, was mentally thankful for the presence of the strong, nervy, capable youth beside him.

CHILDHOOD DANGERS

No symptoms that indicate any of the ailments of childhood should be allowed to pass without prompt attention. The little ailments may soon become a serious one and perhaps a little life passes out. If Baby's Own Tablets are kept in the house minor troubles can be promptly cured and serious ones averted. The Tablets are guaranteed absolutely safe and can be given to the new born babe as well as the growing child. Mrs. Arthur Drapeau, Mont Carmel, Que., says: "I can give Baby's Own Tablets to my little one without fear, well knowing the beneficial results that will follow their use." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Canada's Best to Edinburgh.

London, June 28.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Dr. W. Peterson of McGill is receiving the honorary degree of D. Litt. at Oxford.

He urged that Edinburgh offer Canadian graduates greater inducements for research study, so as to save their going to United States universities, which offered fellowships lavishly.

ANIMAL SUPERSTITIONS.

Chief Among Them In Japan Is the Fear of the Fox.

Chief among Japanese animal superstitions is the fear of the fox, which is believed to have supernatural power. Shrines called "Inari Jinsha," in which the fox is enshrined as a deity, are numberless. The name of the deity written in Chinese characters signifies fox, and from this it came to be generally accepted that the god was really a fox. Its natural cunning is greatly enlarged upon, and it is believed to be capable of misleading and deceiving human beings, which causes many to pray to placate the fox god.

The badger is the next most dreaded animal in the superstitious mind. It is believed to have power to annoy people, its particular habit being a transformation into a Buddhist priest, in which disguise it is guilty of various deceptions and impositions. The crying of weasels and the baying of dogs are considered evil omens, and such insignificant happenings send a shudder over the believers.

On the other hand, a light colored mouse in the house is a sign of happiness, good omens are presaged by what are considered the pleasant cries of crows in the morning, while the so called unpleasant notes forecast death and other dire disasters. If a spider falls from the ceiling in the morning he brings pleasure, but if at night it is thought reverses will follow. To see a centipede at night means happiness.—Pearson's Weekly.

Cure For Cold Sores.

Now that colds are the rule sufferers are feeling the annoyance of fever blisters, or cold sores, as they are more generally called. The time to stop the spread of these sores is at the beginning, when the first tiny blister appears. Be careful to apply only such remedies as do not cause the blister to spread. A simple but effective remedy, if applied at the outset, is to touch the spot every hour with spirits of camphor. This dries the sore without injury to the skin. In case the sore develops overnight so that you have not been able to treat it in the beginning more heroic measures are needed. Permanganate of potash, two grains, moistened with rosewater, applied to the blister, allowed to dry and then dusted with pulverized starch, will quickly reduce the inflammation. When this has disappeared massage the affected spot with cold cream to eliminate all danger of a temporary scar or red mark.

These pill and herbs are exceedingly powerful in regulating the generative portion of the female system. About Zutoo Tablets

"I have been a sufferer from headache since childhood and have used all, or nearly all, of the so-called "cures" on the market. Some months since my attention was called to your Zutoo Tablets and I have been using them ever since with the most gratifying results. I find they cure a "sick" or "nervous" headache in a few minutes and leave no bad effect. My family use them whenever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from headache and they never failed to give quick relief. I find them a good remedy for "sour" stomach as well as headache. I always carry them in my grip on the road and would not be without them at any cost."

Col. Clegg received a telegram this afternoon, which stated that the 41st regiment, of Brockville, would leave Saturday night and arrive in Peterborough Sunday morning.

NEW STRENGTH FOR NURSING MOTHERS

Aching Backs and Tired Limbs Need Not be Endured

Aching backs, tired limbs, attacks of faintness, headaches and backaches, need not be a part of woman's life. There are times when her blood needs special attention, and these times are indicted by one or more of the above symptoms. It is at such times that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are worth their weight in gold to women, for they actually make the rich, red, health-giving blood which makes weak, tired, despondent women, active and strong, and feeling equal to all their household duties. Such a sufferer was Mrs. William Sullivan, Main River, N.B., who says: "I am writing to acknowledge the great good I received through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After my baby was born last summer I was so run down that life was really a burden. I had to drag myself about to do my housework, and every moment was one of trial. If I went upstairs I would be breathless and tired out, and my heart would palpitate violently, and I would have a feeling as though I was smothering. My appetite was poor, and my baby was suffering from my weakness. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and got six boxes, and before they were all quite used I was a different woman. My appetite returned; I regained my strength, and the work about the house no longer bothered me. As the result of my experience I would strongly urge all weak women and nursing mothers to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

There is no woman, no matter what her station in life, who will not enjoy better health if she occasionally fortifies her blood through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The Pills are sold by all medicine dealers, or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

All Union Barber Shops will be open Monday, July 1, till noon. Geo. Brousseau, Sec.

HECLA

No Gas No Dust

FUSED JOINTS CANNOT LEAK

Comfortable heating is possible only with a Furnace that cannot leak gas and dust. At every joint where a leak might otherwise occur, the Hecla is sealed tight. We do not trust to bolts and cement. The wear due to constant expansion and contraction would grind out the cement and leave a series of leaks for the escape of gas or dust. To make a joint that will be as tight after years of service as it is when new, we fuse the steel sides and cast-iron frames of our radiators by a patent process. This welds the iron and steel into one piece.

Homes heated by Hecla Furnaces 20 years old are getting as pure air from the registers as when the Furnace was new.

And this Furnace saves one ton of coal in seven. Isn't it worth looking into?

GARMENT WORKERS' STRIKE DELAYS H. LeBRUN & CO.'S SALE

Everybody is looking forward to the sale of men and boys' clothing which will soon be inaugurated by H. LeBrun & Co., of this city, and the firm is receiving every day inquiries as to the date of the opening of the proposed event in the local commercial situation. The goods, which were purchased from a Montreal firm, have not yet arrived, and as yet no definite information can be given on this point.

H. LeBrun & Co. call the attention of the public to the fact that there is now trouble in Montreal between the manufacturers of clothing and the garment workers, and that the business involved has suffered a set-back as a result. The firm from which they purchased the new stock is among the sufferers, hence the delay in shipping the goods to Peterborough.

As the indications point to an early settlement of the strike trouble in Montreal, the Peterborough public who are looking forward to a golden opportunity to lay in a supply of clothing, at prices which, from the purchaser's standpoint, have never been surpassed, will not have long to wait.

The firm hopes in a few days to be able to make a definite announcement.

CHARLOTTE STREET CHOIR HELD ENJOYABLE OUTING

The choir of Charlotte street Methodist Church and their friends numbering about sixty-five in all, spent a jolly day yesterday down the Otonabee River.

The excursion is an annual event, and there was no questioning the success of the affair this year. Weather conditions favored the outing in every way, and although it was warm, a cool breeze tempered the atmosphere in a most welcome manner.

Everybody on board had loads of fun, and all mingled in a most jolly and social way. Decorum and formality were quite properly excluded from the days merriment.

The party left Peterborough shortly after eight-thirty, on board the comfortable little boat "Geneva." The trip down was ideal. A pleasant breeze was abroad, and the day's fun was most auspiciously commenced.

Tucker's Orchestra was engaged to enliven things which they did in a lively manner during the whole day.

Idyl Wyld was reached about 12 o'clock, and here a most wholesome repast awaited the crowd at the hotel, the meal being provided by Mr. Cook, the courteous and obliging proprietor. While there, Mr. Cook looked carefully to the wants of his guests. Fish in abundance comprised a goodly share of the bill of fare for the dinner.

After a short stay there, the party sailed to Gore's Landing, where a short stop was also made. A visit to St. George's church, where a short song service was held, and a couple of photographs taken of the group whiled away about an hour most enjoyably.

Supper was partaken of at Jubilee.

An account of the outing would be incomplete without reference to a game of ball between two nameless teams picked from the masculine section of the bunch. The game was fairly good in spots, the score at the finish being 14—7. "Wib" Regan pitched for the winning bunch, showing a surprising knowledge and variety of curves.

Some other impromptu races were pulled off.

The sail back was splendid. A full orbed moon illuminated a most pleasing scene, while a cooling, gentle breeze floated across river and lake, and the musicians rendered delicious music of the kind that charms. Home was reached about 9.45.

To Mr. D. Fleming and the committee who assisted, much credit is extended for the capable and energetic management of the outing.

Confined to His Home for Weeks

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

PETES BROKE EVEN WITH THE BRANTFORD RED SOX

The Petes succeeded in an even break with Brantford at Riverside Park yesterday afternoon, although at several stages of the second fixture, everything looked rosy for a double win.

The first score stood 8-4 for the Caps, as a result of the locals' batting and the wildness of Baker, who was on the mound for the Sox. Jimmie Beard started off for the Rowanites and was getting away with the game, until he was hit on the pitching arm with a batted ball. Osborne was sent in and held the Brants to three runs.

SECOND GAME

Osborne took the box for the second game with Coose, a spit baller opposing him. The visitors couldn't do anything with the tall lad but the Petes pounded Coose for runs and led at the fifth by 5-1.

Then Mr. Osborne started to blow and good stick work which included a homer by Burrill, tied the score. Coose steadied, while Osborne's slants continued to be banged, and Johnny Derr had to be called to duty.

The game was 5-5.

The teams play at Riverside this afternoon at three o'clock, the Petes passing on to Ottawa for two games on the holiday and one on Tuesday.

BRANT'S SHORT ON DECK AGAIN

Conkery, the Brantford shortstop, who was injured in the second game yesterday, when a bounding ball hit him in the face and had to retire, is alive and kicking to-day.

The injury was a painful one, but the nose was not broken as many of the fans supposed. He may go into the game again this afternoon. Manager Kant's men have been very unfortunate by players being hurt during the past few days.

ENGLISH FIRE EATERS.

They Are Aiming to Bring About a Revival of the Duel.

A movement is on foot in London to rescue from innocuous desuetude a custom which we only keep in remembrance by the aid of the drama. A society has been proposed which will have as its mission the bringing back of the wearing of the ready rapier, not only for use in sudden quarrel or for the rescue of distressed damsel, but to re-establish the duel, to bring back, as its advocates say, "the good old days when every lady had a cavalier and every cavalier a sword at his side, ready at any time to uphold her and his own honor."

It is claimed by the promoters that the revival of dueling in England will be associated with the following results: Better manners and more civility, the purity of the home, the practical abolition of divorce, a higher moral standard, less rivalry between the sexes, a finer physical standard for all who practice fencing.

"If dueling were recognized and practiced in England," says one of the advocates of a return of the old barbarism, "a lady could walk out alone without fearing the insolent advances and attentions of the cads who infest out streets today."

Cads, forsooth! Why, London without cads and caddery would be as sad as home without a mother.—New York Tribune.

Boast of Their Murders.

In Cyprus there has been an increase of cases of murder and manslaughter and the chief justice has pointed out the traits in the character of the villager which to some extent explain the prevalence of this class of crime. Any insult rankles and their minds seem to brood over any slight, real or imaginary, however small, until it has assumed proportions which for their self esteem they consider they must revenge by murder. There are men in some of these villages who for a small reward, say $50, will murder a man against whom they have no grievance or whom they have never seen before. "I have tried many murderers in this island," writes the chief justice, "and I cannot recall one who was sorry for his victim or showed remorse for his crime. As a rule a murderer boasts of his crime."—Colonial Office Journal.

Life Insurance

Marriage is a good thing. It is a part of the duty every young man owes to his race and to the community. And one of the first duties after marriage, is life insurance. The young man of riches may scoff at this, but riches sometimes "take wings" while a life insurance policy in a sound company is something that is not affected by mischance or ill fortune. The young man who depends upon his own efforts for a living, more than any other young man, should follow marriage with life insurance, and thus provide surely for a wife, or for a wife and babies, against the inevitable. Such a young man may demur at this, on the theory that he "can't afford it." But youth is not inclined to consider all possibilities in such a case. Life insurance is one of the things that should be afforded at the expense of something less important. If a young man smokes, he surely can curtail his tobacco supply by one cigar a day, or he can save an equivalent by cutting off something else he does not need. The cost of a single medium price cigar a day will pay the premium on a life-insurance policy, say, for $1,000. And thus, by a slight concession as to a single habit, some necessary provisions may be made for the future.

You will find the most up-to-date policy of to-day issued by the SUN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

WICKLESS AND VALVELESS BLUE FLAME OIL COOKING STOVE

There is no wick that needs trimming.

No wick to char and smoulder if the oil burns out of the reservoir.

No wick rachet to get out of order; no re-wicking.

There is no valve to clog or leak.

There is no delay in starting; no delay in putting out—The oil DRAINS out of the bowl instead of BURNING out.

There is no surplus of oil when you don't want it, and no lack of oil when you do want it. The oil is supplied at the burning point as fast as it is consumed and no faster. There is no waste of oil.

It is desired that all the children and young people be present promptly at 10.45, and all children not members of other Sunday Schools will be welcomed.

CHANGES AT KNOX CHURCH

Grounds Have Been Levelled and the Steps Constructed

Great improvement is noticeable about the grounds at Knox Church, the men of the congregation with the assistance of a horse and plow and the use of shovels, rakes, etc., having gotten the grounds in shape for seeding. As a sort of acknowledgment that the men were toiling in a good cause they were treated to ice cream and cake last evening. They have been at work the last two nights and are finishing up this afternoon. The granolithic steps have been constructed by Mr. Shurter, who has made a good job of his undertaking.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years, was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

FORTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF OUR NATION'S BIRTHDAY

Canada celebrates on Monday its birthday as a nation, July 1st, or Dominion Day as it is generally called, being the forty-fifth anniversary of the date which the late Queen Victoria set for the official proclamation that Confederation had been effected. In all the lapse of days since the first celebration, the ardor and patriotism of a growing country has never waned and the natal day of the Dominion is observed with more enthusiasm with the passing years. The elaborate preparations that have been made in Peterborough to mark the day, is abundant evidence of the fact that Dominion Day is regarded as the great epoch in our country's history.

The perfecting of a federal union was not accomplished without the expenditure of a vast amount of energy on the part of those who favored the project. The greatest public men of the day took part in the proceedings, which first assumed definite shape in 1864. The maritime provinces proposed to enter into a union of their own, and with this end in view, a convention was called to meet at Charlottetown, in the year referred to. Ontario and Quebec asked for and received permission to send delegates to this convention, and John A. Macdonald, George Brown, Alexander T. Galt, Sir George Cartier, William McDougall and T. D. McGee were the representatives chosen.

Two years later, on the fourth day of December, the Confederation Committee was organized in London in the Westminster Palace Hotel. John A. Macdonald, who was not a knight at the time, was the first chairman and the four provinces represented in the deliberations were Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. From that time, the movement was pushed rapidly forward, although serious obstacles were placed in the way by some of the provinces. Quebec demanded certain concessions, relating to her religion and language and New Brunswick refused to enter the union unless the construction of the Intercolonial Railway was guaranteed. These concessions were finally agreed to by the other provinces and on February 7, the Confederation measure was introduced into the House of Lords. On the 27th of the same month, the bill was read for the third time and was then sent to the House of Commons. It was passed by that body, on March 8th, with a few amendments and on March 29th 1867, the new act received the royal assent.

July 1st, 1867, was the day chosen for the proclamation of the new confederation and so the natal day of a nation, became a fixture in the calendar.

The British North American Act by which the new enactment was designated is really the constitution of Canada. John A. Macdonald was knighted by the Queen, and became Canada's first premier in recognition of the active part he had taken in effecting the union of the provinces. At the same time titles of lesser note were conferred upon the new premier's colleagues.

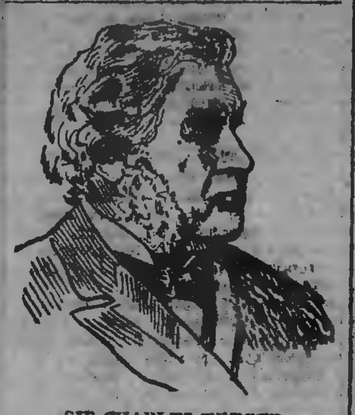
The sum of $15,000,000 was borrowed to build the International Railway in accordance with the agreement entered into with new Brunswick.

Quebec was to have sixty-five members in the Dominion Parliament, never any less if the population of that province decreased, but more if the census showed that she was entitled to additional members. All the other provinces were to be represented according to population, the unit in Quebec being made the general basis.

In this way the first Federal Parliament was made up of 170 members; of which number 65 were from Quebec, 82 from Ontario, 15 from Nova Scotia and 18 from New Brunswick.

It was the ambition of the late Sir John A. Macdonald to have the new country called the "Kingdom of Canada," and that designation was first employed in the early stages of the efforts to effect the union. His idea was not to establish an independent kingdom, but an auxiliary state similar to those of Germany.

Since Confederation Canada has increased in wealth, population and in everything that makes for a free, happy and prosperous people. To-day there is no country in the world with a better form of responsible government, with richer natural resources, or with a more hopeful future. Her educational institutions take a front rank with those of the world, and in Ontario the system of education as applied to public schools is considered a model for all lands to imitate.



SIR CHARLES TUPPER.

The only surviving Father of Confederation.

The union originally composed of four, now consists of nine prosperous provinces. The building of the Canadian Pacific Railway developed the western prairie country, and on July 15, 1870, the new province of Manitoba entered the Confederation. British Columbia was admitted July 20, 1871, Prince Edward Island July 1st, 1873, and Alberta and Saskatchewan, September 1st, 1905.

Of the Fathers of Confederation only one is now living, Sir Charles Tupper, who is vigorous still, although past ninety. He recently returned from England and will make his home in British Columbia.

Six years before Confederation was established Sir Charles Tupper, in an address at Halifax, forecasting the future of the country, said:

"Who could doubt that under these circumstances, with such a federation of the five provinces (to which ultimately the great Red River and the Saskatchewan country might be added) as would give us the position due to our extent, resources, and intelligent population, untrammelled either by slavery, or the ascendency of any dominant church. . . . British America would, in a few years present to the world a great and powerful organization, bound indissolubly to the throne of England by a community of interests and united to it by the Vice-royalty of one of the most promising sons of our beloved Queen, whose virtues have enthroned her in the hearts of her subjects in every section of our Empire, upon which the sun never sets."

That was a prophecy uttered with all the sincerity of an enthusiast. And it has been fulfilled almost to the very letter, even to the forecast that a son of Queen Victoria would some day be the vice-royal representative in Canada.

VISITOR FROM ORILLIA TELLS OF DAYLIGHT SAVING AND ALSO LOCAL OPTION

A holiday visitor to the city, from Orillia while conversing with a Review representative this morning, gave his opinion of the Daylight Saving scheme which is receiving a trial in Orillia, the city time having been set back one hour so that men who were in the habit of starting work at 7 a.m. now begin at 6 a.m., and have their ten hours over at 5 p.m.

He claims that the scheme is not taking any too well, and further states that one of the three factories on Daylight Saving held a meeting this week, the outcome of which will probably mean that the men will resume work on standard time.

The Review's informant is engaged in a factory, where the whistle calling the men to their work blows at 6 a.m. Formerly he arose at that hour but he now bids a regretful adieu to the pillow at 5 a.m. In other cases, teamsters for instance, they have to arise anywhere around 3 a.m. Some men have been turned away from their boarding houses because the good lady of the house refused to prepare breakfast so early in the morning.

LOCAL OPTION.

"How is Local Option," the reporter asked.

"Its no good," was the quick reply. "O'Keefe has an agent doing business in Orillia and his sales, he says, are as high as $1,000 per month. His lowest sales for a month amounted to $700. One often sees drinking on the streets. The people buy through him and I stood one day and saw liquor taken into eight homes on one street. The people can purchase liquor this way and cannot be stopped. It goes into homes where children are living and into houses where one would think such a thing would not happen.

Regarding prices he said they were high and houses which were not worth ten dollars, rented for twenty dollars.

The Review's informant on both questions is a man who has lived in Orillia five or six years.

W. J. KILLMAN, FARMERS' BANK WITNESS, NOT KNOWN HERE

In the session of the Farmers' Bank investigation, held at Toronto yesterday, one of the witnesses called was W. J Killoran, who gave Peterborough as his place of residence. No one in this city appears to know any one of that name, and the identity of the witness seems to be as much of a mystery here as that of the man who received a $4,000 chequce, information on which point ex-Manager Travers still refuses to impart. The Toronto Star's report of the testimony given by Mr. Killoran is as follows:

"How he received a commission of $30,000 on the sale of the Keeley mine to Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, merely because he obliged Mr. Phillips, the mining engineer, by a loan of $375 when he needed some money to complete his report on the property, was the surprising story told at the Farmers' Bank inquiry this morning by Mr. W. J. Killoran, of Peterborough.

Mr. Killoran stated that the owners of the mine, Messrs. Keeley, Jowsey, and Wood, had agreed to pay him a ten per cent. commission on the sale of the mine if it went through because of the financial assistance he had given given Phillips. Phillips had been trying to interest some one in the mine to effect its sale, and in consideration of the loan an agreement was reached to divide the commission. He had paid Phillips $15,000 of the $30,000 commission, which he received from the owners."

LIQUOR TRAFFIC

Contributed by W.C.T.U.

The Dominion of New Zealand is already preparing for the next election, at which the temperance women of the country hope by their votes and influence to make a great gain for the temperance cause. Details of this enterprise are contributed to the New Zealand Home Journal by Mrs. Agnes Anderson Hughes. Some weeks ago a lady, who is interested in every good work, lay at night, unable to sleep, meditating as the hours passed upon the evils of the traffic, and praying for its speedy overthrow. Suddenly, like a flash, came the suggestion, and then she thought, "The women of New Zealand can do it." The idea which had filled this woman's mind grew stronger as morning dawned, and sent her forth next day with a message to the women of the Dominion. The "Women's Crusade" movement was at once eagerly welcomed. Meetings were organized in each of the large cities, and, although only a few weeks have passed since the movement had its birth, already some thousands of women have become "Crusaders."

"A WOMAN'S CRUSADE,"

The organization, if such it can be called, is unique in its simplicity. Those who join are not required to subscribe to any fund, or to attend meetings. The whole responsibility rests in taking the "Crusade" pledge, which reads, "I promise to vote for No-License and National Prohibition at the next election, and will try to induce others to do the same." Dainty roll-books have been prepared, on the first page of which is seen our New Zealand flag, and resting on its folds a white cross, and a scroll with the motto: Deus Vult, o

GOD WILLS IT.

This movement has been hailed with joy by many true-hearted women, who, burdened with business responsibility or the cares of home, or motherhood, have looked with almost envious longing upon their more leisured sisters who could devote days and talents to the cause which meant so much to home and loved ones. Many a grey-haired woman, with tears shining on the wan cheek, has whispered, "Oh, that I might tell what I know of this cruel trade." Many a fair young wife, with her first great dread of coming sorrow, has prayed for some means by which she might save her dearest. Many a fond mother has pressed her darling passionately to her heart as the awful truth has been realized that the drink vulture waits for some mother's child, and from her lips has come the agonized cry, "Oh, God, not my child."

"NOT MY CHILD!"

While many others, tender-hearted and great-souled, have "wept with those that weep," and prayed, "Oh, that I might do something!" To all such women the "Women's Crusade" comes as a glorious opportunity. It opens a door to effective, practical, concerted, and yet easy service. No home need be neglected, and no duty shirked while each in her own sphere is enlisting friends, neighbors and relatives as soldiers in this bloodless battle for the overthrow of the merciless traffic which degrades our women, brutalizes our men, and devastates woman's realm, "The Home."

DRINK AND BRAIN WORK

"I understand that you ask me what I think about "Alcohol as a stimulant to the brain in mental work?" Speaking for myself (and perhaps, I may add, for persons of my temperament) I can say, without hesitation, that I would just as soon take a dose of arsenic as I would of alcohol, under such circumstances. Indeed, on the whole, I should think the arsenic safer— less likely to lead to physical and moral degradation. It would be better to die outright than to be alcoholized before death. If a man cannot do brain work without stimulant of any kind, he had better turn to hand work — it is an indication on nature's part that she did not mean him to be a head worker. The circumstances of my life have lead me to experience all sorts of conditions in regard to alcohol—from total abstinence to nearly the other end of the scale—and my clear conviction, the less the better."
Professor Huxley.

If the habit of drinking intoxicants could be abolished the Divorce Court might as well close its doors.—Lord Gorell, President of the Divorce Court (confirmed by his successor, Sir John Bigham.)

JOGGED HIS MEMORY.

A Bit of Humor That Brought Phil May to His Senses.

The most refractory among dumb beasts may sometimes be won by persistent kindness. It is also evident that the obstinate of the human species may be influenced by an assault of humor.

Phil May, the English artist "of short memory," had promised to do a colored design for the Christmas number of an illustrated weekly publication. The date fixed on for its delivery passed by, and no design had been forthcoming.

Letters and telegrams were unanswered, and, when a messenger was sent to May's house it appeared that he had gone to Paris without leaving any address. This, according to London M. A. P., is what happened next:

The publishers were at their wits' end, but one of them, paying a day's visit to Margate, was overjoyed to see May basking in the sunshine by the water. The publisher did not make himself known, but cannily ascertained where May was staying. Then he hired six sandwich men to parade up and down before the artist's window with boards bearing different legends. This was their tenor:

"What about our Christmas cover?"
"We are waiting for that cover."

It was a delightful reminder, and in a few days the publishers received one of the most brilliant designs May had ever executed.

WALL STREET TIPSTERS.

They Are a Numerous Tribe and Are Always Ready to Advise.

Wall street is the home of the tipster. You can always find him. You do not need to ask for him. He seeks you out in seductive advertisements, in circulars, letters and all the ways of the shrewd trader. And there are none shrewder than these who nest in Wall street.

You will find the tipsters in every broker's office. Stand at the ticker for a few minutes and hear them as they come up one after another. "This is the time to sell," says one. Directly another appears, takes up the tape, scrutinizes it for a moment, lays it down and exclaims, "A good time to buy!" But go to the head of a house, especially if it be an old, conservative and well established institution, and ask him what he thinks about the market. See how many tips you will get from him. Not many, as a rule.

He will discourse upon the situation, tell you the favorable and unfavorable factors, call attention to certain stocks that may be influenced by current rumors, to others that have new possibilities, to others that may suffer from various reasons, and then he will conclude with a general observation that one man's opinion is as good as another's.—Leslie's.

YOU CAN BE ABSOLUTELY SURE OF VALUES

If you carefully read the store advertisements and follow them in your buying.

Merchants advertise certain lines because they know these lines will advertise their stores. Because there is something about certain goods, they are put in conspicuous places and the people are told about them. It may be the exclusiveness or newness of design, it may be an unusual quality, it may be an attractive price.

But there is at least one definite, sure reason why a merchant advertises an article and is willing to stake the reputation of his store upon it.

Therefore, when you see an article advertised in THE REVIEW, depend upon it, that article is good value, as good value as can be obtained in that particular store.

GOV. WILSON NOMINATED BY DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

Illinois Casts its Vote for the Governor of New Jersey Whose Nomination is Now Practically Assured—Forty-three Ballots Taken Without Result

GOVERNOR WILSON WAS NOMINATED ON THE FORTY-SIXTH BALLOT.

Special to the Review.

Baltimore, July 2.—Nine minutes after twelve this morning, Chairman Ollie James took his place on the platform at the Democratic National Convention and after brief preliminaries, balloting was resumed.

At fifteen after twelve, the chairman ordered the roll call for the forty-third time. Illinois fifty-eight votes, heretofore for Clark, went solid for Wilson and a demonstration followed.

LATER.

Woodrow Wilson gained 108 votes on the forty-third ballot, making a total of 602, a majority of the convention. The forty-fourth ballot gave him within one hundred of enough to nominate him, and it is expected that he will be nominated on the forty-fifth or forty-sixth ballot.

Although Wilson made slight gains in the forty-fifth ballot, no serious breaks in Clark's ranks resulted. After this ballot Underwood announced his withdrawal and the nomination of Wilson is thought likely with the 97 votes held by Underwood going over to the New Jersey man.

Baltimore, July 2.—With monotonous regularity the Democratic convention went on all day and all night, with the exception of a three hours recess, balloting in a vain effort to pick a candidate, and adjourned at 12.43 a.m. Governor Wilson gained steadily on Champ Clark throughout the day, but after passing the 500 mark, while the Speaker went far below his initial vote last Friday morning, the tide turned a little just before midnight, and on the 42nd ballot, the New Jersey governor fell off a couple, while Clark went forward in the same proportion. The vote for Oscar Underwood fluctuated within ten of the 100 mark.

Speaker Clark disappeared from Washington yesterday, and for a time nobody could tell just where he had gone. He was badly needed, as both Houses of Congress had met to extend the appropriations, so that the business of the Government could go on.

Late last evening, however, it was announced that he was here at the residence of Mayor Preston, and that he had been in consultation with his Missouri leaders.

Two attempts to adjourn were made before midnight. One was withdrawn as soon as made and the other went to a roll call, but as leaders of both sides were voting against it, it was withdrawn, and the 42nd ballot went on. This gave Wilson 494, Clark 430, Underwood 104, Harmon 27, Bryan 1-2, Kern 1, Foss 28, J. Hamilton Lewis of Chicago 1.

TRAVERS SAYS PETER RYAN GOT THAT $3,000 CHEQUE

Toronto, July 2.—The most startling statement which has yet marked the proceedings of the Farmers' Bank investigation dropped from the lips of Travers on Saturday.

"Have you anything further to give?" This was the significant question put to Travers by Mr. Frank Hodgins, K.C.

Travers replied:

"I have worried over this matter and what I say will be from my feeling for you, Mr. Commissioner, and my admiration of you. Before going to Ottawa, I was told by a party, by whom I cannot say, that I had better take $3,000 with me and give it to Mr. Peter Ryan. I went down without the $3,000, but I put a check in an envelope addressed to Mr. Ryan. I marked it 'O' and on the back put the number of Mr. Ryan's room. I put in my card, saying I would pay it in Toronto.

"About six weeks later, the check was duly presented to me at my bank counter, and I gathered together the cash and paid it."

Mr. Hodgins asked: "Do you know who got the money?"

"No, I do not," replied Travers.

Travers said he had met Ryan in the rotunda of the hotel when he had asked Calvert for an introduction. Ryan had said he might put in a word for him and had suggested Emerson.

The sensation following his sudden statement of the details of the famous $3,000 marked check which has baffled the commission for months sent a thrill of surprise about the court room.

With barely a moment's preliminary explanation Travers declared that acting on instructions he had taken $3,000 to Ottawa to be paid to Mr. Peter Ryan, registrar of East Toronto. He had marked it "C" addressed it to Ryan and there his part had ended. What become of it he neither knew nor wanted to know.

Mr. Peter Ryan, on the stand, violently declared his innocence. Waving his arms vociferiously and offering himself and affairs for investigation, he reiterated his absolute innocence of any connection with the transaction or any knowledge of it.

Mr. Ryan was called to the witness stand.

"I am innocent of connection as a babe in its mother's arms. I have never seen the check. I never took a room in Ottawa and I never stayed overnight," said Mr. Ryan. "I know nothing of the check, and I never saw it or the envelope. I never heard of it."

To Celebrate Peace Centenary.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., July 2.—Invitations have been issued to the Duke of Connaught, Hon. R. L. Borden, President Taft, Vice-President Sherman, Sir James Whitney, Theodore Roosevelt, W. J. Bryan and many others to attend a peace centenary luncheon, to be held at the International Hotel, Niagara Falls, N.Y., on July 4. This luncheon is to be international in scope, devoid of political significance, and is intended to be a forerunner of a big peace celebration in 1914-15, marking the culmination of one hundred years of peace between the United States and Great Britain.

The luncheon is to be followed by an international concert by a massed band of one hundred and fifty pieces, consisting of the 74th Regimental Band of Buffalo, N.Y., and the 91st Highlanders of Hamilton, Ont.

Birdwoman Killed.

Boston, July 2.—Miss Harriet B. Quimby of New York, the first woman to win an aviator's license in America, and the first woman to cross the English Channel in an aeroplane, was instantly killed, with her passenger, W. A. P. Willard, manager of the Boston Aviation Meet, at Atlantic last night, when her Bleriot monoplane fell into Dorchester Bay from a height of a thousand feet.

Miss Quimby started a volplane, when a gust of wind caught the tail of the monoplane, throwing the machine up perpendicular. For an instant it poised there. Then Willard's body was thrown clear of the chassis, followed almost immediately by Miss Quimby's. Hurtling over and over, the two bodies shot downward, striking the water twenty feet from shore. The monoplane then plunged down. The water was only five feet deep. Men from the Savin Hill Yacht Club near by were on the spot quickly, and leaping overboard from their motor boats hauled the two bodies out of the mud, into which they had sunk deeply. Death was probably instantaneous.

CONCESSIONS TO ISLANDS

Toronto, July 2.—Publicity has now been given to the agreement, entered into in April last between the Government of Canada and the Governments of the West Indian Islands who were represented, providing for a reciprocal preference on various classes of goods. In brief, the contracting parties agree that the customs duties on goods covered by the agreement shall not exceed four-fifth of the duties imposed on similar goods of foreign origin, and right is also reserved to limit the benefit of the concession to goods conveyed direct without transhipment.

In general the classes of imports concerned are those peculiar to the place of origin. A preference is given by the West Indies to Canadian fish, meats, grain and other food products, live animals, agricultural machinery, boots and shoes, nails, wire and electrical appliances, canned and bottled fruits, vehicles, paper and other articles. On the other hand, Canada gives concessions on sugar, coffee, cotton, rice, petroleum, oils, rubber, tropical food products and other imports. The agreement is for ten years, and includes for three years the Bahamas, Bermuda, British Honduras, Grenada, Jamaica and Newfoundland, but this concession will cease at the expiry of that period unless they also extend reciprocal advantages to Canada.

This agreement shall be subject to the approval of the Parliament of Canada and of the legislatures of the above-mentioned colonies, and of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and upon such approval being given it shall be brought into operation at such time as may be agreed upon between the contracting parties by a proclamation to be published in the "Canada Gazette" and in the official gazette of each of the colonies involved.

BALOON EXPLODES; FOUR MEN DROP TO HORRIBLE DEATH

Melvin Vaniman and His Crew Fall From a Height of Over One Thousand Feet Before a Crowd That Were Appalled Into Silence

Special to the Review.

Atlantic City, N.J., July 2—Melvin Vaniman, who designed the dirigible balloon "Akron" with the intention of making a trip across the Atlantic, Calvin Vaniman, his brother, and Fred Amos, Walter Gurst and George Brilliant, his crew, were instantly killed this morning when the balloon exploded while a thousand feet in the air and a quarter of a mile south of Brigantine Beach, across the inlet from this city.

The envelope, containing thousands of cubic feet of gas, was rent by the explosion, which is believed to have been caused by expansion from the sun's rays. The mass of flames immediately hid the ship from view for about a minute, when she fell like a plummet.

As it started to descend, an object believed to be the body of a man, shot out from the wreckage and hit the water before the rest of the descending mass. This was believed to have been the headless body of Calvin Vaniman, which was recovered later.

Other members of the crew were entangled in the wreckage, in eighteen feet of water and cannot be reached at present. The accident occurred about 6.30 after the dirigible had been in the air twenty-three minutes. The tragedy was witnessed by three thousand spectators, too startled to utter a sound.

LIST OF FATAL ACCIDENTS ON CANADA'S NATIONAL DAY

Major Catto, of Toronto, Loses His Life at Rideau Ferry and Miss Annie Richardson Drowns Near Mimico—Chatham Is Scene of a Fatality on Beginning of Old Home Week—Two Die In Winnipeg.

Hamilton, July 2.—Antonio Kopetsky and Mary Savonsky, two Poles, who lived near the steel plant, were drowned in the bay shortly after ten o'clock last night as a result of a collision between a gasoline launch and a rowboat in which they were rowing. The launch, which was occupied by T. R. Woodhouse, 49 Woodbine crescent, and Albert S. King, 159 Dundurn street, and some young ladies struck the rowboat in the darkness.

The boat was immediately upset, and before assistance could be rendered, the two foreigners were drowned.

Up to two o'clock this morning the bodies had not been recovered.

Kopetsky rented the boat from Charles Green, who has a boathouse near the high-level bridge.

Girl Is Drowned.

Toronto, July 2.—Annie Richardson, aged 20, was drowned in the lake near Mimico about 10 o'clock Saturday night. The young woman was being paddled toward the Humber river by her fiance, William Rushton, aged 23, when becoming excited at the sea that was starting to run, she sprang from her seat and capsized the canoe opposite stop 17.

Rushton immediately placed her on his back and started to swim. After spending ten minutes in a vain attempt to reach land, the young woman discovered that they were going farther out, and became hysterical. She grasped Rushton around the throat, shut off his breath and pulled him with her beneath the water. What happened after that the young man has no recollection. Rushton was rescued by cottagers.

Major Catto Drowned.

Toronto, July 2.—Major Charles J. Catto, only son of John Catto, the well-known Toronto retail merchant of King street east, was drowned at Rideau Ferry, a summer resort on the Rideau Lakes about six miles from Perth, yesterday evening. He was out on the lake in a canoe by himself, when in some way he lost his balance and fell overboard. He could not swim. His body was recovered shortly after the accident, but life was extinct. Doctors worked to resuscitate, but to no avail. Mr. Catto was holidaying at the ferry and had been there but a few days.

Drowning at Chatham.

Chatham, July 2.—One drowning fatality and two minor accidents marked the opening of Chatham's old home week.

Within a hundred feet of two thousand pleasure-seekers, John Mulcey, a young Englishman, was drowned in the Thames, opposite Tecumseh Park, at 10.30 last night. A sacred band concert was in prospect at the park, and the music drowned his cries for help. He was attempting to swim across the river, when his strength gave out. His body has not yet been recovered.

Charles Morok, aeronaut, of New York, while attempting to fly his machine against a stiff breeze at the Chatham driving park, lost control and the machine came to earth, smashing the propeller and throwing Morok out. He was not seriously injured.

Two Drown at Winnipeg Beach.

Winnipeg, July 2.—The many hundreds of people who journeyed to Winnipeg Beach yesterday were horrified by the drowning of two persons while swimming near the new dock. The victims of the drowning accident were Miss R. T. Riley and Charley Patterson, both of Winnipeg, who went down to spend the holiday.

REPUDIATES LITERAL "HELL"

Toronto, July 2.—Frank W. Nan[illegible], managing partner of the Nanton [illegible] Co., of this city, while speaking for the Toronto Bible Class at the Monday session of the International Bible Students Association Convention, now being held in Toronto, made quite a stir by calling for an official public repudiation of the so-called "doctrine of a literal hell fire," or "lake of fire and brimstone," as a place of punishment for the wicked and requested this convention to inaugurate some method enabling every Protestant minister in Canada to fearlessly make a public declaration of his personal belief on the "hell fire" doctrine.

ROWELL OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN

London, Ont., July 2.—The Liberal campaign of education, which proposes to abolish the bar and carry out other social legislation, was inaugurated here yesterday afternoon with an open air meeting in Queen's Park, which was addressed by N. W. Rowell, K.C., Liberal leader, and others. George S. Gibbons of London was chairman and the meeting was well attended.

The Liberal leader spent practically all his time on the temperance issue, explaining in detail what he proposed to do with the bars, the club licenses, the shops and the general enforcement of the law. He gave credit to Hon. Mr. Hanna for some wise amendments to the liquor law last session and called upon Sir James Whitney to join him in the "holy crusade against the licensed barroom."

"The chief organ of the Conservative party," said Mr. Rowell, "has declared editorially that if we show that public opinion is against the bar Sir James Whitney will abolish it. I make this appeal to Sir James Whitney: Join with me and let both political parties unite to wipe it out. Then we will witness the magnificent spectacle of Ontario leading the Dominion in a great reform, unitedly supported by both parties. I invite Sir James Whitney to join with us, to cease his straining for an ineffective and inefficient substitute. He can accomplish nothing by [illegible] weak measures. Let him grapple with this big problem in an earnest, thorough and capable manner and he will have our hearty support; we want from this policy not power, we want the public good."

The economic and social aspects of the liquor traffic he discussed at considerable length, pointing out the relation of the bar to crime, insanity, poverty and inherited disease.

The other planks of the Liberal platform were merely named, all emphasis being placed upon the temperance plank as being more important than the others.

J. C. Elliott, M.P.P., [illegible] Middlesex, and James [illegible], M.P.P., of North Wentworth, also spoke, and among those on the platform were Wm. Charlton, M.P., Norfolk; E. W. Nesbitt, M.P., North Oxford; William Proudfoot, M.P.P., Centre Huron; [illegible] J. McCormick, M.P.P., East Lambton; W. R. Ferguson, M.P.P., East Kent; William [illegible], M.P.P., Centre-Bruce; Dr. O. O. [illegible] of Petrolea, and others.

Mr. Rowell was a visitor in London over Sunday and addressed several church gatherings on Sunday.

CYCLONE AT REGINA REAPS A RICH HARVEST OF DEATH

Forty-One Are Known to be Dead and Others are Missing—The Most Awful Catastrophe in the History of the West—Peterborough People Among the List of Sufferers.

Regina, Sask., July 2.—Forty-one dead, twenty-four of whom have been identified, and a property loss of about eleven million dollars—this in short is the latest news of a calamity wrought by a cyclone which visited this city at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, but beneath the debris of the huge blocks for which Regina was famous lie many other bodies, for it will be days yet before the debris has been removed away.

The city is a city of the dead to-day. Flags float at half-mast, and all Dominion Day celebrations have been cancelled. What should have been a happy crowd of citizens are standing about the streets speaking in whispers.

The streets are a litter of broken timber, masonry and broken iron, and many of them are yet blocked from traffic. On every corner are constables, and this city is under martial law.

Both at the General and at the Grey Nuns' Hospital all the available space has been requisitioned to accommodate the injured.

At the General Hospital the wards have been opened to accommodate the injured and nurses are kept busy attending to the sufferers.

At the Grey Nuns' Hospital the patients are crowded together for lack of space. All in one room are stretched eleven wounded men, all of them unable to move. The nuns, including the Sister Superior, are working without rest. All nurses who can be secured are hourly visiting the sick, and from there the report comes that none of the patients are so seriously hurt that they will die. Probably the worst injured outside of two who have broken legs, is Mrs. McDougall, who is blind from shock.

The following is the official list of dead thus far compiled:

Houses were torn from their foundations and deposited in gardens hundreds of yards away and wrecked to matchwood. Roofs were torn from innumerable buildings, hundreds of homes being completely demolished. Debris fills the gardens, the streets and the parks. From McIntyre street to Scarth street, the death-dealing blasts devastated everything in its path, but in Victoria avenue the most of the dead were found.

The disaster came so suddenly that there are few able to describe what really happened. A few minutes before five o'clock it was one of the brightest of Sunday afternoons.

Suddenly, a [illegible] cloud swept in circles from the southwest. Rain was coming and few regretted the fact. Back of the Parliament Buildings the great black mass was sweeping. Suddenly it parted, one-half swept eastward and the other continued straight along its path. In the twinkling of an eye the storm broke on the lake.

With it was the [illegible]. Boats and canoes were upset and pleasure-seekers were plunged to the bottom of the lake. How many are there may never be known. It is expected that the death-list in the water will be large.

From McIntyre street to [illegible] street the cloud devastated everything in its path. In that district and Southern Victoria avenue the death list has not been compiled. Sweeping over Victoria avenue the storm continued its course. The Metropolitan Church was utterly wrecked, and so is the Y. W. C. A., the Public Library, the Presbyterian Church, the Baptist Church.

Many of the large wholesale houses are a total or partial loss. The [illegible] City Flour [illegible], Toronto Type Foundry, Ackerman [illegible], Scott, Cushing Bros., [illegible] Laird Co. warehouse, are among those wrecked. Back of this district many of the comfortable homes of the laboring men working in this district were totally destroyed.

I am only thirty years old, yet for almost two years I have felt more like seventy-five. I have found it difficult to sleep at night and in the morning feel so depressed and heavy that effort was difficult. My hands were always clammy and perspiration on slight effort would break out all over me. It was not unnatural that I should begin to brood over the chance that I should soon be unfit to do my work, and this dread made my sleepless nights perfect misery. After repeated trials of medicine and mixtures Dr. Hamilton's Pills gave me the first gleam of hope. From the very first I could see they were different in action from other pills. They didn't gripe and acted as naturally as if nature and not the pills were cleansing my clogged up system. My spirits rose, I felt much better, the sluggish action of the system gave way to normal activity. Dizziness and headaches ceased, appetite, good color, and ambition to work returned and have remained. I am like a new man and I thank Dr. Hamilton's Pills for it all."

This was the experience of J. E. Parkhurst, a well-known grocery dealer in Jefferson. THAT CHURCH SERVICE

It was at first proposed to hold the military church service Sunday afternoon in St. John's church but it was finally decided that the edifice was too small for the purpose and for that reason St. Paul's church was chosen as the most spacious in the city. Rev. Canon Davidson, is chaplain of the 57th Regiment, and Rev. Canon Bedford-Jones, holds the same office in the Brockville Regiment that visited this city for the holiday, and it was fitting that in their official capacity that they should take a leading part in the proceedings and that a portion of the services of the Church of England should be used. There is nothing in that service to which any Protestant, be he Presbyterian, Baptist or Methodist, can object with the slightest show of reason and the form alone is merely a matter of taste and opinion. That parts of that service was read in a Presbyterian church, and one of the leaders in that denomination in Peterborough is a gratifying evidence of the Catholicity which is growing among the evangelical churches of the present day and from which liberality of sentiment has sprung the proposed union of three of the leading branches whose doctrine and form of worship are most nearly alike.

In view of these facts it seems really unfortunate that a person connected with St. Paul's church should write to a local paper protesting against the union service. The edifice was selected on account of its size, the duly authorized clergymen, officiated as it was their duty to do under the circumstances. Had the services been held in Victoria Park, within sight of the church no one could have even the shadow of a reason for protesting. The point is that seeing that no objection can be made to the service as anti-Protestant in any way the structure in which it was held is a secondary consideration.

Were not the ruffled feelings of the anonymous writer appeased by the singing of "Old Hundred," the gem of the Presbyterian praise service, the tune to which the Covenanters marched to battle for their faith? Is not the Apostles' Creed which was repeated in unison the same as that written in his own Catechism? Were not the responsive readings extracts from the Bible in which he has been drilled since infancy if he is a true Presbyterian? Was not the second hymn sung, the first of all in the hymnal of his church? Can he as a Christian object to a petition on behalf of the Governor-General and were not the other prayers offered up, the whole congregation repeating them, orthodox in every particular? Then why this protest?

Twenty centuries ago the Nazarene counseled fraternal love and Christian charity. Is He not a higher authority than the disgruntled "St. Paul's?"

THE LOVE OF COUNTRY

Everybody in Peterborough, residents and visitors, teemed with patriotism during the holiday, the celebration of which began with the dawn of day Sunday morning. From private residence, public building and business place, the flag of the country waved and the pulpits of the churches were draped with the national bunting. Every place of worship, either morning or evening, held a special service with patriotism the leading theme. If the people of Peterborough should ever fail in their duties as citizens the derelictions cannot be for lack of instruction along that line.

Pastors preached love of country as one of the first duties of man, and scriptural examples were cited of those who glory in the land of their birth and avow their nativity on every possible occasion. Patriotic airs were sung until church edifices rang again with the enthusiasm of choir and congregation, and special petitions were offered up for those in authority over us from His Royal Majesty down.

Through all the excitement of yesterday's events the patriotic spirit was pre-eminent. Bands on every side, crashed out inspiring strains, the flag was everywhere in evidence while the presence of so many members of the country's militia betokened something more practical and potential than a mere display of bunting or enthusiastic professions of loyalty. After all militarism is crystalized patriotism.

Canada is all right. There is no danger threatening the future of a country, the people of which enter heart and soul into such a celebration of the national birthday as that of yesterday. No picture of a glorious future painted by any pulpit orator on Sunday was overdrawn, no sketch of an honorable past—either in war or in peace—was an idle boast. Canadians love their country, not only because to do so is the part of true and virile manhood, but for the further reason, that while proud of the past with all its steady and prosperous growth, they have faith that still greater successes are to be achieved in the days that lie before them.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Let us all call quits. No more poetry on the Titanic disaster goes.

That we may be delivered from accident, famine and sudden death is one of the standing petitions of one of our orthodox churches. Let them in view of recent events, further pray from deliverance from the man who publishes his private correspondence to the world.

A Baseball Romance

Brockett, with a good-sized map in hand, drew out a pencil, and began marking down a few lines of connection, when the Cuban, with one quick jerk, wrested the pencil from his hand.

"Harry, you need a guardian. Your mentality is just about fit for the dotty-house."

"Why, what's agitating you?" queried Brockett, astounded and somewhat jarred. The Cuban smiled derisively.

"You should know better, Harry, than to mark out our real route on any map or sheet of paper. We don't believe, of course, that there is anyone on this train who is on our track—and yet our best policy is to believe it up to the minute we reach Jersey City. Just for an experiment, we'll say, I have an idea."

"Why not have it toasted, with mayonnaise on the side? I'm hungry enough to eat it."

"Well, the African brother just announced that 'lunch am now sehved in de dining cah ahaid.' Let's go in and punish the provender. And now—watch, please, without appearing to do so. Notice the way I lay these maps upon the seat. Notice, also, that I take this little postage stamp, fold it, and gum it with one-half on each page of this time-table. Anyone who opens the time-table tears the postage stamp. Now, let's go and attend to the rations."

The boys did full justice to their lunch, and sauntered back to their seats. Their maps and papers lay apparently undisturbed, but Solano contracted his black eyebrows significantly as he examined the time-table. It had been opened, and the binding stamp had been torn in two.

"Still after us, old man," remarked the Cuban. "No, no, don't fasten any Sherlock Holmes gaze upon the other passengers. Don't show a sign of surprise or worry. That would be playing right into their hand. Listen, now: when we reach Jersey City, let's make a lightning exit without waiting for the train to reach the west-shore terminals. Let's take a chance on getting our clothes dusty. If anyone is fool enough to rush out after us, we have him spotted—if he stays on the train we have a lot more chance to get away before he can land in the station."

"Wish we had hopped off at Philadelphia," sighed Brockett. "In a city of that size we might have made a better escape, and I happen to know the streets of the burg pretty well. We'll have to make the best of it now though. The moment we hit the sod we'll run so fast we'll discover several new streets in Jersey City."

Solano was silent for a few minutes, and then his features lighted up.

"Do you happen to have an Eastern league schedule about you?" he demanded.

"Think I have. Got one with schedules of twenty leagues in it—this notebook. What's the idea?"

"Is Jersey City playing at home today?"

"Yes—playing Newark. Some fun there. That's old Iron Man McGinnity's team."

"Good stuff. Well, how's this for a supplement to our first idea, then; go right out to the ball park, buy bleacher seats, and mix in with the crowd. It's hard, awfully hard, to locate anybody in a ball park, and the task would be twice as hard for some foreigner who wouldn't even know how to find his way around the stands. We wanted to kill time in Jersey City till evening—where could we kill it more pleasantly or more safely?"

"Some of your ideas, dear Ramon, denote almost human intelligence. I listens good to me. But, say—we are just rolling into Jersey City now. Wait a bit—she'll slacken a little—NOW!"

The boys sprang from their chairs and bolted down the aisle. An astonished negro tried to intercept them with a cry of "Hold on boss—we ain't in de station yet!" but only received a shoulder and an elbow as reward. Solano unhesitatingly leaped, struck on a gravelly spot, went to his knees and then shot forward on his palms. Brockett swung off a shade more carefully, landed fairly on his feet, and after staggering a dozen yards, regained his balance.

"Any bones broken, Ramon?"

"Nothing but a suspender and my pet pipe. Little gravel in my knees and hands. I'll bet they think we are a pair of escaped crooks, but they can't back up the train. Hurry—let's get a vigorous move on!"

Twenty minutes later the messengers of state were buried in a mass of howling fans at the Jersey City ball park, where ancient rivalries with the Newark team were being settled. They picked a position halfway from the front of the bleachers, and the swarm of fanatics all around them formed a veil that would have baffled a Vidocq and an X-ray to pierce through. Here, safe from pursuit or treachery, they gave themselves up to their favorite delight, and enjoyed the battle to their hearts' content. Both, of course, were absolutely non-partisan when they entered the park—the troubles of Newark and Jersey City were nothing to them. Before the game was half an inning old, however, they had become rabid "bugs," and were abusing each other in the glorious fashion that only lovers of the game can know. Solano became an ardent admirer of the Jersey City club; Brockett allied himself with Newark, and each cast virulent aspersion on the other's judgment, opinions and personality.

Newark, to the intense delight of Harry Brockett, drew ahead and won out, while Solano, after declaring that his friend was a base-born idiot, that the umpires were a porch-climber and a door-mat thief, respectively, and that the Jersey City manager was solid stone above the shoulders, calmed down, smote a fat man two rows ahead of him with a bag of peanuts, and looked innocently at the setting western sun. Then the boys, vastly refreshed and cheered by the afternoon's diversion, mingled with the outgoing myriads. As they poured across the field in the ruck, they crossed the track of the Newark players, bearing their bats triumphantly away. A gray-sleeved arm reached out from the group of victors and caught Brockett by the shoulder. The boy turned and looked into the grim, weather-beaten face of Iron Man Joe McGinnity.

"You're young Brockett, the college slugger, aren't you?" growled the Iron Man, in what he meant for an amiable and conciliatory tone. "Uh huh. I thought so. You see, son, I don't often forget faces, specially when they belong to kids who did what you did to my pitching two years ago. I rather expected you'd take up the game when you left college."

Scores of curious fans were staring at the Iron Man and the boys. The grating voice of Joe McGinnity carried a long distance, and if there was anyone within twenty yards who hadn't heard him that person must have been stone deaf from childhood. Brockett, nervous and agitated at the loud announcement of his name, yet secretly pleased at the patronage of the great old warrior, flushed and stammered, while Solano's eyes spoke chagrin and apprehension.

"Tell you something, Brockett," the Iron Man went on, "I know a ball player when I see one, and if you want to take up the game you don't have to start with any Class Z leagues. I'll take you on tomorrow, if you want. Come see me in Newark during the day, will you?"

Solano's eyes telegraphed a message, and Brockett understood. Speaking in a voice loud enough to be heard halfway to the grandstand, he answered: "Yes. Two o'clock be all right? I'll be there," and then, grasping the Iron Man's hand, retreated once more to the shelter of the crowd.

"Annoying luck, that," remarked Solano. "If anyone was hunting us in that ball park it's a certainty that Mr. McGinnity tipped us off in grand style. You made the proper play, though, by making an appointment—which we will be unable to keep. It may lead some one of our faithful followers astray."

"Baseball luck is a queer thing," said Brockett, half angrily. "I was lucky enough to hit McGinnity for two singles and a three-bagger the afternoon we played the Newark team—and he didn't forget it. If he had struck me out three times he'd never have remembered me. I wish he had fanned me three trips on nine pitched balls."

The youngsters wandered around Jersey City for a brief period, doubling on their tracks several times. They glanced behind and around them ever and anon, and were unable to discover any trailers or pursuers, but a vague sense of worry and uneasiness, an indefinable dread, seemed to be uppermost in their minds. Finally, when it had grown amply dark, they hurried to the row of ferries that fringe the shore of the North River, and slipped aboard in the swarm of Jerseyites seeking Manhattan for their evening's pleasure.

As the boys trailed along in the crowd which flocked to the front of the boat as it approached the eastern side, Brockett imagined that he felt a hand touch lightly against his left hip, or in his pocket. He turned instantly, but could not detect the probable pickpocket in the jostling crowd. Thrusting his hand in his coat pocket he felt the outlines of an envelope, and clutched it tightly. A moment later he stepped ashore and walked rapidly away.

"I've something with me that I didn't have when we went on the ferry," spoke Brockett in an undertone, continuing to pace along.

"What's that? An enlightened intellect?" the Cuban bantered. Brockett drew out the envelope, noted that it was innocent of address or mark of any kind, and returned it to his pocket.

DRIVING HIM TO THE GRAVE

"Fruit-a-tives Saved my Life"

NIAGARA FALLS, ONT., JULY 26th, 1911.

"For thirteen years, I was a terrible sufferer from the tortures of Sick Headache, Indigestion, Constipation and Vomiting. I could not retain much food, and this, together with the pain, and headaches, was driving me to the grave.

Then I used "Fruit-a-tives" and almost at once I got relief.

"Fruit-a-tives" stopped the vomiting, relieved the Constipation, toned up the stomach, and gave me the first relief in years. I feel that I owe my life to "Fruit-a-tives" and for the sake of other victims of Indigestion and Headaches, I will allow this statement to be published."

HARRY DICKINSON.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

A POOR TYPE OF CITIZEN.

The Good Man Who Lives by and Exclusively For Himself.

I know a certain type of man who poses as a good citizen, says Bert Walker. He breaks no laws, lives morally, pays his honest debts and is never tangled up in lawsuits. But he lives of himself, by himself and for himself only.

When a call is issued for volunteers to take hold of the car of progress and give a lift he never answers. When calamity has befallen people in a certain locality and charitable humanity flies to their rescue he is never one of their number. When money is needed to gild the spire of public enterprise his name is never on the list. When he sees some neighbor stuck in the mud he goes around to avoid him. In fact, were he standing on the shore and should observe the ship of state fast sinking in the surf, never a life line would he throw. He didn't bore the hole in the side of the vessel that lets in the water, so it is none of his concern what happens.

But were all mankind made of this kind of clay have you ever thought what would happen? There would be no churches, no hospitals for the sick, no institutions for the unfortunate nor rest rooms for the weary. Civilization would roam in jungles and the strongest would rule. He is not a good citizen, but gets mad if you say so.—Kansas City Journal.

Wagers In an Old Betting Book.

Many events of human life figure in the old betting book of Brooks'. The frequency of bets on births is illustrated by Lord Mountford's answer when he was asked whether his daughter was going to present him with a grandchild: "Upon my word, I do not know. I have no bet upon it." Eight bets running in Sheridan's name range from the question whether the French had occupied Amsterdam to the question whether the shortest way from one house to another was by Sackville street or Bond street. There are fifty guineas on the double event that Lord Ilchester gives his first vote in opposition and hits eight out of his first ten pheasants, and "Lord Clermont has given Mr. Crawford ten guineas upon the condition of receiving £500 from him whenever Mr. Charles Fox shall be worth £100,000 clear of debts."—London Chronicle.

LEGEND OF ALUMINUM.

Story Told by Pliny of Tiberius and a Metal Worker.

If a certain incident in Roman history, as related by Pliny, be given full credence, then it would seem that aluminium was derived by means of a secret process long before our time.

The story is this: During the reign of Tiberius there one day appeared at the emperor's palace a worker in metals who displayed a magnificent cup made of a brilliant white metal that shone like silver. In presenting it to Tiberius the artificer purposely dropped it. The piece was so bruised by the fall that it seemed hopelessly ruined, but the metal worker took his hammer, and in the presence of the court quickly repaired the damage. It was thus evident to all that the metal was not silver, though it presented an appearance as brilliant as that metal. Besides, it was more durable and much lighter.

The emperor, so Pliny relates, interrogated the metal worker, from whom it was learned that the mysterious metal had been extracted from an argillaceous earth, in all probability the clay known to modern chemists as alumina. Tiberius then asked whether any one but the metal worker knew of the process and received the reply that the secret was known only to the worker and Jupiter.

The answer was unfortunate, for, reasoned the emperor, if it were possible to obtain such a metal from so common a substance as clay, would not the value of gold and silver be reduced? Tiberius, it would seem, was determined to avert such a catastrophe, for he commanded the workshops of the discoverer of the new metal to be destroyed and the luckless man himself to be decapitated, so that the secret might die with him.

Did the cruelty of Tiberius deprive the world for centuries of the use of the metal aluminium?

Sequel to an Amusing Mistake.

An amusing story is told of Mr McKinnon Wood, who succeeded in holding his own in the St. Rollox bye-election. The wife of "Mr. Speaker" introduced Mr. Wood, at a reception, to a lady, having previously mentioned that she was about to make him acquainted with the wife of a member of the Russian Duma.

Mr. McKinnon Wood, being unable to speak the language of the Slavs, felt somewhat embarrassed, and endeavored to explain, by signs and smiles, his lingual deficiency. The lady, somewhat to his surprise, though, perhaps, to his relief, said, "I would much prefer to converse in English," and added that she was Mrs. Austen Chamberlain. Mrs. Lowther, quite inadvertently, had introduced Mr. McKinnon Wood to the wrong lady.

It is not, perhaps, generally known that the member for the St. Rollox Division was originally intended for the Bar, but instead took up business as a merchant. He made his mark on the London County Council, and is rather "learned," having contributed several articles to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Modest Abbe Delille.

It is said that the French Abbe Delille once had in his household a very quick tempered relative, with whom he sometimes had animated disputes and who sometimes went so far as to throw books at the abbe. The abbe must have been a person of great amiability and self control. Once, when a particularly large and heavy volume was thrown at him, he caught it gracefully and said:

"My dear friend, I must beg of you to remember that I prefer smaller gifts."

VISITING AND LOCAL TROOPS ATTENDED DIVINE SERVICE

Early Sunday morning the 41st Regiment Brockville Rifles, under command of W. S. Buell, arrived in the city to take part in the Dominion Day celebration and later in the day the 14th Regiment of Kingston, the Princess of Wales Rifles, led by Lieut. Col. A. B. Cunningham, arrived at the C. P. R. station. Both visiting regiments were met at the station by officers of the local regiment, and were billeted among the different hotels.

At 3.45, a brigade, consisting of the two visiting regiments and the 57th, formed in front of the Armories and with the Kingston division in the lead and the local regiment bringing up the rear, marched to George street, then down George to Hunter, along Hunter to Water and along Water to St. Paul's Church, where a religious service of special interest was held.

The streets along the line of march were lined with citizens and an immense crowd stood around the church waiting for the arrival of the troops The music of the different bands was splendid and the movements of the several companies, had the regularity of clock work.

At the church special souvenir program were provided. As announced, the service was a united worship There was no choir, but every individual in the large audience, took part in the singing and in the responsive reading. Three clergymen were on the platform. Organ and pulpit were draped artistically with the national flag. Rev. B. Pogue, pronounced the Invocation and the audience joined heartily in singing that gem of Presbyterian praise, "Old Hundred." Rev. Canon Davison, in his uniform, as chaplain of the 57th Regiment read the extracts from the services in the Church of England that had been selected for the season. After the singing of other hymns and the reading of a scriptural lesson by Mr. Pogue, Capt. H. H. Bedford-Jones, of the Brockville regiment, preached an excellent patriotic sermon from Acts 21-39, in which the apostle Paul speaks of himself as "A Citizen of No Mean City."

The speaker commended Paul as a patriot who was never ashamed to declare his nationality and held him up as a worthy example for every Canadian to follow. From the war of 1812, which he considered the real starting point of Canada's history as a nation, Capt. Bedford-Jones, who in civilian life, is one of Brockville's most eloquent divines, gave a sketch of the country's growth, of the good that has resulted from Confederation, and painted a flowing picture of what the future has in store for a people who have prospered, while other nations have passed away.

The services concluded with the singing of the National Anthem, with so much enthusiasm that the vast edifice fairly rang with the melody, after which the brigade was formed again and marched back by the same route to the Armories, where it disbanded for the day.

PETERBORO MAN HAD CLOSE CALL IN REGINA CYCLONE

Mr. J. C. Shook has received a telegram from his son, Donald, who is now a resident of Regina, saying that he did not suffer in the cyclone that devastated a portion of that city on Sunday. Mr. Shook was, at the time of this catastrophe, with the militia at Sewell, about 200 miles from Regina. The rooms which he occupied were destroyed by the storm, and if he had been at home at the time, Mr. Shook would have in all probability lost his life.

The militia was called from Sewell to Regina to assist in the rescue work.

FLOWER SUNDAY AT GEORGE STREET METHODIST CHURCH

The service at George street Methodist church Sunday morning was principally for the benefit of the children. The day was also celebrated as Flower Sunday, an annual observance in connection with the Sabbath School. The inspiration and beauty of the service was greatly enhanced by the wealth of exquisite floral decorations, entirely the gifts of the Sunday School scholars. The children of the Sunday School marched into the church each bearing a donation of flowers. These were left on the church platform, and thence transferred to a big, overhanging arch, patriotically inscribed with the words "Canada, Our Home." The flowers were banked in profusion upon the horizontal portion of the arcade. Two large Canadian flags drooped in folds from the arch-way, presenting a very effective picture.

The Sunday School Orchestra supplied the music for the service throughout. The latter was thoroughly patriotic in spirit. The two selections "O Canada" and the "Maple Leaf Forever" were sung in a spirited and enthusiastic manner by the entire school, who occupied the front pews of the church.

Little Greta Cheverill, sang in a very sweet childish voice.

The pastor, Rev. Isaac Couch, explained in simple language for the benefit of the children, the meaning of the inscription "Canada Our Home."

He then took the letters in the word "Canada" each letter commencing the name of a quality that should be cultivated by all young Canadians.

For example:—

C—Character.
A—Ambition.
N—Nobility.
A—Activity.
D—Duty.
A—Adoption.

The pastor enlarged upon each of these qualities urging the children to accept them as principles for the guidance of their lives.

The construction of the arch-way was performed by Messrs. W. J. Johnston, F. E. Pratt, J. J. Hartley and W. G. Ferguson.

PETES DROPPED BOTH GAMES TO THE SENATORS; COOK'S MEN HERE TO-MORROW

Five thousand fans watched Louie Cook's Senators take both games with the Petes as visitors at Lansdowne Park, in Ottawa yesterday, the morning score reading 3—1 and the afternoon count standing 6—2.

The Canadian League leaders were the recipients of a presentation in the shape of the morning attraction, but there wasn't any doubt but that they earned the second win.

Davey Rowan took the mound for the first fixture, serving them up in opposition to Renfer, the wildman of the Capital city heaving department, and right well did he twirl, but costly misplays, to which he, himself contributed, handed the game to the Senators.

It was a game replete with good hitting, classy fielding and each pitcher faced situations when good work was needed to stop scores. Twice did the Petes place three men on the bags with two out. On the first occasion, Beard ended the [illegible] with a long fly to left but in the ninth with the bases all working, Jimmie came across with a neat single to right that scored Tully and the only run of that game for the Petes.

The first Ottawa run was tallied, while Umpire Cancella was watching Babe Tully juggle with a grounder, the runner from second missing connection with the third sack, by about fifteen feet and making the counting station.

With two gone, Trout threw to second but the play that looks so pretty at Riverside failed to materialize, the runner at third coming in for a score and the man going to second being called safe.

The other run came across, during a small flight, by the Petes, Rowan after going to the first bag and taking a throw, hurling the ball high over Nasher at third, to try for another runner.

GOT EARLY START OFF McMANUS, BUT—

McManus with a record of ten straight wins opposed Johnny Derr for round two, and before Mac had time to warm up the Petes sent two runs across, by waiting his offerings high, wide and handsome. Jimmie Beard had a triple to left in the assault. The Senators at once got busy and made it one better, with the result that the first innings, ended 3—2 for the Senators. Mr. McManus then tightened up and was assisted with another brace of runs, his team mates hitting Derr's twisters and getting an occasional base by the charity route.

Nasher had a bad day at third but he received a warm hand from the stand when he grabbed a foul fly after a long run, in the afternoon game. The Ottawa fans certainly are not slow to applaud a good play, be it made by the homesters or the visiting team.

Trout showed signs of a breakdown after his hard work of the two games yesterday, and Osborne disabled his pitching paw in batting practice.

PETES ARE AT HOME TO-MORROW.

The Petes play Ottawa again to-day and will be home for a two game series with the Senators commencing to-morrow. Next they go to Berlin for a four game series, and return again for four games commencing July 11.

MAY BE DOUBLE HEADER TO-MORROW

In all probability a double header with the Ottawa Club will be played at Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon. Definite announcement will be bulletined at the newspaper offices.

Haliburton Lumber Mill Burned.

Haliburton, July 2.—The William Laking lumber mill was burned to the ground at two o'clock yesterday morning. The loss is between $20,000 and $25,000, but only some six or seven thousand insurance. By good work the other building, the lumber yard and other adjacent property were saved. This leaves only one lumber mill in the village, that of Austin Bros. being burned a little over a year ago.

She Is Only Twelve, but Has Traveled More Than 46,000 Miles.

The United States army can now probably claim the world's juvenile traveling record by virtue of the globe trotting of Miss Julia D. Kitts, daughter of Lieutenant William P. Kitts, Twenty-first United States Infantry.

Incidentally, her record sheds a strong light upon the mutations of the army officer and the frequent recurrence of "moving day," says the Army and Navy Journal.

The child was born at Fort Lincoln, N. D., April 29, 1904, and was the first baby born at that post. Within three weeks she had traveled 452 miles; within [illegible] months 1,250 miles; within six months, 1750 miles, and within one year 13,39[illegible] miles. In this short time the baby had traveled from North Dakota to Minnesota, to the Atlantic coast to San Francisco, and thence across the Pacific to the Philippines.

It took her only two years more to add [illegible]000 miles to her record, making the total distance covered in three years [illegible] miles, or an average of more than [illegible]0,000 miles a year. She has kept a going, and at present has more than [illegible]000 miles to her credit. This youthful tourist, who could put to shame Phineas Fogg, Jules Verne's traveling hero, has nearly completed her second tour of foreign service with the regiment.

YOU CAN BE ABSOLUTELY SURE OF VALUES

If you carefully read the store advertisements and follow them in your buying.

Merchants advertise certain lines because they know these lines will advertise their stores. Because there is something about certain goods, they are put in conspicuous places and the people are told about them. It may be the exclusiveness or newness of design, it may be an unusual quality, it may be an attractive price.

But there is at least one definite, sure reason why a merchant advertises an article and is willing to stake the reputation of his store upon it.

Therefore, when you see an article advertised in THE REVIEW, depend upon it, that article is good value, as good value as can be obtained in that particular store.

THREE REGIMENTS PARADE ; SPORTS AT RIVERSIDE PARK

All Details of Big Programs Were Carried Out With Splendid Success — Those Who Won Prizes in the Sports— Military Tattoo and Fireworks in the Evening.

LO, ALL OUR POMP OF YESTERDAY
IS ONE WITH NINEVEH AND TYRE,
LORD, GOD OF HOSTS BE WITH US YET,
LEST WE FORGET, LEST WE FORGET.

Kipling.

Dominion Day has come and gone. Everybody had a good time. No accidents or disagreeable features occurred as far as is known, to mar the day of pleasure. The city withstood the friendly invasion of the visiting regiments in a highly commendable manner. Orderliness and excellent behavior were maintained during the entire stay of the soldiers.

The weather was perfect, the thermometer remaining about stationery the whole day.

The military program yesterday was carried through without a skip or a hitch of any kind on scheduled time. The visiting regiments paraded the streets at 10 o'clock and half an hour later, the brigade was once more formed in Central Park, the Boy Scouts, the soldiers of the future, looking trim and neat in their serviceable uniforms and carrying their staffs forming the rear of the procession, under the leadership of their Chief, Reginald Stratton. Four of the Scouts lugged behind them their pack wagon, and no division of the brigade was more heartily applauded than were the young fellows as they went through their different evolutions without a break.

All along the line of march, down George street to Charlotte, thence to Water and by way of Hunter street to Riverside Park, the sidewalks were jammed with spectators, who, as soon as the procession pased, followed it to the park, where for over an hour, the troops went through their different manouvres. Finally each regiment, to the music of its own band, passed in review before the grand stand, each being heartily applauded by the crowd, as they passed.

After the review, the brigade marched back to the Armeries, to the strains of more inspiring patriotic music, and on reaching Central Park disbanded. The soldier boys were then at liberty to enjoy the freedom of the city and to disport themselves, every one after his fashion.

The visiting regiments left for their respective homes about 11 o'clock last night, every man with pleasant memories of the outing and with a grateful appreciation of the welcome, which had been accorded them.

In the afternoon, the crowds began to trek to the grassy award of Riverside Park. Both grand stands were soon filled to capacity, while all around the circular plot, hundreds gathered to watch the athletic program.

The following lists of events, were followed with keen interest, some of them creating side-splitting laughter through their very novelty.

CONCERT ON CHIMES.

T three concerts, 7 a.m., 12 a.m., and 7.30 p.m., rendered on the eo le chimes, in St. John's church tow were very well attended, esp lly the concert at 7.30 p.m. Sui e airs were played by the ring rs that harmonised with the occasion O Canada, The Maple Leaf, and her Canadian airs, as well as such English tunes as Rule Britta etc.

M people visited St. John's and spected the chimes in the tower.

BAND CONCERT

Between three and four thousand peo heard the band concert in ental Park, on Sunday evening. The 57th Regimental Band, at the request of the other bands, rendered the program. Asa Huycke the well known local baritone sang in the most pleasing manner the world-wide famous song "Dream of Paradise."

RIVERSIDE AT NIGHT

If Riverside Park was brilliant in the afternoon, it was doubly so last night. It was reckoned that half of the city's population was there. Music, by the massed bands of the three regiments, a gorgeous display of fireworks and a grand military tattoo comprised the evening attractions.

The proceedings got under way shortly before nine o'clock. By that time the grounds and grand stands were densely jammed. The whole place was luridly illuminated by the continual discharge of fireworks, turning the darkness almost into day. Sky rockets, Roman candles, giant pinwheels, etc., presented a spectacle of brilliancy such as Peterborough folk have not witnessed here for some time.

The three military bands crashed out the strains of "O Canada" "The Maple Leaf for Ever" "Rule Brittania" and other stirring airs, under the leadership of Prof. Gliddon.

The fun continued until after ten o'clock, when the eventful day was brought to a fitting conclusion by the grand old strains of the National Anthem. The soldiers marched off, the crowds melted away, and Riverside Park again took on peace and quietness.

ITALIANS WERE SLEEPING WHEN HOUSE CAUGHT FIRE

An old man named Nicholas Martino with three of his grand children narrowly escaped being burned to death on Sunday afternoon. A small frame and rough-cast house at 491 Elm street in which they were sleeping during the heat of the day, caught fire from sparks from the kitchen stove. The owner of the house was a foreigner and was unacquainted with Eastern customs of combating fire. The old man was awakened by the noise of the burning wood work and the crackling of the flames. He jumped up and managed to carry the three sleeping children out side, but in his excitement did not spread any alarm. He then tried to extinguish the flames which were by this time gaining great headway, by turning on the garden hose. He only succeeded in driving the flames from one room to another. When the fire brigade were finally apprised of the fire the building was wrapped in flames. The brigade, however, soon had the conflagration under control. The house was not as badly gutted as was at first supposed.

The damage will amount to several hundred dollars.

C. G. E. WHISTLE BLEW.

When the whistle of the Canadian General Electric Company's Works sounded loudly and continuously Monday morning at seven o'clock, in honor of Dominion Day, the Fire Department suspected it was an alarm of fire. The department had not been previously informed that the whistle was to sound.

Chief Howard went down to the Works at top speed in his gig, leaving word however, for the brigade to be in readiness to respond should it have happened to be a fire.

FIRE IN SAWDUST.

The brigade also had a run to the sawdust pile about noon yesterday. No serious consequences of the outbreak, however, ensued, the blaze being kept under control.

NEW PASTOR AT CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH

The new pastor of Charlote street Methodist church, Rev. T. J. Mansell, preached there at both services on Sunday. He made a decidedly favorable impression, delivering two thoughtful, earnest and practical discourses.

Rev. Mr. Mansell is a man well on in years, but still in possession of excellent pulpit powers, a good delivery and a fine presence.

The large congregations on Sunday welcomed him most heartily, causing him to feel instantly at home.

At the evening service Miss Brock Bain favored the congregation with a feeling vocal rendition of "The Bird with the Broken Pinion."

Post Office Flag

Owing to the flag pole breaking on the post office building on Sunday evening, the large Union Jack was unable to float. However, a smaller one was floated from the tower window.

NEGLIGENCE OF TRAIN CREW WAS THE CAUSE OF FATAL ACCIDENT

The inquest into the death of Mrs. Garfield Babcock, who was killed in a collision of the G.T.R. train at Grass Lake, near Lindsay, a few weeks ago, was returned by the coroner's jury on Saturday last. It is as follows:

"That the deceased Mrs. Garfield Babcock came to her death on the evening of June 8th, 1912, at Grass Hill station, while a passenger on the G.T.R., through a rear end collision, being caused by negligence of rear end crew in charge of double-header trains Nos. 2187 and 2057, and it is the opinion of the jurors that all passenger trains should be operated on the block system, as has been done in years past."

After they reach the age of 40, women laugh only when they feel like it.

Mr. George Coon

A sad death occurred at the Nicholls Hospital, when Mr. Geo. Coon passed away at eleven o'clock on Monday night. The late Mr. Coon had been seriously ill for some time past. He leaves a widow and one son, Douglas, aged 13 years. The funeral will take place from the family residence, 500 Rogers street, to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, the Rev. C. E. Cragg officiating. Mr. Coon has been a resident of Peterborough for 15 years, and a life-long Conservative.

The Late Mrs. Clancy

The death occurred on Saturday afternoon of Elizabeth Redmond, relict of the late Thomas Clancy. The deceased was born on August 15th, in the year 1828, in the township of Cavan.

She lived at the old Clancy homestead in Otonabee, for over sixty years, and about a year ago moved to 293 Wescott street, of this city, where she passed away about 2.45 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

She is survived by four sons and three daughters, John, Rubidge street; William, Bethune street; Samuel, Toronto, and Thomas, at home; Mrs. P. Halligan, Downie street; Mrs. E. Welsh, Hunter street, and Minnie, at home. Two sisters, who also mourn her demise, are Mrs. Margeret Collins and Ellen Redmond, both of Lindsay. The pall bearers were the four sons, John, William, Samuel, Thomas, and her brother-in-law, Jas. Clancy, and her grandson, Raymond Clancy.

VERANDAH WAS DEMOLISHED BY RUNAWAY STEED

A farmer's horse, tied up for the early morning service at St. Peter's church, Sunday morning, broke loose and started for home at a pace which exceeded the local time limit. At the corner of McDonnel and Reid Sts. some pedestrians tried to stop the runaway when the horse swerved and colliding with one of the posts of the verandah of John James, the grocer, razed that structure to the ground, then pursued its headlong career in the direction of home. As the identity of the owner is a mystery, Mr. James rebuilds at his own expense.

After a Long Struggle Between Missourian and New Jersey Governor the Latter is Given the Place of Standard-Bearer For the Democrats by an All But Unanimous Poll—Clark Assails Bryan.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, July 3.—The final break to Governor Woodrow Wilson as the nominee for President of the United States came in the Democratic national convention yesterday afternoon at the beginning of the 46th ballot.

Wilson received 633 votes on the 45th, with only 735 1-3 necessary to nominate. Senator Bankhead of Alabama quickly withdrew Underwood. Senator Stone of Missouri, in behalf of Champ Clark, released all Clark delegates, at the same time saying Missouri would vote for him to the end. Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston withdrew Governor Foss from consideration.

By this time it was apparent Wilson would win on the 46th ballot, and the convention was in an uproar, delaying the call for a long while.

Over in the Nebraska delegation, Bryan sat with a broad smile on his face. Delegates surrounded him grasped his hand, and patted him on the back. Charles F. Murphy was on his feet in the aisle in front of his delegation. Several men spoke to him, but he contended himself with giving a characteristic nod and grunt.

Senator Reed of Missouri interposed an objection to New York's request for unanimous consent to make Wilson's nomination by acclamation. The roll call went on.

As Charles F. Murphy arose to vote the New York delegates, a calm spread over the entire convention, so that the result might have been heard in the furthermost corner, and Murphy whispered. When the New Yorker snapped out the fact that "New York votes for Woodrow Wilson," there was a yell that fairly rattled the rafters.

The 46th ballot stood: Clark 84, Wilson 990, Harmon 12, absent 2.

At an early hour this morning Governor Marshall of Indiana was chosen as vice-presidential candidate.

The convention became a love-feast at night when it assembled to select a running mate for Governor Woodrow Wilson. The intense bitterness of the past week seemed to have disappeared.

The suggestion of Champ Clark for second place on the ticket was the feature of the evening's performance. The sentiment of the convention was strongly in favor of giving the Speaker the place if he would accept it. The Clark leaders held excited conferences and the Speaker himself was called on the telephone. Despite a speech by former Governor A. M. Dockery of Missouri, withdrawing Clark's name, and a telegraphed statement from the Speaker, saying he would not take the place, the convention was still hopeful of his acceptance and this was one of the reasons for the suspension of the vote on the nominations.

Champ Blames Bryan.

Washington, July 3.—Defeated after a hard battle, but satisfied with the fortunes of war, Senator Clark returned to the capital from Baltimore last night and repaired to his office to thunder his renunciation of the vice-presidency over the telephone as often as it was suggested to him. He issued a statement pledging his support to Governor Wilson and voicing his contempt for the tactics of William J. Bryan, whom he credits with his defeat. He said:

"I never scratched a Democratic ticket or bolted a Democratic nominee in my life. I shall not change the Democratic habit. I am too seasoned a soldier not to accept cheerfully the fortunes of war.

"I will support Governor Wilson with whatever power I possess and I hope he will be elected.

"I lost the nomination solely through the vile and malicious slanders of Colonel William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska. True, these slanders were by innuendo and insinuation, but they were no less deadly for that reason."

Plot to Kill Kitchener.

London, July 3.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—A Daily Mail special from Cairo states that the British adviser to the Ministry of the Interior, public prosecutor and commandant of the Cairo police, conferred with Lord Kitchener yesterday morning. It is understood the conference was connected with the discovery of an alleged conspiracy to assassinate Premier Kitchener and the Khedive, who is in London. Four persons have been arrested, and the investigation is being continued.

Methodist Minister Dead at Barrie.

Barrie, July 3.—Rev. Wm. Thornley, a retired Methodist minister, died here very suddenly yesterday shortly after breakfast, death being due to acute indigestion. He was in his 74th year. His wife and daughter at home survive him. Rev. A. K. Burks, of Dundas, is a nephew. Interment takes places at Newmarket on Thursday.

LABORITES GIVE WARNING

Special to the Review.

New York, July 3.—A cable to the Tribune from London says the Asquith government has been informed by the labor party that if they persist in the intention of contesting the Hanley bye-election the laborites will visit Hanley in a body during the whole campaign, and thus withdraw forty votes from the Commons. The loss of the labor vote on a motion of importance would imperil the existence of the cabinet, and the government in consequence is facing a crisis.

POLICE COURT

Woman Charged With Keeping Disorderly House Remanded for One Week.

Mrs. Welch shed tears like a summer shower in police court this morning. Five minutes later she commenced to ogle a cop. The charge against her was of keeping a disorderly house at 520 Elm street.

"I'm guilty your Lordship" she said, "but its my first offence, Let me go on suspended sentence."

A hard luck story followed.

CHILDREN NEGLECTED

High County Constable Cochrane, told of the woman's neglect of her five little children. Since their mother's arrest they have been cared for at the Shelter. The five little ones toddled into court, three of them noticeably pretty. They watched proceedings with wondering eyes.

Mrs. Welch claimed drink as the cause of her downfall. She has been imbibing heavily of late.

"There is no chance at all, for the children," said Mr. Cochrane.

HUSBAND IS ILL

Detective Newhall told of the shameful conditions that prevailed in the house where the woman resided when she was arrested. Her husband is ill in the hospital.

When arrested she was drunk and violent. She drew a knife that night and threatened to stab herself.

She was remanded for a week and the children sent back to the Shelter, after being kissed good-bye by their mother, amid sobs of grief.

Five minutes later, Mrs. Welch came back into court on some pretext with her face wreathed in smiles.

Mrs. O'Brien, aged, helpless and harmless, but subject to temporary hallucinations, was in court. She has been in the House of Providence for some time. She has no means, and the jail is no place for her.

Finally she was consigned to the care of St. Joseph's Hospital, East City.

THE HEALTH ACT

James Clancy was charged with a breach of the Health Act, in not having fertilising manure removed, or placed in proper receptacles. It appears that farmers who promised to remove it, had failed to do so.

The work was ordered to be done as quickly as possible.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF REGINA DISASTER DIES IN HOSPITAL KNOWN DEAD NOW THIRTY

"Times" on Borden.

London, July 3.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Times' principal editorial yesterday was devoted to Premier Borden's visit. It says he comes not as a party leader, but as the foremost spokesman of the great principle of faith reasserted by the Canadian people last autumn to remain masters of their own destiny beneath the British flag, which awoke here as deep and instructive a response as the despatch of the colonial contingents to the South African war.

Discussing the naval aspects of the visits, The Times urges that action must not be deferred in favor merely of temporary expedients and hopes for some means of joint consultation and control, proving the principle inaugurated at last year's conference to be continuous.

Napoli is Remanded.

Toronto, July 3.—Joseph Napoli, the young Italian charged with the murder of John Masternak at the Humber over a week ago, appeared in the police court again yesterday, but was given another remand. He apparently suffered from headache caused from the wounds he received in the fight. All through the hearing he held his swathed head in his hands.

Snow in New Brunswick.

Moncton, N.B., July 3.—A severe hailstorm passed over Hillsboro on Sunday. Chartersville, near here, had enough to make sleighing almost possible. In Moncton a few flakes of snow were visible, and Campbellton reports a slight flurry of snow.

INQUIRY AT END

Report Will be Made Within Reasonable Time Says Lord Mersey.

Special to the Review.

London, July 3.—The Board of Trade inquiry into the Titanic disaster concluded this morning when Lord Mersey, presiding judge, without setting a definite date announcnounced the report would be produced within a "reasonable time." Sir Rufus Isaacs, attorney general, in his closing speech intimated that he had tried in vain to find an excuse for Capt. Lord of the Californian not coming to the rescue. During thirty-six sessions of court, ninety-eight witnesses have been examined and over twenty-five thousand questions were asked.

The serum is not curative, but preventative, and can only be used when administered to healthy animals.

ASK INCREASE OF $9.00 PER WEEK

At a meeting of Toronto Typographical Union No. 91 Friday evening the members decided to reject an offer made by the Toronto newspaper proprietors of the city and seek local arbitration, failing which they will carry the matter to the National Board. The men employed on the morning papers of the city are asking a wage of $30 per week, an increase of nine dollars, and on the evening papers $27 a week, an increase of eight dollars per week.

Great Gangs of Workmen Are at the Task of Clearing Away the Debris and City is Preparing to Rebuild Ruined Buildings—Boy in a Canoe is Blown Three-Quarters of a Mile Ashore.

Regina, July 3.—The list of those known to have lost their lives as a result of the cyclone of Sunday, has increased to 30 by the death of Ida McDougall at the General Hospital.

The banks are coming to the aid of the business men and have prevented paralysis by extending the necessary credits. Many men worth a quarter of a million last week are practically penniless to-day. What accounts they have are buried beneath tons of wreckage. Th Manitoba Government yesterday added $10,000 to the relief fund and from as far south as Chicago, and as far east as Halifax, a stream of money is pouring in.

The work of clearing away the debris of the disaster is proceeding well. While the task is gigantic, hundreds of workmen are engaged at it and already some semblance of order is being evolved from the chaos. Good work is being done in the repairing of the damaged residences capable of being made habitable. Over 700 carpenter are already at work and more are coming into the city. Sixty cents and over an hour is being paid and even at that figure enough men are not to be had.

Throughout the day the Canadian Pacific Railway has had a large gang at work erecting new freight sheds, operations being continued into the night, and the large temporary structure is now almost completed.

Early yesterday afternoon the report spread that when the Metropolitan Methodist Church collapsed there were some seven or eight people inside, who had sought shelter from the storm. With a crowd of some 3,000 spectators around the ruins at a distance, kept back by the militia, 100 men started to dig into the ruins.

When darkness came work was continued to a late hour by lamplight, but so far without result. A woman's hat and handkerchief were discovered and a live chicken, but no human beings. Operations will be resumed to-day.

A special committee of 100 citizens have been engaged throughout the day making a canvas of the destroyed area, with a view to having an official record of the people affected.

Another committee of contractors have been engaged in compiling estimates of the damage done and it is expected that the figures will be available by to-morrow. With these statistics to work on the authorities will be in a better position to make arrangements for the necessary financing required for rebuilding.

J. J. Bryan, manager of the local branch of the Tudhope-Anderson Co., was sitting in his office with Mr. Ingram, a commercial traveler, when the storm struck the building. The former was struck down to his death before the eyes of his companion, while the latter escaped unscathed.

It has been learned that Mrs. Mary Shaw, wife of S. D. Shaw of this city, was formerly of Elgin, Ont.

Several of the dead were from England.

C. Dale, formerly of Toronto, now a resident of Regina, with the Canada Permanent, banking and financial firm, is reported to have had a miraculous escape from death. He was out on Wascana Lake in a canoe on Sunday afternoon, when the storm dropped suddenly, picked up Dale and the canoe, and deposited both safe ashore. It has been ascertained from one of his people that George Marshall, a ten-year-old lad, was picked up in Victoria square with a fractured thigh and minor injuries, after being carried with the canoe all the way from the lake, three-quarters of a mile away.

One of the most pathetic sights at the Grey Nuns' Hospital is the family of G. McDougall. Mrs. McDougall rests on a bed and around her are three little daughters, Gribs, Marvel and Barbara. The four of them are suffering from bruises, although no bones are broken, there are gashes all over their bodies. At the first intimation of the cyclone Mrs. McDougall ran out of the house with a younger child in her arms. The side of the house fell on her as she was going through the door and she was pinned down by some timber. The little child was blown away from her and has been located at the home of Mrs. Cameron. Of all the family, only one son escaped injury.

In James Hindson's home nine people sat pinned in their rooms. Frank Hudson was in one of the upper rooms and was apparently instantly killed by falling brick, while Bob Edgar, his chum, who was standing beside him, was untouched. James Hudson is badly hurt, with slight hopes of his recovery.

Mrs. Guthrie, who came from Peterboro, and her two grown-up daughters were living in a small cottage next door to the McCallums. There is no sign of the cottage to-day. Miss Ella Guthrie was instantly killed in bed while asleep. Mr. Guthrie's collarbone was broken, and Miss Annie Guthrie is in the hospital with a badly injured back.

SOUR RISINGS FROM STOMACH

Those Who Experience Fullness and Pain After Meals, Stomach Disorders, and Indigestion, Should Read Below.

"When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," writes Mr. E. P. Dawkins, of Port Richmond. "I was weak for a long time, but well enough to work until spring. But something went wrong with my bowels, for I had to use salts or physic all the time. My stomach kept sour, and always after eating there was pain and fulness, and all the symptoms of intestinal indigestion. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of hurting, like other pills, they acted very mildly, and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and feel so glad that I have found a mild yet certain remedy. To-day I am well—no pain, no sour stomach, a good appetite, able to digest anything. This is a whole lot of good for one medicine to do, and I can say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best pills, and my letter, I am sure, proves it."

THE QUEBEC CONGRESS

The great feature of the Congress at Quebec was the long expected address of Henri Bourassa and the event was pulled off with all the spectacular accompaniments for which that versatile gentleman is famous. Entering the room where the convention was in session amid a perfect cyclone of applause, he made obeisance to all the church dignitaries on the platform, kneeling before some and kissing the hands of others.

The address that followed dealt entirely with the great subject before the Congress, the perpritation of the French language and the orator would have us believe that the destiny of Canada as well as the future of the French race is involved in the solution of this question. His statement that if the French are allowed to retain their language they will remain true to British institutions but if they are not permitted to do so they will cast in their lot with their compatriots in the United States is a threat over which no attempt was made to place the gauziest kind of a veil. We are not told, in the event of such a change of allegiance what Mr. Bourassa's people would receive in the way of concessions and this is difficult to determine in the light of the fact that in no State of the American Union is state and furnished for the perpetuation of any but the English language.

The speaker said the Scotch who have settled in Canada have lost their nationality because they have lost their language. This is true only in a limited sense. There are hundreds of Scotch families in Ontario to-day whose forbears when they first reached Canadian shores from the Highlands of Scotland were unable to speak or understand a single syllable of anything but the Gaelic tongue. These settlers not only applied themselves to the mastery of the English language but in a majority of cases their children were discouraged to acquire the speech of their parents as something that would be useless to them in the future and no demand was ever made that the program of study in our public schools, much too complex perhaps, as it is, should be further burdened by the addition of a course in a foreign language. Thus in the second generation the use of and all knowledge of the Gaelic has practically died out, but the national character of the Scotch race remains as marked as ever. No one regrets this condition, unless, indeed, Mr. Bourassa is sincere in his assertion that it is to be considered as a misfortune.

The French race, as represented by the delegates at the Congress, are assuming a position of defiance and defence where there is really no cause for alarm. No one is making a fight upon any rights, either as regards religion or language, which may have been conferred upon them by the British North American Act at the time of the Confederation of the Provinces. There may be differences in the interpretation of the Act which the courts are called upon to decide from time to time and these decisions are always subject to review by the highest judicial body in England. While the Act of Confederation remains in force Ontario at least is willing to abide by its provisions and to recognize any rights which under it are assured the people in another province. However, the management of her own affairs and the regulation of her school system is something that belongs to Ontario's jurisdiction alone and surely by this time any other province has learned enough of the temper of the people of this province to realize that no interference on the part of outside parties will be tolerated.

So far no reason has been advanced by the Congress for the perpetuation of the French language than sentimental ones and patriotic fictions are invented by each succeeding orator. One speaker deplored the persecution of the French by the Irish. It may be, however, that the former have brought upon themselves any trouble of this kind by being themselves the first aggressors. The papers which represent the recognized church of Quebec, even those published in Ontario, are filled in every issue with hyperboles of defiance to those of different religious creed.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Our local contemporaries have printed letters indited by Mr. R. C. Strickland and by Mr. J. H. Burnham, M. P. It is the general opinion that remounting political linen in public is creditable neither to the linen nor to the laundry.

Governor Wilson is the choice of the Democratic party for president. He is a clean man without a stain on his record, which has not been written, so far as Canada is concerned, since two or three generations have passed away.

Governor Wilson has thrown bouquets at Canada. He believes that the banking system and other social problems are the occasion of the day. On the greater platform of what is practically free trade he is in error, and it is this issue which will give him a back seat in the election next November.

THE VIGILANT PATROLMAN

Paper Read by Chief Thompson at Brantford Convention

The following is a paper read by Chief Thompson, at the Convention of Ontario Chief Constables, now in session at Brantford.

In these days and times when we find the plotting criminal's mind always at work in order to evade the officer and the law, there is a constant necessity for the vigilant and observing patrolman. A patrolman should become acquainted by sight as far as possible, with persons living and doing business on his beat, their habits and characteristics, and note in his memorandum book anything of suspicious nature regarding their habits or movements.

Special notice should be taken of strangers passing over or loitering on his beat, note how they are dressed the distinctive marks on their person or clothing, or anything about them that is out of the ordinary.

A patrolman should also familiarize himself with the location of safes and cash registers in the stores on his beat, particularly those that can be seen from the street, and when the stores are closed, observe the condition of such safes and cash registers every time he passes over his beat. By following out this practice, a patrolman becomes more vigilant and observing in his duties.

He should also become acquainted with the hours of opening and closing of the stores on his beat and those that are lighted by night. If found unlighted, he should summons a patrolman from an adjoining beat and make full investigations to learn the cause, promptly notify the station house of any suspicious circumstances and enter all in his memorandum book.

One of the chief motives of a patrolman, should be promotion. He should use every opportunity for improving his education, and qualify himself for his office, then the office seeks the man rather than the man the office. When you find a constable or patrolman who has settled down to the idea that by making a few arrests or reporting a case occasionally he can hold his position and wear the uniform of a private all the days of this life, we usually find a man that will not be of much service as an officer. But in order to produce a vigilant and efficient patrolman, we require proper instructions and proper material put before them that they may give thought to their calling and realize that brains properly applied, are far-reaching and effective.

I desire to offer a few suggestions which I think will develop the mind and intelligence of the patrolman—

1. That every municipality should have their by-laws properly consolidated and placed in the station house; also that a full library of the statutes of our country, especially those pertaining to police duties should be placed in the station house for the use of the constables at all times; in order that they become thoroughly versed and acquainted with them. This, I contend, would make the mind more applicable when the patrolman finds it necessary for him to act. Then the patrolman has no excuse to offer for negligence of duty.

We must also admit that good men are entitled to fair play, and a certain amount of courtesy on the part of their superior officers. This, I contend, can be given without interfering with the ends of good discipline.

In order that we may be able to retain the services of good men, the Chief Constable should endeavor to equip his men with the very best of clothing and accoutrements that are possible can get, that they may appear clean and neat while on duty. If this is done by the Chief Constable the patrolman again has no excuse to offer for not appearing smart and a credit to his city or town.

In order to raise our departments to the highest standards of efficiency cleanliness should be our watchword. Cleanliness in person, cleanliness in word and character. The Chief Constable should also endeavor to secure for his patrolman the very highest wages that he can possibly get. In return for this he is entitled to the confidence and best service that each man can give, for after all is said. I think that we are all free to admit that the patrolman that is faithful and vigilant in his work and keeps his beat or district free from crime is the efficient patrolman.

A constable should always remember that he is on the King's service, and should so conduct himself that his integrity and honor would never be questioned. Finally, remember that the people will accord to you according to your worth. Every patrolman should then aim to be worthy.

Respectfully yours,
D. THOMPSON,
Chief Constable.

A Baseball Romance

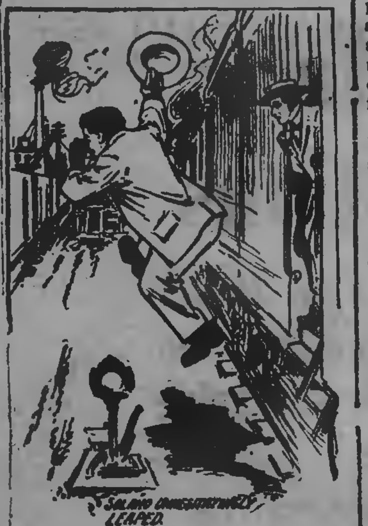
"Subway train might be a good place to look at that, whatever it is," said Ramon, and they walked sturdily across town till the kiosks of a subway station met their view. As they descended the stairs the clangor of an approaching train was heard. Putting on a burst of speed they scurried forward, slapped their coins upon the ticket-window, and leaped upon a car without the fraction of a second to spare.

Once seated and their breath recovered, they bent over the strangely delivered letter. Inside the envelope was one small sheet of note-paper, and across the sheet was written, in Brockett's own cipher:

"WP TC Fin Pos W SH AB SH 2BH HR E E HR E 2BH BB SH PO PO PO TC TC BA SB TC W BA SH PO PO WP."

"Which reads," translated Brockett, "You are beginning well—look out for Kelly."



SOLANO UNCEREMONIOUSLY LEAPED.

CHAPTER IX.

"Outside the gentleman mentioned in the song, and a number of good ball-players," said Solano, "I never heard of any Kellys. There appears to be something doing, Harry."

"That is evident at first sight," responded Brockett. "It looks as if both our friends and our enemies were hanging to our track. As far as tracing us is concerned, I'd have thought it rather harder for our friends to keep close watch over us than either the Japanese or the big German."

"I can figure out," commented Solano, "just how sheer luck would help anyone to locate us in Jersey City. Anybody who knew our tastes and proclivities would most naturally take a chance of finding us at the ball park, and the Iron Man's call of your name might just happen to reach the ears of whatever person was trying to keep in touch."

"I don't wish Joe McGinnity any harm," growled Brockett, "but I won't suicide if his club gets shut out twenty-nine straight games and winds up in eighth position. What business has he got with such a memory? Still, that's all over now. This Kelly proposition is what's worrying little Harry."

"Possibly," suggested the Cuban, "the chief isn't taking such long chances as we imagined, especially when it's a case of entrusting important messages to a couple of boys. His arm is long, his eye is pretty nearly everywhere, and he has the best operatives of both the big detective agencies at his call. In all probability, he has men detailed to watch out for us, and see that we don't run our heads into any special danger. That would account for the Kelly warning and the use of your own cipher."

"That seems the only logical explanation," admitted Brockett. "It's some comfort, then, to know that we are under powerful protection, but it makes me feel rather small just the same."

"Plenty of time yet," philosophized the Latin. "We will have all the adventures on our own hook, and without any protection, that are coming to us. Wait and see."

The boys left the subway two stations further on, doubled up a short, slanting street, turned into another, running at almost a V-shaped angle, and landed in a tiny triangle of vacant ground, with an old hotel to the south, a row of worn and shabby stone houses to the north, and the bright lights of Broadway only a short walk to the east. Taking possession of a bench in the little park, they proceeded to hold a council of war, confident that, even in the gathering night no spy could approach them close enough to cause annoyance.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

How Mrs. Reed of Peoria, Ill., Escaped The Surgeon's Knife.

Peoria, Ill.—"I wish to let every one know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. For two years I suffered. The doctor said I had a tumor and the only remedy was the surgeon's knife. My mother bought me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am a well and healthy woman. For months I suffered from inflammation, and your Sanative Wash relieved me. I am glad to tell anyone what your medicines have done for me. You can use my testimonial in any way you wish, and I will be glad to answer letters."—Mrs. CHRISTINA REED, 105 Mound St., Peoria, Ill.

Mrs. Lynch Also Avoided Operation.

Jessup, Pa.—"After the birth of my fourth child, I had severe organic inflammation. I would have such terrible pains that it did not seem as though I could stand it. This kept up for three long months, until two doctors decided that an operation was needed.

"Then one of my friends recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after taking it for two months I was a well woman."—Mrs. JOSEPH A. LYNCH, Jessup, Pa.

Women who suffer from female ills should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one of the most successful remedies the world has ever known, before submitting to a surgical operation.

REGIMENTS ENJOYED THE TRIP HERE

Lieut.-Col. Clegg is in receipt of the following letters, which speak for themselves:

Kingston, Ont.,
July 2nd, 1912.

Lieut.-Col. E. B. Clegg,
57th Regiment,
Peterborough Ont.

My dear Col. Clegg,—

On behalf of the officers and men of my regiment. I desire to convey to you and to your officers my appreciation of your kindness towards us.

Will you also convey to the Mayor our thanks for the good time afforded to our men by the citizens in general.

Personally I wish to express to yourself and to Mrs. Clegg our thanks for your thoughtfulness. I hope we shall have the pleasure of a visit from the 57th to Kingston next year.

Yours sincerely.
W. T. CUNNINGHAM, Lt.-Col.,
O.C. 14th Regt., P.W.O.R.

Brockville, July 2nd, 1912.

Lieut.-Col. E. B. Clegg,
57th Regiment,
Peterborough Ont.

My dear Col. Clegg,—

We arrived home at eight o'clock this morning, safe and sound, and the unanimous opinion is that the regiment never had such a delightful outing before, and that the 57th are crackerjacks at entertaining as well as other things. I am quite sure that the enthusiastic way in which the men are talking would be pleasant for you, and your officers and men, to hear, and furthermore (the selfish side) I am satisfied that it will increase the popularity of our Regiment.

We were delayed a long time on our trip down owing to the engine of the 14th train breaking down, and we had to go to their assistance, and then had to remain while they got another block ahead of us with a new engine. However, every one was in good spirits and simply delighted with the trip, and we owe you and your officers and men many thanks.

Yours very truly,
W. S. BUELL.

Chamberlain Deplores Apathy.

London, July 3.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Austen Chamberlain, presiding at a luncheon in honor of Hon. George E. Foster at the Constitutional Club yesterday afternoon, said that they were engaged in an effort to link up the Dominion by a system of Imperial preference.

"We blush to think," he said, "that for a moment you were precluded from the hope that the Motherland itself should take part in such a commercial union, but for a moment only." (Loud cheers.) "Before long, however, we will have a different Government. Each bye-election reinforces the moral that before long there will be a Government that will grasp the hand you extended to us whose proudest duty it will be to cooperate with you in making these bonds of commercial union which will foster and cement the strength of the Empire.

DROWNINGS WERE AVERTED

Mr. John Jackson, tax collector, and his son had a miraculous escape from death by drowning in the locks at the Lindsay street bridge on Saturday last. Mr. Jackson was seeing through from the lower to the upper waters on the Scugog in his launch, "The Vivian." In doing so the bow of the boat caught fast in a crossbar on the gate, the result being that the influx of water caused the stern of the boat to go upward with the raising of the water, which precipitated father and son into the water.

The lockmaster, seeing the peril of the two men, jumped in also, and pulled the struggling parties into the launch.

Mr. Jackson, sr., was in an exhausted condition, and it was only his strength and presence of mind which saved him from drowning. His many Manvers friends were much relieved when it was learned that he escaped with a wetting, as it had been reported around Bethany that Mr. Jackson was lost.

Warehouses For G.T.R.

Montreal, July 3.—The organization of a company to establish a chain of terminal warehouses from Montreal to the Pacific coast, in connection with the Grand Trunk and G.T.P. Railway systems, was announced yesterday.

The orginzation of the company, which will be known as the Grand Trunk Terminal Warehouse Co., Ltd., follows logically on the problems of railroad traffic congestion arising from the unparalleled activity in all lines of business throughout Canada. Contracts have been entered into between the new company and the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific, by which the new company undertakes to establish and operate a chain of warehouses across Canada, the railroad companies on the other hand, agreeing to turn over to the new company all its warehousing business at the various points for a period of thirty years.

The capital of the company will be $10,000,000 bonds, of which $5,000,000 will be issued at the present time, and $6,500,000 common stock.

DINSDALE — ESSON

On Monday, July 1st, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Esson, was the scene of a very pretty occasion when the second daughter, Margaret, became the bride of Mr. Stanley Dinsdale of Toronto. Only a few immediate friends were present.

The bride, who was assisted by her youngest sister, Gladys, as flower girl, entered the parlor to Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Reesor, of Markham.

The bride who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white silk-striepd voile, and lace, with veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair fern. The flower girl was dressed in white shadow embroidery and carried the ring in a basket of orange blossoms.

After a dainty wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Dinsdale left for Toronto where they will reside. The bride's going away dress was of blue silk, with white picture hat, tan coat and gloves to match.

FITZGERALD'S RINK WON SILVER CUP AT OSHAWA

There were two rinks from Peterborough and one from Keene played in Oshawa to compete for the McLaughlin Silver Cup, on the holiday. This cup is competed for annually and is donated by the McLaughlin Motor Car Company and its value is about $150.

The rink from Peterborough which won the silver cup, consisted of the following players:

J. Maynard, Lead.
T. E. Pratt, Second.
Dr. G. Marshall, Vice-Skip.
J. D. A. Fitzgerald, Skip.

Each player of the winning team received a cut glass water set. Their opponents were easily beaten, the points being [illegible] to 25.

R. M. Waddell's rink made an excellent showing being defeated in their Cup games by one shot each time. The players were:

Arthur Belleghem, Lead.
D. H. Moore, Second.
J. H. Renwick, Vice-Skip.
R. M. Waddell, Skip.

The Keene team deserves great credit for their showing. They were defeated by Fitzgerald's rink by 7 points. Considering the smallness of the club, their standard was excellent. They won the second prize. Their rink was composed of:

W. Bell, Lead.
J. Reid, Second
M. Kenneally, Vice-Skip.
Dr. McWilliams, Skip.

CAPS AND SENATORS IN THIRTEEN INNING BATTLE

Final Struggle of the Series Called When Teams Were Tied at 6-6—Swartz and Beard Had Big Clouts—Double Header To-morrow at 2.30 and 4.30.

Louie Cook and Company of Ottawa arrived in town this morning with the White Caps and the two teams are playing at Riverside Park this afternoon. Two games will be pulled off to-morrow afternoon. Umpire Cancella accompanied the teams and will handle the indicator. Cancella had a hot time in Ottawa yesterday when he had to send out a distress call to the home club, for police protection, some of his decisions not giving satisfaction to the players.

The statistics of yesterday's struggle tell an interesting story. Jimmie Swartz had a triple and Beard a home run and a double. It went thirteen innings.

The dispatch from Ottawa says—

The Ottawa and Peterboro baseball teams played a sensational thirteen-inning tie this afternoon. In the four extra innings, not a score was registered. In the thirteenth Callahan reached third on a hit, a sacrifice and an error but with Draper up he tried to steal home, and was retired. Umpire Cancella then called the game on account of darkness. The game lasted three hours. The score—

DAIRIES TO RECEIVE VISITS FROM THE SANITARY INSPECTOR

$600 Grant to Horticultural Society — Garbage By-law is Amended—T. L. Anderson Gets Contract of Firemen's Uniforms.

The contract for supplying the firemen's suits was awarded to T. L. Anderson by the City Council last evening at $586.00. The difference between his price and that of Mr. Hall was just $4, and Ald. Johnston reported that investigation showed the quality of goods to be identical.

Ald. Johnston's motion that Mr. Anderson be given the contract carried.

A by-law authorizing the Peterborough Utility Trust to convey to the Protestant Home a small strip of land passed its several readings, also a by-law authorizing the construction of cement walks.

The garbage by-law was changed a little, and now calls for the providing of galvanized receptacles for the reception of garbage, having movable lids. Only garbage shall be deposited therein, not ashes, etc., the new regulation to hold good in the area outlined in the by-law where collections are made. Receptacles are required to be left on the side of the street except in such cases authorized by the Sanitary Inspector and the Property Committee when they may be left at places approved by the above mentioned officers.

Ald. Anderson's by-law authorizing the grant of $600 to the Peterborough Horticultural Society passed its three readings without question.

Ald. Gordon at this juncture introduced a resolution asking that $150 be granted for the inspection of milk dairies, the money to be expended under the direction of the M. H. O. Now that the hot season was approaching Ald. Gordon contended that it was very necessary that proper attention should be given to the handling of milk.

The resolution was strongly opposed by the chairman of the Board of Works on the ground that if they started this fad business it would be hard to say where they would wind up. He furthermore considered it just as essential to examine the farmers' premises from which butter came to the market, and of which, he claimed, there was no inspection made.

Ald. Gillespie said that if the city was going to have a Sanitary Inspector there was nothing so important for him to devote his energies to as the inspection of milk dairies. As far as the inspection of cattle was concerned that was done by Government appointees.

Ald. Morgan here interposed a query as to the qualifications of the Sanitary Inspector to make the inspections requested.

Ald. Gordon replied that he was as much qualified as Ald. Morgan's candidate for the position was, namely, Mr. Mcharry.

Mayor Bradburn remarked that while the Sanitary Inspector might be unable to inspect cattle, he could certainly inspect the premises where they are kept and the dairy appliances used.

Ald. Johnston thought that the Sanitary Inspector had enough on his hands at the present time, straightening out the garbage question for the city. Later on he could take up the dairy inspection, perhaps.

Ald. Anderson expressed himself as being in sympathy with Ald. Gordon's idea. The question uppermost in his mind was, where was the money to be obtained from. It might be possible to have the Sanitary Inspector go out and inspect the dairies and the Council undertake to provide the livery expense bill. This suggestion was agreed to by Ald. Gillespie and Gordon.

In future the Sanitary Inspector will make periodical visits to dairies from which milk is supplied to Peterborough.

HIGH HONOR FOR MISS HALLIHAN AT LONDON

The many friends of Miss Lavina Hallihan, who is pursuing a musical course at London, England, will be interested to learn from a London publication that Miss Hallihan was one of eight young ladies in the Canadian Stall in connection with the Country Fair held in the Royal Botanical Gardens, in aid of 'Our Dumb Friends' League, (a Society for the encouragement of kindness to animals.)

The Fair had as patrons Queen Alexandra, the Lord Mayor and the leading men and women of London. The official head of the Canadian Stall was H.R.H. the Duchess of Connaught, and those in charge were the Marchioness of Donegal, Mrs. G. A. Arthurs and Miss Margaret George. Among others in charge of stalls were the Countess of Warwick, the Lady Malcolm, of Poltalloch and Mrs. George Cornwallis-West.

COMMUNICATIONS TO THE COUNCIL

Sacred Heart Church Walls Endangered—A Paving Proposition.

A considerable number of communications were read at the City Council meeting last evening.

City Solicitor Hall wrote the Council regarding the result of his submission of the local train anti-whistling by-law, to the solicitors of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Board of Railway Commissioners requested to be informed how the by-law worked after it had been in operation for a sufficiently long enough period to judge.

CONCRETE PAVEMENT.

W. H. Lytle addressed a lengthy letter to the Board, outlining the advantages of an all concrete pavement. He offered to construct pavement on Chambers street at $1.15 per square yard.

No action was taken in regard to the request for financial aid for the Cartier Monument Fund.

The superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway wrote, stating that the Company could not remove the three poles at the corner of Charlotte and George streets, as they were the property of the C.P.R. Telegraph Company.

These are the poles that are holding back the paving of George St.

PLANS FOR NEW GATES.

From P. J. Lynch, superintendent of the Grand Trunk, enclosing plans for the location of gates at King and Sherbrooke streets, and also proposed changes in the Company's tracks.

ACTION FOR DAMAGES.

From Peck, Kerr & McElderry, containing notice of summons in the suit of the Campbell Flour Mills Co., against the city for $60 damage to truck on George street.

From Peck, Kerr & McElderry, saying that unless advised at an early date, that the City Council has adopted a practical scheme for the removal of sewage from the river, they shall be compelled to institute proceedings.

From D. O'Connell, stating that the sinking of the [illegible] at the corner of Romaine and Aylmer streets, adjacent to the manhole, threatens the foundations and stability of the Sacred Heart Church walls.

From T. Q. Quartermaine, asking for two weeks' holidays.

SAW MILL AT HALIBURTON IS LOST BY FIRE

Early Sunday morning the village of Haliburton was aroused by the cries of the people who had discovered that the large saw and shingle mill of the Wm. Laking Co. was on fire.

The mill was one of the finest in the north country and cost some $20,000 when built, and large additions had been added since.

The glare of the fire could be seen for miles, the flames being fanned by a gale of wind, and at one time the village was in danger of being wiped out by flying cinders, which set fire to nearly every house, but the heroic efforts of the village bucket brigade kept the fire confined to the mill.

The loss will be a severe one to the villagers as the mill employed about sixty hands during seven months of the year, and was, at the time of the fire being rushed to its full capacity.

Haliburton village has been very unlucky lately as this is the second mill to be burnt inside of a year, Austin Bros.' plant having been wiped out last September. Mr. Laking's loss will be very large, and the insurance carried is reported at $8,000. —Warder.

WEDDING BELLS

ELNES—WATERMAN

On Friday, June 21st, at "Lowland" Fraserville, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waterman, the marriage took place, of their daughter, Janet Evelyn, to Mr. Orville H. Elnes of Claresholm, Alberta.

The ceremony was conducted by Rev. F. W. White, Fraserville, in the drawing room, which was prettily decorated with ferns and marguerittes. The bridal party stood at one end, which was banked with potted ferns and flowers under a festoon of evergreens.

The bride wore a becoming gown of embroidered mull over silk and carried a sheaf of white roses, and lily of the valley, tied with tulle streamers.

Miss Marion Dawson, a cousin of the bride, made a charming little flower girl with her basket of pink carnations.

The bride's sister, Miss Ethel, played the wedding music and after the ceremony, Mrs. Fred Waterman and Miss Smithson of Bailieboro, both rendered solos.

After dejeuner, Mr. and Mrs. Elnes left by C. P. R. for Toronto and points in Western Ontario.

They will reside in Claresholm, Alta.

The bride received many costly and useful gifts. Of interest was a clock presented by the organized Bible class of Fraserville Methodist church, of which Miss Waterman was president.

James Irwin of Montreal has been appointed civil engineer for the Kingston & Pembroke Railway.

HE ONLY TOLD HALF TRUTHS; SIR JAMES DEALS SEVERELY WITH MR. ROWELL'S SPEECH

The Liberal Leader Told Only Part of the Story to the Gathering In London and Left a False Impression, Says Premier—Sir James Not Impressed With the Enthusiastic Assembly of 3,000.

Toronto, July 4.—When asked yesterday for a few observations regarding the meeting in London on the holiday which was addressed by N. W. Rowell, K.C., leader of the Opposition, on the temperance question, Sir James Whitney said:

"There are people who would never dream of such a thing as telling part of a story to the public, which would be sure to carry with it an incorrect understanding of the truth, and not telling the truth openly and boldly. Mr. Rowell, I am afraid, is not one of these people.

"There is nothing to be said regarding the statements of Mr. Rowell. Every political speaker contends that he is right and his proposition should be acquiesced in, and calls upon everybody to acquiesce to it.

"I do not care to comment on his initial summer meeting. It was held in the city of London, which has a population of about 50,000, in the centre of thickly populated counties. Advantage was taken of the holiday and bands were on hand. But with all these favorable conditions nearly 3,000, according to The Globe, assembled. I also observed what was very startling, namely, the absence at the meeting of all the prominent men of the Liberal party in London and vicinity. It was hardly fair treatment to mete out to Mr. Rowell.

"I was also sorry to observe the misrepresentations of which Mr. Rowell was guilty in his statements about club licenses. The Globe put these words into his mouth: 'There were no club licenses in Ontario when the present Government came into power. And there will be no more when they get out.'

"He also said that many clubs were simply drinking places, the intention of the statement evidently being to convey the impression that before our advent into power clubs had no power to sell intoxicating liquors. But Mr. Rowell failed to tell the people that the clubs, which were in existence when we came into power, were acting under charters granted by our predecessors, and these charters gave them power to sell intoxicating liquors. I never heard Mr. Rowell kicking up a row with the old Government on this ground.

"After we came into power we compelled these clubs, empowered by their charters to sell liquor, to take out licenses in addition and to pay for the licenses. And we issued charters to a number of clubs ourselves, but in every case they were obliged to take out licenses and pay for them."

Special to the Review.

Henley-on-Thames, July 4.—In one of the preliminary heats of the Grand Challenge Cup of Henley Regatta to-day the Sydney Rowing Club, of New South Wales beat Argonaut Rowing Club of Toronto by one length and a quarter. Time 4 min. and 7 sec.

Battle In Mexico.

At the Rebel Front, Bachimba, Mexico, July 4.—Shells from the artillery of the Federal forces began falling near the hills where the rebels are entrenched, two miles from Bachimba, shortly after 11 a.m. yesterday. At the same time the Federal cavalry, in three columns, began moving up slowly.

Shortly before noon the shelling by the Federals became more frequent, the rebels finally answering with their artillery, while rebel sharpshooters waited for the Federal cavalry to move into range.

The Federal shells were not well placed at the opening of the battle and the rebels held their position easily.

Three Killed In Auto Smash.

Duluth, Minn., July 4.—Life was instantly crushed from the body of Mrs. William White, Duluth; Miss Gladys Richardson, Bridgeport, Conn., and Langford Maddigan, Duluth, a chauffeur, at about midnight on a country pike near Duluth, when a touring car skidded from the road, at an abrupt turn and upset, pinioning its occupants beneath. William White, Jr., was seriously injured about the back and Miss Nannie Turrish, daughter of a wealthy lumberman, lay apparently lifeless until carried to a nearby farmhouse where she was resuscitated. Charles Fitzgerald was thrown clear of the wreckage and escaped without injury.

WOMAN ASLEEP FOR 25 DAYS

Detroit, Mich., July 4.—Asleep almost continuously for the past 25 days, waking only when aroused to take medicine and immediately falling back into a deep slumber, the case of Mrs. Harry McKinley, of Wood street, Tarentum, has defied the efforts of the doctors at the new Homeopathic Hospital, East End. Mrs. McKinley seemed a little brighter yesterday than she had been for some time, but the doctors in attendance confess themselves utterly at a loss to tell what turn the disease will take. They are inclined to blame it on headache powders which she took.

FAST EXPRESS CRASHED INTO STANDING PASSENGER TRAIN MANY BEING KILLED

Passenger Train Carried Home Comers for Independence Day Celebration Was Stalled Through Mishap to Freight Train—Thirty-four Bodies Taken From the Wreckage.

Special to the Review.

Corning, N.Y., July 4.—Twenty people were killed and fifty injured, many fatally, this morning, when an express train crashed into a westbound Delaware, Lackawanna and Western passenger train two miles east of this city. Most of the killed were in day coaches, but four Pullman passengers are among the dead. The passenger train, which runs from New York to Buffalo, and was filled largely with fourth of July homecomers, had been standing on the track for about twenty minutes, when the express, which carried no passengers, crashed into the rear while running at full speed. Two day coaches at the rear were hurled down an embankment and the locomotive plunged half way through the rear Pullman before coming to a stop. The accident, the cause of which is not yet explained, happened at 5.25 a.m. The bodies of the dead are laid along the embankment and covered by blankets from the Pullmans, and the injured not still in wreckage have been removed to the hospital. For a time fifty persons, many of them fatally injured, were lying on the floor of the emergency room of the hospital.

LATER.

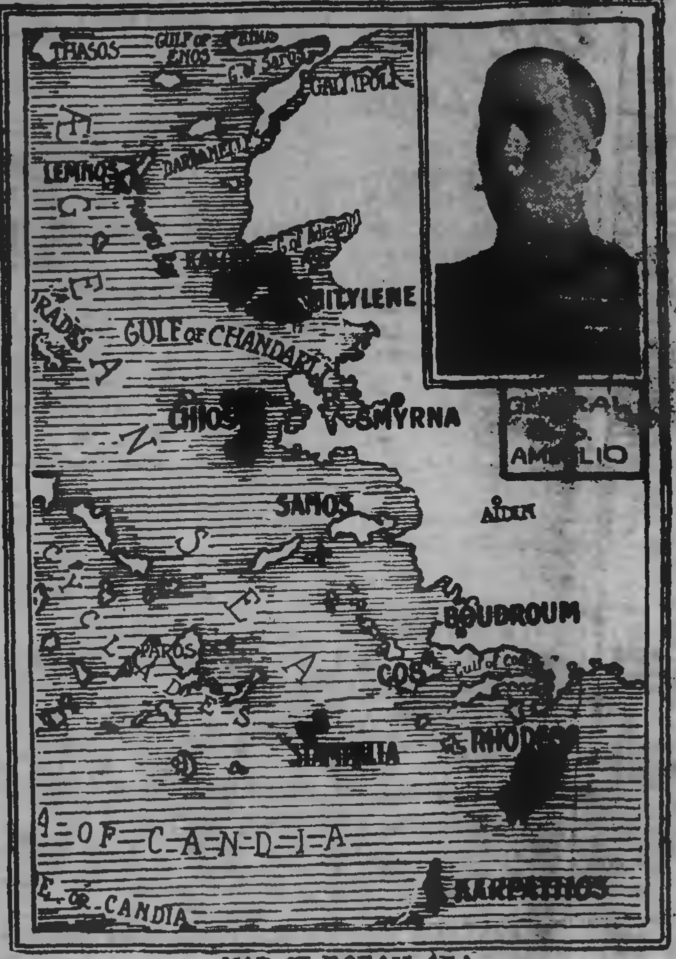
Corning, N.Y., July 4.—It has been learned that the passenger train was brought to a standstill by a freight stalled by the drawhead pulling out, and one of the passenger locomoties was assisting the freight to a siding out of way. Conductor Staples, of the passenger train, says he caused two blocks to be set against any westbound train. The death list, it is now believed, will run over forty. Thirty-four bodies have been taken out of the wreckage up to nine o-clock.

Corning, July 4.——The identification of the wreck victims is difficult, owing to the fact that most were undressed at the time the accident occurred. Identifications so far are:

John Zummer, Scranton, Pa.
George Laird, New York.
Antonio Nova, Cataret, N. J.
Mrs. Lillian Reynolds, Brooklyn.
William A. Armstrong, Hoboken, N. J.
Mrs. Lucy Settoducati, New York.

Among the unidentified is the body of a young woman married yesterday, her wedding ring bearing the inscription of "F. G. M. and A. B., July 3, 1912."

ITALY READY TO LAND SOLDIERS IN AEGEAN ISLANDS.



MAP OF AEGEAN SEA

The Italian fleet is concentrated off Stampalia with transports carrying a landing force of 20,000 men.

General Ameglio is leaving Rhodes, and it appears almost certain that operations are to be undertaken against Chios and subsequently Mitylene.

Since Italy carried the war into Turkish home waters, with a view to bringing the conflict to a speedy termination, the Ottoman flag has been lowered on about a dozen of the islands in the Aegean Sea, including Rhodes, the most important of the group, which was occupied by the Italians on May 5; Stampalia, captured on April 29; Symi, on May 20, and Cos, on the following day. Italy's determination to push to the full the advantage thus gained was shown by the issuance of an order forbidding access to the islands at night.

LONDON EXTENDING HEARTY WELCOME TO THE PREMIER

Canadian Prime Minister Will Arrive To-day In the Metropolis and Already the Papers Are Uniting In Cordial Greeting—Conference With Asquith and Churchill Will Be a Momentous One.

London, July 4.—Although the Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden does not arrive here until to-day, he is already being made the hero of the hour in the London press.

There is a happy forgetfulness of party divisions in the cordiality of the welcome, all the leading journals offer.

The Times leads off with the dignified assurance that if ever London owed a distinguished welcome she owes it to Mr. Borden, and decides that England eagerly awaits the opportunity to bear tribute to the cause he has maintained and the position he has won.

The Times goes on to herald Mr. Borden's consultations with Premier Asquith and Winston Churchill as leading up to the real reinforcement of the Empire's naval strength in the hour of great peril, and also to the devising of some means for joint conference and control.

The ministerial Daily News and Leader presents Mr. Borden to its readers as one who comes to the Mother Country with an unsullied professional and political record in Canada, and with a well-deserved reputation as a sincere servant of the state.

Everyone who meets him, adds the paper, will find him perfectly frank and perfectly fair. The News and Leader adds: "In political language, Mr. Borden is a Conservative in English political life. He is a quiet, handsome, good-humored gentleman, and too much of a man and a colonial to be the catspaw of any political caucus in the home country."

The Daily Mail hails Mr. Borden as a man who looks like leaving a great name in the history of the British Empire as the leader of England's new working partner." It adds:

"The five nations of the Empire will fight under one flag, and under one supreme direction properly representative of them all."

The Daily Express also declares Mr. Borden's visit will make Imperial history, and makes great play with Hon. Geo. E. Foster's telling message to England from Canada, delivered at a great gathering of peers and members of Parliament at the Constitutional Club yesterday, when he asked:

"Why give the children's bread to strangers?"

The Standard says: "The Imperial navy is coming. At present we have the royal navy, the fleets and squadrons of the King of the United Kingdom. The time is not far distant when they will be transferred into the navy of the Empire. Sentiment is growing in Canada to the height of national enthusiasm, and Canadian Ministers are here to consider the best means to give effect to it. As Mr. Foster said, in his fine speech at the Dominion Day banquet: "Canada is a little ashamed to sleep any longer in security behind the floating wall of steel provided and paid for by the people of the United Kingdom." Canadian spirit resents that position of inferiority, but if it be necessary to find some method by which Canada will retain sufficient control, whether the desired consummation be reached by giving the Dominion seats on the council of Imperial defence or by the creation of a board of admiralty for the whole Empire, or by other means. We shall know in due course; perhaps before the end of the present summer."

Bristol Welcomes Borden.

London, July 4.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Hon. R. L. Borden and colleagues arrived at Bristol to-day at 11 a.m., when they were welcomed by the mayor of Bristol and the president and members of the Chamber of Commerce.

The party are all well and had a pleasant voyage. Dominion Day was celebrated with great enthusiasm, the Premier and his three colleagues speaking at a patriotic concert on ship-board.

YOUNG GIRL IS MURDERED

Chesaning, Mich., July 4.—Merritt Parshall, 70 years of age and a lifetime resident of Chesaning, shot and instantly killed 16-year-old Anna Hoten yesterday and then blew the top of his head off.

Parshall had been considered an eccentric, and the only cause for the tragedy that has been advanced is that the slayer was not in his right mind.

Albany, N.Y., July 4.—The American Federation of Sex Hygiene was incorporated yesterday with the Secretary of State to operate throughout the country. The principal office will be in New York, and the purpose of the corporation is the voluntary education of the public in the physiology, and hygiene of sex, including the study and application of every means, educational, sanitary, moral and legislative for the prevention of vice and its diseases.

The eight persons were slain with an axe while in bed.

THIS LAD GOT THE HOOK

Special to the Review.

Prescott, July 4.—George Taylor, an Alexandria Bay lad, had a narrow escape from death yesterday when a fish hook attached to a piece of chocolate candy he was eating, lodged in his throat. Dr Forsyth managed to extract the hook with a pair of pinchers.

NEW RULES FOR WIRELESS

London, July 4.—The last official act of the International Radio Telegraph Conference yesterday was the decision to hold the next conference in five years at Washington. The recommendations agreed upon include:

Regulations to prevent interference in crowded areas and designed to make wireless telegraphy of the greatest possible use in saving life and property at sea, and making it also more valuable commercially.

Every hour all ships must remain silent for ten minutes listening to distress calls. The distressed ship shall control the magnetic field of her radius, and should many ships answer her distress call, she shall determine which is to remain silent, thereby avoiding confusion.

The following wave lengths were adopted for commercial business: Short and medium distances, 300 to 600 meters; longer distances, 1,800 meters. The military interests of Great Britain and France prevented the adoption of the American proposal for a general commercial wave length of 600 meters.

PROGRESSIVES FOR WILSON

Washington, July 4.—Several Progressive Republican Senators, conferring over the situation growing out of the Presidential nominations at Chicago and Baltimore, have voiced the opinion that a third party in their states was unnecessary. Their several opinions that electors in sympathy with former President Roosevelt will be on the Republican ticket in California, Washington, Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota and the Dakotas, among others.

None of the Progressive Senators here has announced any intention of leaving the Republican party.

New Party Launched.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 4.—A third political party was launched in Indiana yesterday, when Progressive Republicans, called from all over the state by Edwin M. Lee, former Republican state chairman, adopted resolutions condemning the Chicago convention and declaring they would not abide by its acts.

Provision was made for tickets in every county, as well as a state ticket. During the speeches Col. Roosevelt's name frequently brought forth cheers.

W. D. Headrick of Indianapolis and G. K. Stimson of Lafayette were the leading opponents of the third party idea. Mr. Stimson was a member of the resolutions committee and brought in a minority report against the third party.

Osborn Bolts Roosevelt.

Lansing, Mich., July 4.—Governor Chase S. Osborn, an ardent Roosevelt supporter, during the colonel's battle for the Republican Presidential nomination, yesterday issued a statement in which he declared his belief "that there is no necessity for a new political party." He also stated he hoped Roosevelt would not be a candidate.

"The issue is clearly joined for the people," said the governor in his statement. "It is Wall street vs. Wilson. Woodrow Wilson's character, temperament, preparation and fitness is above the high average of American Presidents. He is a Christian, a scholar, and a fearless citizen.

"Republicans can vote for Wilson without leaving their party or bolting. The real Reepublican party has no candidate for President this time."

Republicans Back Wilson.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 4.—The Minnesota Progressive Republican League will back Woodrow Wilson, Democrat, in his coming campaign, according to George S. Loftus, president of the league, in a statement yesterday.

"Woodrow Wilson represents our idea of progressivism," said Mr. Loftus. "There is no reason for us to join the third party movement, and neither can we support President Taft. We will work for Mr. Wilson in the state."

REBUILDING OPERATIONS ARE COMMENCED IN REGINA

Carpenters and Bricklayers Arriving in the City — Subscription Fund Totals $65,796.55.

Special to the Review.

Regina, July 4.—A complete canvass of the city has been made as to the necessity for relief, and found that immediate assistance was required for one hundred families, but it is expected more will be added to the list as many people are concealing their needs, and will not apply for help unless urged by actual want. Hundreds of others are being assisted by friends who can ill afford it. A large proportion of residences devastated, belonged to well to do or wealthy people, who, while receiving a severe set back, are not in actual want. In the meantime rebuilding is under way. Over one thousand carpenters are at work today and more are coming to the city on every train. A large number of brick layers are also at work.

Regina, July 4.—Plans are being laid for the rebuilding of the capital of the province. It is announced that a new Cripper block will be erected as soon as the old site can be cleared.

Since Monday morning hundreds of carpenters, bricklayers and laborers have been busy clearing away the debris and repairing such structures as can be put in shape with a little work. On the north side, where the devastation was unusually severe, the work of reconstruction is progressing rapidly.

The street railway system is again in operation. The cyclone blew down the poles and put practically all of the overhead wires out of place.

Many buildings believed to have been in bad condition have been declared safe by the building commissioner, and he has allowed the repair work to proceed.

In a number of instances the large buildings were not shifted on their foundations and all that will be necessary will be the rebuilding of the destroyed parts.

The Presbyterian Church, Y.M.C.A., Baptist Church, Y.W.C.A., Victoria School, Land Titles and Masonic Temple, and the Massey-Harris building have been found to be in good shape, and work of repair has been authorized by the building inspector.

The true spirit of Canadians in general is being shown in connection with the calamity and the subscription list opened by the city is growing at a tremendous rate. Even the smaller towns throughout the province are doing their best toward assisting the stricken city.

The officials have received notification of subscriptions totalling $65,796.55, and the fund is rapidly assuming larger proportions.

A memorial service for the victims of Sunday's catastrophe will be held in the near future. The general executive believe that this matter should stand in abeyance until the work of relief is well in hand. Sunday is the earliest possible date for the proposed memorial service, and it may be several days later. It is practically certain that all the churches will unite in a joint service.

Dynamite will probably be used to locate any bodies which may be in the Wascana Lake. It is still believed by the officials that a number of water craft were still on the lake when the cyclone struck Regina, and that several persons may have been drowned. At first it was intended to drain the lake in order to get the bodies but it is understood the provincial medical authorities refused to allow this, claiming that it might start an epidemic of typhoid fever.

The property loss is as follows:

Warehouse and wholesale places destroyed 52, value	$750,000
Seven churches and two Y.M.C.A. buildings, value..	240,000
Seven schools, value.........	125,000
75 handsome residences, ...	785,000
140 small residences	140,000
Total building loss.........	$2,050,000

At 10 o'clock last night reports gathered from the various bodies of workers showed that no further bodies had been discovered yesterday. The injured are all reported progressing favorably and there have been no deaths at the hospitals during the day.

Reports which are coming in from the country show that the cyclone swept over a district at least eleven miles southwest of here and many miles north. Farm houses which were in the track of its fury were picked up like paper boxes and smashed into kindling wood, and traces of them are being found for miles around. The furthest report of damage is at the home of Thomas Beare, about eleven miles southwest of Regina. His house and that of his son were swept away and all of the occupants were badly bruised and battered up, although not seriously. The next house in the path of the storm was that of Walter Stephenson. He and his wife were badly injured and are still both in bed. Mrs. Stephenson was picked up a hundred and fifty yards from the house. The force of the storm was such that she was practically stripped of her clothing. Incredible as it might seem, even the shoes on her feet were torn off her. Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson came from Pickering township, near Whitby, Ont. They were married only three months ago.

Government Gives $30,000.

Ottawa, July 4.—Pending a reply from the Government of Saskatchewan, the Dominion Cabinet, at its session yesterday afternoon, voted $30,000, which was rushed immediately to Regina for the relief of the cyclone sufferers. Word is expected hourly from the provincial authorities, and it is probable that another and larger amount will be voted just as soon as the Government here can get an official statement as to what aid is deemed necessary.

The Government yesterday also voted $10,000 for Chicoutimi, and this was also forwarded this morning.

The last meeting of the Cabinet Council for some weeks will likely be held this afternoon, and should a message be received from the Saskatchewan Government in the morning an additional sum may be voted at that session.

Montreal Votes Relief Fund.

Montreal, July 4.—The City Council yesterday, on recommendation of the Board of Control, voted $6,000 to relief funds, $3,000 to Chicoutimi and $3,000 to Regina.

Denounces Terminal Scheme.

Hamilton, July 4.—A. F. Hatch, chairman of the local branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, yesterday afternoon severely denounced the plan of the Grand Trunk to relieve freight congestion by establishing terminal warehouses throughout Canada.

Mr. Hatch declared it was an outrage, that it would create monopoly, drive freight rates up from ten to twenty per cent., and tie freight up worse than ever.

Couldn't Wait For Five Days More.

Perth, Ont., July 4.—With only five days more of a six months' sentence for vagrancy to serve John Bryan could not resist the temptation to bolt when the jailer left a door of the Lanark prison open. Before escaping, he stole a suit of clothes from the storeroom.

FOUR MEN ARE DROWNED

Vancouver, July 4.—Four more victims have been claimed by the Upper Fraser, according to reports from Fort George. The steamer B. X., which left Fort George Saturday, found three men marooned on a log jam in the Fraser, just below Fort George Canyon, 15 miles from the town. They report that four companions had been drowned.

Joseph Gessley of Toronto was also taken off an island, where he had been marooned 36 hours. He had been swept from a raft going through the rapids.

TELEGRAPHIC PARAGRAPHS

The fate of James Mann, Brockville, missing since Friday last, was discovered yesterday. The body was found floating in Port Dalhousie harbor.

The contractors have commenced work on the Brock monument which the Daughters of the Empire are erecting on Courthouse square, Brockville.

Leslie Stuart, composer of "Florodora" and several other music plays and songs, appeared in the Bankruptcy Court in London yesterday. He owes $25,000.

The woman's body picked up by the Maid of the Mist Tuesday at the Falls was identified as that of Mrs. Bertha Richmeyer, Buffalo, an Eagle Park wharf victim.

Dr. Milton A. Smith, one of the best known physicians in the Louisiana was ambushed on the public road, in a swamp, and his body riddled with buckshot.

Four pairs of little shoes and stockings, found at the edge of a water-filled clay pit, told the story at Perth Amboy, N.J., yesterday of the drowning of four small girls.

Looking in good spirits and apparently fully recovered from her recent illness, the Duchess of Connaught accompanied by the duke and Princess Patricia, arrived in Quebec yesterday morning.

An attempt was made to assassinate Sir Francis Henry May, the governor of Hong Kong, yesterday. A Chinese man rushed at the governor near the postoffice and fired a revolver, but missed Sir Francis.

George Strause of New York is dead of heart disease, aged 79. He was proprietor of the first modern slaughter house in New York, and organised a regiment for the civil war composed entirely of butchers.

Hon. Lewis Harcourt in the British Commons yesterday announced New Zealand's present contribution to the Imperial navy to be $500,000 and South Africa's $425,000. New Zealand is contributing a battleship to the value of $10,000,000.

"YOU'LL SUFFER ALL YOUR LIFE"

That's what the Doctor told him

"Fruit-a-tives" Cured Him

CHESTERVILLE, ONT., Jan. 25th 1911

"For over twenty years, I have been troubled with Kidney Disease, and the doctors told me they could do me no good, and that I would be a sufferer for the rest of my life.

I doctored with different medical men and tried many advertised remedies, but none of them suited my case.

Nearly a year ago, I tried "Fruit-a-tives". I have been using this fruit medicine nearly all the time since, and am glad to say that I am cured.

I give "Fruit-a-tives" the credit of doing what the doctors said was impossible.

I am now seventy-six years old, and in first class health"

GEO. W. BARKLEY.

In all the world, there is no other remedy that has cured so many cases of so-called "incurable" kidney disease, as "Fruit-a-tives".

This famous fruit medicine acts directly on the kidneys—healing and strengthening them—and ridding the system of the waste matter that poisons the blood.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

COMING INTO OUR OWN

Says the Stratford Herald: After years of successful boosting of the Western Provinces, it looks as though Ontario was at least going to have a look in. At the recent convention of the Canadian Press Association, a number of newspaper publishers came right out and announced that they had quit boosting the West at the expense of Ontario and that they purposed hereafter boosting old Ontario. And it is pretty nearly time they did. For years, the press of Ontario has, with cheerful and unselfish short-sightedness, called upon one and all to note the prosperity, growth and resources of the Western Provinces, with the result that here in old Ontario, with greater resources, fertility and opportunities undeveloped, we have been continually drained of our young men, our farmers, our school teachers and mechanics, until to-day, there is a positive dearth of men in many occupations. Ontario has more than done her duty by her younger sister Provinces. Now let them do their own booming. It is encouraging to hear the following expression from the Ottawa Free Press—

> "Instead of telling how many bushels of wheat, Bill Jones, an old Ontario man, raised out in Saskatchewan, the papers will now devote their items to the information that Sam Brown, right on the old Brown farm, made much out of hogs. The West owes the Ontario editors, an incalculable amount for advertising that great great country, and perhaps it was all for the best. But now that the Ontario pressmen and particularly the pressmen of the country weekly, have started their campaign for old Ontario, there can be only one result. It means that old Ontario is going to prosper as never before. It means that forsaken farms will be once more tilled. It means that old Ontario will become the real garden of the world. And for us in the cities it may mean a partial solution of this greatest problem, the high cost of living."

NOTE AND COMMENT

Fist-fighting was indulged in by some of the delegates at the Democratic convention on Monday, and Mr. Bryan for a while was in danger of being assaulted by gentlemen from Missouri, who objected when he struck an attitude and smiled sarcastically. The Democrats have been behaving almost as badly as the Republicans did at Chicago, whom they criticised. They should take back words.

The Windsor Hotel Company has been fined for breaking the alien labor law by bringing into the country men to do work which its old employees quit. This alien labor law, is a peculiar statute, and with other statutes works in a peculiar way. Foreign strike makers come into the country and announce that they are ready to destroy a business unless their demands are granted. The man who goes outside to hire a worker to save his business may be fined and imprisoned.

The Toronto Star, which seldom or never favors the commendation acts of the Dominion or Ontario Governments, says of the recent appointment of Mr. Drayton:

"While Mr. Hanna would have made an excellent head of the Railway Commission, it is true also that he is an excellent Minister and legislator. His interest in prison reform shows that he is a progressive, broad-minded man who keeps abreast of the social movements of the age. The Government and the Legislature ought to be more strongly imbued with the same spirit.

"Mr. Drayton, who is now selected as the successor of Mr. Justice Mabee, has had much experience in the settlement of questions arising between railways and a great municipality. He is hard-working and clear-headed, and we are confident that the interests of the public will be served by this appointment."

NELSON IS SELECTED.

It Will Be the Terminus of the H. B. Railway.

Montreal, July 3.—It is announced here that the Government has decided upon Fort Nelson as the terminus for the Hudson Bay Railroad from Le Pas, and that work will be actively carried on in that direction.

While this road is being built another road will be constructed from Montreal to Nottawa, on James Bay, which will probably be ready about the same time, and with a 700 mile water run on Hudson Bay will make a close and economic connection between Montreal and the wheat fields of Alberta and Saskatchewan. This road will be built by the North Railway Company of Canada, formed by a number of Montreal capitalists, with a capital of $10,000,000.

It is stated that the company has been promised a Dominion subsidy of $3,200,000 for the road, which will comprise about 500 miles, crossing the Transcontinental at Bell River. It is also stated that the Provincial Government will give a subsidy of 4,000 acres a mile for that part north of the Transcontinental, and that the 5,000 acres a mile for the 240 miles south of the Bell River may later be increased to 10,000 acres a mile, as the construction of the road will settle the talk about a connection between Montreal and the Transcontinental.

The company states that the project has already been financed, while 120 miles north of the Transcontinental has been surveyed, and the survey work between Bell River and Nottawa will be completed by this fall. Work at the four square points will start in the spring.

Five different survey parties are leaving for the James Bay country this week on the Boethic—two from Ottawa, two from Quebec, and one from the North Railway Company. These will not only look into the railway location, but plan for the construction of an extensive elevator system at Fort Nelson and Nottawa. It is figured that the railway from Montreal will cost about $50,000 a mile, the road to be equal in grades to the National Transcontinental.

VICTIMS NOT POLES.

Young Couple Drowned in Hamilton Were Canadian Girl and Man.

Hamilton, July 3.—Circumstances brought to light Tuesday point strongly to the conclusion that the couple drowned in the bay Monday night were Edward Haigh of 212 East MacAuley street, and Hattie Gavey, 85 East Stuart street. The rowboat from which the couple were drowned was positively identified by Harry Lewis, 109 East Ferrie street, as one which he rented to Haigh Monday afternoon. Miss Gavey and Haigh were seen rowing in the bay Monday evening, and as neither have been seen or heard of since they were seen on the water, it seems fairly certain that they are the ones who lost their lives when the gasoline launch ran the rowboat down last Monday night. The report that the drowned couple were foreigners living in the east end of the city, was based on the statement of Charles Garson, who rented a boat tallying with the description of the fatal craft to the Polish couple Monday afternoon. The boat had not been returned to him when he reported the matter to the police, and circumstances then pointed to the ill-fated craft being the one he had let out earlier in the day.

Flour is quiet for export and domestic account, but the tone of the market is firm. Millfeed is unchanged. Demand for butter is fair, and some is being bought and stored for western account. CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, July 3.—At the Canadian Pacific live stock market the receipts of live stock for the week ending June 29 were 1150 cattle, 1250 sheep and lambs, 1120 hogs and 1400 calves, while the offerings on the market this morning amounted to 1100 cattle, 800 sheep and lambs, 1400 hogs and 1500 calves.

A weak feeling developed in the market for cattle to-day, and prices scored a further decline of 75c to $1 per 100 lbs., which was attributed to the large increase in the supply of common and inferior stock. The top price realized for choice steers was $7.50, but the bulk of the trading was done in good stock at $6, $6.50 and $7 per 100 pounds, while the common and inferior sold from that down to $3.50 to $4 per 100 pounds. Choice butcher cows sold at $5 to $5.50, and the lower grades from $3 to $4 per 100 pounds. Bulls sold between $3 and $5.50 per 100 pounds.

The market for sheep and lambs was weaker, and prices ruled lower, with sales of the former at $4 to $4.50 per 100 pounds, and the latter at $4 to $5 each. The supply of hogs was much larger than expected, and the market in consequence was weaker, and prices declined 25c per 100 pounds, with sales of selected lots at $8.50 to $8.75 per 100 pounds, and mixed lots sold as low as $8, weighed off cars. Demand for calves was good at prices ranging from $3 to $8 each.

A Baseball Romance

BY W. A. PHELON

Copyright, 1912, by W. G. Chapman. Copyright in Canada and Great Britain.

"I believed, when we started," said Brockett, "that we could wander around New York till some time tomorrow night, and make so many turnings that no one without a flock of bloodhounds could ever find us. I think differently now, though—I can hardly say why. For my part, I think we should lose ourselves in the mazes of this burg for a few hours only, then recross to Jersey and be on our way by a midnight train. How about it, Ramon?"

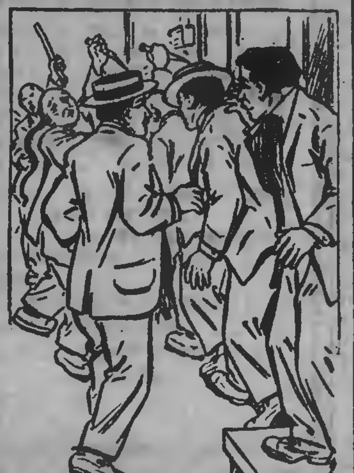
"Fully agreeable," replied the Cuban. "In fact, I was just planning out a route that won't consume much time, but ought to tangle-foot anyone who is exhibiting a loving interest in us. How is this: Walk to Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street. Take the 'L' road to Forty-second. Trot over to the Grand Central station of the subway, on Forty-second, and ride to the downtown district, getting off, we will say, at Canal. Walk over to the Bowery, mix in with the crowd, turn into Mott or Doyers street—in Chinatown—and travel fast to the little park at Mulberry Bend. Cut through the park, and keep on west to Broadway. Ride up Broadway to Twenty-third again, then cross over on Twenty-third to the ferries. How does that seem for a course that will bother anybody to follow?"

"Looks good to me," briefly answered Brockett, rising. "Let's start in a hurry." And glancing over the little park and the adjacent streets without seeing any sign of inquisitive followers, the boys struck out on their devious journey. They reached Twenty-third street and Sixth avenue in a few minutes, seated themselves on the bench beside the uptown tracks, and allowed two trains to pass without making a move to board either one. A third train rolled up; the youngsters waited till the gate was shutting, and then dove through with a headlong plunge, earning the execrations of the guard.

"Seems to me," laughed Brockett as they gazed at the glittering panorama of New York, spread below them, "that anyone who might have been trailing us this time had to come over a locked gate or lose out. That was the quickest move we've made yet."

The Cuban shook his head. "I hope we are shaking ourselves free," he commented, "but, somehow, I'm worried. I have a depressed, gloomy sensation—as if I knew something was sure to happen—something that I can't describe or even imagine. I hope I'm wrong—a few more hours and we shall see."

They disembarked at Forty-second and paced rapidly east in that strange thoroughfare—the leading annex to Broadway. A foreigner wandering westward from the station halted them to ask the name of some street whereof neither lad had ever heard; a storm of automobiles seemed to burst upon them at Fifth avenue, and to the supreme disgust of Solano, a little, chocolate-colored man, with a twisted mustache and beady black eyes, hailed him in effusive Spanish, delaying their progress for a minute or so.



"IN HERE, FELLERS—YOU'LL GET KILLED OUT THERE."

"Venezuelan," Solano explained, as they hurried on. "Confirmed revolutionist. Used to make headquarters in Havana when the revoluting trade was slack, and called several times on my father. Wish he hadn't recognized me—he called out my name almost as loudly as your friend McGinnity called yours."

In the great station of the subway the boys adopted the same tactics they had practiced at the "L" road—permitting several trains to go by and then bolting aboard the next one just in time to escape jamming in the gate. They were whizzed downtown rapidly enough, and crossed eastward in Canal—a thoroughfare that is full of life and bizarre transaction through the day, but dark and well nigh empty in the night.

"Fine, lonesome region this, Ramon," muttered Brockett, keeping a vigilant eye to right and left as they paced along.

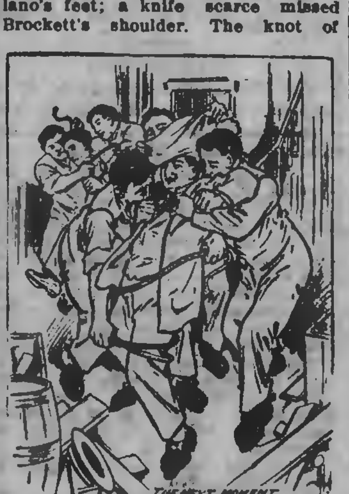
"I forget which of the great New York gangs is in charge of this particular section," said the Cuban—"whether the Five Points or the Eastmans."

"According to the magazines," Brockett responded, "this must be the very heart of the territory where the Apaches of New York hold forth. In case of a hold-up, don't stop to argue—shoot, and keep right on running."

The Eastmans and the Five Points, however, did not seem to have even outlying sentinels in Canal street, and no one even paid any special attention to the adventurers as they crossed over into the Bowery. That famous old street, fountain-head of song and story, and in no actual manner any different from any other street which is the main avenue of the poor and lowly, was traversed at a steady gait. The boys mingled with the swarming crowd of Hebrews and Italians, walked southward, and, when the garish lights of Chinatown burst upon them, turned into Doyers street—a short, oddly angled alley that forms one boundary of the Celestial colony.

Chinamen in their native costumes, Chinamen in natty black clothes of civilization, drawn-faced dope fiends, heavily treading policemen, rubberneck wagons bearing pop-eyed tourists—all the usual throng that go to make up the evening life of Chinatown—passed back and forth. Slumming parties swarmed up the stairs of the chop suey restaurants, eager to taste Chinese dishes, the like of which were never seen or heard of in the Yellow Kingdom, and the spell of an excitement that is nine-tenths artificial and created seemed to overhang the little crooked street. Brockett and Solano pushed through the swarm, jostling good-naturedly or avoiding collisions wherever possible. They had traversed perhaps half the length of Doyers street when there was a cry, a shrill chorus of Oriental jargon and half a dozen struggling Chinamen, their faces convulsed with frenzy, their hands brandishing hatchets and knives, came weaving out of a little store.

A thrown hatchet of most erratic aim clanged on the pavement at Solano's feet; a knife scarce missed Brockett's shoulder. The knot of fighting Chinamen bore down upon them. Turning for a quick retreat, they were confronted by another struggling crew, yelping as they came, evidently intent on battle and destruction. A hundred feet back the shouts of policemen and the rush of their heavy shoes could be heard, but before "coppers" could arrive there would be time for three or four subjects of the emperor to get their death blow—and for the white men caught between the fighting lines to receive half a dozen accidental wounds.



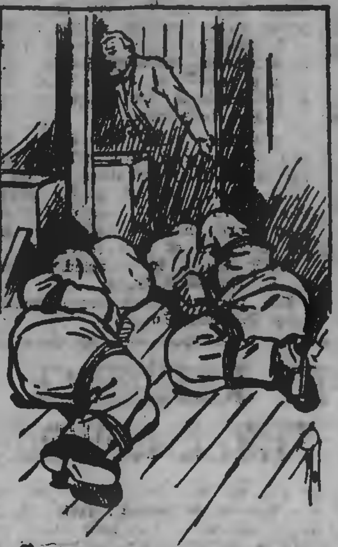
THE NEXT MOMENT A CLOTH BAG WAS DEFTLY BROUGHT DOWN OVER BROCKETT'S HEAD.

A door opened and a shirt-sleeved man protruded head and shoulders.

"In here, fellers—you'll get killed out there in one minute! Hurry, now!" Brockett and Solano needed no invitation. They flung themselves through the hospitable portal, and as the door slammed to behind them a tempest of squalls and howls told of the battle in full swing. A moment later came the hoarse bellows of the big policemen, the sound of nightsticks falling on Celestial domes, and the scurry of the beaten ones to cover. The next instant a cloth bag, shutting out the gas light as it fell, was deftly brought down upon Brockett's head, while a coil of rope was whipped round and round his arms and body. Quick hands seized him and pulled him from his balance, and as he strove helpless in his lashings he heard sounds that told him his companion was receiving the same treatment. Off their feet, men at shoulders and heels, the boys felt themselves being borne down what seemed endless flights of stairs, and, still in the blinding darkness of the bags, were laid upon a stony floor. And as their captors set them down they heard, a little distance off, a voice that they knew well, saying, in soft, purring tones: "That commission was executed amply efficient. I much thank the honorable Mr. Kelly."

CHAPTER X.

The voices died away, and the captives, heads muffled and bodies wrapped in many turns of rope, were left upon the floor. They could not move hands or feet; the bags over their heads kept them from judging even the light or darkness of their prison, and, while they could have rolled around like a couple of barrels, the inducements for such actions were decidedly small. A man in pitch blackness, with hands and feet strapped, is not likely to roll into what might be a bottomless abyss at his side, or wriggle upon what is in all probability a most uncleanly floor.



THEY WERE LEFT LYING UPON THE FLOOR.

They could breathe through the bagging, though particles of lint and dust came into mouth and nose, and no attempt had been made to gag them. Judging from the long time it had taken their captors to lug them down into the depths of their prison, they were far below the surface of the street, and equally far from any chance to bring rescue by using their voices. No attempt had been made to search them—the crafty Mr. Yazimoto evidently figured that he had an amplitude of time. Beyond a doubt he would soon return to rob and presumably to interrogate them, but at the present moment no sound could be heard except the heavy breathing of the prisoners.

A half-muffled, half-sputtering noise reached Brockett's ears, and even in the darkness of his own trouble he felt almost inclined to laughter as he realized that Solano was trying desperately to talk against painful handicaps. Brockett strained his ears, and managed to catch the Cuban's accents as Solano tried bravely to express his opinions.

"We are—pair of blamed fools—utchook, achoo!" came through the bagging.

"Worse than that. Boneheads for fair," Brockett responded.

"Bag-heads you mean—atchak, atchoo!" gurgled Solano. "Easy marks. Softer than pillows."

"Up against it—katchi, katchoo—" sneezed Brockett, a tiny cloud of dust getting in his nostrils. "Don't you hear feet? Our friends—coming back."

The trample of several pairs of feet, in fact, became distinct, and rough hands raised the prisoners. They felt themselves trundled across the floor and then felt the ropes around their legs relaxing. Someone pushed them down into chairs, and someone lifted the bags from their faces. The boys blinked in the flaring light of kerosene lamps, and then stared around their prison.

Keep Out the Weeds

Weeds unchecked will ruin the crop.

It isn't sufficient to plough and sow well in Spring and Fall and leave the rest to nature.

There are weeds to fight.

There are weeds in Business, too—weeds of competition and opposition—of public indifference from without, and of lack of enterprise from within—weeds that unchecked seriously retard business growth.

Cultivation is the only effective weed-killer. Keep cultivating and the weeds never get a chance to thrive.

There is a combination plough and harrow, fertilizer and spray, for every business—an effective weed-killer that will keep out the weeds.

It is Advertising

It is not enough to plough and sow well with advertisements in Spring and Fall and leave the rest to human nature.

Human nature and the respect your customers bear you are not proof against the Summer weeds that can thrive on rest and apathy.

You must keep busy in the hot weather—you must keep cultivating.

Turn Summer dullness into activity by Summer Advertising. Plan Summer attractions and plant for a crop of Summer profits, and the Advertising cultivation will keep out the weeds.

POLICE ROUND UP YOUNG MEN CHARGED WITH STEALING LIQUOR

Alfred Aston Will Work in Central Prison for Six Months.

"Six months in the Central Prison."

Alfred Aston, guilty of vagrancy, took his sentence without a wink.

One week ago Aston was up before the Magistrate on the same charge. Since then he has been lying around, doing nothing, and with no visible means of support.

GOOD POLICE WORK.

Eleven bottles of gin were stolen from J. O. Sullivan's liquor store, East City, on Tuesday night. The police were apprised of the robbery and immediately set to work. Detective Newhall accompanied by P. C. Brown and P. C. Meagher were detailed to bring the perpetrators of the theft to justice.

Several hours of vigilant work on the part of the three officers, during which they remained hot on the trail of the alleged guilty parties, resulted in the rounding of two men who were charged with the theft in police court this morning.

Both elected to be tried summarily by the Magistrate.

The Crown asked for a remand until Tuesday, July 9th.

CAMBRIDGE STREET RESIDENCE ENTERED BY THREE ROWDIES

Three individuals whose names are known, burglariously entered the residence at 432 Cambridge St., in a spirit of malice to the owner, and badly alarmed the occupant who was lying in bed ill and who has been more than ever prostrated since. The trio entered the house through the woodshed, and their behavior corresponded with what is expected from tramps and hoboes. They succeeded in gaining the top of the stairs before their presence was known. A woman relative in the house attending the sick man, was kept in one room by force until the rowdies had departed.

The owner of the house has been ill for a year and the shock of the outrage has set him back considerably.

If any further actions similar to what occurred ensues, police vigilance will be exerted to bring the offenders to justice.

MERCURY CLIMBS

Although yesterday was the warmest day we have had this year to date, it would hardly compare with the high temperatures experienced during the first week in July of last year. Eighty-six degrees in the shade was the figure for yesterday. On July 3rd last year it was 97 degrees; on the 4th, 90 degrees, and on the 5th, 100 degrees in the shade. Places farther west had even high figures. The month of June was generally considered to have been exceptionally cool, and so it was compared with last year, but compared with the average of a series of years it had a temperature but little below the normal.

THE COURT OF REVISION MET

From W. H. Moore for remission of income taxes of the late John Sawers.—Not granted.

From W. H. Collier for remission of income taxes for 1911 and 1912.—Granted.

From D. O'Connell claiming overassessment of the Peterborough Cereal Co. for 1910-11-12.—Judgment, taxes on real assessment of $2,100 real estate, and $1,260 business assessment for 1911 and 1912 remitted.

Robert Gibbs was heard and requested remission of business taxes for 1911 on 421 Chambers street.—Granted.

RAILROAD NOTES

Commencing this week the Grand Trunk Railway has inaugurated a service of new Pullman Observation Cars between Montreal and Ottawa which, in addition to the observation platform, will have an unusually large smoking room. This feature will no doubt be appreciated by the male patrons of the road. The cars will be operated by trains leaving Montreal at 3.55 p.m. and 8.00 p.m., and leaving Ottawa at 8.30 a.m. and 3.15 p.m.

Mr. L. G. Coleman, the new Superintendent of the Grand Trunk Railway System at Ottawa, succeeding Mr. Morley Donaldson, has arrived at the Capital to take over his duties there permanently, and will reside in Ottawa with his wife and family.

The steel work on the Fort Garry Hotel at Winnipeg, has now reached beyond the twelfth story, and is followed rapidly by the stone work. It is expected that the roof will be finished and the entire building enclosed long before the autumn rains begin.

The Alberta Government is using all possible effort to complete the wagon road from Edson on the Grand Trunk Pacific to Grande Prairie and the Peace River. A large force of men is employed now completing the last 40 miles of road so as to enable heavy transport wagons to move north and south at all seasons of the year. All during the past winter from 10 to 15 transport sleighs were leaving Edson daily, and with a good road completed it is expected that the Peace River settlement will grow rapidly.

President Chamberlin's statement that the Grand Trunk Pacific ocean liners will shorten the run across the western ocean, has set others figuring the net result of the completion of the new Canadian Transcontinental Railway. To this saving of two days another day can be added on the long portage between Prince Rupert and Halifax, and two additional days between the Atlantic terminus and Liverpool. Those savings will result in shortening the run between Liverpool and Yokohama by 5 or 6 days.

Bert Johnson a North Oxford farm hand, was badly gored by a bull.

More For Toronto Harbor.

Toronto, July 3.—At a meeting of the Toronto harbor commissioners, held yesterday, a letter was read from Hon. F. D. Monk, Dominion Minister of Public Works, in which he expressed himself with being well pleased with the work so far accomplished by the new board and convinced of the great possibilities of Toronto harbor. He was fully alive to the necessity of the work in connection with Ashbridge's Bay and the other harbor improvements now being undertaken and promised to do all in his power to bring them to a successful conclusion. When they had occasion to visit Ottawa in connection with Toronto harbor improvements he would make it his business to see that they were well received.

Wants to Be Friendly.

Pekin, July 3.—Lu Cheng Hsiang, the new Chinese Premier, yesterday expressed to some of the foreign Ministers here his desire to hold and strengthen the friendly relations between China and the Powers. He said he hoped the powers would shortly recognize the Chinese Republic.

The National Assembly yesterday passed the first reading of a bill providing for Chinese control of the postoffice, which will result in the dismissal of 150 foreign employes. Commercial interests here argue, however, that foreign management of the postoffice is essential, and expressed the hope that the Powers would intervene.

Earle, of Toronto. Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of Murray street Baptist church, Peterborough, officiated. The ceremony was conducted under an arch of maidenhair fern and marguerettes, and the house was prettily decorated with ferns, marguerettes and white peonies. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. David Kidd, was daintily gowned in white and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Mrs. Walter Kidd played the wedding march. There were no attendants and only the immediate relatives were present.

After the ceremony an enjoyable dinner was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle left on the 4.16 p.m. train amid showers of confetti and the good wishes of many friends who had assembled to offer congratulations. They will reside at 42 Fernbank avenue, Toronto.

McLEAN — McCASKEY.

A pretty wedding took place at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon last, at the residence of Mrs. McPherson, Chandos Township, when Neta McCaskey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McCaskey, of Belleville, and Mr. F. S. McLean, also of Belleville, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by the Rev. Mr. Prosser of Apsley. The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of messaline satin and wore the customary bridal veil and carried a bouquet of carnations. The bridesmaid, was Miss B. Herr, of Norwood, who wore a cream voile dress and large picture hat. The groom was assisted by Mr. McDougal of Belleville. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid, was a pearl brooch, and to the groomsman, a pearl tie pin. After the ceremony, a dainty lunch was served. The dining room was decorated with flowers, principally June roses.

The bridal couple left Friday evening for a trip to Montreal and Quebec and on their return will reside in Belleville.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN TRIPLE DROWNING

Almost a tripple drowning accident was narrowly averted at Centre Dummer on Friday last, when Earl Clark, son of Mr. Ira Clark of that place fell into a well near the cheese factory and was nearly drowned, as was also his mother and a home boy, Harry Gee, by name, who treid to rescue him.

It appears the boys were perhaps attracted by the novelty of getting water out of this well with a bucket and hook, rather than using the pump on another well at the mill and as one of the planks on the platform at this well had been removed to admit of the drawing out of water, the little boy in some way fell in. Young Gee, who was with him, climbed down into the well to rescue him, as did also Mrs. Clark, who arrived on the scene, having been told about the accident, by another child whom Gee had sent to bring Mr. Clark.

The little Clark boy, after struggling in the water, sank to the bottom, while Gee and Mrs. Clark were also nearly exhausted, when Mr. Clark came to their assistance and managed to get them out. Mr Clark then, felt around in the well with the well hook, for his little son, and fortunately the hook caugh tin the boy's clothing and he was enabled to pull him up far enough to catch hold of him.

He was unconscious when taken out, and it was not until after nearly half an hour's work, did Mr. Clark resuscitate him—Norwood Register.

PRESENTATION TO TEACHER AT SMITH SCHOOL

On the last day of the school term the pupils of S. S. No. 11, Smith, assembled and presented their teacher, Miss Mina E. Throop, with a beautiful watch chain and a gold bar pin.

The presentation was made by Mae Bell and the address read by Albert Olver, which was as follows:

Dear Miss Throop, — It is with mingled feelings of joy and sadness we enter upon the closing exercises of another school term; joy because we are naturally glad of the freedom of school let out; on the other hand sadness enters our hearts as we remember that the closing of school means the severing of that tie, which has for the past four and a half years bound us together as teacher and pupils.

During that period we know that we have many times worried you by our thoughtless and often wilful neglect of duty, but we have ever found you to be a wise, true friend, kind and considerate to one and all of us, regardless of our deserts as pupils.

Before parting, we ask you to accept this chain and pin as a slight token of our love for you. We also, as an entire school, wish to assure you that you will ever be remembered by us, as a patient teacher, a wise counsellor, and an excellent instructor. We wish you every success in future years and trust that your lot may be ever cast in pleasant places.

Signed by the pupils of the school.

There was a splendid attendance on Friday afternoon, at the initial decoration observance of the Emily Presbyterian cemetery committee. Much favorable comment is heard on the improved appearance of the place. The committee is hopeful that the enthusiasm manifested, may grow until the whole cemetery is in excellent condition and until a fund is established, sufficient to maintain the beauty of so sacred a spot. The urgent need of water, suggests the commencement of a fund for digging a well.

Principal Kirkconnell of Lindsay, was in town last week, presiding over the Departmental examinations.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wylie and Miss Thelma of Toronto, are the guests of their Omemee friends.

Mr. Charlie McCaffrey of Toronto was home for the holiday.

Great numbers of our citizens were out of town during the reduced fare season, and large crowds were at Lindsay and Peterboro for Monday.

The Presbyterian Garden party on Dominion Day was crowned with lovely weather. The opening attraction was a baseball game between teams of Omemee and Reaboro, in which the visitors seemed to be superior, and won out by a good margin.

The Highland pipers, in costume, discoursed weird and thrilling music on the pipes at intervals before and after supper, which was served in the basement of the church. A booth on the grounds did a great business in ice cream and other succulent confections. A program of vocal and instrumental music, addresses, etc., concluded a very pleasant evening, the financial returns of which were very gratifying.

Your note on the entrance arithmetic paper, commenting on my last week's budget, does not satisfy me. I meant to convey the idea that the Department, prescribed limits in arithmetic, and the question referred to was "beyond this limit." Of course we have arithmeticians who can solve the triangle question and arrive at a correct answer, which your mathematical expert failed to do.

Will our correspondent send in the correct solution.

BLACK CHAMPION AND LATEST WHITE HOPE TO CLASH FOR TITLE

JIM FLYNN. ◆ JACK JOHNSON.

"Jack" Johnson, the heavyweight champion, and "Jim" Flynn, the latest of white hopes, will clash for the title in a contest to be held at Las Vegas, New Mexico, on July 4. Johnson has the advantage in every direction, and Flynn will have his work cut out for him if he expects to beat the big champion when they meet. Flynn is willing, however, and may upset all wise predictions.

HARD HITTING GAVE THE SENATORS AN 11-2 WIN OVER THE WHITE CAPS

Davey Rowan selected Osborne as his heaver and Dorrey as backstop, while Louis Cook trotted out Herbert and Hopper. While Osborne got away alright, getting the first two batters, Dolan started with a lucky single through short, the ball bounding over Byrnes' head. Two more singles and a bad throw by Beard allowed the Senators to register twice. In the next round he stopped Callahan, Hopper and Herbert, through his delivery. Three hits, with a pass and two errors gave Ottawa four runs in the third, and Derr and Trout went in as battery for the fourth. Dolan's hit scored Burke in the fifth, and Derr continued to twirl good ball till the eighth, when he forced in one of three runs by passing Louden. The other two were due to a double by Dolan. A phoney triple followed by a clean two bagger gave the Senators their eleventh run in the ninth.

The Petes couldn't do much with Fred Herbert, good chances falling by the way owing to Herbert's strong work in the pinches.

The best opportunity to bring home a few came in the sixth when Rowan and Beard had one base clouts. Barthold went up for the third strike, and Tully's best was a fly to the shortstop. Swartz sent one to third, Robertson making a bad throw to Dolan, and all hands were safe. Byrnes, however, couldn't deliver, and was called out on strikes.

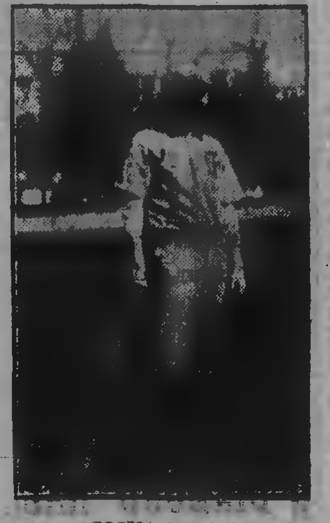
THE GAME BY INNINGS.

Burke started the game with grounding out Nasher to first, while Louden dropped a fly in Jimmie Swartz's mit. Dolan's effort took a high bound in front of Byrnes, the ball going into the garden. Robertson drove one past short into centre, Dolan scoring on the hit and Beard's bad throw to first, followed by Schwind's single allowed Robertson to count. Cook sent a grounder through Nasher, but the ball being captured by Byrnes Schwind was copped between the third bag and home.

Nasher hit past short and was forced at second by Rowan. Beard fanned, Rowan stealing second on the third strike. It was a close decision on a good peg by Hopper, and Cancella had to threaten Dolan with banishment, for giving his decision on the play. Barthold flew out to right.

◆

Callahan flew out to Rowan, Hopper to Swartz and Herbert grounded.



"COSY" DOLAN.

Hard hitting first sacker of the Ottawa Senators. Dolan says his hit which bounded over Byrnes in the first, was the first lucky one of the season.

Tully thrown out by pitcher, Swartz out on fly to Dolan and Byrnes also out to Dolan, who came in five feet from home plate for the ball.

◆

Burke who had talked to Cancella about the inability of umpires to see things, on his first appearance at the plate, drew a pass this time and stole second, Dorrey lacking steam although he threw well. Louden singled to left and Dolan forced him at second, Burke being held at third. Robertson hit in Burke and Schwind hit between Beard and Swartz, Beard allowing the ball to get away so that the batter got around to third and scored Dolan and Robertson. Manager Cook retired in favor of Draper a pitcher, who fanned. Callahan placed one half way to first and Osborne's failure to field the ball allowed Schwind to score and Robertson to reach first. The latter stole second and Hopper fanned.

Dorrey and Osborne were easy picking for Herbert and Nasher was the third victim by the strikeout route.

◆

Derr and Trout replaced Osborne and Dorrey. Herbert missed three, but Burke hit. He stole second and Louden skied to Barthold. Dolan drove in Burke, but the ex-White Cap was corralled on the line by Nasher following Robertson's grounder.

Rowan went out to Dolan, Beard fanned again, Barthold dropped one in right and Tully another in centre. Both were wasted as Swartz fanned.

◆

Schwind singled to left and went to second on a wild pitch, Draper fanning while Callahan and Hopper performed in like fashion.

Byrnes planted a dandy in right for two sacks. Trout hit the first ball over the fence for a foul and then fanned. Byrnes stole third and came in when Derr lifted the ball to Burke in left who made the catch of the day, getting the ball with one hand as he fell backwards at the track. Nasher flew out to centre.

◆

Beard took Herbert's fly. Burke hit to left but was put getting to second on a nifty throw from Trout. Louden struck out.

Rowan drew Dolan off the bag for a hit, Beard banged one which Schwind found too awkward to handle and things looked lovely. Barthold missed three and Tully sent one up for the shortstop. Swartz was safe on a low throw to first, and with three on Herbert got Byrnes on strikes.

◆

Dolan hit into centre, Robertson flied to short and Rowan doubled Dolan on Schwind's high one.

Nasher wafted to right for three bags, after Trout had given Burke a nice chance a foot inside the fence and Derr had hit himself to first, giving the Petes their second and last run. Rowan and Beard were retired on grounders.

◆

Draper singled to right, Callahan flew out to Beard and Hopper to the catcher. Herbert pasted to left, Burke biffed for his third consecutive one base ticket and with three on, Derr passed Louden forcing in Draper. Dolan clouted over second, scoring Herbet and Burke, but Louden was nipped at the plate, Rowan to Tully, to Trout.

Barthold hit to left for the first stand. He was forced at second by Tully who in turn was forced by Swartz. Byrnes flew out to left.

◆

Robertson hit to centre, the ball taking a bad bound away from Beard, allowing the hitter to make third. He went home on Schwind's double. Draper skied to Beard. Callahan fanned and Hopper hit out to Rowan.

Trout, Derr and Nasher were retired on grounders, Schwind showing great speed after fumbling the offering from Nasher.

◆

"Clouting 'em where the fielders aint" with Cosy Dolan, "an old Peterborough boy," and Dutch Schwind in the title roles, didn't make much of a hit with the local population at Riverside Park yesterday afternoon.

The proceeds were eleven and two, with the company from Chateau Laurier dividing by way of the big end. They made hits any old time and in any old place, seventeen was the exact number of times, and deserved all the bouquets that cames their way.

The bronzed personality of D. Cancell-o, was very much in evidence during the performance, and he escaped uninjured, many of his shortcomings being overlooked, as a result of the splendid success of the performance by the other fellows.

How the cyclone will act to-day, should the games be close, is a problem.

◆

It was simply a case of batting out a victory, but rather strange to remark, there were no home runs. Trout all but disturbed the brewery creek in the seventh, when he sent out a long fly to Sailor Burke, the visiting left fielder, getting the ball a foot inside the fence. And by the way, Burke drew a hand from the crowd in the sixth, when he made a pretty catch of Johnny Derr's rocket with one hand as he fell, through tripping on the edge of the track.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

BREEZES FROM THE DIAMOND

Tracey showed great coolness during the exciting pinches. While Cook Cancella and Rowan argued about the pitching box in the eleventh, Tracey thought that it was a ruse to cool him off and immediately called Trout to one side and continued pitching—Ottawa Citizen.

Shortstop Brant, of the London team, has been suspended for ten days for his poor work on the road trip, which began at Ottawa last week.

LETTER ON THE INSPECTION OF LOCAL DAIRIES

To The Editor of The Review.

Dear Sir,—While pursuing the Daily Review last night I saw an article which attracted my attention, thinking that I would read that some veterinary surgeon had at last got an official position in the city. I was very much surprised when I read that the Garbage Inspector was appointed Dairy Inspector. It must be lack of knowledge of the scientific world which prompted the officials of this town to appoint an ordinary layman to such responsible a position as Dairy Inspector.

Should this gentleman inspect a garbage can and then proceed to inspect a dairy, not thinking that from a theoretical standpoint it is polluted with germs from the can, it will only make matters worse by infecting the cattle and milk, probably causing an outbreak of typhoid among the cattle and among the consumers of the milk.

The gentlemen who spend their time and money going to a veterinary college, not only graduate as veterinary surgeons, but as milk, dairy and meat inspectors. It must be through ignorance of this that the officials of this town ignore the scientific men and give such responsible positions to men who know nothing about the fitness of cattle to be milked, nor the look of healthy milk from contaminated milk.

Suppose the cattle are infected with tuberculosis, could anyone who knows nothing about theory diagnose the case? No! Men who have spent all their time for the benefit of the dumb animals, and who know a diseased animal from otherwise, are the only ones fit for such a position.

I am not a graduate from College yet, but hope to be able to be a member of such a scientific profession as the Veterinary Profession in the near future.

Hoping that this article may open the eyes of the public and the officials, I remain,

Yours sincerely,
V. de Buissiere

BENSFORT

Special Correspondence.

Bensfort, July 4—The farmers are all wishing for rain as their crops are in much need of it.

Some of our young people took in the picnic at Cork School Bailieboro and report a pleasant time.

Some farmers have started to cut hay. Next week hay cutting will be general.

Mr. George Maclelland went through the village in his automobile, calling on some of his friends.

Mr. Ross Moncrief was the guest of Mr. Thomas Dawson, Sunday evening.

Mr. Harold Moncrief took in the picnic at Cork School last Saturday.

Mrs Freeman Thompson is visiting friends in Chicago, U.S.A.

Mr. Golden, our new local blacksmith, has been visiting friends at Dunsford, Ont.

One of our young men had a thrilling experience, a few days ago, while out driving one evening, his horse taking fright at some obstacle, ditching the occupants. Fortunately they escaped injury.

Miss Eva Fletcher and Miss Annie Kerr, purpose leaving for Manitoba and Saskatchewan on the 9th inst.

Mr James Taylor was the guest of Mr. John Fletcher on Thursday evening.

Some of our young men have been guilty of playing tricks on Mr. John Fletcher, our local blacksmith, and it is learned that if such proceedings continue, that legal action will be instituted by the complainant.

Mr. James Whittington's gate was wired a short time ago, and when he returned at a somewhat late hour it was with much difficulty that he was able to enter his premises. Such pranks, on the parts of residents are a disgrace, and should the perpetrators be found out, an example will be made of them.

Our militia has been strengthened by two additions, in the persons of W. Mursey and John Deyell. We hope that peace may be maintained.

Mr. O'Hara, proprietor of the cheese factory and Millbrook Creamery, visited Mr. Herbert Perrins in his auto a short time ago.

Mr Harry Meer passes down our main thoroughfare daily on his milk waggon, having as his route, the Lakeview line.

Mr. Hector Jewison, one of our giant residents, is retiring from farm life in this section, and purposes going west, after this season's crop has been stored. Eclipses may be quite frequent in the Western provinces in coming seasons, should our giant see fit to make the West his future home. Mr. Jewison has been an active resident, having farmed here for some time, and will be greatly missed. He is a staunch supporter of Messrs. Borden and Whitney, in politics, and his absence will have a large vacancy to fill. Of late, he has been devoting a portion of his time to literary work, and may follow the same vocation in the West.

Mr. Alfred Toole was the guest of Mr. John Fletcher on Sunday.

False Reports on Fruit Crop.

St. Catharines, July 3.—Robert Thompson, a prominent fruitman and officer of the St. Catharines Cold Storage Co., stated yesterday that there is positively no foundation for statements appearing in certain Toronto papers to the effect that the fruit outlook in the Niagara district is poor.

The report, he says, is entirely misleading. Grapes never looked better, according to Mr. Thompson, who is in a position to know. Tomatoes are coming in fine. Currants and gooseberries are reported as good.

Mr. Thompson states prices will be rather high owing to the increased demand of the canning and jam factories, which have no stock on hand and which are contracting for a large supply of fruit this year. A few growers are trying to raise the poor crop cry in order to obtain high prices.

The Mystery Lady

She Contrived to Carry Out a Hidden Scheme

By EDITH CONNERS

I am a dealer in secondhand books. I buy those that are sold out when families break up their homes and in this way secure from time to time volumes that I know to be rare, though the seller often is ignorant of the fact. Nevertheless I am free to say that I don't take advantage of their ignorance, but pay them a fair price for the goods. These rarities I keep and now have a collection that is becoming every day more and more valuable. One day a young woman came into my store and began looking over my stock. She attracted me at once by her appearance, her gentle manner, her soft feminine voice and traces in her countenance of some great grief. She took down from the shelves different books, most of them on religious subjects. I left her to examine them according to her own sweet will, but she was so attractive to me that I could scarcely keep my eyes off her. She seemed as much interested in the binding as in the other parts. I noticed that in the case of several of the books she looked over she slipped her thumb and fingers over the cover as if to gauge its thickness or smoothness, I couldn't tell which.

She laid out five books separate from the rest, all on religious subjects, and asked me the price of the lot. I figured it up, and she paid me without any effort to induce me to take less, but stipulated that she should be permitted to bring any of them back within a week to be exchanged for such others as she might select. I agreed to this, and she went away.

I suppose a hundred persons might have come into my shop at different times and looked into my stock without attracting any especial notice from me, but this person excited an interest that I was unable to account for. I presume it was her engaging presence. At any rate, I could not get her out of my mind. Possibly it was because I had met one capable of kindling in me that inexplicable feeling which indicates the dawn of love. Be all this as it may, I hoped that she would bring some of the books back for exchange that I might see her again.

My hope was realised. On the sixth day after her first appearance she came again, bringing back a book printed in 1845 and bound with all the clumsiness of that period. The covers were about a quarter of an inch thick. The title was "Christian Advice to Young Men." I remembered her having slipped her fingers over the covers of the books and her return of this one indicated that if she was buying the books for the binding she did not care for a thick cover. I made some attempt to engage her in conversation about her purpose in buying the books, but did not succeed in eliciting anything. On any other subject she conversed with me freely, and when I got her interested that sad look faded, to be replaced by an entirely different expression. I gave her another book in place of the one she brought back and replaced the one she returned on the shelves. If she went away unconvinced of my kindly feeling for her it was not my fault, for I showed her as plainly as I could that I liked her.

What it was that induced me, after she had gone, to take the book she had returned from its shelf and look it over I don't know, unless it was the same feeling that induces a man to handle something that has been held by a woman for whom he has been inspired with special tenderness. At any rate, I ran over the pages and on a lower corner of page 100 noticed a singular mark. It might or might not be a monogram; it looked more like a snake that had tied itself up in an untieable knot than anything else. I had no reason to suppose that the young woman who had taken it away and returned it had placed it there, but I was unable to divest my mind of the impression that she had. Somehow the idea was growing upon me that there was a mystery connected with her of which her book buying was a part. I put the volume back on the shelf with a feeling of regret that there was no reason to suppose I should see her again or ever know her secret—that is, if there was a secret.

A week, possibly a fortnight, elapsed when an elderly woman came in who represented herself as purchasing agent for a benevolent society whose object was to furnish books for all persons needing them, especially religious literature, presenting her credentials, which were genuine. She ransacked my shelves for wholesome books intended for persons of no great education. The only volume she asked for was "Christian Advice to Young Men," saying that it had been recommended to her for the use of the society she represented. I took it down for her, and, without examining it at all, she placed it among the books she set apart to purchase. Finally she directed me to send the lot to the rooms of the society she represented.

This purchase of the book that had been returned by the young woman completely obliterated any fancies I had conjured up with regard to its connection with a mystery. Had it been bought by a suspicious person, had that person been seen to look for the snakelike mark in it, those fancies might have gone on multiplying, but since it had been purchased in an ordinary way I was bound to admit to myself that they were without any foundation whatever. From that time on I dismissed them from my mind. But I did not banish from my mind the young woman who had impressed me. That sad face of hers, those Madonna-like eyes and, above all, the transition in her under my effort to induce her to throw off what troubled her were ever present with me.

Within a few days after the visit of the purchasing agent, who should come in but the young woman who is the subject of this story. She said that after all she had concluded to take the volume called "Christian Advice to Young Men." When I told her that it had been sold a strange look, a strange, [illegible] look, I could not tell which, passed over her face. But when I informed her who had bought it, though she endeavored to conceal a look of relief, or pleasure, she did not succeed. Then I knew that the book was connected in some way with the mystery which interested me. She was leaving my store when I caught at a method of finding out more about her. I asked her for her name and address, telling her that I wished it that I might mail her my book circulars. She hesitated, as though she did not wish to give them, but finally did so. I lost no time in walking past the number she gave and found the space occupied by a livery stable. She had given me a wrong address.

It is needless to say that this deepened my interest in her.

Some time passed before I saw anything more of "my mystery," as I now began to call her. Then one day she came in, and the moment I saw her I knew that there had been a great change in her. The sad expression had left her face and had been replaced by one that I could only interpret as a newly acquired hope. She pretended that she came in to look for more books, but I could see by the way she picked them up and immediately laid them down that she was not interested in them. I determined on a bold stroke.

"You don't wish to buy any books today," I said. "You have come in here with an entirely different object. You have been using my stock for some especial purpose. That purpose has been either successful or partially so. You have known from the first that you have had my sympathy. Assured of this, it has been hard for you not to trust me. Something has occurred that you wish to tell me, but you have not quite made up your mind to give me your confidence. Do so, and I promise you that you will not repent the act."

"How in the world did you ever divine that?" she asked, with mingled surprise and pleasure in her expression.

"A little bird told me."

"There is no reason why I should not now explain everything. I would have been a fool before this to trust any one. This is the story: My father has suffered a great wrong. He was a bookkeeper and cashier for a mercantile firm. Certain funds were embezzled by a member of the firm who contrived to cover up his tracks by manufacturing certain evidence against my father, who was arrested, tried, convicted and sentenced to state prison for twenty years.

"Our only hope was to enable him to escape, and I took that work upon myself. I was permitted to visit him in prison, and he told me that he had laid out a plan by which he might regain his liberty, but it required a saw with which to remove steel bars. I attempted to smuggle one in to him, but was detected. Since then I have never been permitted to visit him without some one watching me while near him. But I communicated with him through others. When I carried the books away with me from your store I took one, 'Christian Advice to Young Men,' with very thick covers. Then I removed enough of the interior of the covers to enable me to insert several thin steel saws."

"Ah," I exclaimed, "I see it all! But go on with your story."

"I dare not be implicated in sending the book to my father, so I learned of a society organized to furnish reading matter to prisoners and got a friend to recommend it and tell where a copy could be bought. Before returning the volume to you I placed in it a mark on the one hundredth page which my father had been instructed to look for to designate a book with saws in the cover."

"Again I see!" I remarked.

"Well, to shorten a long story, my father obtained the saws, cut the bars of his cell and escaped. He has gone where he is not likely to be found. One thing his jailers found to let them know how he got his tools—'Christian Advice to Young Men,' from the covers of which the saws had been taken."

Thus ends the first and by far the most important chapter of my story. The second has to do with something different from the subject matter of the first. I helped the book buyer to gain evidence that finally convicted the man of the crime for which her father was sent to prison, and the latter returned from hiding to appear again in his accustomed haunts. His daughter has long been my wife and says that from the first she felt that if I discovered anything wrong in the book she contrived to send from my store to the prison I would never give her away.

In this she was right, but it is to be remarked that I did not have an opportunity to expose her. The volume with the saws concealed in its cover was on my shelf for a number of days, but I knew nothing of their presence there.

Life Insurance

Marriage is a good thing. It is a part of the duty every young man owes to his race and to the community. And one of the first duties after marriage, is life insurance. The young man of riches may scoff at this, but riches sometimes "take wings" while a life insurance policy in a sound company is something that is not affected by mischance or ill fortune. The young man who depends upon his own efforts for a living, more than any other young man, should follow marriage with life insurance, and thus provide surely for a wife, or for a wife and babies, against the inevitable. Such a young man may demur at this, on the theory that he "can't afford it." But youth is not inclined to consider all possibilities in such a case. Life insurance is one of the things that should be afforded at the expense of something less important. If a young man smokes, he surely can curtail his tobacco supply by one cigar a day, or he can save an equivalent by cutting off something else he does not need. The cost of a single, medium price cigar a day will pay the premium on a life insurance policy, say, for $1,000. And thus, by a slight concession as to a single habit, some necessary provisions may be made for the future.

You will find the most up-to-date policy of to-day issued by the SUN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

Because there is something about certain goods, they are put in conspicuous places and the people are told about them. It may be the exclusiveness or newness of design, it may be an unusual quality, it may be an attractive price.

But there is at least one definite, sure reason why a merchant advertises an article and is willing to stake the reputation of his store upon it.

That is, when you see an article advertised in THE REVIEW, depend upon it, that article is good value, is good value all [illegible] that particular store.

WEST INDIAN AGREEMENT IS LAUDED IN LONDON

Hon. George E. Foster Is Given a Banquet at Which Many English Notables and Anglo-Canadians Are Present — Lansdowne Wishes Sir John A. Could See How Dominion Has Progressed.

London, July 5.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Hon. Geo. E. Foster was dined last night by the West Indian committee. William Campbell presided, and among those attending were: Lord Lansdowne, Lord Strathcona, Bonar Law, Hon. J. D. Hazen, Lord Desborough, Sir Thomas Skinner, Sir Gilbert Parker, Sir Max Aitken, Sir Daniel Morris and Sir Wm. Mackenzie.

Bonar Law and Lord Lansdowne supported the chairman in proposing Hon. Mr. Foster's health, the latter uttering the wish that Sir John A. Macdonald could return and see the progress in Canada since the days of his Premiership, and the speaker's Governor-Generalship.

Hon. Mr. Foster recalled his mission to the West Indies a year ago, adding: "I'm not trenching on politics, but deal with the naked truth when I say that if the verdict of Sept. 21 had been different, there would have been no West Indian agreement. The West Indian negotiations were proof of the advisability of reasoning with each other on commercial matters.

He pointed out that Canada had spent much in subsidies on steamships and was willing to make the Canadian-West Indian communication equal to that between the West Indian and the U.S.A. The people of the West Indies and Canada had struck a note which might reach throughout the Empire and challenge attention.

Hamar Greenwood proposed the toast of the West Indies, and Hon. Mr. Hazen, who supported, spoke with gratitude of the magnificent reception which Bristol and London had accorded his colleagues and himself.

Opposed to Inspectors.

Ottawa, July 5.—It is understood that the French-Canadian Educational Association, representing 30,000 French-Canadians in Ontario and Quebec, is strongly opposed to the recent appointments the Ontario Government has made pertaining to inspectors of schools, namely, the appointment of French inspectors and English ones. They object on the grounds that this, and the dividing of the province into three districts, will cause constant strife and differences between the inspectors.

Yesterday afternoon the executive of the association issued their long-looked-for report in reply to the official one of Dr. Merchant. It is in French and goes exhaustively into the report of the doctor.

The outstanding feature of the report of the executive is their contention that the bilingual school system, on the whole is just as good as the public school one. Though they acknowledge many places need improvement, they also point to others where the bilingual schools are doing very good work.

The association describes Dr. Merchant's statement that English-French schools do not give pupils proper instruction in English as a "gross insult to instructors and teachers."

BRYAN IS QUITE HAPPY

Baltimore, July 5.—William Jennings Bryan, supremely happy over the outcome of the long fight, issued a statement at the close, in which he said that the greatest political battles of modern times had been won.

"I am happier," he said modestly dilating on the part he had played in the convention struggle, "than I would have been if I had been nominated myself. A third party is now wholly unnecessary."

OPTIMISM IN REGINA

Regina, Sask., July 5.—This city has all but recovered from the shock of Sunday's disaster. A remarkable spirit of optimism prevails and already every man available is busily engaged in erecting temporary stores and residences. Hundreds of men are engaged in tearing down and clearing up the debris.

Of the four hundred and fifty odd houses destroyed, very few will be worth repairing, and efforts are being concentrated on clearing out the debris with a view to ascertaining whether or not there are any more bodies in the ruins.

The death list has not been further increased. There are several patients in the hospitals and at private homes who are not expected to recover, however. Miss McElmoyle, whose mother was killed and who herself was reported as missing, has been found at a private hospital suffering from concussion of the brain, and may not recover.

Robert Kerr, whose brother-in-law was instantly killed, is not expected to live. Miss Russell, whose back was broken, will also likely die. Funerals of the victims are being held daily. The boy scouts will bury their scoutmaster on Sunday.

The three congregations whose churches were destroyed, will worship in other buildings Sunday. The Methodists will use the City Hall in the morning, and the Presbyterians in the evening. The Baptists will use the Regina Theatre. All three churches will rebuild at once.

It is announced that Thos. Ryan, the Winnipeg shoe man, who was badly hurt in the Ackerman building, will start at once with the erection of a five-storey warehouse.

Regina Suffered Worst.

Ottawa, July 5.—Acting Premier Perley yesterday received the following message from Premier Scott at Regina:

"Replying to your kind message, I may state that a few localities in Saskatchewan experienced a heavy wind storm Sunday, but we have no report of any fatality or extraordinary damage elsewhere than in Regina. I will request the mayor to wire you official list of the dead."

Thanks have also been extended to the St. John Ambulance Association, which has despatched Major Birdwhistle to Regina to represent the association in relief work.

BORDEN IN OLD LONDON

London, July 5.—On his arrival at Paddington, Premier Borden of Canada was met by Lord Strathcona, Donald MacMaster, M.P., and a large body of Canadians. Sir H. Just and Lionel Earle represented the Colonial Secretary. The party proceeded to the Savoy Hotel.

At Bristol, Borden's arrival was made the occasion of a remarkable display of enthusiasm, hundreds pressing against the barriers cheering and waving handkerchiefs. Mr. Borden, standing on the upper deck, waved his hand in acknowledgment of the salute of Lord Mayor Sir A. Wills, who was on the quay.

Speeches of welcome were delivered in the ship's lounge room and Mr. Borden made reply in carefully measured tones, impressive for the feeling way in which more than once he used the phrase "Motherland."

He said: "It has been very truly said here to-day that besides the ties of kinship and allegiance which bind together this Motherland and the great dominion across the seas, must also be considered commercial ties, which certainly cannot be neglected, and I trust that as we have in the past given, we may in future give every possible evidence of our desire to make not only ties of allegiance, but the ties commercial as well. stronger. I may venture to say today, though really it does not require utterance by any of my colleagues or myself, that those ties of allegiance which bind together the Motherland and the Dominion are stronger I believe to-day than ever."

Lawn Social

PEACE DINNER HELD AT FALLS

Niagara Falls, N.Y., July 5.—Though the peace dinner of the trade boards of this city and of Niagara Falls, Ont., was not attended by the notables invited, it was a big success. President Taft, W. J. Bryan, Woodrow Wilson and Champ Clark sent messages of regret.

William M. German, M.P., of Welland, Ont., spoke of the history of the frontier and advocated the erection here of a peace bridge to commemorate the centenary of peace among English-speaking people. Representative James S. Simmons spoke along the same lines as did Mayor Lees of Hamilton, Ont. E. T. Williams of this city and C. R. McCullough of Hamilton, Ont.

The best speech of the day was made by Mrs. Belva A. Lockwood of Washington, D.C. War between the United States and Canada, she said, was impossible. With women voting, she believed that war would cease over all the world. The money spent for armies and navies would go to the betterment of social and industrial conditions.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Montreal is again reaching the limit of its water supply.

Many Detroit couples crossed the river to Windsor and were married on the holiday.

The Swift and Harris Companies will unite to build the biggest tannery in Canada.

The Ontario Medical Council defeated a resolution tending to bar osteopaths from recognition.

It was announced in Montreal that the Privy Council would dispose of the marriage case this month.

Thomas E. Moffatt, Campbellford, is appointed principal of the model school at Kingston, to succeed A. A. Jordan, principal of one of the bilingual schools.

Dead, apparently from exhaustion and exposure, the bodies of two unknown fishermen were found Wednesday in a fishing boat off Pender Harbor, 70 miles north of Vancouver.

Bogus $4 bills are said to be plentiful around Niagara Falls, and it is thought that a gang of counterfeiters are at work in the vicinity and have men out getting rid of the bills there.

MUCH EXPECTED OF GIANT WEIGHT THROWER

RALPH ROSE.

Ralph Rose, the giant weight thrower from California, is one of the American entries in the Olympic games at Stockholm, Sweden, and if the big fellow does not clean up everything in those events many experts will miss their guess. Rose is anxious for the opening, on July 6.

NORTH TO GET POWER FROM HYDRO-ELECTRIC

Hydro-Electric Commission Decides to Build Transmission Lines to Collingwood, Barrie, Coldwater, Elmvale and Stayner—First Named Town Has Carried the Bylaw by a Sweeping Majority.

Toronto, July 5.—To supply five towns north of Toronto with electric power the Hydro-Electric Commission decided at a meeting yesterday to spend $198,000. Engineers were appointed to get tenders for equipment and go on with the survey of the transmission line. The towns that will use Hydro-Electric power, as a result of contracts being signed, are Collingwood, Barrie, Coldwater, Elmvale and Stayner. The transmission line will cover a distance of 65 miles connecting the municipalities. All these towns voted in favor of Hydro-electric just recently. In Collingwood a bylaw which favored dealing with the Government for its electrical energy was carried by a vote of 560 to 10.

With the building of this transmission line the Hydro-electric has practically laid a network over Western Ontario. The people of the five towns which have just made the agreement with the commission will pay a similar rate to those who use the power in the Niagara belt.

The Government is enabled to supply the electricity to these northern towns by the commission's agreement with the Simcoe Railway & Power Co., whose plant is at "Big Chute" on the Severn River, whereby power is purchased from this concern. It has been so arranged that the rate to consumers will average practically the same as the rate to the people who are supplied from Niagara direct.

The sum of $198,000, which is the estimate of what the line will cost, will also include stations at Collingwood, Barrie and Coldwater. As there will be no plants at the villages of Elmvale and Stayner, there will be very little extra expense in supplying the residents of these two municipalities.

Collingwood and Barrie have been long looking forward to the advent of Hydro-electric power. To these towns it is believed that it means the dawning of an era of advancement and prosperity, especially in the case of Barrie. Both municipalities, with Hydro-electric, can offer many inducements to industrial plants.

Lost Hand at Charivari.

St. John, N.B., July 5.—A charivari at Jenkins Cove, not far from this city, had a disastrous result for one of the serenaders.

About a hundred had gathered to greet George Jenkins and his bride, who were returning from their honeymoon. Ellery Jones, one of the serenaders, had an old musket of the vintage of 1812, which he loaded with giant powder and a fuse.

The ancient gun barrel burst when the charge went off, and when the smoke cleared away young Jones was seen lying on the ground in a state of collapse. Examination showed that his left hand had been blown completely off. One of the guests administered first aid, and the injured man was driven six miles to a doctor. He will recover.

CYCLONE IN CHILI

Special to the Review.

Lima Peru, July 5.—A railway between Lana and Arcia in Chili has been destroyed by a terrible cyclone, according to meagre dispatches. A large number of people are reported killed and injured.

KAISER AND CZAR HELD CONFAB IN THE BALTIC

Baltic Port, Russia, July 5.—The German Emperor, accompanied by the Imperial Chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, and his third son, Prince Adalbert, arrived here yesterday on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, escorted by the dreadnought cruiser Moltke, to meet the Emperor of Russia, who, with the members of his family, Premier Kokovsoff and Foreign Minister Sasenoff, was already in waiting here.

A division of Russian torpedo boats, the Russian Admiralty yacht Neva, with the German ambassador to Russia and the attaches of the German Embassy at St. Petersburg, went out to meet the German Emperor, who upon his arrival received the salutes of the assembled Russian warships, and was greeted with cheers by their crews, to which the sailors of the Moltke replied.

The Hohenzollern was then moored between the Russian imperial yachts Standart and Polarnaia Sviezda. The Emperor of Russia, with a group of high officials, immediately went on board the German imperial yacht, and cordially welcomed the Emperor William.

In the German, Russian and other capitals great political significance is attached to the imperial meeting, although semi-official statements assert that its only object is the confirmation of the cordial relations between Russie and Germany, for which the way was paved at Potsdam in 1910.

It is fully expected, nevertheless, that the possibility of putting an end to the war between Turkey nd Italy, the naval position in the Baltic resulting from the Russian naval act and other matters of international interest will be discussed.

Thirty Miles of British Warships.

London, July 5.—Wonderful as was the assembly at Spithead last year to commemorate the coronation, it will be excelled by the fleet which will gather on Tuesday next. There will be 238 warships of every kind, drawn up in six lines along a total length of thirty miles. Nineteen admirals' flags will be flown.

DIVIDEND TO THE YORK LOAN SHAREHOLDERS

Special to the Review

Toronto, July 5th.—An order has been issued by Official referee, George Kappele, K. C., that a dividend of fifty per cent will be paid to shareholders of the York County Loan, who have not sent in pass books to the Liquidator, the dividend to be commuted in a like manner to that paid those who have sent in pass books. This order was necessitated by the fact that 16,543 share holders of the defunct institution had not yet sent in any claim to the amount invested in it and there is a sum of $125,124,65 awaiting them in the bank. The next dividend will be a final one, and may not come for a couple of years. The amount of it is at present uncertain.

TWENTY-FIVE VICTIMS HAVE BEEN IDENTIFIED; FORTY-ONE LIVES LOST

Special to the Review.

Corning, N.Y., July 5.—Twentyfive victims of yesterday's wreck on the Lackawanna have been identified, and sixteen dead are still unidentified. Of fifty-one injured but four are in serious condition.

Corning, N.Y., July 5.—Westbound Lackawanna passenger train No. 9, from New York, due to arrive at Corning at 4.47 a.m., composed of two engines, a baggage car, three Pullmans and two day coaches, in the order named, was demolished at Gibson, three miles east of Corning at 5.25 o'clock yesterday morning by express train No. 11, due at Corning at 5.10 a.m. Forty-one persons were killed and between fifty and sixty injured. Many of the victims were holiday excursionists bound to Niagara Falls, who had boarded the train at points along the Lackawanna from Hoboken to Buffalo.

The wreck was the worst in the history of the road. Its cause, according to Engineer Schroeder of the express, was his failure to see the signals set against his train. The morning was a foggy one, and he said he could not make them out.

The wrecked train stood on the main track blocked by a crippled freight train. There was no flag out, according to Engineer Schroeder. The signals, which he declared it was too foggy to see, were just around the curve.

The flying express plunged past them and crashed into the rear of No. 9, bringing death to more than two-score of its passengers. Twenty have so far been identified. They are: William M. Armstrong, Hoboken, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brandies, New York City (married Wednesday and on wedding trip); Herman Dyak, Newark, N.J.; Mrs. C. E. Erwin, Chicago; Mrs. Edith A. Hess, Scranton, Pa.; Dr. E. V. Ivey, of Bellevue Hospital, New York City; Mrs. Anna Hill Jones, Scranton, Pa.; George Laird, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Evelyn Lowery, colored, Newark, N.J.; Antonio Novak, Scranton; Anton Nelson, Jersey City, N.J.; F. C. Pratt, Buffalo, traveling salesman; M. Patouski, immigrant, ticketed to Buffalo; Regina P. Pravelowski, Russia; Mrs. Lillian Reynolds, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Mrs. Lucy Setteducati, New York City; James Smith (colored), Pullman porter, Newark, N.J.; Ernest Schultz, Buffalo; John Zimmer, Scranton, Pa.

Schroeder had taken train No. 11 at Elmira fifteen minutes before. It was a few minutes late. The stretch of track from Elmira to Corning is fitted for fast running, and he was sending his train along at the rate of 65 miles an hour. No. 9 was supposed to be half an hour ahead of him. He never had any warning until he made out the outline of the rear coach of No. 9 through the fog that was crawling up the mountain from the river far below. He saw the lights ahead and threw on the reverse without shutting off the steam.

The jerk threw the train off the track and the locomotive plunged on a few rods further to splinter the two day coaches filled with excursionists and tear through the last of the Pullmans. Schroeder said that the impact was so great that it threw him from the cab and landed him on his shoulder on the road bed, practically unhurt.

The 100-ton monster continued its plunge through the middle of the train, grinding everything in its path. It seemed as if it would cut through every car. Then when it was finally blocked by a mountain of debris piled in front of it, it remained on the roadbed in the midst of the desolation its plunge had created, while thousands of persons rushed in every kind of vehicle to the scene to lift and pry the dead and injured.

Thirteen of the injured and ten of the dead were taken to Elmira on a special train. The other dead were taken to undertaking rooms in Corning and the remainder of the injured were conveyed to the Corning City Hospital. There a large corps of doctors and nurses worked rapidly and efficiently. All the physicians in the city were summoned, and many ministers and priests were called to administer last sacraments and receive messages for relatives and friends from the dying.

Most of the bodies were badly mangled, their condition testifying to the terrific driving power of Schroeder's engine as it crashed through the fated train. The cars themselves were one heaped up mass of wreckage, telescoped into each other. The last two cars on No. 11 remained on the track and later were used as hospital coaches.

Rev. J. T. Cassidy, a Catholic priest, was one of the early arrivals at the wreck. He ministered to the injured and administered the last rites of the church to those about to die. Once he halted a long line of automobiles and several wagons bound for the morgue while he performed the rites over the body of a little girl which lay across the highway. The automobilists and bystanders stood with bowed heads.

The people of Corning have opened their homes to the injured who could not find accommodation at the hospitals, or whose injuries were too slight to warrant their crowding other persons from the institutions.

Garment Factories Leave Montreal.

Montreal, July 5.—The latest move in the strike of the garment workers here is the removal of four manufacturing establishments outside the city. The establishments which have moved are Wener Bros. & Hart, who have opened a shop at Sorel; J. Elkins & Co., to Joliette; Crown Pants Co., to Cornwall, and the Union Clothing Co., to St. Johns, Quebec.

More Bisley Money.

Ottawa, July 5.—Canada through the Minister of Militia and Defence has cabled $1,000 to be added to the Queen Mary prize for the annual Bisley meet this year. This is the first time any colony has done so, and Col. Hughes hopes that other colonies will follow and make the national rifle association truly national and imperial.

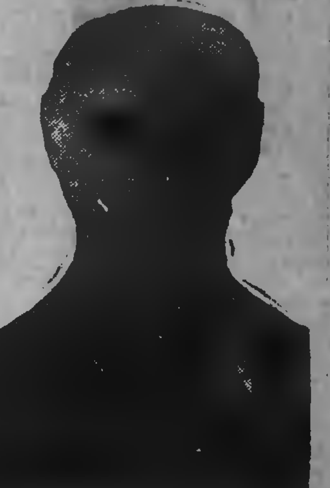
PASSING OF H. P. DWIGHT

Was Head of the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company.

Toronto, July 5.—Harvey Prentice Dwight, the oldest telegraph operator in America, and president of the Great Northwestern Telegraph Co. of Canada, died at his home, 107 St. George street, yesterday, in his 84th year. Mr. Dwight suffered a general breakdown a few weeks ago, but on Wednesday was able to leave his bed, feeling very much improved. Yesterday he had a relapse, owing to the heat, and sank rapidily.

Although Mr. Dwight retired from the active management of the G.N.W. Co. in 1903, he still kept up his connection as president of the concern. He was born in Jefferson County, N.Y., on Dec. 23, 1828, and achieved prominence in the business world and in telegraphic enterprise in Canada. He was one of the first telegraph operators in this country.

He was first an operator in Belleville and was later promoted to the office in Montreal. In 1849 he was sole operator in Toronto and in 1850 became general western superintendent for the concern, of which Sir Hugh Allen was president. An important rival entered the field in 1868, when the Dominion Telegraph Co. was organized. This system offered vigorous competition. Finally, in 1881, the Great Northwestern Telegraph Co. was organized, and absorbed both the Dominion and the Montreal combines, under the general management of Mr. Dwight.



MR. H. P. DWIGHT.

On many occasions Mr. Dwight rendered service of the utmost importance to the Government. During the Fenian raid the distribution of operators along the frontier was placed in his hands, and by this means the Government was in a position to act with a knowledge and promptness which would otherwise have been totally lacking. During the Northwest Rebellion of 1885 he also rendered signal service along similar lines, his service in this connection having been publicly acknowledged in Parliament.

Said The Telegraph Age of New York some time ago: "Mr. Dwight was mainly instrumental in placing the Dominion of Canada second to no country in the world in regard to extent and cheapness of its telegraphic facilities. Mr. Dwight takes the front rank of his profession in America."

DAILY MAIL ON INQUIRY

Special To The Review.

London, July 5—In a forecast of the finding of the Titanic Enquiry, the Daily Mail to-day says the behaviour of the steamer "Californian" is to be severely censured, Ismay and Duff and the Gordons treated leniently, and discipline among passengers to avoid panic, recommended. There is no censure of the White Star Line for insufficient boats. The Daily Mail also says the report will find that the Titanic navigated too rapidly, but Captain Smith was only guilty of an error of judgment.

FRIDAY, JULY 5, 1912.

THE VERILE WEST

Probably as fine an example of grappling with a situation that seemed deplorable will be worked out at Regina. Within three days of the destruction wrought by the tornado marvellous work has been accomplished. It shows the fine vitality of the West and the wholesome energy and push of a new country of new people. With wonderful celerity the ruined district is being cleared and such buildings as are fit for the purposes in view are being repaired.

The C. P. R. have established a record in rebuilding their freight sheds. The sheds were almost a total wreck and their whole yard was a scene of devastation which was indescribable. The yards are already nearly cleared and five hundred carpenters have worked with feverish haste so that they will be practically completed to-day. The city has decided to build a corrugated iron warehouse which will be rented to firms unable to find accommodation.

The railway officials decided to erect a large number of residences and they settled on plans for two classes of buildings, one a two-storey house to cost about $2,500, the other a bungalow costing about $1,800. If necessary they will build five hundred of these houses. Tenders for the houses have been called for and work will be started at once. It is hoped to have some completed within ten days. Over a thousand carpenters were at work to-day and more are pouring into the city on every train. All are being put to work. Hundreds of brick layers are also busy and the residences which were slightly damaged or do not have to be torn down are being patched up for immediate occupancy in remarkably fast time. On the Ackerman block the top storey of which is completely demolished, a squad of workmen are tearing away the debris and preparing to rebuild. Rapid progress is being made with Cushing Bros. big mill and the factory will soon be ready to start work again. The board of the Methodist Church met and arranged to go ahead with the reconstruction of their church.

A matter that is of vital importance is that of the insurance. As there was no fire, and that is the risk that was most largely covered in the policies, there will be little insurance money coming forward. The destruction will mean a large loss to be met, but the community is hopeful and thankful it is no worse.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Despite the efforts made in the interest of "A Sane Fourth" in the States of the Union, the annual butcher's bill will be presented. It may be less than usual, but so long as careless people fool with slaughtering fireworks, there will be mutilation and death. Fireworks are only safe—for the crowd when exploited by an expert, and spectators at a safe distance.

It is a pleasing thing to find that occasionally a prophet makes good his predictions. Champion Johnson, before going into the arbitrament of arms yesterday afternoon said, with a delightful disregard of good grammar, "There ain't going to be any white man's hope awhile," and exultingly, and in a finished, workman-like manner, proved it on the body of his opponent, one Flynn. Friends of the deceased can view the remains, etc.

About once in each twenty years, a project is set on foot to buy Palestine, generally by Jewish individuals. A despatch states that funds have been subscribed to buy the first blocks of land. It may be taken as an accepted fact that the Jewish people are numerous enough and wealthy enough to buy Palestine for what it is worth, but it will never be done. For certain things, that infertile land was denounced some two thousand years ago, and that barrier still stands. Originally a land "flowing with milk and honey" it is now largely a barren waste, peopled by a people who have not moved forward one iota in twenty centuries. They inhabit the same houses—where there are any—have the same manners and customs and so some travellers aver wear the same clothes as their forefathers wore.

About Introducing People.

So unfamiliar are many American with the English rule that the "rule is an introduction" that when one woman speaks to another at some social function there will be no reply, because "she has not been introduced." Every woman should remember that no matter who she is or where she is from, no such casual conversation can hurt her, and she should not lay herself open to the very natural criticism that she doesn't know enough to speak when she is spoken to. A meeting of this kind does not necessitate a further acquaintance, as it may cease when they leave the house of the hostess.

Some people like to follow this foreign custom of not introducing their guests to one another, feeling that the mere fact of their all being friends and guests of the host and hostess is a sufficient introduction. There is a difference of opinion, however, on this subject, and most persons think that a hostess should put her guests at their ease and introduce them when occasion requires it.

There is a difference between a formal and a casual introduction. The formal introduction is made with a deliberate purpose. The casual introduction is made to save awkwardness and need not entail further acquaintance. When a formal introduction is made the hostess should always first ask the privilege of making the introduction. This can be done in a very unobtrusive way, so that the one who wishes to be introduced knows nothing of the request.

In making an introduction the man is presented to the woman in this way "Miss Johnston, may I present Mr Beatty" or "Miss Johnston, allow me to present Mr. Beatty," or still another expression is, "Mrs. Thompson, Mr Browning desires the honor of knowing you."

In introducing two women always present the younger to the older.

It is correct for a man to ask a mutual friend to present him to a woman or young girl, and, as a rule, the request is granted unless there is some very good reason why the woman or girl does not wish to meet this special man.

Men rarely ask to be introduced to each other, but if a woman wishes to present two men to one another they should never refuse the introduction.

For a very formal introduction a bow, a pleasant smile and the words "How do you do, Mr. So-and-so," or "How do you do, Miss (or Mrs.) So-and-so," is sufficient, or one may merely repeat the name of the person presented in an undertone.

If one is desirous of being less formal it is correct to shake hands even at a first introduction. It is also correct to say, "I am so glad to meet you, Mr. So-and-so," or "It is a great pleasure for me to meet you, Miss So-and-so," but the expression, "Pleased to meet you," is not at all correct.

Men always shake hands when they are introduced to each other.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, July 4.—The demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat continues very dull, and bids for oats today were 3d lower, which checked any further business for the time being. There was a slight improvement in the demand for flour from country buyers, but the export trade is still very quiet. The demand for mill feed is also improving some. The butter market is firm, with a fair trade doing, but cheese is quieter. Eggs fairly active. Hams and bacon are more active, owing to the warm weather.

Cows—Good, from $4.50 to $5.50; medium, from $3.50 to $4; common, from $1.75 to $2.25.

Calves—Good, from $7 to $7.50; medium, from $5 to $6.00; common, from $4 to $5.

Sheep—Heavy, from $3 to $3.50; light, from $4 to $4.50; bucks, from $3 to $3.50; lambs, from $7 to $8.50.

Bulls—Heavy, $5.25 to $6; light, from $4 to $5.

Hogs—F.o.b., $7.65; fed and watered, $8.

Two features came out in the buying at the Union Stock Yards yesterday. Butchers of the quality offered dropped ¼c a pound, while hogs fed and watered went up 10c per cwt. The f.o.b. price remained the same, and the rise of 10c in the porkers was hung out as an inducement to sellers to handle all hogs fed and watered, and not on the f.o.b. plan.

The Diamond Cipher

A Baseball Romance

BY W. A. PHELON

Copyright, 1912, by W. G. Chapman.

They were seated beside a rough kitchen table, on the other side of which Mr. Yazimoto, with an almost benevolent smile, was fingering a few envelopes and bits of paper. At Mr. Yazimoto's right sat a broad-shouldered young man, with a swarthy face and a mass of curly black hair. To the left of the Japanese was a similar young man, equally swarthy, also adorned with a mass of curly black hair, but somewhat more slender and graceful in his supple figure. Another youth, of unmistakably Jewish origin, was looking after two lamps which had been placed upon shelves at the sides of the room. Both of the men with Mr. Yazimoto were unmistakably Italians, and apparently brothers.

The room itself had apparently been roughly dug as a sort of subcellar, or a retreat to which the clans of the Chinatown district could retreat in time of trouble. It was at least twenty feet square and perhaps ten feet high, with rough cement walls, a dirt floor, no furnishings except the table and a few chairs, and with no sign of an entrance or an exit anywhere around its sides. As a prison, it was ideal—far below the level of the street, unknown, unmapped and unsuspected.

Mr. Yazimoto gave his captives a few minutes in which to get their bearings and become accustomed to their surroundings. Then, smiling sweetly into Brockett's eyes, he spoke in his soft, pleasing voice, with its curious idioms and use of English words.

"I must assure honorable Mr. Brockett," said the Japanese, "how I regret with much solicitude that I accomplish transaction so unpleasing to him and to his amicable friend. Not for anything, not even for wealthiness, should this have to be uncomfortably so, except for the facts he is honorably acquainted in—with—of. Yes, yes, it is 'of' I should make usage. I saw, with much particular attention, that no injury was done to honorable Mr. Brockett or to honorable Mr. Solano."

"No special damage done, as yet," Brockett answered. "But why are we down in this little dungeon? What's all this trouble between you and me, Mr. Yazimoto?"

"Surely," purred Mr. Yazimoto, "Mr. Brockett knows most capaciously of the differences now between us. Mr. Brockett is custodian of knowledge much necessary to Mr. Yazimoto. Mr. Brockett is not of ignorance in such particular."

"I think I understand you, Mr. Yazimoto," returned Brockett, "but why don't you come down to facts, and tell us just why we are here, and just what you want of us?"

"I will proceed to elucidate," explained Mr. Yazimoto. "Mr. Brockett has, one time already, politely declined the acceptance of money proffered for the interpretation of a certain code, a most meritorious cipher. Mr. Brockett also, one time already, has given repulse to Mr. Yasimoto in effort to obtain much-desirable knowledge by force. Now, Mr. Brockett should be more amiably accommodating."

"Tell him to go to blazes," interjected Solano, viciously. Mr. Yazimoto turned his gentle smile upon the Cuban for a second.

"Mr. Solano speaks with rudeness, most impolite. He should be chided for his expressiveness. Now, then, I am all prepare to make the honorable Mr. Brockett another proposition. He has with him cipher dispatches—that is very well indeed. I could take them from him instantaneous, with able help from honorable Mr. Kelly." And the Oriental nodded lightly toward the stockier of the Italians.

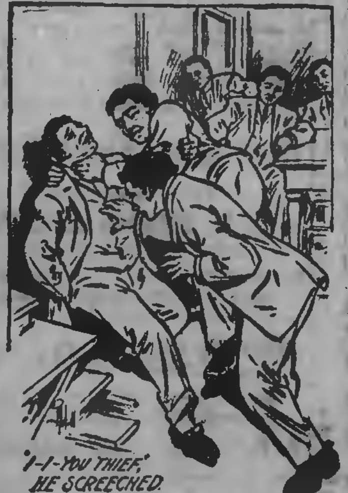
"You are a fine-looking guinea to be called Kelly," snarled Solano, as the broad-shouldered young man turned toward him for a moment. Mr. Kelly flashed his white teeth in a mocking reply.

"Kelly is a nice name, pal," said he. "My original name was way too long and it tickled my teeth to say it."

"But," resumed Mr. Yazimoto, "I need the key to those dispatches, ah ten times more than I require the dispatches themselves. Here, too, are a few little things—what you would call odds and ends—that I get from esteemed friend in Washington. With the cipher key, these all of much importance. Without, what value on this earthly? None, unpleasingly, none. Mr. Brockett, therefore, will give to me the full key of the cipher, and that we may be sure Mr. Brockett keeps honorable faithfulness, we will translate these little scraps of paper and the dispatches that Mr. Brockett carries."

"You won't get anything from me you yellow sneakthief," snapped Brockett, setting his jaws sullenly. Mr. Yazimoto smiled, waving his slim brown hand in a deprecating way.

"Mr. Brockett negatives too expeditiously. If Mr. Brockett will favor Mr. Yazimoto in this little instance, Mr. Brockett can have his dispatches back and go upon his mission. None shall ever obtain information. Moreover Mr. Brockett shall have $10,000, now in the pocket of Mr. Yazimoto. See, Mr. Brockett? I spread out the actual and honorable money."



"I-I-YOU THIEF," HE SCREECHED.

"Nothing doing," negatived Brockett. "You can't buy me."

"If Mr. Brockett declines of unwarrantable obstinacy," Mr. Yazimoto went on, "gentle compulsion must be applied to Mr. Brockett. I should regret of exceedingness that such compulsion should be utilized, but, with the assistance of honorable Mr. Kelly, it must be transacted."

Honorable Mr. Kelly flashed his white teeth again, and then, tapping lightly on the table with his forefinger, spoke briskly:

"Let's understand you, Mr. Yazzy. You give me $500 to get these two ducks down here into my cellar, and $300 more for my brother and Kid Levin to split between them. That's right, isn't it, Mr. Yazzy?"

"With exactitude. You have receive the money."

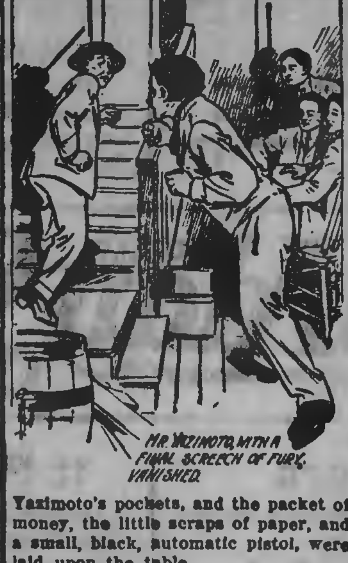
"Sure thing we have. And you paid for the Chink riot out in the street. That's all right so far as it goes. And you told me, Mr. Yazzy, that these two were holding out something the Jap government needed—something you have a right to get, and that we might have to give them a third degree to get it out of them. Correct?"

"Of preciseness, Mr. Kelly. Why the questioning?"

"Because," smiled Kelly, focussing his black orbs upon the slanting eyes of the Japanese, "because you are a rotten liar, Mr. Yazzy. These two boys are government messengers, and you are a Japanese spy. Cut them loose, Kid."

The Jewish youth calmly bent over Brockett and severed the ropes that held his arms, and then performed the same service for Solano. Mr. Yazimoto, his smiling face transformed to a brown mask of astonishment and horror, sprang back from the table, and stood hissing and spitting like some gigantic cat.

"I—I—you thief—you big Italian dog"—he screeched, and then came a flood of Japanese exclamations and aspersions. His right hand flew to his back, and like a pair of wolves Kelly and his brother pinioned him in practiced grasp. The Jewish young man thrust sinuous, greedy hands into Mr. Yazimoto's pockets, and the packet of money, the little scraps of paper, and a small, black, automatic pistol, were laid upon the table.



MR. YAZIMOTO, WITH A FINAL SCREECH OF FURY, VANISHED.

"Better be on your way, Mr. Yazzy," said Kelly, pressing sharply on the wall. An opening, perhaps two feet wide and six feet high, seemed to appear from utter blankness, and Mr. Kelly politely waved his hand toward the exit.

Mr. Yazimoto was no longer the courteous little brown man, purring and soft-mannered. He sputtered his rage in almost inarticulate cries, and then grabbed at the money on the table. Mr. Kelly threw his wrist across the brown throat and flung him back again.

"You can leave the ten thousand, Mr. Yazzy," said Kelly, while the Jewish young man retired, with the sheaf of money, to the farther corner of the room. "It's coming to us, I think. Just charge it up to profit and loss, Mr. Yazzy. You'll never dare open your face about what came off, and you ought to be thankful that we let you go with your life. Hurry along now, Mr. Yazzy—and here's a nickel for carfare."

CHAPTER XI.

Mr. Yazimoto, looking more like a baffled wildcat than a trim little Japanese gentleman, stopped in the narrow exit to pour forth a volley of selected objurgations, a perfect flood of remarks, most of which must have been highly uncomplimentary. Mr. Kelly pointed a supple finger towards the blackness that lay beyond the doorway.

"Beat it now, beat it, before I become real annoyed at you. Such language! And I'd have sworn you were an educated gentleman! Get out of here, now, or you'll have a smoky go-out, first thing you know. And don't you come bothering 'round Doyers street again. If I ever see you this side of Fourteenth street I'll run you so fast you'll discover a lot of new avenues in this town. Move along now! Upstage!" Mr. Kelly made a quick move toward the door, and Mr. Yazimoto, with a final screech of fury, vanished into the dark regions beyond the threshold.

"I suppose," said Mr. Kelly, returning to his chair, while the Jewish young man walked out in the wake of Mr. Yazimoto—just to see that he did no mischief en route—"you fellows would like to know all about this plant? I would, sure, if I happened to be you two."

"We certainly would like all the information you could give us," assented Ramon Solano, stretching his cramped limbs, and breathing in the damp air of the cellar with earnest satisfaction. "It's had us guessing for the last few minutes, Mr. Kelly."

Kelly laughed good-humoredly. "You've had a close call all right," said he. "Want something to brace you? I can send right upstairs and get you anything you like. No? That's all right, if you are on the water-wagon, but you've been through some nerve-shaking stuff, and you need a little invigorator. Tell you what—I'll have some coffee and some good thick steaks brought down here; we can eat on this table, and I can tell you the whole story without any rubbernecks horning in."

There was no chance to decline the hospitality of Mr. Kelly, even if the boys had wished to refuse. They had no desire to refuse his friendly proffers, for that matter—both of them, with the danger past, found themselves unstrung and shaky. The Italian's offer of coffee and steaks appealed at once, and it was only a few minutes before the Jewish youth superintended the setting of the table.

"Did you see the Jap gent on his way?" queried Mr. Kelly, as the coffee pot was borne in.

"I sure did that," grinned the Hebrew. "He wanted to stop and argue at the street door, but I give him the circus-hand and out be went, still catcalling. He's one sore guy, and we'll have to watch out for his smoke if we ain't careful."

LOOKED LIKE CASE OF HOLD-UP AND ROBBERY

What is thought to be one of the boldest attempts at a hold-up and robbery was committed at an early hour Wednesday morning, at the home of Mr. Walter J. Helm, who now resides at the Helm homestead on the Cobourg Road. About three o'clock Mr. Helm was awakened by the ringing of his front door bell. He went out on the balcony just over the entrance and he saw a strange man standing on the lawn. There was a very strong odor of burning wool and smoke, and the stranger told Mr. Helm that when returning from Cobourg he noticed the fire near the verandah and had since been trying to extinguish it. Mr. Helm did not believe this story and made an excuse to enter to the house, when he telephoned to the night constable. The constable was at this time making his rounds about town, and it was some time afterwards before he got into communication with Mr. Helm. While at the 'phone, Mr. Royce heard a rig cross the bridge. Thinking it likely to be the man who was causing the trouble, he hustled out and followed the rig to Tremouth's barn. From the description given, he was satisfied that he had captured the guilty one. The barn was locked and the horse was uneasy. Constable Royce attempted to tie the horse, and while engaged at this, the man slipped around at the side of the barn. The constable followed, but being without any light, was unable to find any trace of him.

The stranger gave his name to Mr. Helm as Stanley Jackson, and said he resided two miles east of Cobourg. He said he was going to be married and would return in a few days when he hoped to see him again. He also stated that in his attempt to extinguish the fire he had burned his hand.

Upon examination Mr. Helm found that a large portion of the woodwork near the steps had been burned. The tracks of the stranger were quite plain at the back of the residence and several windows had been tampered with as if attempting to gain entrance. It is unfortunate indeed that the night constable is not provided with equipment necessary, and would have been the means of bringing a dangerous man to justice.—Port Hope Guide.

HAS RETURNED TO OLD COUNTRY

Mr. G. Naish, of Southampton, Eng., a brother of Mr. H. Naish, 207 Murray street, left for home on Tuesday last, June 24th, after spending about two months in Canada.

His impressions of this country were very agreeable. Any one who is willing to work can make a good living there, in his opinion. The people are the most courteous that he has ever been associated with.

Mr. Naish visited Canada, looking over the country with a view to establishing a restaurant business. Opportunities he considers are extremely good for such a line in this land.

Mr. Naish reviewed the country thoroughly, making extensive trips by water and rail. The Peterborough Lift Lock he considers one of the wonders of the Dominion. He was highly pleased with the country and its people, but as for establishing a business here he was unable to say anything definite.

USING THE GRAND TRUNK

This is the season for conventions and excursion parties, and as usual, the Grand Trunk Railway System is getting its share of this traffic. For the first time in its history the convention of the Librarians' Association is being held outside of the United States, and officers of the Association admit that the chief attraction which led to the selection of Ottawa as a meeting place was the exceptional hotel accommodation afforded by the "Chateau Laurier." Three parties made the trip to the capital in special trains over the Grand Trunk; one from New York, 125 strong, travelled in 5 parlor cars; while the New England delegation numbered upwards of 50, Seven Pullman cars were required to escort the delegation from Chicago. As a result of this invasion the Chateau Laurier was filled from top to bottom. On July 3rd the G.T. R. carried the party to Montreal in a big special. From this city they left for the Saguenay on a steamer chartered specially from the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Co. for the purpose.

The Newark and Connecticut Lodges of Elks travelled over the Grand Trunk from Buffalo to Chicago in two parties of about 50 each on June 30th and July 1st.

A party of students from Radnor College, Nashville, Tennessee, numbering 175, arrived in Montreal on Satuday evening and remained over Sunday before proceeding on an extended tour that will include Plattsburg, Lake Champlain and Lake George. This train consists of five sleepers. On Saturday evening also 25 delegates en route to the National Commercial Teachers' Convention at Spokane will pass through Montreal travelling over the Grand Trunk System.

Bells at Cobourg

The bell that is to replace the large one that is cracked in the St. Peter's chime, together with the eleventh bell the one to be added to the set, is at present in Port Hope, having arrived from Watervliet, N.Y., with the set for St. Paul's church in that town. As soon as the bells are set up in Port Hope the tackle will be shipped to Cobourg, together with the two bells, and if possible will be placed in position by July 6th. The additional bell will give the chime more perfect tone and true harmony, which will add to their value.—Cobourg Post.

Bells at Cobourg

The bell that is to replace the large one that is cracked in the St. Peter's chime, together with the eleventh bell the one to be added to the set. is at present in Port Hope, having arrived from Watervliet, N.Y., with the set for St. Paul's church in that town. As soon as the bells are set up in Port Hope the tackle will be shipped to Cobourg, together with the two bells, and if possible will be placed in position by July 6th. The additional bell will give the chime more perfect tone and true harmony, which will add to their value.—Cobourg Post.

DRIVER HAD CLOSE SHAVE

F. Shannon, a driver for J. E. A. Fitzgerald had a miraculous escape, this morning, when a large limb of an elm tree on the West side of Aylmet street, between Hunter and Brock streets crashed down upon his load of coal.

The heavy telephone cable came with the limb, and while it fell cross the load of coal, knocking some of the bags to the road, the driver escaped unmjured.

NEW CHURCH OF ENGLAND PARISH IN PETERBORO

As announced in another column, a new Church of England Parish has been created for South Peterborough and the first service will be held Sunday evening. This movement has been under the Bishop of Toronto's consideration for some time past. He and his advisors have come to the conclusion that the time is ripe for a step forward in that direction. A week ago, a notice was issued to that effect, and the Rev. J. Price, was appointed as its first rector. The new parish is carved out of that of All Saints, with Lansdowne st., as the boundary line between them. There can be no doubt as to the need of a new parish in that part of Peterborough. Its population is growing rapidly, and we understand that the great majority of the new comers are Church of England people, from the Old Country.

The new Rector comes from Manchester, England. Formerly he was on the staff of the Bishop of that diocese, and was one of the special preachers for the diocese.

Further news as to the organization of this parish will be published in the Review from time to time.

Don't miss getting one of those beautiful White Muslin Dresses: worth $5.00 to $7.50, which are on sale at Adams' Saturday for $2.98.

FACTORY MAY COME DOWN

While nothing definite can be given out regarding the possibility of the Toronto Carpet Company locating in Peterborough, yet it is the opinion of Mayor Bradburn that the city stands equally as good a show as St. Catharines, the only other place supposed to be under consideration by the company.

Feeling that it is not the best policy to create false hopes when the matter of securing an industry for the city is concerned, until there is something definite to give out, Mayor Bradburn quite reasonably refrained from giving out much information on the proposition.

The Mayor was in Toronto yesterday, partly in connection with the matter.

As is generally known the Toronto Carpet Company have had their eye on Peterborough as a possible place for the location of a factory for some time past. They have also been looking towards St. Catharines. Peterborough, however after thorough investigation appears to meet the approval to an encouraging extent of the company.

"Peterborough will certainly be given a good chance to secure the industry," was the firm opinion of Mayor Bradburn.

The company employs about 700 hands. Should they locate here they will require a site of about forty-five acres.

PETES DROPPED SECOND BRACE TO THE SENATORS; OPEN IN BERLIN TO-DAY

The Petes dropped both ends of the bill at Riverside yesterday, the first attraction going to the Senators with a 6—2 score, and the second a five inning go, by 4—0, with Babe McManus showing his goods for the first time to the local fans. In the first contest Manager Rowan pitted himself against Chub Kubat, whom the Petes knocked out of the box on another occasion here. Cook's portsider didn't appear to have much, neither did the Petes' heaver. The visitors succeeded in bunching their hits, while the locals failed, this explaining the result of the fray.

The visitors' shortstop saved the second game by stabbing a hot drive from Rowan in the third. It was a case of nipping a batting rally, as Trout had started the round with a two ply clout just inside the third bag. He was doubled at second when Schwind went over and grabbed the ball. It was a pretty fly as the hit looked like a swat for two sacks and a score.

The Petes outhit the Senators, but failed to do their clouting for runs. At the same time McManus received good support, and much better than Beard, whose outfielders were outclassed when it came to covering ground.

Burke began the hitting by walting a liner to left. Louden flew out to Barthold and Burke stole second. Dolan sent one through Byrnes and Robertson hit through short and third and scored the Sailor. Schwind skied to Tully and Byrnes grabbed a drive from Draper.

Nasher went out on pop flys to Louden and the pitcher. Beard fanned.

◆

Callaghan dropped one over second; Hopper fanned. McManus was out short to first. Burke was walked and again stole second. Louden grounded out.

Barthold hit and was sacrificed by Tully. Schwartz skied to the catcher and Byrnes sent a long one to Burke.

◆

Robertson, Schwind and Draper were retured on flies.

Trout hit out a two bagger, but was doubled off second when Rowan's drive was gathered in by Schwind. This was a heartbreaker. Nasher and White singled, but Beard was thrown out by the pitcher.

◆

Callaghan walked and scored when Hopper hit out to centre for a double, and making third on the throw. McManus grounded, but Burke came along with a sacrifice that scored Callaghan. Louden gave White a fly.

Barthold was thrown out easily by Louden; Tully got a lucky hit; Schwartz flied to Hopper and Byrnes to centre.

◆

Dolan flew out to Nasher; Rowan dropped Robertson's fly, the runner going to second and scoring on Schwind's hit to centre, which bounded away from White. Draper fanned and Callaghan was out at short.

◆

Trout fanned and Rowan hit a drop over second, Nasher flew out to Hopper, and while White singled he was forced at second by Beard.

Her Prospectus.

Nests in Odd Places.

Within a comparatively small area of Cheshire, England, writes Mr. H. H. Wardle in The Field, I have inspected a thrush's nest, containing eggs, built in the shafts of a farmer's cart; another, containing five eggs, fashioned between the spokes of a railway wagon wheel; and a blue tit's nursery established inside a street gas lamp. In other districts also cases of nests in odd places have been reported this spring. A pair of robins made a nest on the top of a traveling oil van, belonging to a grocer, at Bocking, Essex. Two pairs of sparrows built on the ornamental ironwork of a tram standard opposite a cemetery in Sheffield, the nests being within a few feet only of the electric wires, along which the whirring wheels of the trolley travel. Recently a blackbird was found sitting on five eggs in a nest built on the blade of an oar in the Derwent Angling Association's bungalow.

Singular though these preferences are, I am not sure, Mr. Wardle proceeds, that any of them equal the strangeness of choice displayed by two blackbirds which, in April last year, constructed their nest on a ledge under a railway wagon at the L. & N. W. station, Ingleton. When discovered there were two eggs in the nest, which had made the double journey between Clapham Junction. Of late years the tendency has been to concede that birds are governed in their habits and movements by mental attributes similar to those which control our own. It will, perhaps, be objected that such odd selections of nesting sites do not sustain this view; but neither do they support the theory that their actions are controlled by instinct, the very essence of which is its unchangeableness.

He Went to Jail.

When a defendant failed to answer a judgment summons at Acton, England, recently for non-payment of rates, it was stated that for the last eight or nine years he had gone to prison every half-year instead of paying the rates.

A RISING SCIENTIST

OTTAWA BOY HAS WON HONORS IN LONDON, ENGLAND.

W. Buell Meldrum, Although Only Twenty-Five Years Old, Has Carried Off Honors and Scholarships Throughout His University Career —Goes to German Universities to Complete His Course.

Ottawans, generally, are very proud of the honors won by the younger generation of citizens in different schools and universities, but the recent achievement of W. Buell Meldrum is particularly gratifying to his many friends in that city. His academic career has been unusually brilliant, and he has now been awarded the special science scholarship by the London, Eng., commissioners, established in 1851. This scholarship may be held for two or possibly three years and is of annual value of $750.

W. Buell Meldrum was born in 1887, on a farm near Hull, Quebec, the son of Thomas Meldrum, a retired farmer, who has been a resident of Ottawa for some few years. Buell Meldrum was educated by private tuition until he passed the entrance examination into the Ottawa Collegiate in 1901. Three years later he matriculated into McGill University, winning a scholarship of $125 for general proficiency. During his first year at McGill he won first honors in mathematics; the second year he secured a prize of $100 in mathematics, physics and English, besides other honors; the third year he won first rank honors in chemistry, and the fourth year he graduated as bachelor of arts with first rank honors in chemistry. During the summer of 1909 he worked in the coal tests laboratory for the Dominion Government and during the following years he carried on an advanced study in physical chemistry and obtained the degree of master of science for research. He also, during that year, became demonstrator in chemistry in the faculty of applied science at McGill, and during 1910-1911 he was senior demonstrator at McGill, as well as instructor in organic chemistry, and quantitative analysis at the Montreal Technical Institute. A few months ago he captured the Austrian teaching fellowship at Harvard University and since that time he has assisted with the undergraduate class in organic chemistry there, besides continuing research work in electrochemistry.

During the summer he will undertake a special work at Cologne and Heidelburg, Germany, and when his work at Harvard is completed he will received the degree of doctor of philosophy.

MR. ORME MORROW AND HIS SISTER MISS LILLIAN TELL OF DISASTER AT REGINA

Write to Their Parents on Water Street, Giving Particulars of the Cyclone's Visit to the City—Miss Morrow and Friends Sought Shelter in Cellar of Their Home

Mr W. G. Morrow, of Water street has kindly given the Review permission to use the following letters, which are from his daughter Miss Lillian Morrow and son Ormond, both of whom passed safely through the disaster at Regina.

Regina, July 1, 1912.

Dear Mother and All—I guess by the time you have received Orm's and my letters, you will know about the awful calamity here.

We have had such terrible hot weather it was expected to turn into something, but no one ever thought for a minute that we would get struck like this. But the people have an awful lot to be thankful for. To take a look at the buildings, you would think it was a miracle to know that such a few were injured and killed. Yesterday morning, after church, I thought I'd take a stroll over to Gladys'. I remained there awhile, and just got back a short time before the storm came up, but there have been so many bad storms here recently, almost every night, we didn't pay any special attention to it except to put down the windows. So I came up stairs to get ready for church, little thinking that in a few minutes it would be crushed to the ground. The wind came up pretty badly, so I got a little scared and went down stairs with the family. Little Kathleen, the girl here was crying and we were trying to pacify her, and then all of a sudden an awful crash came, and Mr. Demorest, told us to to to the cellar, so by that time I was beginning to forget all I knew, when we felt the house shake we thought we saw our last. We succeeded in getting down the cellar till the worst was over. We, of course, thought we were getting the worst in town, not knowing that we were only getting a slight touch, and that houses and immense buildings were being shattered to pieces. We are on McIntyre street, just one block west of the worst part, and only had our chimney blown off and panes of glass broken. "Molly" was over on Lorne street, in one of the worst parts, and I don't see how she wasn't injured or almost killed, as the top of their house was blown off, and everything was spoiled inside, also all her clothing, but they were also lucky and were saved. She was telling me, they just stood and clung to one another for grim death. She is coming over this afternoon, so, will tell me all.

I could sit here all day and tell of the different experiences some people had. Some were just wondering how soon they were going to be killed.

Mr. Dennett was over to see if I was alright last night and was all bandaged up, that no one would know him. He was sitting in his room, when it came up, and saw how terrible it was. He thought he'd be safer in one of the other fellow's rooms, so went in and tried to put the window down, but was dashed to the floor and crawled to the clothes closet to hang on to something, and when he became conscious, was lying in a lot a block away, under some ruins, the house being dashed to pieces. There were between 7 and 9 killed in the one place. It was a boarding house of boys. Of curse, he considered himself lucky, but couldn't even get a doctor.

It was a horrible sight to see them with people on waggons, wrapped up in sheets. I got almost sick and couldn't look at some, it was such an awful experience. Everyone in town was out, after it was over, to see what they could do. Even now, we can't realize what has happened, although we've been out three or four times, looking at the different places.

The churches are an awful wreck and it certainly happened in the right time, just after Sunday school, was out, and before church went in, for nearly everyone in the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, would have been killed, as we would have all thought ourselves safe there, if anywhere. They are smashed right to the ground. It is awful to see all the people without homes and money and some of the people had everything they had to their names, just in their homes.

Where Gladys lives, they hardly knew it, so Orme was more than thankful when he got home. As for our house, we can't say why it was not dashed, for it is quite an old house, and a frame one too, but we escaped.

I think Mrs Sharpe's house has gone for every house on that street, has, but I couldn't get up there, as they wouldn't allow anyone on that street this morning. However, they are not classed among the injured, so I guess they are safe. The cottage Orme and we used to live in, and all the buildings around there, just went down like a match.

This all sounds tame, for I know you have no idea of what the place looks like. It will take a number of years for Regina to become what it was when this happened. A number of people are intending to leave it already. Weren't we a family, Orme and the bunch, last night, as we sat and thought of it!

Molly wants to go home sooner now than we intended, on account of having no clothes, and hardly any place to stay, so I'll ask off to-morrow, and see if I can go sooner than the 21st with her. So expect me anytime.

Poor Regina will be quite a desolate place for a long time.

Hope you have not been worrying over us. I told Orm to send a telegram, but thought these would get there as quickly on account of the rush.

Your loving daughter,
LILLIAN.

Regina, July 1st, 1912.

Dear Father,—Before this letter has reached you, you will have learned of the awful catastrophe that befell the "Queen City" of the West yesterday, June 30th. It will long be remembered by the people of Regina. I am enclosing you papers which make a miserable attempt to describe what happened here. No person that has not seen the slaughter of the finest buildings in the West, the loss of life, and the hundred injured, have a faint idea of the wreckage.

The papers tell you of some of the finest buildings which were hurled and crushed to the earth just as you would smash a match box. Solid cement and brick buildings, anywhere from two stories high to six, have been crushed to the earth, and a stranger would never know that a building had ever been erected there—all that is left is the debris.

Hundreds of people are without homes and are sleeping in club rooms, exhibition buildings, etc. Conservative and Liberal committee rooms, hotels, stores, have all been more or less used as hospitals, and medical attention was sent for to every part of Saskatchewan. People that were out on the street and knocked unconscious could not have medical attention, as all the doctors had too much to do in trying to save the lives of people pulled out from under the wreckage of the buildings.

The fine city churches are no more. The Metropolitan Methodist, the Knox Presbyterian church, the Baptist, just newly built, have been badly damaged. In fact the Methodist and Presbyterian will have to be built all over again. The Y.W.C.A., Y.M.C.A., Public Library, all met the same fate. It is estimated that about forty people have been killed outright and about three hundred injured, some of which will most likely die. The great wonder of the people here is that there were not more killed. To see the wreckage you certainly would wonder. In the Telephone Exchange, a building five stories high, is just a mass of wreckage, bringing down with it twelve girls, and only one will die. No girls were hurt in the Y.M.C.A.

I was fortunate enough to be out of town. I went away Saturday to the lake and come back just about one hour after all the happenings. And I am glad I was away. On account of us living west of Albert street, Gladys and all the kiddies were not harmed. Lillian happened to have left the Y.M.C.A. to dine at some friends, and was also lucky. I was scared to death for awhile. I was afraid to ask about Lillie. I think there was about a dozen fellows over and running around inquiring about her. She is a popular "kid."

The old cottage we lived in on Cornwall street was swamped. Why there were not more people killed was on account of it being Sunday. When to make matters better, Sunday school children had just left the churches, girls and fellows out of the Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. were out at different parks, etc. The C.P.R. sheds and C.N.R. sheds are a total wreck. Elevators, trains, cars of all descriptions are strewn over the C.P.R. yards. Cattle that got out of the cars are roaming all over the streets. No telephone systems left, nor long distance, railways tied up. City will be in darkness for a long time as the wires are all broken.

Nobody knows how it will effect Regina, but I think it will be a set back. Outside help is being imported, and this will be an active city the rest of the year. When the census was taken Regina was credited with a population of 31,000 people, but outsiders thought that Regina was slipping one over on them. Not so. Regina to-day has 35,000 people, and if anybody wants to dispute it, there are lots of good Regina citizens willing to put up a bet of $5,000 on it. What do you think of that. When I come here five years ago Regina had 12,000, and this has tripled. She was just leaping ahead and was taking a back seat to nothing, but this has been a severe blow to what I think was a coming beauty of a city.

Ackerman's and Turner's six story building of Peterborough is half ruined. Also private dwellings from extreme south of Regina to the extreme north, taking in a strip of the three streets, McIntyre, Lorne, Smith and Cornwall.

Well, this is all I will say now, that Lillian and everybody is uninjured, and all is well.

Good-bye.

Your loving son,
ORMOND.

BRITAIN AND AEROPLANES.

Competitions Between the Different Manufacturers Is Vigorous.

More business-like than the recent French military aeroplane competitions, the War Office tests announced recently will be generally approved as calculated to bring out highly efficient military machines. The amount of the prizes is adequate, but the right of purchasing prize-winning machines at $5,000 is driving a hard bargain.

... the French trials guarantees to purchase, machines at $8,000 each were given and the prize-winners were secure of orders for a certain number. There is no definite undertaking to buy winning machines in the British trials, although manufacturers need have no uneasiness on that score, since it is the definite policy of the War Office to acquire a large number of aeroplanes. It must be said that only orders for a number of machines at $5,000 each would make it worth while to enter the competitions.

In some respects the tests are more severe than the French, and in most details they are more workmanlike and up-to-date. One thing is clear, the conditions — among which is a speed minimum of fifty-five miles per hour—will in all probability prevent any British biplane from winning a prize. In the French trials only one biplane, the Breguet, flew at fifty-nine miles per hour, but all the others were far behind. Now the Cody machine is the fastest of British biplanes, but it could not quite manage fifty-five miles per hour and fulfill all the other conditions as well. However, Mr. Cody is already hard at work designing a new machine to replace the one broken by Lieut. Parke the other day, and he will be a very strong candidate.

The excellent condition as to packing the machines takes away one of the advantages of the French makers in their possession of aeroplanes successful in the French trial, for even the best of them are not capable of being packed up into dimensions for transport on an English railway, and it would require a good deal of redesigning to fit them for this quality.

In stipulating that in the British sections of the competitions foreign motors may be used, the War Office have no doubt assumed that British motor makers would be hard pressed to produce high-powered engines in time for the trials. There are good engines up to 60 h.p. available now but it would not be easy to produce bigger ones and get them in trim for these severe trials by next summer. At the same time, in a British test, foreign engines ought to be excluded; their opportunity lies in the international division of the competitions. It is just as important to encourage the production of British aero-motors as of British aeroplanes. This is the weakest point in the conditions, and it will probably have the effect of preventing several British motor makers from going to the expense of designing new engines.

Strike-breakers are enabling ships of these American lines on which a seamen's strike was declared, last Saturday, to get away on time.

BARNS DESTROYED DURING THE STORM

Otonabee And Ennismore Farmers Suffer by the Lightning's Pranks--Dr. Johnston Had Lucky Escape at Matchett Fire in Otonabee--Workman Was Stunned.

The fierce electric storm which passed over the city last night caused the total destruction of the fine farm outbuildings of Mr. Sandy Matchett, of Otonabee. Two large barns containing agricultural implements, and a shed went up in smoke. The driveshed containing a light wagon and buggy were saved. Some valuable cattle and horses in the stables were rescued from the flames in the nick of time. Through valiant and unflagging work the farmhouse was saved from devastation. The estimated loss is about $3,500, including the buildings and agricultural machinery.

As the buildings were outside the fire limits, the local brigade were unable to render assistance. Some party in the southern section of the city telephoned Chief Howard that the fire was near the O.G.E. works. A man was sent up in the fire hall tower to take observations, and reported that the flames could be seen, apparently, far to the south.

Chief Howard jumped into W. H. Denham's auto car, which was passing at the time, and was taken down to the fire, which was about opposite Crawford's Grove. Nothing could be done to check the flames, the house being beyond the city limits.

FOUNDRY FIRE.

G. Walter Green's foundry had a narrow squeak from the fire fiend at a very early hour this morning. An alarm was rung in from Box 41, at 6.20 a.m.

Fire had broken out in the moulding room, an accumulation of dust and chaff becoming ignited, presumably, through an electric wire. The rafters commenced to burn rapidly. Fortunately some of the employes of the foundry were around and fought the flames with buckets of water, until the quick arrival of the brigade. Had it not been for the splendid efforts of the employes the loss would have been decidedly heavier than it was. The loss will be between $200 and 300.

UNPLEASANT EXPERIENCE.

Dr. Johnston passed through an unpleasant experience at the fire at Sandy Matchett's farm last evening, that will live in his memory for some time. The local "vet," with his assistant, V. de Buissiere, was called to Mr. Matchett's place in the afternoon on a professional visit. In the evening he was preparing to leave for home, but on account of the threatening weather outlook he was prevailed to postpone his departure for a space.

The doctor put up his mare in one of the stables, and also stored his rig in the driveshed. He and Mr. Matchett went into the house and were talking about the time Mr. Matchett was burned out eighteen years ago. At that moment Mr. Josh Chambers rushed in and exclaimed, "Come on out, you're all afire here."

Lightning had ignited the barns, and the flames were spreading with incredible rapidity. Dr. Johnston burst into the stable to rescue his mare. He found it almost frantic, and beginning to suffocate from the smoky fumes. While releasing the affrighted beast, the stable door swung shut, and Dr. Johnston was imprisoned momentarily in the burning structure. By desperate efforts he eventually found and opened the door and staggered out, leading the wildly frightened animal.

BUGGY RUINED.

In the meantime his rig had been brought out, although covered with flames. These were extinguished by water from the pump, although the buggy is absolutely ruined and means buying a new vehicle.

Dr. Johnston says the neighbors flocked to the scene with amazing swiftness, some in rigs, some on foot and even others on horseback. Nothing much could be done to save the burning buildings, so intense was the heat. The rapidity with which the barns burned was the striking feature of the affair.

The Chambers street "vet" is thanking his lucky stars to-day for his providential escape.

"When I got outside that burning barn and saw where I had been a few moments before, I wondered how I ever got out alive," said the doctor this morning.

FIRES IN ENNISMORE.

The lightning bug was busy in Ennismore last night. The barn belonging to Michael Flood was badly scorched and damaged, by an especially fierce stroke of the electric fluid.

Mr. Crough was another sufferer, to a much more severe extent. He is mourning to-day the complete destruction of a fine big barn, which with the contents, was rased to the ground. All the farmers who suffered loss are insured in the Farmers' Union Insurance Company.

MEN HAD CLOSE CALL

During the storm yesterday two men, J. Elliott, and W. Kemp, were working on the cellar of a new house on Murray street, opposite the armouries. They left the cellar when the storm broke and went into the old house that had been moved back off the foundation. While standing in the hallway a bolt of lightning struck the chimney, and caromed to the front door, ripping off the casing of the door and smashing all the glass in the windows. It was a close squeak for the men, one of whom was for a time stunned.

HORSES KILLED.

Mr. P. G. Towns, general merchant in Douro, informed the Review today that three horses, the property of Mr. M. J. Leahy, were killed last night and barns belonging to Messrs. Steve Murphy, B. Condin, John M. Leahy and Alex. Conroy, were struck but not fired. A vacant barn belonging to Mrs. McFee, near Warsaw, was destroyed.

GRADUATES AT PORT ARTHUR

The name of Miss Margaret McNicholl, a Peterborough young lady, appears among the list of graduating nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, Port Arthur, the annual graduation exercises of which took place recently.

The above hospital is under the same control as the local St. Joseph's, East City.

Miss McNicholl's success in the nursing profession will be pleasing news to her host of local friends.

Miss McNicholl also was successful in winning a prize for the best paper on "Medicine."

The presentation of the diplomas was made by Father Grenier, and the medals by Dr. Beck.

Miss McNicholl intends to commence the practice of her profession in Peterborough in a short time, and undoubtedly will find a wide scope for the usefulness and nobility of her duties while here.

FIFTH ANNUAL TRIP OF CRESSMAN'S A BIG SUCCESS

Every year the Cressman Company Limited, entertain their employees to a trip down the river. Yesterday (Thursday) afternoon, the first half holiday of the season, was the day selected this year and a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon was spent in sports, games, music, etc.

Just prior to leaving, the weather seemed unfavorable, but the sky cleared, and the weather proved all that could be desired. No rain was experienced during the afternoon, but a storm of short duration was encountered on the return trip, which, however, did not seriously interfere with the enjoyment of the day.

The steamer "Geneva" was chartered for the occasion and after a delightful sail of about one hour, deposited the merry half-day crowd at Highland Park, the old camping ground.

A somewhat lengthy but exceedingly interesting program of sports was arranged, and immediately upon the landing of the boat, these were commenced.

The prize winners of the various events were as follows—

50 yards Dash, men—Edward Deem.

50 Yards Dash, ladies—Margaret Morency.

Running Long Jump—Edward Deem

Three Legged Race, men — Reg. Brown and Jas. McNichol.

Three Legged Race, ladies— Miss O'Donnell and Miss Green.

Bag Race—James Duffy, Jr.

Hop Step and Jump—Grover Halpin

Orange Eating Contest— Sherman Preston.

Henderson Challenge Race— Gordon Manning.

Girls' Race—Viola Edney.

Bun Eating Contest—John R. Scriver.

A football game was won by Reg Brown's team, score 2 0.

A baseball game was won by Fred Cressman's team, score 2-1.

After the sports, super was served by the ladies of the party. At the close of the very delightful repast, Mr. Mac Schluter, on behalf of the employees, moved a vote of thanks to the Cressman Company for their thoughtfulness and generosity in providing such an enjoyable outing, and requested Messrs. Harry and Fred Cressman, who were present, to convey to Mr. A. W. Cressman and Mrs. Cressman, who were unavoidably absent, the hearty thanks of all the employees.

Tuckers' orchestra accompanied the excursion and proved a most important factor in the success of the outing.

Mr. Louis Mendel, the well known photographer, was also along with his camera, and secured some fine photos.

Of the 75 or 80 employees who were down, each and everyone voted the 5th Annual Store Picnic the "Best Yet" and all most heartily joined in the band clap and singing of "They are Mighty Good Fellows" when the vote of thanks was tendered the Cressman Company.

War Against Strikes.

London, July 3.—War against the strike as a weapon for workmen has been declared by some of the old-time labor leaders of Great Britain, including men who have heretofore advocated extreme measures to obtain better wages and conditions.

Philip Snowden, one of the cleverest of the Socialist members of the House of Commons, was among the first to sound the warning that the men were gaining nothing by continual strikes.

Now Keir Hardie, his more extreme colleague, says he is more than ever convinced that legislative action would produce more permanent results than could be hoped for from strikes.

Embroidery on Kid.

Frenchwomen are enthusiastic over the fad of using kid trimmings on their outdoor costumes. But the kid must be embroidered. Soft white or very light colored kid is used and is fashioned into belts, collars and revers bands.

Any shape that suits the fancy is used, but all must correspond. The work is done in silk and metal threads, and the raw edge of the kid is finished off with a cord of heavy thread of dull gold or silver. Any simple design can be worked out, but be sure to let the design be simple. One does not wish to cover too closely the beauty of the kid.

A favorite adaptation of the work is the loose "ceintures," or fronts, worn beneath the fashionable boleros of cloth or velvet.

The kid fits in the space between the fronts of the bolero and reaches to the belt line. It is then embroidered, using white or two tones of silk that correspond with the color of the gown.

Little loops are placed at the sides and these fastened to hooks sewed inside the bolero. Sleeve bands to match add another trig touch to the costume.

The work has many other uses besides dress trimmings. It can be made into charming opera bags, holders for various things or mounted on cardboard for picture frames, fancy boxes, etc.

Short Memory.

"The public usually forgets any injudicious speeches a man happens to make," remarked the confident politician.

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum; "but it almost invariably forgets the man along with them."—Washington Star.

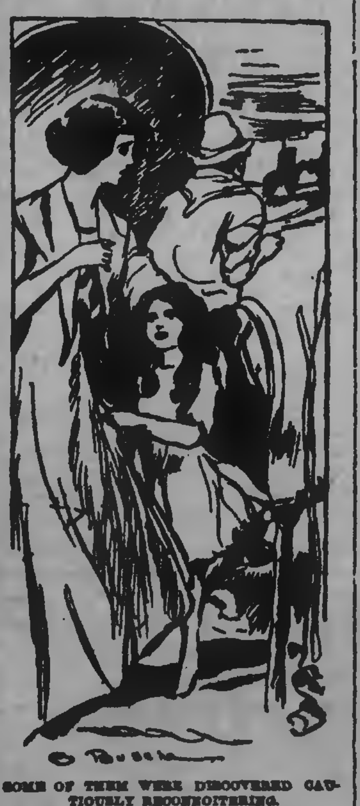
The Desert Ship

She Sailed Between Omaha and Denver

By JOHN TOWNSEND

When gold was discovered in Colorado there was a hegira across "the plains" lying between the Missouri river and the Rocky mountains. The vehicles used were wagons with a white canvas top and were called prairie schooners.

That is a historic period in American history. The distance was but about 500 miles, but there were no roads, only flat alkali plains, with no shade, and the sun, together with the dry atmosphere, so shrank the fellies of the wagons that many a prairie schooner sank down in a heap. As the sea is strewn with wrecks of ships, so were the plains strewn with wrecks of wagons. Pike's peak was at the time the principal point at which gold had been discovered, and most of the caravans were headed for that mountain. A story has been often told of a prairie schooner on which was chalked "Pike's peak or bust." The vehicle broke down and additional words appeared, "Busted, by thunder!"



SOME OF THEM WERE DISCOVERED CAUTIOUSLY RECONNOITERING.

One spring day a band of mounted Indians making their way down the Platte river not far from what is now Lincoln, Neb., looking for a solitary wagon to attack and plunder—they were not strong enough to attack a train—saw one of the bucks deployed in front coming back, evidently with news of some kind. All pulled up in the hollow between two plains rollers, where they would not be seen, and awaited the arrival of their vedette. When he came he told them that a wagon such as never before had been seen in that region was coming. Its top was made of the same material as an ordinary plains wagon, but very much higher, and there seemed to be three tops, one very little one in front and two large ones back. But the strangest thing about it was that there were no horses, and yet it moved—moved faster than the ordinary wagon with horses to draw it. The great spirit must be propelling it.

The chief, dismounting, went to the top of the roller, where he saw the strange vehicle in the distance. It was coming rapidly toward him. There was the forward cover of triangular shape and the two behind rectangular, the bottom end being broader than the top. The body and wheels were an ordinary wagon, though larger than its kind. It was these three pieces of canvas that puzzled the redskin, and the fact that the thing moved of itself struck him with terror.

While the Indians are wondering what Manitou is riding in this strange vehicle let us get aboard of her and see what is going on there. She is simply a prairie schooner rigged with a canvas jib and the two sails with which schooners are equipped. Instead of sailing over ocean billows she was riding the rollers of the plains. Over the center of the rear axle sat a man working a wheel much like those now used to steer automobiles.

This man was Abner Swift, the owner of the veritable prairie schooner. Hearing of the difficulties encountered by the argonauts of the plains, the danger of his wagon wheels collapsing by means of the heat of the sun and the dryness of the atmosphere, the fact that fodder for horses must be carried in bulk, that the horses might die and leave the wagon without motive power, learning that the ground to be passed over was a dry, hard surface without a stick of timber on it, he conceived the idea of propulsion by sails. He had bought the largest plains wagon he could find, set upon it two masts and a jibboom, fitted them with sails and attached his own steering gear. For a cover he had none except when not moving. When laid up on account of adverse winds or at night the sails afforded ample protection.

And so this man in search of gold, having provisioned his land ship and put his family aboard, one bright morning, when a fine breeze was blowing from the southwest, hoisted sails at Omaha and started for the land of the sunset.

A crowd saw him off and previous to loosening the brakes fired innumerable remarks at him.

"What y' goin' to do when the wind blows dead ahead?"

"Tack," was the reply.

"See yere, stranger; don't y' know that one man and two or three boys ain't enough to resist an attack of Injuns? They'll raise yer ha'r for y'."

"I'm relyin' for that," replied Swift, "on the Injuns bein' skeered at some-p'n they hain't seen before."

"So long! Hope you reach the peak all right."

"I've got to get there. And I expect to do it in a third of the time it would take horses or mules to carry me there."

The men holding the wagon wheels at this order loosened their grasp and the land ship sailed down the street toward the roadless west, amid the shouts of the populace.

All the first day he had free sailing, for the wind held and was from the most advantageous quarter. The chief difficulty was the bumps, and had he not used his brakes unsparingly he would have been wrecked in some of the rough places he was obliged to pass over. But even with this restriction he made twice the distance he could have made with horses.

It was on the fifth day after starting that the desert ship was espied by the band of Indians looking for prey. Abner Swift sat at the tiller, sailing before an easterly breeze, unconscious of the danger that lurked in his front. Suddenly a dozen Indians came dashing over a roller a couple of miles distant and dead ahead. The moment Swift saw them he put his tiller hard aport, swung round in a circle and, coming up into the wind, lowered all sails.

The effect of this maneuver produced instant consternation on the redskins. Pulling their horses back on their haunches, they wheeled about and fled across the roller over which they had come.

Abner with the headway he had on brought his ship up so that it faced in the direction of the savages. It was near sunset and he had been expecting soon to stop for the night, and the meeting determined him not to go any further. His children, four stout boys and three girls, each grasped a rifle, but their father, relying on the superstitious effect his desert craft had on their enemies, ordered them not to fire a shot.

Anticipating trouble during the night, the argonauts got their supper, made the beds in the wagon and were ready for an emergency. It was still an hour before dark, and what they feared was that the redskins would overcome their terror while they could still see. Indeed, twilight remained when some of them were discovered cautiously reconnoitering. But meanwhile the oldest boy, Peter, had brought out a hollow griffin's head that had been brought from a theater property room in Chicago as an implement of Indian warfare. He set it upon the ship's bow and as soon as darkness had fallen put a kerosene lamp in it.

During the night half the party watched while the other half slept. Not a sound of an Indian was heard. Could the ship's crew have seen the savages they might have all slept, for it was not till near morning that a redskin could screw up his courage to take a second look at the monster who was guarding the argonauts. Then a squaw was so frightened at the sight that she gave a shriek and ran away as fast as she could go.

The cry awakened the head of the family, who listened and, hearing other sounds among the savages, felt some fear of an attack. He therefore got out a roman candle, with a number of which he had provided himself, and, fixing it in the griffin's mouth, touched a match to it. The sight of the unearthly monster spitting red, green and blue fire balls at them was too much for the redskins, and, starting in the opposite direction, they did not stop till they had put miles between them and the monster ship.

The next morning, a favorable breeze springing up, after breakfast the party got aboard the wagon ship and proceeded on their journey. Having thus far averaged some fifty miles a day, they were not more than 150 miles from Denver, where they proposed to stop for awhile. Leaving the Platte, they steered a southwesterly course, finding the country still perfectly level and easy to travel over. Once again they saw Indians lurking near them, but they kept so great a distance that the argonauts felt assured they experienced the same terror the desert ship had inspired before. Not far from Denver the travelers struck a stage road, and with the wind blowing out of the northeast they spun along gayly, passing the daily coach on the way.

It was about midday that they sailed into the then village of Denver, and the inhabitants who were taking their nooning lined the streets to see them pass. Luffing up to the wind at the hotel, the family disembarked and went in to enjoy for a few days good cooking and comfortable beds.

The desert ship is now a legend. Old men who were boys when it sailed the prehistoric bottom of an ocean bed tell about it, but younger persons shake their heads and whisper that the old fellows are beginning to believe that it actually made the voyage.

Book Bound In 1,000 Gems.

The most costly bound book in the world is shortly to be sold by auction in London. It is a copy of the original edition of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, the green morocco covers of which are literally studded with a thousand gems set in gold. To be exact, there are 1,050 stones in gold settings, firmly fixed in the leather, the book having taken nearly two years to produce. The gems include rubies, amethysts, emeralds, garnets, turquoises, topazes, and olivines.

The front cover, besides being richly gemmed with flashing jewels, is decorated with three peacocks inlaid in the natural colors. The eyes of the feathers are jewelled with ninety-seven topazes, all being specially cut to the correct shape of the eye. The eyes of the birds are of rubies and the crests of topazes. A border depicting a vine has 250 amethysts studded in groups to represent bunches of grapes.

On the back cover of this marvellous book is a faithful model of a Persian mandoline made of mahogany and inlaid with silver, pearl, satinwood, and ebony. A snake with eyes of emeralds and a skull with teeth of ivory are other ornaments of this unique book, which is cased in a carved-oak casket.

For Bridge Parties.

For some occult reason known only to the designer of this waist it has been called "the bridge blouse." Possibly the gold buttons arranged as a trimming about this square corsage is supposed to suggest the coin of the realm that at some parties changes hands in a most distressing fashion. The waist is of white chiffon cloth with a front emplecement of black tulle. A big splashing chou of scarlet tulle enlivens this chic waist.

Life Insurance

Marriage is a good thing. It is a part of the duty every young man owes to his race and to the community. And one of the first duties after marriage, is life insurance. The young man of riches may scoff at this, but riches sometimes "take wings" while a life insurance policy in a sound company is something that is not affected by mischance or ill fortune. The young man who depends upon his own efforts for a living, more than any other young man, should follow marriage with life insurance, and thus provide surely for a wife, or for a wife and babies, against the inevitable. Such a young man may demur at this, on the theory that he "can't afford it." But youth is not inclined to consider all possibilities in such a case. Life insurance is one of the things that should be afforded at the expense of something less important. If a young man smokes, he surely can curtail his tobacco supply by one cigar a day, or he can save an equivalent by cutting off something else he does not need. The cost of a single medium price cigar a day will pay the premium on a life-insurance policy, say, for $1,000. And thus, by a slight concession as to a single habit, some necessary provisions may be made for the future.

You will find the most up-to-date policy of to-day issued by the SUN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

Towns Change Flags.

By the correction of an error in surveying made long ago two American towns have become British. International surveyors who have been at work deciding the boundary line between British Columbia and the State of Washington have re-located the line for a long distance two miles further south, and British Columbia will acquire considerable new territory, including two towns, Blaine and Sumas.

The matter is being carried out by arrangement, and neither Washington nor Ottawa is perturbed. The same, however, cannot be said of Blaine and Sumas. There are 5,000 people in the former town and about 3,000 in the latter who have always called themselves citizens of the republic.

When the mistake was made in the original survey many years ago there were no towns in the district, only primeval forests. The extent of the error will not be known until the surveyors have finished their task.

The situation is somewhat complicated. Both the towns are in Whatcom County, which is "dry" (that is, teetotal or prohibitionist). When these towns are added to British Columbia the will of the electorate will be set at nought, for both will become "wet" under the Provincial Hotels Act.

Again, huge quantities of opium have been seized in these towns, and the smugglers have been sent to Walla Walla, the prison of the State of Washington. The question arises: Will these smugglers be released, because since they carried the opium no farther south than Blaine and Sumas, they are not guilty of smuggling.

World's Wheat Area.

The fourth and concluding volume of agricultural statistics for 1910, issued recently, deals with available returns for that year of the acreage and production of crops.

The report points out that the expansion of the wheat area appears to be proceeding steadily. Within the British Empire, a loss of 11,000 acres in the United Kingdom was balanced by an equal gain in New Zealand, while no less than 4,018,000 acres were added in India, Australia and Canada to the wheat land of the previous year. In Europe the chief reduction was one of 101,000 acres in France.

The wheat area of the United States increased by 2,482,000 acres, and of Argentina by 1,099,000 acres. Russia reported the immense addition of 5,690,000 acres, but there appears to be some doubt whether this figure is not partly attributable to more complete statistics.

A Story For Leap Year

By ESTHER SUMNER

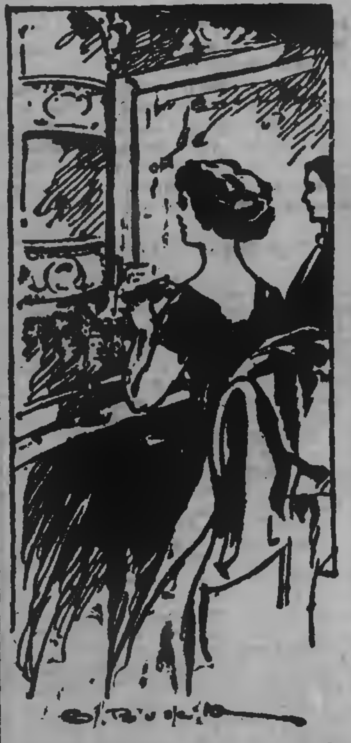
Certain young ladies, met together to discuss the propriety of their taking advantage of leap year in the matter of matrimonial proposals, came to the conclusion that, while to offer themselves to the man they would marry was perfectly legitimate, no modest woman would do so in a direct way. It was claimed that there was no immodesty, especially during leap year, in any woman's offering herself to any man. The suggestion did not find especial favor with the young ladies present, and they were tiring of the discussion when Miss Clara Wetmore, who was considered one of the brightest, if not the brightest, of their number, made the following proposal:

"Let us unite on an eligible parti and let those of us who would be willing to accept him for a husband each write a leap year proposal to him under an assumed name. I will not be among the number, keeping myself aloof that I may be a medium between you and him. I will forward your letters to him, telling him at the same time that I shall be happy to send him information about any or all of you that the case requires. It seems to me that this would be a perfectly modest method. It would arrest the gentleman's attention and put him in a position where if he is not very careful some one of you may catch him. What do you think of the plan?"

"Excellent! Delightful!" were the exclamations that greeted the proposition.

"There is one weak spot in it," said Miss Helen Mudge. "How are you going to unite us on a man? Tastes differ, you know."

"I will propose a name," replied Miss Wetmore, "and we shall discover if it is acceptable to a sufficient number of you to make the experiment. I would suggest Mr. Horace Bradford. He is a rising young lawyer with an independent fortune, and you know him for a prominent member of our set. All who are willing to write a proposal to Mr. Bradford please say 'Aye.'"



SAW MR. BRADFORD AND MISS WETMORE AT THE OPERA.

There was a treble of feminine voices like the wind rushing through the strings of an aeolian harp. Not one of the young ladies but answered in the affirmative.

"I fear," said Miss Lucia Hackstaff, "that the profession to which Mr. Bradford has been educated, the law, will enable him to steer clear of any traps that may be set for him. Lawyers set traps for others instead of others setting traps for lawyers."

"I was not aware," spoke up Miss Kate Towner, a black eyed beauty, "that even a lawyer was a match for a woman."

"Come, girls," said Miss Wetmore, "write your letters."

Half a dozen pens were soon running smoothly over paper, and, as many letters having been written, they were handed to the proposer of the plan.

"Girls," said Miss Ethel Payne, "I think we owe thanks to Clara for her unselfishness in leaving herself out of the raffle. Her action is just too lovely for anything."

"Rather call it a scramble," replied Miss Wetmore, laughing. "I'll have more fun out of it than any of you, since I hold the strings. Besides, I wouldn't have any chance with all you houris anyway."

The last assertion was received with expressions of incredulity, after which, there being no more plans suggested for snaring bachelors, the girls dispersed.

That same evening Miss Wetmore sent the notes tied together with a narrow pink ribbon to Mr. Bradford, writing at the same time that she vouched for the respectability of any and all the proposers and would be happy to afford such further information as might seem to be in order. She assured him that to the best of her knowledge and belief any of them would make a good wife. She had every confidence that his gallantry to her sex would insure his taking the matter up, but if he found that none of the young ladies would suit him he would not be bound to accept any of the proposals.

It was not long before Mr. Bradford replied that he had been overwhelmed with pleasure at coming to a knowledge that he would be acceptable to the astonishing number of six young ladies for a husband. In this respect his amour propre had been more than satisfied. But he had received one slight that had dashed his happiness. The seventh lady, Miss Wetmore, had negatively indicated that to her he would be undesirable. Possibly he might be mistaken in this matter. If she would add a proposal from herself to the other six he would then take the matter up, and there was every reason to believe that he would accept one of the seven.

The morning after the receipt of this note Miss Wetmore received six telephone messages from the young lady proposers asking if she had received a reply. She told them all that she had received a very deferential communication, but there was an indefiniteness about it that led her to believe the writer was meditating an evasion of the subject matter. She would let them know just as soon as she could pin him down to something tangible.

Miss Hackstaff, who had objected to trying to snare a lawyer, said, "I told you so." Miss Turner, who doubted that even a lawyer was a match for a woman, said that she would like to have a hack at him. These and other comments came over the wire and were duly noted by Miss Wetmore.

Mr. Bradford, having filed his answer, rubbed his hands and waited. He had admired Miss Wetmore ever since he had met her a few months before, but nothing had occurred either to concentrate his wishes upon her or to induce him to think that a suit of his would be successful. The turn affairs had taken was eminently satisfactory to him, since it enabled him to make her an indirect proposal, or a back handed proposal, or by what name it may be called, which might mean a great deal or nothing, but in any event would result in his gaining some intimation as to her feelings toward him. Surely for the present at least he had the whip hand of her.

Miss Wetmore wrote that it was necessary for some one to remain aloof to act as a medium and that she had volunteered to do so. Her position toward Mr. Bradford was no want of compliment to him, since it was the same as all other women except the six leap year proposers. She hoped he would take the matter up as it was intended by the proposers. To this note Mr. Bradford replied that his own position toward Miss Wetmore was as complicated as hers toward him. As the matter stood he would be guilty of a want of gallantry toward her if he consented to proceed without her being included in the proposing six.

He chuckled as he read over this letter, for it was evident that instead of being drawn into a trap he had Miss Wetmore cornered.

While this and more correspondence was in progress Miss Wetmore was in receipt of frequent inquiries from her six protegas, every one of whom had a vague hope that she would be chosen by Mr. Bradford. To those queries that came over the telephone Miss Wetmore replied that a matter of such delicacy could not be taken up over a phone, especially a party wire, with probably a dozen or more ears at receivers. To the inquiries she received by note she gave evasive answers. To those who came to see her or whom she met casually she attempted to give plausible excuses for the delay, laying it principally to the proposed victim's attempts to avoid being caught in the web that had been woven for him

Hope deferred maketh the heart sick, and gradually the proposers came to look upon their leap year plan as a joke. Miss Wetmore gave them no satisfaction, averring that though she had used all her arts to induce Mr. Bradford to come out into the open and give battle, she had failed.

One evening a member of the proposal club saw at the opera, sitting side by side, Mr. Bradford and Miss Wetmore. There was a sudden falling of the scales from the observer's eyes. That night before retiring she reported the fact by telephone to all her leap year sisters she could communicate with, and the next morning the rest were informed. That afternoon the young ladies met to discuss the situation.

"Well, I never!"

"Any one who takes Clara Wetmore for a fool will be awfully mistaken."

"It's the smartest thing I ever heard of."

"Do you think she'll get him?"

"By the bye, I heard it reported yesterday that he was engaged."

These and other comments were made, producing a babel which was interrupted by one of the party suggesting that some one call up Miss Wetmore by telephone and ask her how she was getting on with their proposals. The plan was adopted, with the following result:

"Hello, Clara, is that you?"

"Yes."

"Any news about—you know what?"

"Yes. The plan is a failure. The gentleman is out of the market."

"We've heard he's engaged. Are you the lady?"

"Yes."

"Happy wishes from all of us. Ta, ta!"

"Ta, ta!"

YOU CAN BE ABSOLUTELY SURE OF VALUES

If you carefully read the store advertisements and follow them in your buying.

Merchants advertise certain lines because they know these lines will advertise their stores. Because there is something about certain goods, they are put in conspicuous places and the people are told about them. It may be the exclusiveness or newness of design, it may be an unusual quality, it may be an attractive price.

But there is at least one definite, sure reason why a merchant advertises an article and is willing to stake the reputation of his store upon it.

Therefore, when you see an article advertised in THE REVIEW, depend upon it, that article is good value, as good value as can be obtained in that particular store.

ROOSEVELT DENIES THE STORIES OF DESERTIONS

Leader of Progressive Republicans Holds a Conference With Several of His Supporters But Refuses to Disclose the Nature of the Meeting—His Adherents Are Not Weakening, He Says.

Oyster Bay, July 6.—Several of Col. Roosevelt's aides gathered at Sagamore Hill last night for a conference, about which there was some mystery. The colonel was in the midst of a tennis game when an automobile whirled up from New York. Medill McCormick of Chicago, Senator Dixon of Montana and George W. Perkins and George L. Stoddard of New York climbed out.

When he was asked in regard to the conference the colonel was unusually reticent.

"I'd rather not say anything about it," he said.

C. J. Hamlin of Buffalo, whom Col. Roosevelt described as a leader of the Roosevelt Progressives in Buffalo, was also here yesterday.

The former President said that his platform would be ready in a week or so. He had received letters, he continued, from several men who were prominent in his campign for the Republican Presidential nomination and were reported to have left him since the Chicago convention. They told him, he said, that they were with him, despite reports to the contrary.

He thought that others who had "flopped" had acted prematurely, and that before long some of them would want to come back again.

Col. Roosevelt said that some confusion has been caused by misinterpretation in statements of supporters of his that they saw no need of a new party. That did not mean, he asserted, that they had forsaken him.

"In Kansas," he said, "they take the stand that the Roosevelt supporters are the Republican organization and there is no reason for abandoning it. They will simply name Roosevelt electors on the regular Republican ticket."

"Do you mean that the Republican organizations of some states will co-operate with the new party?"

"I don't know," Col. Roosevelt replied. "Each state will settle that for itself."

Cummins Opposes Roosevelt.

Washington, July 6.—Senator Cummins of Iowa, progressive Republican candidate for the Presidential nomination at the Chicago convention, yesterday formally declared against the new party movement led by Theodore Roosevelt, and announced his allegiance to the old party.

In so doing Mr. Cummins declared that bosses could not be escaped by organizing new parties, and to those Republicans who, after intelligent enquiry conclude that President Taft's renomination was the result of fraudulent votes, "the nominee of the convention is not the nominee of the Republican party."

Lafollette Attacks Roosevelt.

Madison, Wis., July 6.—United States Senator Lafollette, in a printed article yesterday, asks Col. Roosevelt for the second time to publish his expense account, or else "a candid statement for his reasons for thus spurning one of the basic principles of public morality and political decency." When Lafollette made public his statement of his campaign receipts during the Ohio primary contest, he called on Roosevelt to do likewise. There has been no response.

OPERATION WAS FATAL

Ingersoll, July 6.—Robert Sutherland, M.P.P. for East Middlesex, died in the hospital last night following an operation for appendicitis. At present there is a protest pending against his election.

The late Mr. Sutherland carried the East Middlesex seat for the Liberals in the provincial election on Dec. 11 last, defeating the sitting Conservative member, George Neely, by a majority of 20. Irregularities on the part of the Liberal organisation were alleged by the Conservatives, and action aiming at the unseating of Mr. Sutherland, were taken at Osgoode Hall.

In the general election of 1908, Neely's majority was 539, but the wide personal popularity of Mr. Sutherland and a vigorous campaign in his behalf, resulted in the riding being redeemed.

The bye-election in East Middlesex will be the first since the return of the Whitney Government to power last December.

Creating Panic.

London, July 6.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Premier Borden and his colleagues will attend the fleet manoeuvres next week. Engagements in addition to those already announced are dinners by the Empire Parliamentary Association and London Chamber of Commerce. The Colonial Secretary called on Premier Borden directly after his arrival.

Some idea of the public interest in the visit may be gained from the fact that for several days the papers have devoted a couple of columns to describing incidents of the arrival.

The Liberal News gives two editorial warnings. It says that a section of the English press of the Unionist party is trying to create an atmosphere of panic, and bustle the Canadian Ministers into accepting a scheme for an imperial squadron under pressure of panic, whereas it is perfectly easy to show the scare is [illegible]

Rebels Will Leave Chihuahua.

Chihuahua, Mexico, July 6.—With the federal vanguard only five miles south and 500 of the rebel guard on the outskirts of the city ready to move north to rejoin the main rebel army when the Government troops take possession here, Chihuahua was quiet yesterday. Danger of disorders which it had been thought would follow the rebel evacuation have been reduced to a minimum.

Gen. Orozco, who is at Saus, thirty miles north, gave his rear guards orders not to resist the entrance of the federals, but to ride away as soon as they were sighted. Bridges have been burned for forty miles, both north and south of here, and it is unlikely that residents of the town will be able to leave the city for a week. Communication by telegraph with Juarez and the American border was restored early yesterday. It is possible that as soon as the federals reach here, the rebels will sever connection with this city.

Fusion at an End.

Washington, July 6.—The working agreement between the Democratic and Insurgent Republican Senators is at an end. It has been abrogated as the result of conferences ever since the metal bill was passed by the Democrats in the absence of the regular Republicans, and without the aid of the insurgents.

The probable result will be that the House sugar and wool and excise bills will be presented to the Senate and voted down by a strict party vote All the Republicans are expected to vote against them and it is probable that some of the Democrats will join in opposition to the House sugar bill, which would admit sugar free of duty.

Detroit Millionaire Dead.

Montreal, July 6.—A cablegram received here yesterday announces the death of J. L. Hudson, merchant prince of Detroit, Mich., in London, early yesterday morning. Mr. Hudson was well known in Montreal and other Canadian cities, which he visited frequently. He was head of the department store firm of J. L. Hudson & Co., one of the largest and best known firms in the middle west.

New Algoma Line Opens.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 6.—At noon yesterday the first Algoma Central through train from the Soo reached Franz Junction point with the C.P.R. main line, 200 miles from here, and thus inaugurated a service that will revolutionize the whole of Central New Ontario. President Drummond of Lake Superior Corporation and General Manager Franz of the A.C.R., and other officials were on board, and the officials inspected the work on the Franz Junction and of the section from the C.P.R. main line to Hearst on the National Transcontinental, 103 miles further north, which will be completed by next year Everybody is delighted with the condition of the road to Franz.

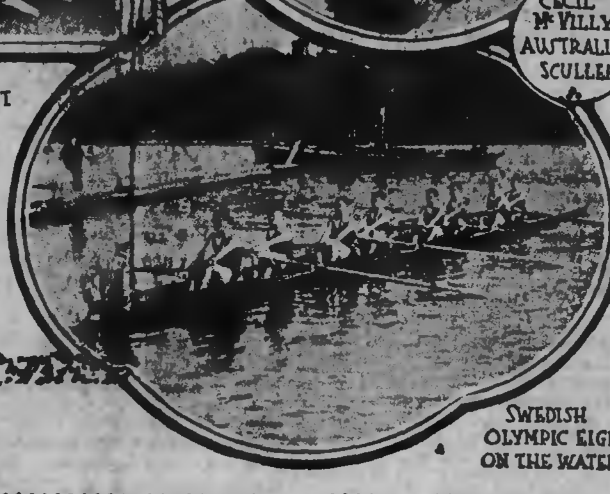
SWEDISH AND AUSTRALIAN EIGHTS FOR THE OLYMPICS

IN TRAINING FOR THE OLYMPIAD: THE AUSTRALIAN EIGHT

CECIL McVILLY AUSTRALIAN SCULLER



SWEDISH OLYMPIC EIGHT ON THE WATER.

The oarsmen of Sweden are watching with keen interest the work of the Swedish eight which is to represent that country in the Olympic races.

It is the opinion of rowing clubs in Sweden that they never have put a crew on the water which is better in oarsmanship and generally so well qualified to compete against the crews of other countries.

Outdoor sports have increased greatly in interest in Sweden since it was decided to hold the Olympic games in Stockholm.

Australia has named a capital crew to compete at the Olympic games, and the Australians are by no means to be despised as oarsmen.

ANOTHER TRAIN WRECK OCCURS NEAR LATROBE, Pa.

Twenty-One Passengers Are Killed and Many Are Fatally Injured—Heavily-Laden Train Is Rammed by Freight Engines and Returning Holiday-Makers Are Slain—Several Meet Death Under Wheels.

Latrobe, Pa., July 6.—Seventeen persons were killed and thirty injured, a number fatally, at 3.40 yesterday afternoon when a passenger train on the Ligonier Valley Railroad was smashed from behind by a double-header freight train. Only one passenger escaped without injury.

The accident occurred at the fair grounds at Wilpen, one and a half miles from Ligonier, a summer resort.

The passenger train had started from Ligonier. It consisted of an engine and coach, the engine pushing the coach. The freight train was made up of many coal cars and was being pulled by two heavy locomotives.

The impact was terrific. The passenger coach was practically laid open and the passengers either crushed or thrown like shot through the air.

It was the first fatal accident, it is said, in the history of the Ligonier road for the past forty years.

The dead are: Mrs. Harry Dillon and baby, of Wilpen, crushed to death; Wm. Campbell, of Wilpen; Frank McConnaughey, of Ligonier, engineer, scalded to death; George Byers of Ligonier, fireman, crushed and scalded; Louise Rhoddy, aged 8, of McCance, crushed; Elizabeth Rhoddy, aged 13, a sister; John M. Ankney of Ligonier, fireman, died on way to hospital; Mrs. M. Esse, of Wilpen; Thomas Murr, of Latrobe, head crushed; George Tosh, of Wilpen, body smashed; Mike Hudock, of Wilpen, crushed; Frank Overton, aged 10, of Wilpen, mutilated; Mrs. John Overton, mother of Frank, died on train bound for Pittsburg; unidentified boy, aged 12; two unidentified bodies were also badly crushed.

A majority of the injured, thirty in all, were residents along the Wilpen branch. They were brought to a hospital here or hospitals at Pittsburg, when it was found they were in a critical condition. Among them were: Dr. J. B. Johnson, of Ligonier, hurt internally, will probably die; Dr. C. A. Hamilton, of Ligonier, crushed, may die; Miss Esther M. Mathews, a nurse employed at the home of George Senft of Ligonier, president of the Ligonier Railway; Walter Serena of McKeesport, clerk in a bank at that place, in a precarious condition.

The injuries of the others were all severe, consisting of broken legs, arms and contusions.

The train was well crowded, every seat in the long coach being occupied with persons returning from a Fourth of July holiday.

The freight engines plowed through the wooden coach, crushing it as it would paper. The coach was ripped to pieces. All the occupants were hurled to the roadbed. Some fell in the path of the on-rushing engines, while others were imbedded, partly in the cinders and crushed.

The first engine of the freight train stopped soon after tearing through the passenger train, turned half way around and fell over on its side.

Engineer McConnaughey was scalded to death, while his fireman, George Byers, jumped only to fall on the track and meet death under the wheels. Engineer Smith P. Beaty of the second engine, jumped and sustained a broken leg. His fireman, John Ankney, fell beneath a car. His legs were severed and he died en route to a hospital. Engineer Dunlop of the passenger train, and his fireman, remained at their posts and escaped with slight injuries.

Thirteen Bodies Unidentified.

Corning, N.Y., July 6.—Of the 41 passengers killed in the rear-end collision on the Lackawanna, two miles east of this city, early Thursday, 13 remained unidentified up to a late hour last night. Of these six are in local morgues and seven in Elmira. In several instances there are no clues upon which identification may be attempted and several bodies are so badly mutilated that ultimate discovery of their identity seems but a remote possibility. The unidentified dead comprise six women, five men, and eight-year-old girl, and a ten-year-old boy.

Considerable confusion has been caused by the fact that many of the dead and injured were taken to Elmira shortly after the accident. Relatives have flocked here seeking missing ones and, their mission fail here, have been compelled to make the trip to Elmira.

It developed last night that Mrs. Charles Brandes of New York City, who has hitherto been mentioned in the press despatches as among the dead, was not on the train.

A few moments later the body of the young bride supposed to have been Mrs. Brandes was identified as that of Mrs. C. A. Masserve. As Ada Benson of Poquanock, Pa., she was married on Wednesday at Pompton, N.J., by Rev. E. P. Hooper to C. A. Masserve, a clerk in the office of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway. They were on their wedding trip.

Miss Katherine Jausz of Brooklyn was identified yesterday as among the unknown injured at the Corning Hospital. She has been unconscious since the wreck and her case is considered one of the most desperate.

A blue-eyed, brown-haired boy, ten years old, is among the unidentified injured at the Corning Hospital, and his case has given much concern to the physicians. No clue to his identity is to be had.

Bodies of wreck victims identified last night, besides the body of Mrs. Masserve, were those of Mrs. Marie E Duffy of Brooklyn, and Edmond P. Perrin, Yonkers, N. Y.

REPORT WILL CAUSE BIG SENSATION

Special to the Review.

London, July 6.—Sir Roger Casement, sent by Sir Edward Grey to Peru to investigate at first hand alleged grave scandals connected with the cultivation of rubber in the interior of the country, has presented his report. The details are not yet given out, but the Daily Chronicle indicates that the document is of an appalling character and that the publication of the story of human suffering and sorrow will cause a sensation.

Support for Cartier Fund.

New York, July 6.—Elated over the promise of substantial contributions to the Cartier monument fund, E. W. Villeneuve, president, and Horace J. Gane, secretary of the Cartier centenary celebration committee, left last night for Montreal.

They came here on the invitation of the Ligue St. Josehp, an organization of French-Canadians, who celebrated their annual feast Thursday.

Boy Killed by Lightning.

Buckingham, Que., July 6. Feliane Normand, a 13-year-old lad, was struck by lightning at Notre Dame de la Salette, near Buckingham, Thursday and instantly killed. The Roman Catholic Church was also struck, damaging it to the extent of $1,000.

PRESIDENT IS ELECTED

Brantford, July 6.—The convention of police chiefs of Canada was brought to an enjoyable close here last night, when the delegates were tendered a banquet by the city. The feature of the affair was the presentation to Chief Slemin of the King's medal, included in the New Year's gifts to Canadians. His honor, Lieutenant-Governor Gibson made the presentation. Mayor Hartman presided, and speakers of the evening were President Chamberlin, Judge Hardy, T. H. Preston and W. C. Livingston.

At the session yesterday afternoon, a paper from Inspector Archibald, Toronto, on the parole system was presented. The success of the system now in vogue was emphasized.

After considerable discussion, St. John, N.B., was chosen as the next place of meeting.

The officers were elected as follows: President, Chief Detective Carpenter, Montreal; vice-president, Chief Williams, London; secretary-treasurer, Deputy Chief Stark, Toronto; executive, Col. Sherwood, Ottawa; Supt. Rogers, Toronto; Chief Campeau, Montreal; Chief Rudland, Halifax; Chief Gagne, St. Boniface.

One of Beresford's Stories.

Lord Charles Beresford kept his birthday recently, says Modern Society. He has hauled down his flag for the last time, but his record as a sailor remains unrivalled. To quote Viscount Wolseley's tribute, he has been "an officer whose readiness of resource and whose ability as a leader are only equalled by his courage and daring." Many good stories go the round concerning this witty Irishman, but the following may be new to some readers. Many of the Beresfords have been in the Church, and Lord Charles' father began his career in Holy Orders and ended it as Marquis of Waterford. He was also an athlete and a sportsman, and his sons followed in his footsteps. On one occasion an old friend of the family who disapproved of sport went up to the youthful Charles and said gravely: Do you suppose that the Apostles shot on the Sabbath Day?" "Perhaps not," was the prompt response: "but I am certain that they fished." Lord Charles Beresford's prowess as a sailor and politician is well known, but he has many other hobbies, which include gardening, turning, house-building, boat-building, and carpentering.

To Beautify the Eye.

The eyes are used more than any other member of the body. Often as we sit down to rest the body we pick up a book or paper to read. The eyes receive no rest. All through the day they are busy from opening until closing time, and often then their owners are reminded by drowsiness that it is long past the time to rest.

The body, the hands and the limbs get a rest, even if it is only by a change of position, but the eyes scarcely ever. And this is wrong, for dozens of times during the day the eyes could easily be rested by being shut, if only for a few seconds at a time. A great deal of good would result. This practice, small though it may seem, will repay any one, for, while the benefit may not be noticed from day to day, the freshness of the eyes after one reaches middle age will be worth more and reimburse well for the trouble necessary to protect them.

Cool, weak tea is excellent to bathe the eyes with. If they have been used a great deal during the day and burn bind on them moist tea leaves and retire. By morning they will be much freshened and relieved

Keep an eye on your friends; you know what to expect from your enemies. [illegible]

LIGHTNING AT TORONTO

Toronto, July 6.—Shortly after six o'clock last evening, when lightning struck one of the Electrical Development Co.'s transmission wires, about six miles west of Toronto, all the Toronto Electric Light Co.'s plant was shut down, street cars were stalled, residences were thrown into darkness, many stores had to close, and thousands of people were forced either to walk to their homes or remain down town. Added to the discomfort and inconvenience of the street car tie-up was the downpour of rain, which lasted for an hour or more, and drenched those who were unable to find shelter.

Never before was Toronto so completely tied up. Crowds who had left their work at 6 o'clock, packed the street cars in every section of the city. Some of them had gone only a few blocks, when the power went off. The conductors and motormen gathered in little groups on the sidewalks, under awnings or on the cars and talked until the power came on again at 10.40.

The Hydro lights were turned on at the usual time, and burned steadily all night.

Lightning struck the home of Joseph Hind at 156 Langley avenue. Mrs. Hind had a narrow escape. She was thrown from her chair by the shock and for some time had not fully recovered. Fortunately the downpour of rain prevented an outbreak of fire.

Weird Event In Chicago.

Chicago, July 6.—Residents of Rogers Park witnessed a strange phenomenon yesterday afternoon. Whether it was caused by something in the air or something out of a "blind pig" the Roger Park scientists have not decided. Anyway, it's a hair-raising yarn.

About the middle of the afternoon the sky above Rogers Park became overcast. Some of the people became overcome, or almost so, by the oppressive heat, and they strolled to the lake shore at the foot of Morse avenue. As the crowd watched the sails on the black water their hair suddenly stood on end. It wasn't from anything they saw, either. Their hair just naturally turned upward toward the overladen sky.

"I would like to have seen that hair-raising episode," said Prof. Cox of the Weather Bureau. "If it happened it was because the air was surcharged with electricity, and there being no lightning to relieve the tension it naturally attracted the hair."

New Railway In Glengarry.

Cornwall, July 6.—G. L. Harvey, C.E., expects to have engineers at work in a few days locating the St. Polycarpe-Cornwall railway, which is to run from a point on the C.P.R. at or near St. Polycarpe, southerly and westerly through the County of Glengarry to Cornwall.

Aged Ladies Hurt In Runaway.

Brantford, July 6.—Mrs. Perkins, Woodstock, and Mrs. Strong of this city, two aged ladies, were thrown from a conveyance on Lorne bridge here yesterday and seriously injured. Workmen were engaged in repairing wires overhead, when the horse shied at a fallen wire.

CARPENTERS GO TO REGINA

Winnipeg, July 6.—Two hundred striking carpenters have left the city for Regina, according to the secretary of the union here, but these strikers went of their own accord and were not sent by the union. At a meeting of the striking union men yesterday morning, officials claimed that they were winning out all along the line, no less than eighty employers of carpenters, it was claimed, signing up the new scale, these including several defections from the builders' exchange.

Chatham has wound up its old home week celebration about $1,000 ahead. The surplus will likely be banked for use of city celebrations in the future.

Ulrich, the German aviator, established a new world's record with two passengers—two hours and 41 minutes. The previous record, 2 hours and 2 minutes, was held by himself.

Eugene Vaglia, of Dawson City, aged 45, killed his brother, John, proprietor of the Central Hotel; his brother's wife and their two children, Rossa, aged 16, and Christina, aged 9, and then committed suicide yesterday.

The Tribune, Rome, says the Italian Government will not retain the Oegean Islands when the war is over.

NEW RECORD FOR THE AIR

Leipsic, July 6.—The German aviator Schirrmeister yesterday established a new world's record for duration of time in the air with four passengers. His machine remained aloft 33 minutes and 42 seconds. The previous record was 32 minutes and 33 seconds, made by Hoffman and Johannisthal on March 8 last.

Another Cobalt Fire.

Cobalt, July 6.—Fire, which broke out at five o'clock yesterday morning, destroyed the postoffice, Star Theatre, Louis Fleury's store and two empty stores on Cross Lake road, North Cobalt, and entailed a loss of $6,000 with no insurance. The balance of the town was saved by a favorable wind.

COUNT TISZA SHOT AT IN THE DIET

STEFAN TISZA.

Count Stefan Tisza, President of the Lower House of Hungary, had a very narrow escape from assassination in the Diet. He was fired upon three times by Deputy Julius Kevacs, who then shot himself, probably with fatal effect.

Count Tisza was unscathed. Kevacs was one of the most militant members of the opposition and was included in those were ejected from the Chamber recently because of disorderly conduct. He was suspended for several sittings.

FENIAN RAID VETERANS APPLY

Ottawa, July 6.—The Department of Militia continues to experience no little difficulty over the Fenian Raid grants. It now looks as it nothing can be done towards filling any of the thousands of applications received until after Parliament meets next autumn.

No vote for any amount to cover the grant was made last session, neither has any royal warrant been issued. Already 3,500 applications have been passed as genuine. It is doubtful, however, if these can or will be paid until Mr. Borden returns from Great Britain. This was intimated last night by Col. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia.

Major Beattie May Be Senator.

Ottawa, July 6.—It is said to be quite likely that Major Thomas Beattie, M.P. for London, will be appointed to the vacancy in the Senate caused by the death of Senator Wilson of St. Thomas. Mr. Dennis Murphy, ex-M.P.P. for Ottawa, is mentioned in connection with the vacancy caused by the disqualification of Senator Sullivan for non-attendance for two sessions, owing to ill-health. There are seven vacancies in the Upper House to be filled this autumn, four in Nova Scotia, one in Prince Edward Island, and the two in Ontario.

Radial Cars Collide.

Brantford, Ont., July 6.—A bad accident, as a result of a mix-up in orders, occurred on the Brantford and Hamilton Radial a few miles below Cainsville at 10.45 yesterday morning. George William, conductor of the express car, was killed instantly, and his mate, Motorman Ralph Smith, of Hamilton, was badly injured, when a work car leaving Brantford crashed into the express car.

Haley, conductor of the work car, said he had orders to go through to Langford, two miles east, and he said he had presumed the dead conductor had received his orders to go right through to Cainsville.

It is thought that Smith will recover. An inquest will be held.

Two More Aviators Killed.

Salisbury Eng., July 6.—Two more lives were sacrificed to the science of aviation yesterday. Capt. E. B. Lorraine of the Grenadier Guards, and a sergeant-major were instantly killed while flying in an army aeroplane near Stonehenge yesterday. One of the side planes became warped and the aeroplane turned turtle. Both men were jarred from their seats and fell four hundred feet, being instantly killed.

The death of two more men in England yesterday brought the toll of death in the air for the present week to the appalling total of an even dozen.

MORE VICTIMS IDENTIFIED

Special to the Review.

Corning, N. Y., July 6.—Two more victims of the Lackawana wreck were identified this morning as John Kennedy, Harrison, N.J., and Jules Sampson, Jersey City. This leaves eight of forty-one unidentified.

"FEEBLE STOMACH"

Causes Digestive Weakness and Poisons the Entire System.

"No one can have suffered more than I did with stomach trouble," writes Phil. E. Pangilio, well known at St. Andrews Corners. "My doctor told me my indigestion and sleeplessness were due to poisons in the blood. Certainly my condition was desperate, and it seemed from the despondent feelings that swept over me that I would lose my reason. I happened to read about Dr. Hamilton's Pills and bought five boxes from the druggist. Such body-cleansing pills I never used; they were mild and yet quite strong enough to drive all the humors out of the blood. My stomach gained strength rapidly with Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I improved so much that in eight weeks I could eat and digest all ordinary food. Depression and weariness passed away and I am, thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills, enjoying robust good health."

No remedy for biliousness, indigestion, headache, sick stomach, or constipation that compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Refuse substitutes. Sold in 25c. boxes. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills Cure Stomach Troubles

The Daily Review

SATURDAY, JULY 6, 1912.

THE RAILROAD BOARD

There will be general satisfaction with the selection of Mr. Drayton to fill the position of Chairman of the Dominion Board of Railway Commissioners. Perhaps this satisfaction will be particularly felt in Ontario, because there seemed a probability that in order to furnish a capable chairman for the Board, this Province would lose an efficient Provincial Secretary. Mr. Hanna is a very able and very useful member of the Ontario Government. He has shown marked capacity as an administrator and his work inconnection with prison reform, and the establishment of the Central Prison farm, has been of a high order. The organization of a Board of Parole, was another step that was commendable. As a legislator also, Mr. Hanna has been careful, capable and progressive, and his handling of the amendments to the municipal and liquor license laws have demonstrated his ability in that direction from church courts and temperance organizations and general approval. The offer of the Chairmanship of the Railway Board must have had strong attractions but it is gratifying to know that he will remain at the post in the Provincial Government, when he has given such excellent service.

And at the same time, the gentleman who will fill the chairmanship of the Board, gives every promise of being a successor of the able men who have preceded him in that arduous post, who will to say the least, maintain the high reputation of the office. His experience in municipal work, as counsel for the city of Toronto, will have given him an insight into municipal needs, and the municipal point of view that should be very useful. No one would want the interests of the railways to be overlooked. They are the great common carriers of the country, and if they were unnecessarily hampered, the trade of the country would suffer. But the municipal interest is the direct interest of the people, and it is well that it should be understood. The vice-chairman of the Railway Board, Mr. D. Scott, also had municipal training as an Alderman, and Mayor of Ottawa. While these gentlemen will have no interest in taking any action in opposition to the railway companies without good reason, they should have more knowledge of the municipal requirements and be better able to serve the people, than one who, for example, had not had municipal experience, and had training as a railway corporation counsel.

The railways must make use of the streets by crossing them. They cannot carry on their important business and serve the traffic of this country without doing so. But it should be remembered by those who have control in such matters that the streets belong to the municipalities and there does not appear to by any good reason in equity or public convenience, why the municipalities should be put to expense, because the railways are permitted to make use of the roadways as part of their right-of-way, without compensation.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An irrigation expert, who has spent time in Asia, believes he has discovered where the Garden of Eden was. Many would be more interested in learning where there is such a place now. [illegible]

A large toll of life is being given in the solving of the problem of aerial navigation. Progress may need sacrifices, but it does seem that such slaughter must be unnecessary.

LEE'S BURIAL CASKET.

Strange Manner in Which it Came When It Was Needed.

Mrs. La Salle Corbell Pickett tells this story connected with the burial of General Robert E. Lee. It seems that when he died at Lexington, Va., the North river, a tributary to the James, had overflowed its banks, and Lexington was cut off from all communication with the outside world. A warehouse was washed away and with it all the supplies contained therein, including all the coffins in the city.

"In this extremity," writes Mrs. Pickett in Lippincott's, "Professor Nelson of the University of Virginia was consulting with some of the other professors as to what could be done. In the midst of their dilemma two boys came up to them in a timid way, hesitating to approach the group of dignified strangers, yet feeling the necessity of imparting the information they were bringing. Each feared to be the first to speak and pushed the other on, saying:

"'You tell.'

"'No; you tell. You saw it first.'

"'No; you saw it at the same time.'

"'Saw what?' asked Professor Nelson, who was a judge of boys, and perceived that there was something of unusual importance on their minds.

"'Yes; saw what?' repeated one of his companions.

"Encouraged by the readiness to receive their tidings, one of them replied, 'A coffin.'

"'We saw it,' affirmed the other.

"'Yes; we saw it there upon the shore—there by the island.'

"'On the shore—a coffin? Where?'

"'Just about three miles from town. We saw it,' said the boy who had first spoken. 'Maybe nobody's in it. We was too scared to do more than see the outside and then we tuck out. 'Tain't never been used. It's bran' spankin' new.'

"'I wonder if they really saw it or only imagined it,' said one of the gentlemen.

"Professor Nelson arose and turned to the boys, saying:

"'Come and show us the way.'

"The boys led on and all followed, uncertain as to what they were to find, but trusting that in some way heaven had graciously supplied their great necessity. Along the river bank they walked until their two guides stopped beside a long closed box that had floated down the swollen waters in the great flood and drifted ashore. In the box was a beautiful coffin."

They carried home the box and in that casket all that was earthly of the famous general was laid to rest in the college chapel.

Banana Charlotte Russe. — Press through a sieve enough banana pulp to make a cupful, add a quarter of a cupful of powdered sugar and two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice. Beat until very light, then fold in a half pint of whipped cream. Have ready some sherbet cups lined with sponge or delicate cake, fill with the prepared cream and chill before serving.

The Coming Out Party.

A "coming out" party is a trying ordeal, but if the debutante can protect her smile from becoming set and her manner mechanical she will impress many in her favor. She should pronounce the name of each person distinctly and with a gracious inflection of the voice when presented and not make too great a difference in greeting her old friends from her new acquaintances.

It is a pretty custom today for a debutante to ask several girl friends to assist in receiving and entertaining the guests. They, of course, arrive before the hour appointed in the invitations. If they have about the same set of acquaintances they will know many of the guests, but if they do not know them by name they are privileged to speak to any one, for they are representing the hostess. It is their particular duty to single out for attention any who may seem shy and unacquainted with those present.

The tea is often followed by a little dinner given to the young women who have helped to receive the guests and to other particular friends of the debutante. She is now formally "out," and invitations probably follow.

Upon a debutante should devolve the duty of keeping the account of reception days, seeing that cards are sent, noting any change of residence in the address book, writing notes of invitation, acceptance or regret. On receiving days her mother frequently allows her the privilege of dispensing the tea or offering it, and in all entertaining she is her mother's assistant.

IS NOT QUITE AN OGRE

ALBERT SEVIGNY HAS BEEN PAINTED IN LURID COLORS.

Ottawa Gallery Man Speaks in Behalf of the "Bold Bad Nationalist" Who Is Reported to Have Been Eating Fire During Campaign—Sevigny Is a Quiet, Scholarly, Almost Monastic, Sort of Chap.

He has been painted in lurid colors. Many Canadians have no doubt seen the picture. The artists have not spared the most startling of pigments. The result absolutely glares. Big, swarthy creature, with wild, uncanny eyes, and tawny mane. A stormy agitator, stirring his compatriots into frenzy, playing upon their prejudices and passions, telling them that their sons are to be stolen from the family fireside, thrust upon the gory decks of British war boats, transported into the uttermost parts of the earth, and disembowelled by shot and shell in hideous naval conflict. Oh, yes, you know of Albert Sevigny, the Nationalist member for Dorchester. You would like to see him, perhaps, but at a distance, or in a cage.

Suppose we pass up the picture, says H. W. Anderson in a recent sketch in The Courier. Accompany me, mild and gentle reader, to Room Eighty-One-and-a-Half in the Canadian Parliament Building, and knock at the door. A moment's pause and a decidedly soft and somewhat melodious voice bids you enter. You are confronted with—not the Picture, but the Man; a graceful, smiling personality; young, slight, well-groomed, polished, and really altogether charming. After three or four minutes' conversation you have forgotten the caricature, and you are prepared to challenge the authenticity of the newspaper reports which now credit him with being Henri Bourassa's ambassador for the collection of the no-navy toll from the present Government.

Young Sevigny—for he is only in his thirty-first year—is more sworn at and sworn by than any other new-comer in the House of Commons. In some quarters it is regarded as the unpardonable sin to suggest that he possesses a single virtue, or is not laden down with every vice. In others he is lauded to the skies as if he were a hero and a demigod. You never hear the last of his courage, his chivalry, his eloquence and his personal magnetism. All this is very exaggerated. Albert Sevigny is neither fiend nor archangel. He is a clever young French-Canadien, early trained to the service of the state, and who has made the most of the capital chance. He has a considerable literary gift, much personal and social charm, and an unusual Latin habit of application and persistence.

There is a touch of the aristocrat about him. He is aesthetic in his tastes and academic in his tendencies. It seems passing strange that Sevigny the Debonnaire, chiselled to play the dilettante, should develop into the stalwart promoter of a passionately national—if narrow—political creed. But the silken youth of peaceful times often turns out in the fray to be of tempered steel. This mild-mannered, somewhat lackadaisical law student, reading history and figuring in scholastic debates, came at once under the spell of the moving spirit of a new school of thought. He embibed the Bourassic acid. He threw aside his books, locked his study, and took train for the stormy scenes of the memorable Drummond-Arthabaska bye-election. He became one of the most vigorous—yes, and violent—campaigners. His passionate eloquence wrought wonders in spreading the contagion of his cause among his compatriots.

And now Mr. Sevigny has carried his convictions into Parliament. He threatens to throw the whole political situation into a ferment with his motion to abolish the navy. He will make the most of his case, for he is both able and eloquent. But if the young orator could sometimes rise into the region of imperial ideas, and make men feel that he was not so entirely absorbed by the cut and thrust and parry of the sectional political game, one would have greater confidence in his future.

But even Sevigny is not as bad as they would make him. A story has been going the rounds of some of the Opposition press to the effect that in the course of the changes resultant upon the dismissals in the civil service which followed the recent change of Government, the member for Dorchester had secured the appointment of his son to a responsible and lucrative position in the Immigration Department at Montreal. Mr. Sevigny was married less than three years ago.

A Bear Livelihood.

Our fathers lived on native game

I've often heard my uncle say
He dined on bruin thrice a day.
He wearied of the bill of fare,
For he had got his fill of bear.

"He'll never come back," said Mr. Kelly. "Not 'round here, anyways, but I got a notion he'll try to get to you fellows while you are on your errand. Keep your lamps open, and don't forget to lock up the back door nights."

Five young men of excellent appetites fell earnestly upon the steaks and coffee, and the hospitable Mr. Kelly seemed delighted at the enthusiasm shown by his guests. There was no discussion of any special subject while the meal was in progress, but when the feast was finished Mr. Kelly, lighting up a cigarette, began his work of explanation.

"I'll tell you fellows all about it, every line from the start to now, and I know you won't let it go any further. It's like this: I'm in the backroom of my cafe, upstairs here, when this Japanese duck comes in—oh, along about an hour before you made the acquaintance of the place. He introduces himself as Mr. Yazimoto, and asked me if I could turn a trick—said he had read about my reputation in a magazine. If I ever catch the stiff that wrote it, him and me will go to the floor, for it's made me a lot of trouble—still, it made me some easy kale this evening, so I oughtn't to get sore about it.

"Anyway, Mr. Yazimoto tells me that two crooks, with a lot of stuff that they'd stolen from the Japanese embassy at Washington, would be in Doyers street before long, and that he'd make it worth good money to snare 'em. See the frame-up? He arranged for the mob scene. Those Chinks were all Japs in Chinese clothes. Of course, I don't know how he was wise that you two would be along so soon, or how he knew you'd be in Doyers street at all."

"That gets me," exclaimed Brockett. "How on earth could Yazimoto know where we would be, or at what time? And even if he had managed to cling on our track, how could he be posted far enough ahead to have things ready for our reception?"

"Got to give it to those yellow mokes," said Mr. Kelly. "They are a long ways wiser than we give 'em credit for, and they can do things that we can't even understand. One time I knew a party—well, I'll tell you that one some other time. Too busy now. Anyhow, this Yazimoto man frames up the whole deal. The Chink riot would force you over towards my door; I'd call you in to get out of the smoke, and then we'd have you."

"You had us, all right," admitted Solano. "But what was to be done with us after the Jap got all he wanted?"

"Oh, that was all understood," explained Mr. Kelly. "After you had given him all he was after, you would both be put in a piano box—it's upstairs now. Along in the morning the piano box would be taken out, loaded on a wagon, carried to a vacant lot over on the west side, and dumped there. In an hour or so you'd be able to wriggle out, and there you'd be, with Yazzy's money in your clothes—he'd have played square on the dough—and a story to tell that would sound like the swellest kind of a pipe-dream. He meant well by you—didn't want to have you hurt if it could be helped, and intended to slip you the ten thousand, according to his word."

"Tell us, Mr. Kelly," asked Solano—"how did you come to change your mind?"

The Italian smoked half a cigarette before he vouchsafed reply.

"This is the first time," said Mr. Kelly, "that I ever double-crossed anybody. If I give my word, that settles it. A mutt that double-crosses people that trust him won't get far in this world, and I've played straight. Besides, this seemed easy money for a job where I couldn't fall—wouldn't even have to hire a lawyer to look out for the finish. It looked all O. K. to me, especially when the Jap paid me in advance, and I carried it through. Then, when we got you bagged and stowed, something seemed to hit me in the thought tank. You two didn't look like the kind of people the Jap had any right to bother, see? I don't often make mistakes when I size up men—not even when it's in a hurry and with a bag going over their heads.

"'Something wrong here,' thought I to myself. Then I thought some more. Just now, there's a lot of trouble between this government and Japan, isn't there? And Jap spies are working overtime all through the country, aren't they? This yellow man, thinks Kelly, is pulling something that is full of nerve, but hadn't ought to come through. Mind you, boys, I have to dope this out fast, and while the little man is right with me.

"I walked through the cafe upstairs, with Mr. Yazimoto alongside me, giving me new bunk about how necessary it was to get some cipher or other off you, me pretending to give him close attention, but beginning to figure out that there would have to be a flipflop and a new turn of the cards. Suddenly the door opened—just a few inches—and in sailed a little white envelope. I picked it up, opened the door again, and looked out into Doyers street. Whoever threw the envelope had made a getaway in the crowd. The envelope was addressed to me, all right, and as I opened it Mr. Yazimoto edged up close to rubber.

"'You will excuse me, Mr. Yazimoto,' said I, 'but this note is very personal—from a young lady.' And I sheered off a yard or so, while the little man smiled and apologized. I took out a little square card, and all that was on the card was these words:

"'LET THEM GO.'

"'Ah, the poor girl,' said I, quick, just like that—'ain't it a pity they get so stuck on a guy they just can't let him alone?' And Mr. Yazimoto was passing me some stall about it being no wonder the ladies loved me, but I'm not hearing him—I'm thinking. Then we went downstairs, and before we got to the cellar I had framed up the whole works, from start to finish, just as it came off."

"I don't know how we can ever repay you for your change of mind, Mr. Kelly," exclaimed Brockett, and the impetuous Solano burst out with profuse gratitude. "My father, Mr. Kelly," cried the Cuban, "is a rich man. Tell us what you think your kindness is worth, and he'll double the amount."

Mr. Kelly waved his hand, deprecatingly.

"As far as that stuff is concerned, nix, nix," quoth the Italian. "I'm satisfied to know that you young fellows haven't anything against me for framing the trick in the first place. Some people would feel good and sore about it. As for any kale—why, the Jap has paid all the freight. Here's his ten thousand. Seems to me we ought to split it five ways—two thou to each of us."

"Couldn't accept it," negatived Brockett. "It wouldn't seem right to take it, Mr. Kelly."

"None of it for mine," Solano seconded. "Keep it all, Mr. Kelly—you are entitled to it."

"Entitled, not!" said the generous Mr. Kelly. "Look here, you two—don't be so dainty about money. Look at it this way: This Jap is an enemy. He was using his dirty money to do harm to you and to your government. We have his money now. It is prize-money taken from the enemy, just the same as if it was a fleet, do you understand? Take it and use it to help along whatever errand you've been sent on—I'm not asking what it is. Here's two thou—twenty centuries—for each of you. Cart it away."

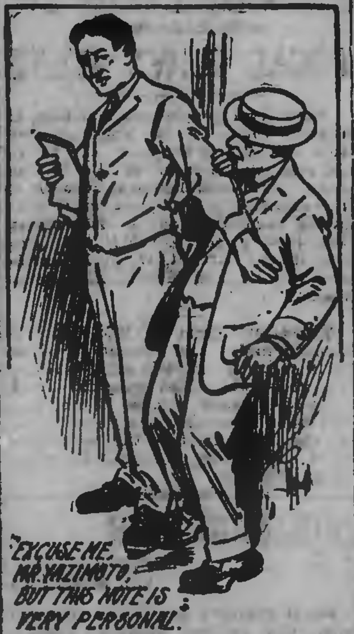
Solano laughed amusedly.

"Mr. Kelly, your arguments are the best I have heard in many days. I'll tell you what I'll do; I'll take my share, and hold it in trust for Mr. Yazimoto. If he ever calls for it he can have it."

"Under those circumstances," said Brockett, "I will take the money. If I ever become friendly with Mr. Yazimoto, I will give it back to him."

"As for me," said Mr. Kelly, dealing out the sheaves of bills, "I am now a naturalized American citizen and a loyal one, even if I was born in Sicily. As a prize court, sitting on the division of moneys taken from a Japanese warship, I declare the same condemned, and split evenly among the five cruisers which effected the capture. Do I hear any objections? None. The money is hereby divided."

"I suppose," Mr. Kelly resumed, after the money had been pocketed and the laughter had died down, "that you fellows want to be on your way. There's another exit from this place—through a little tunnel that leads under the Chink junkstore on the south and then turns into a passage that runs all the way into a basement in Bayard street. Now there's a chance that the Jap will be stalling 'round, watching for a chance to put something over, so I'll just tend to that for you. There's four huskies—two guineas, a goose and a harp—upstairs, who'll go with you, and nobody will start anything with those babies, I can tell you straight. They'll see you wherever you want to be taken, and you keep 'em with you as long as you think you need 'em, see. And, when all these troubles are over, come down to Doyers street some day and spend a little time with Kelly."



"EXCUSE ME, MR. YAZIMOTO, BUT THIS NOTE IS VERY PERSONAL."

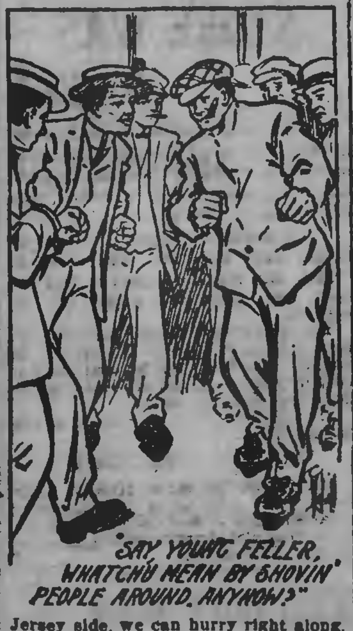
CHAPTER XII.

The spoils of war having been carefully put away, and the escort of four gangsters notified of their duties, Brockett and Solano started on the devious journey that was to cover so large a portion of North America before it could be satisfactorily completed—a longer trip, in fact, than the youngsters had anticipated, and even more replete with excitement and adventure than they had expected. Kelly, frankly cordial and evidently wholly honest in his intentions, introduced them to the precious four who were to see them safely out of Manhattan. The gang leader's instructions to his legionaries were short, simple and easily understood.

"These two lads," quoth Mr. Kelly, "are right people. The best ever, believe me, and I want you four to look out for them till they are over in Jersey. If anybody tries to get to them, it'll be a bunch of Japs. Keep cool, watch close, and anytime a slant-eyed monk tries to get gay, just trim him. If you have to use your gats, why use 'em—it will be all right, and there's somebody higher up than me that will see you don't get none the worst of it. Remember, now—keep heeled for yellow men, and don't be nowise slow if you have to get some of 'em."

Brockett and Solano had quickly decided that the Christopher street ferry should take them back to the Jersey side, figuring out this plan of action on the theory that their tireless enemies would hardly expect them to double back upon their tracks. "In all probability," argued Solano, "they will be counting on our going either north, towards Albany, or east towards Boston, and we can simply alter one small section of our route to fit the exigencies of the case."

"We will have to cut out a few of the turns and bends we had mapped out," said Brockett, "or the delay we have just been through may hold us back considerably. Once back on the Jersey side, we can hurry right along. We still have a fair margin of time ahead of us, but we can't waste many hours."



"SAY, YOUNG FELLER, WHATCHU MEAN BY SHOVIN' PEOPLE AROUND, ANYHOW?"

FRUIT DESSERTS

Some Delicious Ways of Serving Ripe Bananas.

Bananas en Surprise.—A quart of cream or custard, half a pound of sugar, three-quarters of a pint of banana pulp, the yellow rind of a lemon, strained juice of half a lemon and salpicon of candied cherries and pineapple. Scald the cream with the lemon rind and sugar, strain, let it cool and partially freeze, then add the banana pulp mixed with the sirup and lemon juice and finish freezing. Have ready chilled, fresh looking banana skins, injured as little as possible in removing the pulp; fill these with the frozen mixture, putting a tablespoonful of the salpicon in the center of each. Press the strip of skin back in place and put in freezer buried in equal parts of ice and salt for an hour and a quarter. For the salpicon cut the fruit in very small dice, mix with a little thick sirup flavored to taste. When serving tie each banana with a bow of narrow ribbon.

BANANAS EN SURPRISE AND BANANA CREAM

Banana Cream.—Four bananas, three-quarters of an ounce of powdered gelatin, three ounces of sugar, three-quarters of a pint of milk, half a pint of whipped cream, strained juice of a lemon, a tablespoonful of brandy and sliced bananas and whipped cream for garnishing. Skin the four bananas and rub them through a fine sieve. Dissolve the gelatin in the milk, add the sugar, banana pulp and lemon juice. Allow it to cool a little and stir in the whipped cream and the brandy. As soon as it begins to set pour the mixture into a ring mold previously rinsed in cold water. Unmold, fill the center with the whipped cream, and decorate with the sliced bananas.

When a man makes up his mind to economize, it encourages him so much about the future that the first thing he does is to go and spend some money on the prospect.

WILL HAY FEVER BE NEXT "INCURABLE" DISEASE TO BE CURED?

Wonderful Results Obtained by Using Tablets Made From Fresh Fruit Juices.—Lady In Cornwall Centre Tried Them.

Genuine Case Of Severe Hay Fever Completely Eradicated From The System By "Fruit-a-tives", The Famous Fruit Medicine.

"I suffer tortures every year with Hay Fever—please tell me frankly if "Fruit-a-tives" will do me any good". You are saying this to yourself as you read this article. First of all, read the facts about this distressing trouble. Hay Fever is not a nervous affection. There is probably no actual disease of the nerves. But the nerves—and in fact the whole system—is affected by the condition of the blood. The nerves are intensely irritated by impure blood, due to defective action of the bowels, kidneys and skin. In fully ninety per cent of the cases of Hay Fever, there is chronic Constipation, Weak Stomach, Indigestion and hot, dry skin. The great truth of this is shown by the fact that sprays, gargles and other local treatment do not cure. They cannot. The trouble does not lie in the nose and throat but in the stomach, bowels, kidneys and skin. This is why "Fruit-a-tives" cured Mrs. Kemp of Hay Fever.

CORNWALL CENTRE, ONT., NOVEMBER 27th. 1911

I was a martyr to Hay Fever for a long time—probably fifteen years—and I suffered terribly at times. I consulted many physicians and took their treatment —and I tried every remedy I heard of as good for Hay Fever. But nothing did me any good. Then I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and this remedy cured me completely. I am now well, and I wish to say to every sufferer from Hay Fever—"Try Fruit-a-tives". This fruit medicine cured me when every treatment failed and I believe it is a perfect cure for this dreadful disease". MRS. HENRY KEMP.

Impure blood causes the itching eyes, sore throat, irritated nose that we know as Hay Fever. As this is true, the sensible thing to do is to purify the blood by taking "Fruit-a-tives". Mrs. Kemp took "Fruit-a-tives" and is cured.

Why not let "Fruit-a-tives" regulate your bowels, kidneys and skin? Why not let "Fruit-a-tives" give you health, and strength and appetite? Why not let "Fruit-a-tives" so build up the system that you won't have Hay Fever this summer? "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit juices. It is particularly suited to the use of women because it is pleasant to take and acts mildly and gently. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. Dealers in all parts of Canada sell "Fruit-a-tives". But if you are unable to obtain them in your neighborhood, they will be sent you postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

To-day's Impressions
To-morrow's Sales

Many a September purchase is really decided in July.

Many a woman is gathering information to-day that will influence her selection of a stove two months hence.

Many a man is thinking right now about the store he will patronize for his Fall suit and overcoat.

Many an October piano purchase is really determined on the porch of a summer hotel or home in August.

How unwise, then, to put off the Advertising of these and similar articles until the actual time of their use arrives.

One advertisement seldom makes a sale. It is the repeated impressions created by Advertising that develops purchases by a discriminating public—and these impressions are seldom built up in a day, a week or a month.

Yet some manufacturers and merchants still procrastinate until the first nip of frost is felt—and then besiege the public with belated announcements of Fall clothes, kitchen ranges, home furnishings, winter underwear, and other articles usually purchased in the Fall.

Purchased in the Fall—oh, yes—but decided upon in the Summer. Decided in favor of the goods that are continuously advertised.

It's the Advertising read in July that bears fruit in September and October. For to-day's impressions inevitably lead to to-morrow's sales.

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any recognized Canadian advertising agency, or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503 Lumsden Building, Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write, if interested.

ORILLIA PEOPLE RETURN TO STANDARD TIME TO-DAY

Daylight Saving Was Not Successful Through Confusion Caused by Factories and Other Employers of Labor Refusing to Abide by the Proclamation.

The Orillia Packet publishes the fact of the town council having decided on revoking the proclamation calling all people to put their time pieces forward one hour, and thus give daylight saving a trial.

Standard time will be resumed tonight at ten o'clock.

The Council put itself on record as of the belief that Orillia's experiment with the measure, while failing because of the lack of unanimity, due primarily to the novelty of the proposal, has undoubtedly demonstrated that with united action the principle involved is entirely feasible, and is calculated to add immeasurably to the enjoyment of the summer months by all classes of the community.

INDIAN MAID IS BELIEVED TO BE POSSESSED OF THE EVIL EYE

Prescott, July 6.—Tense excitement prevails at the little Indian village of St. Regis, where the people are living in terror of Lola Razor, a native girl of 15, who is believed to possess an evil eye. To her powers of witchery are already attributed the madness of a dog and the death of live stock.

The Indians declare that Lola is a "black witch," and that wherever she appears, children get sick, dogs go mad, animals die and the lives of the residents are made hideous. The medicine men have been unable to dispose of the evil spirit. The squaws tell their children to shun the "witch girl" and warnings have been given out not to let her shadow fall on any member of the tribe, or on their horses, cattle, cattle or hogs.

The chiefs decided in council that the girl must leave the tribe at once and she has gone to Luzerne Mountain, where an uncle is engaged in basket making. Lola is described as a bright, pretty girl, who cherishes an ambition to become a teacher to her tribe. It is believed that a few clever tricks performed by her at a school entertainment gave rise to the idea that she is in league with the evil spirits.

OBITUARY

Wm. Patterson

On Friday morning, there passed away at 639 Water street, one of the most respected and widely known citizens of Peterborough in the person of William Patterson, after an illness bordering on eight months. The deceased was in his sixty-eighth year, the last four of which had been spent as a resident of the city. Previous to that, he followed the agricultural occupation in the county of South Simcoe. He was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and came to this country, just a half century ago. It was in the year 1908 that he took up residence in Peterborough, living a more or less retired life since.

In religion, he was a staunch Presbyterian and a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian church.

Besides his sorrowing wife, there are left to mourn his departure, four sons and three daughters, Dr. W. J. Patterson, of Salem, Ore., H. J. Patterson of Chaselle, Mich., C. H. Patterson, at home and J. R. Patterson, at Queen's University, Kingston, Mrs. B. M. Dennis of Grose Isle, Mich., and Annie and Emma at home.

The funeral service will be held on Monday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, at the late residence, the cortege proceeding to Little Lake cemetery, at 3 o'clock for interment.

The Rev. Robert Pogue of St. Paul's will conduct the final ceremony.

NORTH END STORE WAS ROBBED

The general store of J. T. Braund, at the corner of George and Smith streets, was entered last Monday, the safe being opened and valuable papers taken.

The amount of money in the safe at the time did not exceed $5.00. While Mr. Braund stands to lose his cash, the papers have since been recovered.

The store was robbed several years ago, and since then it has been the rule to take banking precautions, and as a result the silent visitors were ill-paid for their trouble.

Mr. Braund is at present on a trip to the West.

DOMINION FAIR AT OTTAWA

Novel features are being secured every day for the Dominion Exhibition to be held at Ottawa from September 6 to 16. These innovations with the expansions in the main departments, will form an aggregations of attractions and displays that will create a bustle and stir in every part of the hundred acres of Fair Grounds. The Exhibition Association has prepared a bulletin of the features secured up to date, which will be sent to any applicant. Later additions will be published in the regular program. Only by pursuing these publications and the prize list can an adequate idea be formed of the enormous scope of the Dominion Exhibtiion.

The result of the judging in the live stock departments will be impressively demonstrated to the public at 1.30 p.m., Thursday, third last day of the Fair, by a monster parade of the animals winning Dominion Exhibition premiums. The procession will be repeated at the same hour Saturday. On Friday and Saturday an extra display will be made before the Grand Stand of the championship stallions, one of each breed to be designated by principal cards. This is chiefly for educational purposes. Another special number on the program for Friday afternoon is the lining up before the Grand Stand of the heavy horses, which will compete in strings of ten for a purse of $100.

Some of the special features are mentioned in the advertisement, which appears in another column.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Cure Most of the Family's Ills.

Perhaps if the children, and the "grown-ups" too, always ate exactly the right quantities of exactly the right things, at just the proper times, and in every other way obeyed the rules of health, there would be no sickness in the family, and no need of medicine.

But they never have and probably never will, so in every family there are sure to be more or less frequent attacks of sick headache, biliousness, indigestion, constipation, and kidney and liver troubles, and occasionally some one is "sick in bed".

It is worth a good deal to the mother, then, to have on hand that perfectly safe and reliable remedy for these ills —

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

They invigorate those organs which cleanse the body of waste and impurities, regulating the bowels, stimulating the kidneys and opening the pores of the skin.

Thus Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cure the common ailments and keep the family healthy. This they have been doing for over half a century in every part of the world.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC

Contributed by W.C.T.U.

The physiologist has always laid great stress upon what he calls "inhibition." The word inhibition means restraint. It is the brake that you put on your bicycle to prevent it running away with you down hill. Without this power of inhibition, we should all be mere creatures of impulse and slaves of passion. Indeed, it is the high development of this power of inhibition which, more than anything else, distinguishes the civilized man from the savage. Thus, for example, the hungry man sees food, but his inquisitive impulse is at once checked. In an early stage of his evolution towards civilization it is checked by the recollection, that if he takes what is not his own, disagreeable consequences are likely to follow. And in a later stage of his evolution toward civilization it is checked by the fact that his moral sense of what is right prevents him doing what he knows to be wrong.

Now this power of inhibition, which has only been developed by a long and painful process of education and culture, is weakened under the influence of alcohol. And this is why the modest and reticent man becomes, under the influence of alcohol, pushing, offensive and loquacious. It is not that the alcohol has stimulated his brain; it is that it has paralyzed this power of self-control. And because it is the result of paralysis and not stimulation his judgment is impaired, his will power weakened, and his self-control diminished. His discretion also is impaired and thus the alcohol is often given credit for "Dutch courage." Several years ago a very amateur climber in the Alps told a friend of his that whenever he had a crevasse to jump he always took a nip of spirits and then he jumped like a bird. "You should say rather," answered his more experienced friend, "like a fool."

Those faculties which are the last acquisition of culture and refinement are always the first to go. Thus the power of fine discrimination is soon lost and the connoisseur becomes highly appreciative of bad music, poor art, weak jokes, and fatuous literature. Especially does he appreciate himself and his own doings, and he thus becomes egotistic and self-assertive. And that all this is the result of paralysis and not the result of stimulation, has been proved by numberless experiments which have been tried chiefly in the psychological laboratories of Germany and America.

I often think that this self-appreciation which results from taking alcohol is one of the most potent factors in the wonderful power of fascination that it possesses over its slaves. Thus, under its influence the cowardly man becomes in his own estimation a hero. The despicable blackguard who is kept by his wife, or his mother and never did an honest day's work in his life, becomes a swaggering braggart who has much to be proud of. Now it is easy enough to see how immensely pleasurable this flattering discrepancy between facts and feelings must be to the individual concerned; but surely it is equally obvious how much better it would be could such an one appraise himself at his real worth. Prof. Huxley fully appreciated this deceptive influence of alcohol, and although not always a total abstainer, whenever he had any good original work to do, then for the time being he became one.—British Alliance News.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucuous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

George street church Sunday school held their annual picnic Thursday to Sandy Point. Between 200 and 300 attended. The steamer Stoney Lake was chartered for the occasion. The low water between locks Nos. 2 and 3 delayed the boat for some time. Dinner was held at Lakefield, and Sandy Point was reached about two o'clock. Boys' and girls' races were held here, and afterwards the boys played a baseball match. The races were very keenly contested and nice prizes were presented. The boat docked at Wolfe street wharf after a very pleasant outing.

MOONLIGHT HAD BIG ATTENDANCE

We-Never-Sleep Boys Met With Great Success.

The "We-Never-Sleep" moonlight sail down the placid waters of the Otonabee last night exceeded in success the most sanguine expectations of the Club, who to-day are receiving hearty congratulations on the event, right and left. One of the jolliest but most orderly crowds that could be desired embarked on the comfortable Stoney Lake, which carried nearly her allotted passenger list. All the tickets were disposed of long before the excursion. The boys were certainly lucky in their choice of a night. The heated atmosphere of the early part of the evening was gradually dispelled by the cool river breezes, making the latter portion of the trip delightfully pleasant.

The booth in charge of a couple of the members of the Club cleared handsomely from the sale of refreshments of all kinds.

Splendid music was furnished by the Grand Opera House orchestra in a decidedly liberal manner. The terpsichorean enthusiasts could not resist the inviting music, and dancing whirled away an exceedingly enjoyable part of the night.

The boat went about five miles down, returning home about eleven o'clock. The club were right with their camp during the sail, and in fact by their businesslike management and courtesy, established a name for themselves highly creditable.

The event was extremely successful financially, about $46.00 being cleared at the booth alone.

CHIEF THOMPSON AT BRANTFORD

The Brantford Expositor has the following reference to Chief Thompson, who is attending the Chief Constables' convention:

"Chief Thompson, of Peterborough, gave an exceptionally interesting and instructive paper dealing with the vigilant and observing patrolman, which gave rise to a great deal of very interesting discussion.

"The chief in his paper took up the observance of the patrolman as regards people, safes, hours of the opening and closing of business places, promotion, improvement of education and cleanliness in word and character."

Mr. Kelly at Kingston

Says the Kingston Whig:—J. W. Kelly, of Peterborough, who joins the teaching staff of the Collegiate Institute, at the opening in the fall, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of S. H. Henry, is an officer of the 57th regiment of that city. Lieut. Kelly, who has had over ten years' experience with the regiment, has held his commission most of that time, rising from the ranks. He is the senior subaltern and was to have been placed in command of a company next season. It would appear that he would be an acquisition to the Kingston unit.

CATTLE KILLED

From the storm of yesterday afternoon many losses were reported. John Davidson, on the Harvey farm, near the Red Mills, had five milch cows killed by lightning. The animals were grazing in a field near the river road. They were in a group, having evidently come together at the breaking of the storm, and were all lying stretched out. One showed some signs of life and may with treatment recover. The others are a loss.

James Grant, on the Chemong road, has a loss of one cow, also struck in the field. From the appearance of the animals it is inferred that the ground has been struck by the bolt, and being wet, carried the current to the cows, prostrating them with the shock.

William Fair, Cavan, sends in word of five year-olds killed, also in the field, near Fairmount. These three cases show a total of eleven head killed in a few minutes. All phoned to Mr. Story, whose company carried policies on the cattle.

Mr. Milson Blewett, who resides on the Chemong Road, lost two fine head of cattle through lightning, and Mr. Robert Scott suffered the loss of one.

VANDERBILT TRIES TO TRICK GOULD.

The name of Vanderbilt is one of the greatest in the role of financial giants that the world has ever seen. America is justly proud of the family of fortune. The "Commodore," who founded the great house, a man of compelling power in commerce, must have been, one would imagine, a gentleman with a well-balanced mind and, at the height of his success, a man of supreme dignity. Gould is another name to conjure with in finance. The founder of that grandiose fortune, one would think, must have been such another as the founder of the Vanderbilts — dignified, unimaginative, a pillar of the great commercial world. Yet nothing could better illustrate the lighter side of finance than a scene enacted between these two giants, which I will now describe.

One night Vanderbilt and Gould met on some important business in the former's parlor, when both were in the zenith of their fame. In the eyes of the public they were bitter enemies, and matters had come to a climax. No sooner had the great rivals exchanged courtesies, and started their private conversation on a question in relation to which many millions were at stake, than the Ancient Mariner, the Commodore-Vanderbilt the First — apparently overcome by the excitement of the meeting, suddenly fell down in a faint and rolled off his chair on to the floor, where he lay as if dead. Mr. Gould's anxiety may be more easily imagined than described. It is said "that his first impulse was to rush to the door and summon aid; but he found it locked and no key in it. 'This,'" continues an authentic account of the historic scene, "increased his alarm, and he became greatly agitated. Vanderbilt lay limp and motionless. Once there was a heavy sigh and a half-suffocated breathing, as if it were the last act of respiration." His rival watched the great financier lying in this condition; every minute seemed hours. What could he do, should his rival die? Great heavens! What a position! It was well known that they were deadly rivals. It was common knowledge that they had publicly denounced each other. Vanderbilt was much the elder, the richer, and the greater. Gould had everything to gain by his death. He had sought a private interview, late at night. Now, to find Gould alone in Vanderbilt's parlor, Vanderbilt dead, and Gould bending over him, would have been one of the most tragic events in the history of commerce. But the trick did not work. Yes, reader, the trick! Vanderbilt the Great was acting the whole time so as to rouse Gould's sympathy and induce him to smooth matters over.

Wealthy men if not guilty of trickery, are often suspicious of tricks. The celebrated author, the late Charles Reade was one of this kind. He always suspected he was being robbed and set traps to catch the thieves. When he became lessee of a London Theatre he imagined that his ticket office cheated him by letting in the public for any thing they could get, and keeping the money. So Reade turned up his coat collar and shuffling up to the box office he shoved a quarter into the box-office keeper's hand and whispered: "It's all right — that's for you. I don't want a ticket. Pass me through." The clerk ran out, seized Reade by his collar and was handling him roughly when his hat came off.

Reade next suspected the theatre sweepers. Money and valuables must be lost in the theatre; none, however, were brought to him. So he dropped a five-pound note under one of the seats, and waited.

Presently in came a charwoman with the note, which "somebody must have dropped, as she found it under one of the seats."

Reade gave her the five pounds.

Bribery, blackmail, corruption of all kinds frequently illustrate the light side of finance. There is a story of a young man who, late one cold and wintry night, found the door of his college locked against him. The young man outside argued with the doorkeeper inside, cajoled and entreated, but to no avail. Eventually he slipped half a sovereign under the door and was admitted. It was a financial deal wisely thought out on strict business lines. Once inside he informed the janitor (falsely) that unfortunately, after taking the half-sovereign out of his purse, he had dropped the purse itself on the doorstep. The attendant went out to secure it, but once on the chilly, wet doorstep, the door was slammed. Then the deal was repeated, for the shivering mercenary was not allowed into his warm abode until he had slipped the half-sovereign back again.

No Bluff.

"Father seems impressed with your talk about coupons," said the girl. "Have you really any?"

"Sure," answered the guileful youth. "Got 700 saved up toward the furniture for our little flat."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Fair Inference.

"I'll bet that bearded lady is a suffragist," mused Sideshow.

Tent—What makes you think so?

Sideshow—She faces the world like a man.—Philadelphia Record.

Penalty of Punctuality.

"When you make an engagement you are always right on the minute keeping it, aren't you?"

"Yes; I have lost a lot of time this way."—Houston Post.

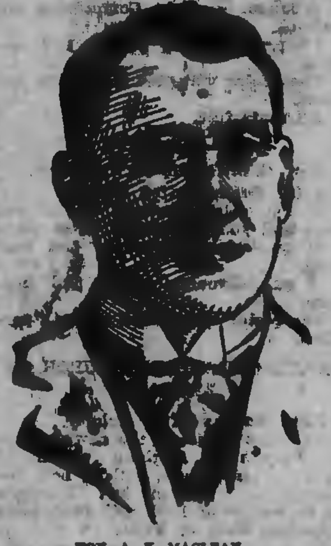
BRAKING IS HIS ROLE

HON. A. K. MACLEAN KEEPS THE FIRE-EATERS IN CHECK.

Member of the Opposition at Ottawa Is an Orator Who Makes His Appeal Chiefly to the Head and Has the Canniness of a Long Line of Scots — He Absolutely Refuses To Be Stampeded.

In every well-built, soundly-constructed and workable bit of locomotive mechanism there must be driving force and brake. Both are essential. It is true that the function of the latter is not so spectacular as that of the former, but it is none the less important. It is protection against the runaway. It regulates and defines progress on safe lines.

Among the rank and file of the Liberal membership of the House of Commons Hon. A. K. Maclean is the brake. The freedom of Opposition and its lack of direct responsibility has a tendency to develop either of two things, mere negation, or daring trail-blazing. With the present Opposition any danger which might arise would be wholly from the latter. A brake doesn't come amiss, and Mr. Maclean supplies the brake.



HON. A. K. MACLEAN.

He is built for the job; quiet, observant, forceful. There is nothing theatrical about him. He does not pose. He is devoid of affectation. He is no demagogue, and he doesn't practice the arts of popularity.

Maclean is a canny Scot, and will not be stampeded. His keen, grey-blue eyes do not miss much. He studies a situation before he deals with it, and even the enthusiasm of "the boys" will not carry him along until he is satisfied to go. He is invaluable going down hill—as most brakes are. When things are coming easiest Maclean is most cautious.

He has had a good deal of experience, too. He was elected to the Nova Scotia Legislature in 1901, and resigned his seat three years later to become a candidate for the Commons. Lunenburg elected him, and repeated the trick in 1908. In October of the year following, however, Premier Murray came to Ottawa looking for a wise and safe Attorney-General, and he secured the services of Mr. Maclean. When the Federal election of last September came round Ottawa Liberals again appealed to him as the man who could win one of the Halifax seats, both of which were at that time represented by Conservatives. Again he served his party. He resigned his provincial portfolio, threw himself into the campaign, and redeemed the seat, despite the general swing of the pendulum in the other direction.

Mr. Maclean entered upon what was to him a new Parliamentary experience with the present session. He had never before served in Opposition. And he has proved one of its most effective members. When he speaks he receives respectful attention from the Government benches. He is not a spell-binder. Others may appeal to the heart; Mr. Maclean goes after the head. He speaks, too, less as an advocate and more as a business man expounding a business proposition, which he understands, with cosiderable lucidity and logic. He is no carping critic with a microscope tucked under his arm on the search for minute faults. He gets the larger viewpoint — the general affect for weal or ill, and deals with his subject from a national standpoint.—Canadian Courier.

Canada Grows Westward.

"Transportation is the greatest problem we have to solve in the west, but, if the railways and the Government handle matters well, fifteen years, or at the most twenty, will see more people west of Lake Superior than you have in the east."

Such was the remark of Sir William Whyte at the Windsor Hotel in Montreal recently, when interviewed. Although Sir William has retired from active operation of the Canadian Pacific Railway, he still is a member of the directorate and takes great interest in the development of the western provinces.

He declared that with the Canadian Northern Railway and Grand Trunk Pacific completed he had no doubt as to the capacity of the railways to handle the crops for many years to come and there would be no large quantity of grain damaged owing to the lack of time in which to handle it, as there has been this year.

Unclaimed Articles.

Among the unclaimed articles left in the cloakrooms and depots of the Southeastern Railway, recently sold by auction at Blackfriars Station, London, Eng., were twenty bags of flour, a rowing-boat, a fireproof safe, and a weighing machine.

Pick pockets are reported busy at London and St. Thomas.

Crochet Buckle.

Why not make for yourself a belt buckle of Irish lace? Any oval or oblong shape may be used for a foundation, or a shape can be cut from heavy cardboard, with slides sewed on the under side when finished.

The foundation is covered first with a layer of cotton wadding, then with black or white silk, according to the outside.

The separate flowers are first crocheted, then a shaped background of the openwork stitch just big enough to cover the buckles neatly. This is stretched tightly over the covered belt buckle and sewed with tiny stitches.

A good looking buckle for a black and white dress is of the black lace made up over a white satin lining.

Springtime in the Home.

A touch of springtime in the living room may be had by a simple change in the window draperies, substituting some light flowered summery fabrics for the winter ones which have grown dingy.

The color scheme of the curtains may be changed and perhaps a different tone in the wall paper brought out thereby.

The wide assortment of beautiful linen and cotton curtain fabrics now to be found in the shops offers many hints by which this change may be brought about.

Cretonnes with the black and rich dark backgrounds are suitable for living and dining room decorations, and, too, they do not show the soil so quickly as do the lighter grounds.

A Goat In a Bag

A Story of an Italian Bandit

By G. TOMASO

On an eminence amid the mountains back of Sorrento, Italy, stood a well dressed young man evidently waiting for something or some one. Before him was spread out the beautiful bay of Naples, to the north the islands of Ischia, and Capri resting on what seemed at the time a sea of molten silver, for the Mediterranean takes on a different hue in every part of the day. Directly beneath him lay the town of Sorrento, set on a ledge of rock 300 feet above the bay, the waves beneath rocking the anchored fishing boats, then pushing on to break in a white line of foam at the foot of the cliff.

"I beg pardon," said a voice behind the gentleman. "Is this Signor di Guida?"

The gentleman turned and saw a man who seemed to belong to the lower but not the lowest class.

"I am Signor di Guida," he replied, somewhat surprised.

"There is a man over there," pointing, "who carries a letter for you."

"Indeed! I expected him to come up by this road. I will go to him."

Di Guida dropped a coin into the man's hand and went off in the direction he had indicated. It was not on the road, but behind some high rocks. As soon as he had passed around the rocks he saw a man who advanced to meet him—a tall, well built fellow, but with a sinister expression on his face.

"Are you looking for me, sir?" asked Di Guida.

"Are you Signor Vincenzo di Guida?"

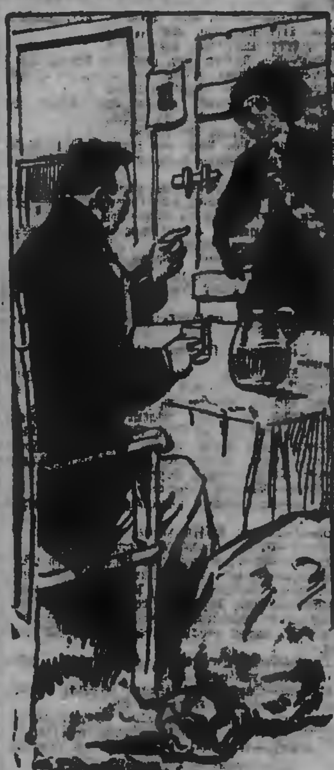
"I am."

"And expecting a note from Signorina Bianca Fabri?"

"I am."

The man held out a note, which Di Guida received with some surprise, for it was written on paper such as Signorina Fabri was not in the habit of using and addressed in a masculine hand. He opened it and read:

Signor Vincenzo di Guida—Will you please send by the messenger who hands you this a note to your father asking him to send 100,000 lire for your ransom? I have the honor to be your obedient servant. ANDREA ZANELLA.



THE GIRL PALED, BUT SAID NOTHING.

Di Guida saw at once that he had been tricked. He had been drawn away from the road on which vehicles and pedestrians were constantly passing to a retired spot where he could be easily captured without exciting any attention from wayfarers. But how did Zanella, a member of the celebrated Camorra and a man who had been mixed up in a number of illegal episodes, know of Di Guida's affair with Signorina Fabri? The lady had yielded to her father's wishes so far as to engage herself to one of her choice. But she loved Di Guida and was carrying on with him a clandestine correspondence. Looking up at Zanella, Di Guida said:

"How you became aware that I expected a note from Signorina Fabri I am at a loss to understand. Your demand for 100,000 lire is absurd. My father has not as much as that in the world. Had he a fortune to warrant his paying you such a sum I would not be up here waiting for a note."

"As you please, signor. I will send a note from you to your father stating your capture and the ransom demanded for you if you choose to write it."

Zanella raised a silver whistle to his lips and blew upon it, whereupon several men started from different hiding places and approached the speakers. Di Guida was taken to their camp and given writing materials, but before the letter was written the amount demanded for his ransom was reduced to half the amount previously demanded. But even this the young man advised his father not to pay and, in fact, requested that he should pay none whatever.

Di Guida remained with the bandits quite awhile. Their chief threatened several times to cut off a few of his prisoner's fingers and send them with his next demand, but Di Guida laughed at him.

"Every one between here and Naples and all Neapolitans know that you, Andrea Zanella, are here in these mountains overlooking Sorrento, and you will be captured at last. Your friends of the Camorra will not be able to save you. You are a fool to set up for a regular bandit, for you can never rise beyond the Neapolitan sneak thief you are. If you harm me my father will understand parts of letters of mine you have carried to him—after inspecting them and not understanding them yourself—that on evidence of harm to me he is to put my best friend, Sergeant Giuseppe Micele of the carabinieri, upon your track and mine and never leave the job till he has taken you."

Zanella poohpoohed this, but it was evident he was impressed by the information. He took no especial measures to enforce his demands, and when he went away from the camp left instructions that the prisoner was to be loosely guarded that he might escape.

One evening, when Zanella was away, he availed himself of an opportunity given him by his guards and walked away into the darkness. He walked for perhaps an hour, when he came to a small villa. It had commenced to rain and he applied for admission. His summons was answered by a young girl, who told him that her father and brother were absent, but meanwhile he might come in out of the rain.

Di Guida entered the villa, telling the girl that he would remain in the hall, which is used for a living room in such buildings in Italy. A light stood on a table, and there were books at hand, so after she had withdrawn he sat down to read. It was not long before there was another knock at the door, and the girl came out of a rear room to answer the summons. Di Guida sat where he could not see who had arrived, but supposed it was those expected. He was mistaken. They were several men whom no young lady would dare admit, and she refused to do so. Finally they prevailed upon her to permit them to leave a sack containing a goat that had been killed that day and which they would return for. To this the girl consented. They unloaded their burden, and the girl went back to where she had come from.

Now, in doing this the men had placed the sack near the door of the room in which Di Guida was sitting. He took no interest in it, but went on reading. When he looked up he noticed that the bag had moved. Could the goat he had heard it contained be after all alive? Was it a goat or was it a man? And for what purpose could these men leave a man in a bag? A grave suspicion came over Di Guida, and he looked about him for a weapon. Not seeing any, he called to the girl, asking her if she could let him have a little wine. She went to get it, and when she arrived Di Guida had written on a piece of paper in pencil: "The bag contains a man. Can you bring me a weapon?"

The girl paled, but said nothing. In a few minutes she returned with a few figs on a plate and set it down before the guest. Out of her kerchief protruded the handle of a revolver. Di Guida seized it and laid it on the table beside him. The girl withdrew, and he examined the weapon. Every chamber was loaded. Satisfied of this, he took a sip of wine, ate a fig, then threw himself back in his chair and while pretending to read kept his eye fixed on the bag. It was not long before he detected a slight motion. He watched and saw the bag hitch itself toward an easy chair. Every now and again it would give a hitch and always toward the rear of the furniture.

"My pig in a poke," said Di Guida aloud, "you are covered by a cocked six shooter. I presume you can't see me, but I can see you plainly. I am going to give myself a guess as to who you are. The man in these mountains most likely to do a trick like that is Andrea Zanella, with the sinister intention of robbing this house. Fortunately not long ago I walked away from your camp, with your kind permission, the only sensible thing probably you ever did, and am here to defend a young lady who is alone. You will kindly edge yourself along in the direction I indicate. Proceed."

After a few moments the bag recommenced its hitching motion and, guided by Di Guida, passed to a position a short distance away from the door. Di Guida presently called his hostess and told her to meet her father and brothers outside, when they came, and advise them of what had occurred.

Not long after they arrived, and, having been warned, they entered the house and secured arms. Then they came into the hall and saluted the guest.

"Now, my friend of the bag," said Di Guida, "you have doubtless come here prepared to cut yourself out. Do so!"

Presently a slit was made in the bag. A man threw it off and stood up. Di Guida was right—he was Zanella.

"Ha, my chief!" said Di Guida. "You will not be troubled with any more notes for me. Now carry out your original intention—go to the door and blow on your whistle."

There was nothing for it but to obey the order. Zanella blew, and as each one of three men approached they were met by one standing in shadow and disarmed.

Zanella was turned over to the Italian government and executed. Di Guida gained great credit from his exploit and afterward Signorina Bianca Fabri as well.

MEDAL RECORDS.

South African Man Gets Two Decorations For Same Campaign.

The interesting fact that Field-Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, V.C., who has been so ill, was recommended for the Victoria Cross both as a sailor (in the Crimea) and as a soldier (in the Indian Mutiny) is a reminder of other unique medal records. For instance, Lieut. Kirby, R. E., who has recently been appointed to the Air Battalion, won both the Victoria Cross and the Distinguished Conduct Medal in the South African War; and there is an ex-quartermaster-sergeant of the Royal Engineers who possesses two bronze Humane Society's medals, whereas the usual rule is to reward a second act of bravery in saving life by a silver medal or a clasp added to the bronze one.

Similarly, there is a resident in South Africa who received two Queen's medals for the campaign in that country, one as a soldier and the other in the capacity of civilian interpreter. A dog that accompanied the Guards in that campaign was also rewarded with a proper medal; and there is an old lady, a Mrs. Evans, who claims to be the only woman entitled to wear three medals for the Crimean campaign. As she had been under fire, and often accompanied her husband in the trenches, permission to wear his medals was officially granted her on his death.

Lord Roberts, however, has found it necessary to correct the impression that his owning two Victoria Crosses (his own and that of his gallant son, who was killed at Colenso) is unique. It is exceedingly rare for two Victoria Crosses to go to one family. The Gough family, however, can boast three, earned by Gen. C. J. S. Gough, his brother, Gen. Sir H. H. Gough, and the latter's son, Col. J. E. Gough.

The record among serving officers is probably held by Gen. J. M. Grierson, with a total of fourteen medals and decorations, and among other ranks by Sergt.-Major R. Ellicott, of the Yeomen of the Guard, who wears nine medals and was given an M.V.O. by King Edward.

However, an ex-sergeant, John McMiller, late of the Seaforth Highlanders and Rifle Brigade, claims to have equalled the latter's record, and his nine medals (which include the one for Distinguished Conduct) have attached to them thirteen clasps for campaigns in Afghanistan, Egypt, Burma, and South Africa. A Corpl. Taylor, however, holds the record for the greatest number of medals received in one day. Whilst still convalescent, after a severe illness incurred during the South African campaign, he pluckily jumped from a South Coast pier into a raging sea and rescued an old skipper, who was struggling for dear life. This act brought him the Lloyd's medal for saving life at sea, the Humane Society's medal, and the Board of Trade's; and on the same day that he received them he was also presented with the King's and Queen's South African medals. To put the finishing touch to his wonderful record, he subsequently received the Stanhope gold medal for the bravest deed of life-saving during the year, and thus he received four medals for one brave act.

There are three regiments with records in the medal line of which they are proud—the 9th Lancers, who have won more Victoria Crosses than any other cavalry regiment—namely, thirteen, of which twelve were won in the Indian Mutiny, when the regiment won the nickname of "The Delhi Spearmen"; the South Wales Borderers, who lead all infantry battalions in regard to the number of Victoria Crosses won [illegible] namely, sixteen; and the 18th Lancers, who, in 1[illegible], had the unique honor of receiving eleven gold medals from the Pope for their officers, as reward for gallant conduct at Citta Vecchia.

WEAK, TIRED PEOPLE

Are Usually the Victims of Pale Watery Blood.

Anaemia is the medical term for poor or watery blood. It may arise from a variety of causes, such as lack of exercise, hard study, improperly ventilated rooms or workshops, imperfect assimilation of food, etc. The chief symptoms are extreme paleness of the face, lips and gums, rapid breathing and palpitation of the heart after slight exertion, headaches, dizziness, sometimes fainting spells and a tendency to hysteria, swelling of the feet and limbs, a feeling of constant tiredness and a distaste for food. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a certain cure for anaemia because they make new, rich blood, which stimulates and strengthens every organ and every part of the body. The following is one among thousands of cases of this serious trouble cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Miss Georgina Raymond, St. Jerome, Que., says: "About a year ago my health began to give out. I suffered from headaches, heart palpitation, dizziness and appeared to be threatened with a general breakdown. I was at this time employed in the family of a doctor, who, seeing my condition, gave me medicine. I took this faithfully for some time, but with no benefit, and I grew much discouraged. Then a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, saying that she had found a cure through them in similar conditions. I took her advice, got a supply of the pills and took them regularly for some time. Gradually I became strong and in the course of a month or so I was again enjoying the best of health, and have not since had the least return of the old symptoms. I can heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all weak girls."

Sold by all medicine dealers at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 or sent by mail, post paid, by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co.

Life Insurance

Marriage is a good thing. It is a part of the duty every young man owes to his race and to the community. And one of the first duties after marriage is life insurance. TURNING THE TABLES.

Dramatic Author Becomes "Quits" by a Ruse.

An entertaining story of how a dramatic author adopted an artful ruse and became quits with the Censor is related by Mr. Laurence Cowen in The Pall Mall Gazette.

Last December two of Mr. Cowen's plays were refused licenses by Earl Spencer, the then Lord Chamberlain. "One, 'The Pity of It,' was, in effect, a scene from my licensed play 'The World, the Flesh, and the Devil' " writes Mr. Cowen, "produced over three years ago and played continuously to this very day. I say nothing in regard to so impossible a decision."

The other play entitled "Tricked," was returned to the author for alterations, and when altered was still refused a license, the Lord Chamberlain stating that no alterations would make it fit for public representation. The license was accordingly refused.

Then Mr. Cowen decided on a bold attempt to demonstrate that the censorship had done him "a great wrong," and how he succeeded is a story well worth the telling.

He wrote another play—not really another, for in structure it was exactly similar—containing everything fundamental to the plot basis of "Tricked." Characters were given different names and stations in life, "but they did every vital deed and act, with the same motives and material" as in the banned play, and with a delightful sense of intelligent anticipation Mr. Cowen called the play "Quits!"

This was sent in for license on Jan. 6, Mr. Cowen borrowing for the purpose the professional name of a relative. In Jan. 22 the Lord Chamberlain wrote that after taking the opinion of the Advisory Board a license could not be issued. Having suggested that the play might be altered, the author on Jan. 26 attended by appointment at St. James' Palace and saw the Comptroller, Sir Douglas Dewson.

No curiosity was expressed as to Mr. Cowen's identity, and he was announced as the gentleman who wrote under the name he had sent in. A friendly discussion ensued, and the author was asked what arguments he could adduce for a reversal of the Lord Chamberlain's decision. He gave several, and was asked to embody them in a letter to be laid before the Advisory Board. This was done. On Feb. 10 the play was licensed.

Continuing his story, Mr. Cowen writes:

"I am very grateful to Sir Douglas Dawson for the service he has rendered me; but if 'Tricked!' cannot be licensed, then of a certainty 'Quits!' should not; if 'Quits!' is licensed (as it now is), then the bann on 'Tricked!' is an outrage, as wicked as it is illogical. If 'Tricked!' is unfit for public performance—vide the Lord Chamberlain and his Advisory Board—then I am bound to frankly admit that 'Quits!' is beyond the pale.

"The broad fact remains: 'Tricked!' is not only a prohibited play, but an improper one; 'Quits!' after vicissitudes, is fit food for the public, and its highly moral tone is certified by the Lord Chamberlain; they are, nevertheless, as pieces of stage craftmanship, identical!

"May I now, without irreverence, bring down the curtain on this strange, eventful history with the query that performs that duty in the licensed play of the two under review: 'Now, dear lord! are we Quits?' "

Intangible Fortunes.

"You say you lost a fortune in Wall street?"

"Yes," replied the philosophic person. "But it's the same fortune my broker told me I had made the week previous, so I don't know that I ought to feel any different from what I did before."—Washington Star.

GRAND TRUNK SYSTEM NEWS ITEMS

The promotion has just been announced of another Grand Trunk man employed on the Ottawa division, in the person of Mr. J. B. Kirkpatrick, trainmaster of Districts 31 and 32, who now becomes superintendent of the Grand Trunk Pacific at Winnipeg. Mr. Kirkpatrick came originally from Battle Creek, Mich., where he entered the service on the G.T.R. at an early age; coming to the Capital at the time that the Canada Atlantic Road was taken over by the former company from J. R. Booth. He has remained on the Ottawa division since that time. Mr. Kirkpatrick has been made the recipient of a handsome presentation on the eve of his departure for the west by his fellow employees.

Grand Trunk officials have been very busy of late in providing for the transport of troops to and from the various militia camps. Special trains were recently sent out from Toronto to transport 5,000 men encamped at Goderich and Niagara to their homes and very heavy equipment is necessary on account of the large amount of baggage to be cared for. Mr. Charles E. Jenney, Traveling Passenger Agent, is in charge of the arrangements at Niagara and Mr. C.S. Proctor, Traveling Passenger Agent, at Goderich.

GRAIN FROM THE GRANARIES

A solid stream of gold is flowing from the Canadian Northwest, across the lakes through the elevators and out to the markets, to the bread eaters who dwell on paved streets. Modern methods and modern machinery for handling grain enable ships to load and unload with marvellous rapidity. The Superintendent of one of the Northern Divisions who has been watching the movements of grain, reports that on May 14th, the steamer "Meaford" with 103,900 bushels of wheat arrived at the Grand Trunk elevator, No. 2, at Tiffin at 7.00 a.m. The captain of the ship went over to do some shopping at Midland, and when he returned four hours later, the vessel had discharged her cargo and was ready to clear. For the 7 days, May 11th, to 18th inclusive, 2,504,100 bushels of wheat passed through the elevators at Midland. Of this amount 2,013,500 bushels were handled through the Grand Trunk Pacific elevator, No. 2.

Children's Habits.

Habits that are formed during the first year of a baby's life remain with the child for many years; therefore it is important for mothers and nurses to take care to establish good ones.

During the first few months a baby should live as much as possible by clockwork. Habits should be absolutely regular. Food should be given at the same hour each day, not a few minutes earlier because he cries for it or a bit later because he happens not to cry and mother is busy with other duties, but on the stroke of the hour prescribed by doctor or trained nurse.

He should be put to sleep at the same time every day, the nap hour being as regular as the hours when nourishment is given.

If medicine is ordered, this must be given according to the physician's directions.

Mothers are very apt to give medicine, especially soothing remedies that relieve colic pains or quiet a teething child, whenever fretful baby cries with pain.

This is not only wrong, but also very dangerous, and sometimes results in serious illness or death.

Teach him that when mother says "No" she means no; that when he is told to do something he must do it at once, cheerfully, without fret or worry. Very young children can be taught to be orderly, to fold their clothes neatly on a chair, to put shoes away in the closet and to pick up toys that have been scattered about the nursery. They can also be taught at a very early age to be clean about their person. When little hands and faces are soiled or sticky with sweets have them washed at once.

Teach them to use a handkerchief and that the towel is the proper article to dry wet hands on.

Of course train the children to be truthful. Little fibs of childhood, if overlooked, develop into dangerous lies as the child grows older.

In all things establish good habits in your children while they are young.

When Wives Were Cheap.

There is living in Horsham, at the age of eighty-five, a remarkable old man called Henry Burstow—by hard necessity a shoemaker, by taste a singer of songs and a ringer of church bells. Even now he can sing any one of 400 songs that he knows by heart. Mr. Burstow occasionally re-enforces his memory with stories told him by his father and so can go back to 1820, when a man sold his wife at the November fair for 8s. 6d. He himself can well remember that in 1844 a lady known as "Pintoe Nanny" was brought into the market place with a halter around her neck and sold for 30 shillings to a man who parted with his watch to raise the price. Nanny changed hands again a year afterward and married one Jim Smith, with whom she lived happily ever afterward.—Westminster Gazette.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT BY GRAIN BOARD COMMISSION

In Reply to Mis-statements, Federal Body Announces That It Will Build and Operate a Big Elevator, That Sample Markets Will Be Established at Three Centres and That Inspection Will Be Rigid.

Fort William, July 8.—Owing to the large number of mis-statements being made as to the policy of the Grain Commission, the commissioners have decided to make an official statement. The statement follows:

1. Terminal elevators — The board approves the leasing of elevator B. by the Grain Growers' Co. It considers the operation of a large terminal elevator by the farmers' company an important step in the right direction. The board has also all arrangements well under way for building a Government-owned and operated elevator of three and a quarter million bushels capacity. This elevator will be the best that can be constructed and will be equipped with every facility for handling grain.

2. Sample markets — The board is considering the practicability of having "sample markets" established at Fort William, Winnipeg and Calgary for September, 1913, provided the requisite facilities exist at these places. Negotiations are going on between the board and the authorities at those centres and an early decision will be given.

3. Grain certificates—The board is determined to protect the standards of the Canadian grain certificates. In this connection it is planned to strengthen the inspection staff. Inspection work is being carried on at present under serious handicaps in regard to facilities. The board is determined to remove such handicaps. It is also investigating carefully the inspection methods in the more important grain states in the United States. It is giving special attention to the matter of establishing a laboratory in Winnipeg for testing grain as to milling and baking values. It is also preparing for an extensive use of the moisture test in regard to the corn.

4. Vancouver and Hudson Bay terminals—The board is giving attention to the advisability of proceeding at an early date with the construction of terminal facilities on the Pacific Coast and Hudson Bay.

6. Meetings of the board in the west—At the earliest convenient moment the board plans to hold sessions at various places throughout the three grain growing provinces, thus to obtain first hand information of the views of the grain growers.

Seaman's Heroism Unavailing.

Philadelphia, July 8.—Two seamen were drowned in the Delaware River late last night, one giving his life in vain in an attempt to save his comrade. Neither man came to the surface.

Norway to Strengthen Navy.

Christiania, July 8.—After two days' debate, the Storthing by a large majority Saturday afternoon, passed the naval estimates of 20,000,000 kroner ($5,000,000). This is considered indicative of the growing popularity of the national defence movement throughout the country, in spite of socialistic protests.

COLLEGE IS SUPPRESSED BY BRUCHESI

Montreal, July 8—A considerable sensation has been caused in Roman Catholic circles in the Archdiocese of Montreal by the reading yesterday in all the Catholic churches of a mandement from Archbishop Bruchesi, formally suppressing the College of St. Marie de Monnoir at St. John's, Que. In his mandement his grace states that the long dispute over the college has been a painful scandal in the church, and to end this Mgr. Bruchesi formally forbids the fathers in charge of the college to ever reopen at St. Johns, and also forbids the faithful from sending their children there.

A number of garages and smaller buildings were wrecked, but most of the damage was done in the neighborhood of the Western Canada Sawmills, a large portion of the lumber in these yards being whirled up in a vortex to a height of between one and two hundred feet before being thrown to the ground and smashed to kindling wood.

BOY STARTS BIG BLAZE IN BOSTON

Boston, July 8.—Because a small boy wanted "to see the engines come," the police allege, damage estimated at $50,000, was done by fire in the Charlestown district Saturday. The Boston & Maine Railway warehouse, No. 25, filled with hay, was destroyed and the wagon and carriage stock factory of E. A. Gillett & Sons, was badly damaged. The firemen had a hard fight to prevent a conflagration, as the roofs of numerous wooden buildings in the vicinity frequently caught fire, while other nearby factories were endangered.

James Welch, ten years old, was arrested and the police say that upon being questioned he confessed that he started the fire by throwing a lighted firecracker into the hay in the warehouse. He was placed under charge of a probation officer and will be taken into the juvenile court later.

THE VICTIM OF ASSAULT DIES IN THE HOSPITAL

William Donnell Found Unconscious on York Street on Thursday Night Succumbs to His Injuries—Charles Day, a Waiter, Is Held Charged With Inflicting Fatal Injuries—Two Held as Witnesses.

Toronto, July 8.—Following closely on the Humber Bay murder, for which the police are now searching for Big Frank, Toronto now faces another case to which the charge will be either that of murder or manslaughter. William Donnell, who was found lying unconscious on York street on Thursday night, as the result of a murderous assault, died in St. Michael's Hospital at six o'clock last night.

Charles Day, a waiter who was employed at the Walker House, is now held by the police, and is charged with inflicting the fatal injuries. John Tobin, a fellow waiter, is held as a material witness.

From the evidence in the hands of the police, it appears that William Donnell, who was also a waiter, and Day, Tobin, Taylor and MacIntyre, all waiters, quarrelled over the result of a pool game on Thursday afternoon, which they had been playing in the Palace Pool Parlors, West King street, near York street. The men left the pool room quarrelling, and at York street met P. C. Kerr, to whom Donnell complained that Day had cheated him out of $2. At this their companions assured the constable that it was purely a personal matter between themselves, and the men proceeded up York street.

The next the police heard of the case was when a police constable discovered Donnell lying on York street, on Thursday night, in a stupefied condition. At that time Donnell was believed to be merely under the influence of drink, and he was locked in the police cells. Later, however, it was seen that he was ill and he was removed to St. Michael's Hospital in an unconscious condition, from which he never revived.

Detective Leavitt, from the descriptions furnished, located Day and Tobin in the Walker House Restaurant the next night and placed them under arrest. On Saturday morning Day appeared before Magistrate Denison in the police court charged with wounding and pending the condition of Donnell was refused bail by the magistrate. Tobin, who was being held as a material witness, was allowed bail on furnishing $100 bail. The case was then adjourned until Thursday morning. The charge against Day will now probably be that of murder, this possibly being reduced later to that of manslaughter.

It is alleged that the fatal assault took place in Helpert Bros.' junk shop at 169 York street. The statement is made that Day struck Donnell a terrific blow over the head with a piece of junk which caused a fracture at the base of the skull. As the other men are reported to have witnessed the assault, the facts of the matter will be brought out at the hearing of the inquest. Donnell's body was removed to the morgue, where the inquest will probably be opened to-day.

Donnell, who was a married man, resided at 73 Don Mills road. He was about 50 years old.

Seven Deaths Recorded In Chicago on Saturday.

Chicago, July 8.—Seven dead, a score of prostrations and a number bitten by heat-maddened dogs, was the summary early Saturday morning in this city, at the close of the hottest day thus far this week.

Excessive humidity, registering over 80, and a maximum temperature of 92 degrees resulted in great suffering. Thousands of people in all parts of the city slept out of doors, on roof-tops, and in the parks. Lake steamers were crowded with people seeking to escape the great heat in the city. Crowds at the bathing beaches refused to go home at the usual hour for closing and many remained on the shore all night.

Five Dead From Heat.

Philadelphia, Penn., July 8.—Five persons died from the heat Saturday and a score of prostrations are reported throughout the city. Yesterday's deaths bring up the toll of the heat wave to fourteen. The local forecaster declares that there is no relief in sight.

Aeroplane Falls.

Paris, July 8.—An army aeroplane accident showing the great danger of machines passing too near each other while flying, occurred Saturday at Villacoublay, near Paris. Lieuts Briez and Burlez of the French army started on a flight from the aerodrome in separate monoplanes, their destination being Belfort.

Lieut. Briez had attained an altitude of 600 feet when Lieut. Burlez, passing him at greater speed 100 feet higher in the air, forced a pocket of air downward and caused the machine driven by Lieut. Briez to lose its equilibrium. The monoplane crashed to the ground and Lieut. Briez sustained two broken legs, while his jaw was fractured and his breast also injured. The doctors in attendance, however, say that he will recover.

The bicycle race around Lake Malar resulted in Lewis, South Africa, retaining the championship; Grubb, England, second; Schultze, U. S., third; Meredith, England, fourth; Brown, Canada, fifth. There were 135 competitors.

TRAMPS LOOT BELLEVILLE STORE

Belleville, July 8.—Saturday night the grocery store of G. W. Burgess, Dundas street, was forcibly entered, the till raided and tobacco, canned goods and other articles taken. The burglars bored a large hole in the panel of the front door and unfastened the lock. It is thought to have been the work of tramps, who are at present numerous in and about the city.

HOUSE TO MEET EARLY

Ottawa, July 8.—All indications in political circles here point to an early meeting of Parliament. It is thought not improbable that the House will meet perhaps about the latter part of September or the first week in October. Premier Borden and his colleagues will have returned from England by that time and the other ministers now absent will also be back to the capital.

As there are a number of important matters awaiting attention and this year's session promises to be a long and arduous one, it is thought that by starting early in October it would not be prolonged into the hot summer months of next season, and quite apart from all this it would mean the expediting of much important business.

"Trouble Woman" Dead.

Hawesville, Ky., July 8.—Hancock County's "trouble woman," Mrs. Nancy Newman, is dead here at the age of 87 years. She was the last of thirteen brothers and sisters, whose stepfather, Captain John Sterrett, was the first sheriff of the county. Tragedies came often into Mrs. Newman's life. Her youngest child was scalded to death in a tanning vat. The second was burned to death on the home hearth two weeks later. The third, a Confederate soldier, was murdered in a riot at Mobile, Ala. The fourth was killed two years ago, when a house fell on him. The fifth met death in a runaway five years ago. A son-in-law and a grandson met violent deaths and the aged woman herself, two weeks ago, hobbling into the kitchen for a drink, fell, and broke her leg, which had not begun to mend when she died.

VACANCIES AT WEST POINT.

There Are Not Enough Cadets at the Military Academy.

The difficulty in filling vacancies in the corps of cadets in the Military academy continues, despite every effort made by the war department to maintain a complete complement. There are more than fifty unfilled positions in the corps, and, while this proportion of vacancies is less than for many years, it is realized by the military authorities that provision should be made at once to keep the places filled for the best and most economical interests of the service.

A measure to that end was considered and favorably reported by the senate committee on military affairs at the last session of congress and was incorporated in the Military academy bill, but was lost in the closing days of the session.

This bill provided that whenever all vacancies at the Military academy shall not have been filled as the result of the regular entrance examinations, not to exceed thirty of the remaining unfilled vacancies shall be filled from the whole list of alternates selected in the order of merit, establishing at such entrance examinations, preferably from the same state in which the vacancies occurred; these appointments to be credited to the United States at large and to be without prejudice to any other appointment authorized by law.

The secretary of war again strongly urges that this legislation be enacted during the present session of congress. Every year there are hundreds of applications made to the war department by ambitious young men qualified physically, morally and mentally for entrance to West Point who would be more than glad to avail themselves of the opportunity to win the honor and advantages of an appointment, but who must be denied because there is no vacancy in the particular congressional district where the applicant happens to reside, while many vacancies exist in other districts not available to them.—Army and Navy Register.

Tar and Feathers In 1189.

In England the penalty of tar and feathers was introduced in 1189, when Richard I., before setting out for the Holy Land, ordained, in order to preserve the discipline of his fleet, that whosoever should be convicted of theft should first have his head shaved; that boiling pitch should then be poured upon it and a cushion of feathers (de la plume d'oreiller) shaken over it. He was afterward to be put on shore at the first place the ship touched, though after a baptism of boiling pitch the poor wretch would have little life left.

HIGH COST OF LIVING IS THE GREAT ISSUE

Bubonic Plague In Cuba.

Havana, July 8.—The existence of bubonic plague in Havana has been definitely determined. A special board of physicians has pronounced the case at Las Animas Hospital bubonic. The patient, a Spaniard, who was employed as an hostler in connection with a sewer laying contract, was take nill on July 3. He is said to be dying. Three other patients are reported dead at the same hospital with marked symptoms of the plague.

At the present time the question of isolating Havana from the interior is not being considered. The rat-killing corps of the health department has been largely reinforced. All street cars, omnibuses and ferryboats have been ordered to be washed with disinfecting fluid.

Democratic Standard-Bearer Voices Opinion on the Political Needs of the U. S.—Roosevelt Proposes to Stand by His Plank For the Recall of Judicial Decisions—Reports Accessions of Supporters.

Seagirt, N.J., July 8.—Governor Wilson expressed his opinion Saturday that the high cost of living is the burning issue of the hour and that in "its heart lies the high protective tariff." It is an issue, he said, that he expects to cover fully in his speech of acceptance and in every campaign speech that he may make.

"Undoubtedly the tariff is at the centre of it," he said, referring to the high cost of living. "The thing is so interlaced on public questions of all kinds that the conclusion is incontestable. The tariff lies at the heart of it all. A great many of the trust questions of the time have arisen out of the tariff. The minute you go out from the centre—the high tariff—you get into the trust question and others."

Chairman James of the Democratic National Convention was expected to reach Seagirt yesterday afternoon to arrange for the formal notification of nomination. This will be set for as near Aug. 1 as possible, unless the nominee wishes it otherwise.

Gains Reported.

Oyster Bay, N.Y., July 8.—Col. Roosevelt had a conference Saturday with William L. Ransom of New York, who in a speech before the Brooklyn Bar Association defended the recall of judicial decisions advocated by Roosevelt. A full ticket would be nominated in New York State, the colonel said, afterward.

"We want the judges to be of the highest order," said he. "But, we want men who will know the needs and understand the desires of the plain people. We want those who will understand the needs of the farmers and those who work in factories.

"This progressive movement means putting into effect every theory for which we stand, and we intend to carry out our principles thoroughly and to the end."

The colonel would not say in what other states the progressives would take the same steps in regard to the courts, but it is understood a comprehensive plan has been agreed upon by his managers and the colonel has given his sanction to it.

It was another busy day for the colonel. He received news which pleased him greatly and helped to build his conviction that he would receive the support of the Republican organizations in a number of states. The reports said that the leaders, despairing of winning with President Taft, were turning to Roosevelt.

London, Ont., July 8.—His Lordship Bishop Fallon of the Catholic diocese of London has issued the following statement:

"It is only on my return to London after almost a month's absence from my diocese, that I have been made fully aware of the proceedings of the recent congress of the French language at Quebec. When my name and my assumed decisions formed a subject of discussion, I cannot believe that the members of that congress would do me a conscious injustice. I incline to the conclusion that they were made the victims of a rather clumsy trick, and I realize that in all such promiscuous gatherings it is almost inevitable that some irresponsible individuals should attempt to introduce a topic concerning which it would be the height of impertinence for either myself or his audience to express an opinion. It was some such thing that actually happened at Quebec.

"I have never made any regulation regarding the absence of my priests from their parishes in the matter of the congress of the French language or in any other matter. I have never fixed their leave of absence for any reason to a day or to any number of days. On reference to my records I find that leave of absence has been applied for ten times in the last six months. In seven cases it was granted; in three refused. But whether permission was refused or was withheld, my decision was based on reasons that had to do exclusively with the spiritual interests of my people. In no instance was the congress of the French language or any similar event an issue in my ruling. Of course, I utterly deny the competency of any congress, no matter by whom officered or under what auspices held, to pronounce judgment on me in the exercise of my jurisdiction and I notice this latest occurrence merely to prevent a villainous falsehood from passing unchallenged into the realm of history.—(Signed), M. F. Fallon, Bishop of London."

STREET TRAFFIC

Regulation of the traffic in the streets, especially in the centre of the city, is called for by the steady increase in the traffic and also by the increasing number of motor cars. In the past the old regulation requiring a vehicle to "turn out to the right and give half the road" may have been sufficient, but the crowded state of the streets in these days requires some better regulations than those that apply equally to travelling on north country roads. Vehicles should be required to keep on the right side of the street while moving, and, what is perhaps more important, should be compelled to keep on that side in turning a corner. The custom seems to be for vehicles to cut a corner in any way that suits the driver when turning from one street into another, and the fact that it is dangerous in any street, but especially on the streets in the business section, does not prevent drivers from risking their own and others' property and lives by making short turns. Every vehicle should travel on the right side, and when about to turn onto another street should keep to that side until the machine is on the same side of the street on which it is to go before making the turn. This would prevent the danger of collisions which is caused by the saving of a few seconds in making a short turn which brings the vehicle to the left side of the second street, where another unseen vehicle may be run into. Such collisions have been narrowly averted and action should be taken by the authorities before a serious accident calls attention more emphatically to the danger. At the same time the speed at which motor cars may be driven in the business section might be given consideration. Fifteen miles an hour, the statutory limit, may not be too fast in some sections of the city, but a slower rate would be much safer in the central portion.

WATER ROUTES

Figures which show the remarkable growth of traffic from and to the West, are the returns of the freight traffic through the Sault canals for the month of June. The exact figures are 10,747,150 tons, which are equal to the whole amount of freight which passed through the canals in 1898. These figures also show the importance of canals, and that they play a great part in the transportation problem. Railways have their part to perform in moving the produce of the country, but the water routes are required and their importance cannot be neglected without serious detriment to trade and the development of the country. The Trent waterway, although it is not designed for the large vessels that ply on the lakes, will be an important factor in transportation to and from the West. It will be of immense advantage to this part of Ontario, and with the competition of the southern part of Lake Ontario, this advantage will be obtained. That part of it is under contract, and its completion may be looked for in a couple of years, when Peterborough and other sections on the route, as far as Lake Simcoe, will have water communication with Lake Ontario. The effect of this will be felt in the price of coal and other heavy freights and the benefits to the people will be larger. But the northern section, from Lake Simcoe to the Georgian Bay, must be constructed in order to complete the waterway as a national work, and the sooner that is done, the better it will be for the country as a whole, as well as fo this section. It was announced that engineers were laying out the work on this northern section. No announcement has yet been made that they have finished their work, but the members of Parliament more particularly interested, and who are most intimately acquainted with the need of hurrying the work forward, should see that there is no unnecessary delay in having the contracts let and the "cork" drawn from the end of the waterway.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Mr Roosevelt says the results of the Republican and Democratic conventions demonstrate the need of a new party. Why does Mr. Roosevelt call himself "new"?

Once the question was, Where did the money come from? In the Farmers' Bank Enquiry the mystery connected with the $3,000 cheque, is where did the money go?

These are the days of the verandah habit. The family get out and sit to take the air and immediately hang up screens and bunting that no sun may get in. A lot of people will be happy when some one invents a verandah from which everything can be seen and nothing seen from the street.

One of the strange incidents of the Regina cyclone has been made public. In the Sunday school of the principal Methodist church that was wrecked was a large clock, the gift of a former superintendent. This clock was found in the yard of a residence over 200 feet away, and pinned under the clock was a live chicken.

It is sad to reflect that some billions of cubic feet of water poured past the city a month or so ago, and that last week the boats making Lakefield ran aground and were delayed for an hour at a time for want of a depth of water on the reach. Of course there are excuses—some one blundered. If the whole were a private enterprise it would be remedied pretty quick. Being a public concern some one has to get out a report to find who is to blame.

Lord Lansdowne, in a speech at a dinner tendered in London to Hon George E. Foster, expressed the wish that Sir John A. Macdonald could return and see the progress of Canada since the days which he was Premier and Lord Landsdowne was Governor-General of the Dominion. It would be interesting. But Sir John realized what the progress would be, and Lord Lansdowne must remember when Sir John said that he would not be here to see it, but that he would "look down and behold it." The other great prophet of that time, who had a vision of the future, Sir Charles Tupper, still lives and has seen the results of their labors and statesmanship.

In the course of his Sunday evening address, which, mindful of the hot evening was brief, Pastor Gouch, speaking from the text, dropped into the vernacular and referred to the noble art of fishing. Fishing is now a timely pastime and a source of exertion, often pleasure. He said that some eminent authority on the directment of catching fish, gave three rules as helpful to success: 1st, keep out of sight; 2nd, keep further out of sight; 3rd, keep completely out of sight. It is inferred that the disciple of Izaak Walton referred to essays in catching the nimble trout—not the vigorous maskinonge. He further put forward the thought that the fisherman would enhance his chances of success if he were musically inclined. If so it indicated a cheerful disposition, one of hopefulness and optimism. He would fish lightly and lovingly, not sullenly, and with noise and clamor, and when he did catch a fish instead of heaving it through the tree tops into the next township, it was garnered in with affectionate gentleness as a capture of the rod. These metaphors of the sport were then applied to the catching of men, the whole making an interesting discourse for warm weather hearing.

The flies that are now in your kitchen and dining room were probably feeding on some indescribable nastiness less than an hour ago, and as a single fly often carries many thousands of disease germs attached to its hairy body, it is the duty of every housekeeper to assist in exterminating this worst enemy of the human race.

The escort provided by the friendly Kelly strolled along with the boys for a block or so, pointing out places of interest and showing every evidence of good humor. As the little group turned into Park Row, one of the escorting four whispered in Brockett's ear, briefly, admonishingly:

"You two fellers walk ahead—'bout fifty feet or so. We'll come along back of you as if we didn't know you. If anybody's laying for you along here we can pretty near get 'em that way."

And, like a quartet of well-trained soldiers, the gangsters dropped back till perhaps twenty paces separated them from their charges. Brockett and Solano, willing to accept the judgment of the gang-youths in such affairs, walked along, gazing into the windows of the ancient pawnshops, scrutinizing the tide of riffraff and human flotsam that came ebbing to and fro, and in general conducting themselves after the fashion of verdant-greens just seeing New York by arc-light.

The huge, gloomy shadows of Brooklyn bridge loomed ahead, and the surge of mixed humanity was thicker and more diversified than ever, when half a dozen young men, rat-faced, weasel-eyed, slinking amid the darker places like wolves along the edge of the forest, came softly out from the blackness that surrounds the great pillars of the "L" road. One of them, a stocky fellow with a gray cap pulled well down upon his forehead, stumbled against Solano, and, regaining his balance with a quick spring of his nimble legs, caught the Cuban by the arm.

"Say, young feller, whatchu mean by shovin' people around, anyhow? Can't you see where you are goin'?"

Solano shook off the detaining hand, and Brockett closed up beside him. The pack of rat-faced young men seemed to spring up around them like ambushed Indians, and the trap was as neatly sprung as ever a savage planned an ambuscade. The next second there came the quick patter of feet from the rear; four more rat-faced, furtive-eyed young men had mingled with the attacking half-dozen, and the whole ten were exchanging amicable greetings.

"Just keep off these two guys, just let 'em be," explained one of the escorting four.

"Friends of yours, Casey?" queried the apparent leader of the newcomers.

"Friends of Kelly's, like. He told us to see that they got to any place they might choose to go."

"The deuce you say! All right, if youse ducks says so. Tell Kelly you seen us, and we sent him our best regards."

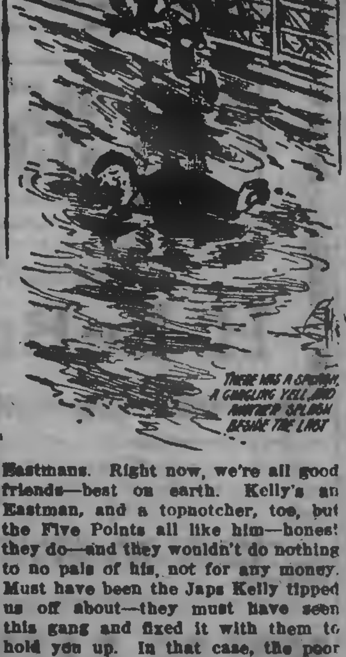
"Sure thing, like. So long. See you later, maybe."

The recent assailants faded into the darkness of the "L" shadows as strangely as they came, and the quartet of protecting gangsters resumed the journey.

"Good thing we went with you fellows," exulted the chief of the protective squad. "Those gorillas would have fixed you sure."

"So I should judge," admitted Solano. "We would have given them some fight, at that, but six against two would have been a little too strong. Are they part of your own crowd?"

"Nix, not in a hundred. They's Five Points, do you see? And we are Eastmans. Right now, we're all good friends—best on earth. Kelly's an Eastman, and a topnotcher, too, but the Five Points all like him—honest they do—and they wouldn't do nothing to no pals of his, not for any money. Must have been the Japs Kelly tipped us off about—they must have seen this gang and fixed it with them to hold you up. In that case, the poor Japs gets double-crossed two times in the same place. It's a cinch those gorillas wouldn't take on nothing like that unless they got the kale in advance, and we know what Kelly did to the one that was fixing to have you sloughed a little while ago."



THERE WAS A SPLASH, A GURGLING YELL, AND ANOTHER SPLASH BESIDE THE BOAT

"Any chance for any more excitement?" asked Brockett, as the expedition passed the bridge entrance and then began a new tack that would lead them to the ferry.

The gangsters were uncertain. "Not much show for anything with any gangs," explained their leader, "but if the Jap gicks are as wild as they seem to get you, there may be something doing. Pretty mean people, those Japs. They'll hang on forever in hopes of getting an even break with anyone they're after. Tell you what—Kelly didn't tell us to go any farther than the ferry, but we'll see you get safe to Jersey, anyhow. Might be some doings on the ferry, you know."

The little squad went through various devious wanderings and doublings during the rest of the route to the Christopher street ferry, pursuing a tortuous course that evoked expressions of admiration from the disciples of Monk Eastman. "You fellows are pretty wise, all right," commented the chief of the escort. "It would take a good fly-mug to trail you, and if the Japs can keep track of your smoke they'll have to go some. Honest, we'd like to go the route with you two, but the best we can do is to back-track and beat it across again on the ferry just as quick as we see you landed. Some of us is entirely too popular in Jersey. They'd like to keep us there for a long time, they like us so much over there."

As the lights of the ferry came in sight the gang chief called a sudden halt. "Seems to me," was his sage observation—the remark of an able general—"that if those Japs have anything coming at all it'll be pulled on the boat, and the same plan as we worked in Park Row ought to be a winner. You two go on ahead and board the boat just a bit in front of us. We'll all be right on the job, and if anything happens some of those yellow boys will have a smoky go-out. That all right? Sure it is. Now beat it along and leave the rest to us."

Brockett and Solano had by this time learned to trust implicitly in the rat-faced and slinking members of the Eastman gang. They were upon the big ferryboat scarcely five seconds ahead of the departure signals, and, as they sought the bow of the clumsy old vessel, they could see no sign of their faithful escort in the midnight crowd of home-seeking Jerseyans. Nevertheless, there was the pleasant feeling that the gangsters were still with them—somewhere within hearing and striking distance—and it was a cheering thought to realize that the subtlest enemy, against such rough fighters of the dark, could inflict but little injury.

The lights of the city were dancing on the black waters of the North river when from the forepart of the cabin rose a shrill cry of surprise and horror. Then another cry, this time of pain and despair. There was a rush of feet, a tussling amid a knot of men, and the next moment two little fellows, finely dressed, and, as the cabin lights fell upon their faces, showing the unmistakable features of the Oriental, were jammed up against the side-rails of the boat. For one instant the light shone upon the frenzied brown visages, and the boys caught one recognizing glimpse of Mr. Yazimoto. Then the lights of the boat went out; utter blackness shrouded the huge floating structure, and there was a splash, a gurgling yell, and another splash beside the boat. The lights flared up again, and the gang leader stood beside Brockett, cool, unruffled, smiling affably.

"Good thing Hogan knew where to find the electric switch," he said, pleasantly. "He worked on one of these boats last summer, and he knows where they keep everything. Your Jap friend is pretty wet by now, I'm thinking. We made 'em just in time. They had you spotted and was just slipping up to hand you something."

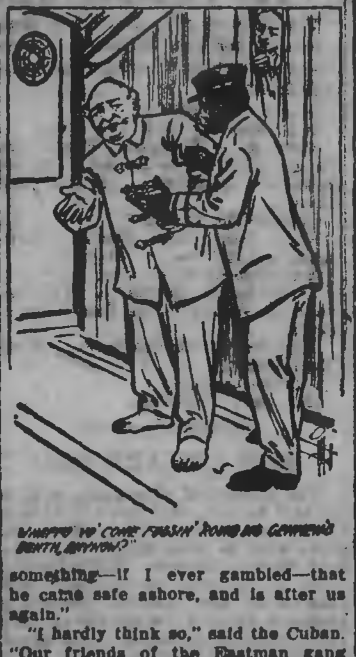
On the big boat men were running and bellowing hoarsely. Brockett and Solano heard the uproar, and gazed out across the silent waters of the North river, while the members of the Eastman gang, as unshaken and disinterested as the most innocent member of the throng, were idly standing near them. Somewhere out among the wash of the tide two men were fighting for their lives, or, perchance, had already sought the bottom—but there was nothing to be seen from the rail of the ferry-boat, and the North river was keeping its newest secret well.

CHAPTER XIII.

Manhattan, the Hudson, and the exciting scenes of the previous day were far behind. The adventurers were rolling west upon a rapid train, planning details as they went, and reviewing their recent adventures with much perplexity. Most bewildering circumstance of all was the way in which Mr. Yazimoto seemed to have kept track of their movements, and the persistency with which he had turned up at every inconvenient hour.

"You have to give credit to the Jap," remarked Solano. "He was game, he took long chances, and Sherlock Holmes never had anything on him when it came to following a clue. I'm almost sorry that he's in the river."

"Always provided that he is," murmured Brockett, doubtfully. "Somehow or other I can't believe that we've seen the last of him. I'd wager something—if I ever gambled—that he came safe ashore, and is after us again."



WHAT'D YO' COME FUSSIN' 'ROUND MR. GEMMEN'S BERTH, ANYHOW?

"I hardly think so," said the Cuban. "Our friends of the Eastman gang settled him for keeps, and his partner with him. What I can't understand is the way they attended to him without interference or trouble. They put him overboard without any of the other passengers cutting in to stop them, and they all got away without being bothered by the police. I can't admire their lives or their principles, but we owe a great deal to them."

"We may have a chance to pay them back some time—at least, I hope so," Brockett commented.

Fresh Air For the Children.

One hour of bad air will do more harm than good air for the other twenty-three will undo; therefore keep the room well ventilated every moment of the day, says the Woman's Home Companion. If the rooms are large and open into each other one or two windows in the proper place will furnish fresh air for the whole house. In a small apartment we must select one room where the windows may be opened top and bottom and from which the fresh air may circulate without causing too much of a breeze or draft. At any cost keep the air good night and day.

The temperature of the room should be 65 to 70 degrees F. A thermometer should hang in the rooms that are most frequented by the children and at the height of their heads. Overheating is the commonest error in the city. Perhaps the most usual mistakes in the country are drafty rooms and floors and cold halls.

Babies, beginning at six weeks, should be taken out for their airing once a day and later two times—in winter when the sun is high and in summer when it is coolest. At six weeks an hour a day is sufficient; at six months three or four hours is a necessity; after that the more the better.

The sun should not shine into the unprotected eyes.

The only objection to going out is extremely cold weather (below zero), rain or snow and possibly sharp winds. When this outdoor airing is impossible the baby should be dressed for the street and put in the carriage close by the widely opened windows in the sun. In the city it is as necessary to have a carriage for the baby as it is to have a bed.

The sleeping room should have one or more windows wide open at top and bottom throughout the year. The bed should be as far away from the windows as possible, in a corner out of the direct draft. A blanket may be pinned around the crib when the winter winds blow directly upon it. The room should be cold and the night clothing warm. This does not apply to sickly infants nor to those under six weeks of age. However, the delicate child often requires fresh air even more than the well child. The appetite is improved and the strength increased by good pure air. Sleep also is often induced by the airing. Many a sick child who will not sleep in the house immediately sinks into a restful slumber as soon as he is put out in his carriage. Of course there is no objection to sleeping out of doors in sickness or in health.

Man and Object.

Two persons go out of the room and, after agreeing together as to what they shall represent, come back again and sit down side by side in front of the company. One of the two takes the part of some well known person, and the other represents an object which is closely connected with that person. For instance, George Washington and the hatchet or Roosevelt and the big stick, the king of England and his crown, etc.

After the two take their seats the other players in turn ask each of them a question, to which both the man and the object must answer only "Yes" or "No" until the right person and the right article have been guessed. The first player may perhaps ask the man, "Are you alive?" The man will answer "Yes" or "No" according to the character he represents. Then the object may be asked, "Are you made of wood?" "No." Then the second player in order asks a question of each, and so on along the line until all have had a turn at questioning or until the person and object have been rightly guessed.

A Giant Baby.

The world's astronomers are now much interested in the planet Jupiter. This planet is the largest in our system, but is said by the scientists to be an infant in swaddling clothes so far as development is concerned. In volume Jupiter is 1,279 times greater than our own globe. But we are now full grown and, as some astronomers declare, on the downhill side of life. In other words, our little earth is in middle age and will soon be growing old. Great Jupiter, the king of the heavens as far as our planetary system is concerned, is not yet fit for life. From the latest observations of Jupiter it is supposed to be in the act of building, of solidifying. One astronomer says: "I have not the slightest doubt that we are assisting at the creation of a world. Under our dazzled eyes a new world is being created in the infinity, and in Jupiter we hail the world of the future."—Chicago News.

YOU CAN BE ABSOLUTELY SURE OF VALUES

If you carefully read the store advertisements and follow them in your buying.

Merchants advertise certain lines because they know these lines will advertise their stores. Because there is something about certain goods, they are put in conspicuous places and the people are told about them. It may be the exclusiveness or newness of design, it may be an unusual quality, it may be an attractive price.

But there is at least one definite, sure reason why a merchant advertises an article and is willing to stake the reputation of his store upon it.

Therefore, when you see an article advertised in THE REVIEW, depend upon it, that article is good value, as good value as can be obtained in that particular store.

ORANGEMEN ATTEND SERVICE AT PARK ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

Stirring Sermon Preached by Rev. W. C. Riddiford—Large Turnout of L. O. L. Members.

About three hundred Orangemen marched to the Park street Baptist Church, last night, where the annual sermon was preached by the Rev. W. C. Riddiford.

"The Lap-Sign and Other Signs" was the subject of the discourse, while the text was Judges 7; 7, "And the Lord said unto Gideon, by the three hundred men that lapped will I save thee."

In welcoming the Orangemen, the preacher said, that nowhere, were the principles for which the Order stood, revered and loved as in a Baptist Church, and no one could have a higher estimate of the rank and file of the Orange Order than himself. He said he had tried in his humble way, since joining the Order, some years ago in Hamilton, to be true to the obligations he took and he believed he had in a measure, proven himself a loyal supporter and fearless exponent of the precious principles and liberties, for which our forefathers bled and died. He was not ashamed to be called an Orangeman, neither would the rising generation be able to say "he was a coward and and cared more for his party than principle."

"I am opposed to any party," said he, "who takes its reigns of government from the pope, instead of the people; and that for a few years of power, will sell the precious birthrights which are ours by virtue of the heroic sacrifices of our fathers."

Proceeding to explain his text, Rev. Mr. Riddiford told of Gideon's successful attempt to deliver Israel, although he had but a small army. "The great reformation was brought about, not by a big crowd," he said, "but by the faithful heart of an honest, yet humble monk."

Speaking of the NeTemere decree the preacher said that Orangemen would never rest contented until there was one uniform Marriage Law for the Dominion.

"But some Protestants have a wish bone where there back bone ought to be"; they were not fit for the thin red line of Protestantism, where the battle was waged for the freedom of speech, liberty of conscience, equal rights to all and special privileges to none, and where the precious "bill of rights" and the glorious liberties given to Britons by William of Orange, of pious and blessed memory are defended, if needs be by the shedding of blood, and where the flag of Protestantism, the good Old Union Jack, waved majestically before the winds of heaven and where inscribed upon the banner of liberty are the words in letters of gold, "no surrender" and "what we have we'll hold."

There was a place for Orangeism in our national life to-day; there was a purpose worth while in the existence of the Order to make Canada the freest and happiest country under the sun.

The characteristics every true Orangeman should possess, were self control, enthusiasm and determination, and speaking of these, Rev Mr. Riddiford showed how Orangemen could do their part for the cause of Protestantism.

"We have no Rome in Canada, and by God's grace, if we Orangemen can prevent it, there will never be one, until the last follower and believer in the principles of Orangeism lies dead upon the battle-field wherever it may be, fighting to the last ditch for equal rights for all and special privileges for none. And that day is close at hand."

We read that in the last days, the young men shall see visions and the old men shall have dreams.

"This is about to become true. The old man at the Vatican has been dreaming of regaining the temporal power in Canada, he has recently lost in France, Spain, Bolivia and some other places."

In concluding, Rev. Mr. Riddiford urged all to join hand in hand and preserve the faith.

THE TRADES AND LABOR CONGRESS

Convention to be held at Guelph on September 9 and following days.

A call has been issued to the officers and members of Trades and Labor Councils, and Trades Unions generally to attend the twenty-eighth annual session of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, which will be held at Guelph, on Monday, Sept. 9th, and following days, until the business of the convention has been completed. The bill-of-fare to be presented is one that will require the very best intelligence of the delegates to grapple with. Among other matters calling for immediate attention are the following—

The Alien Labor Act and its utter uselessness to protect the working classes, in its present cumbersome administration.

The immigration Laws.

The eight hour bill.

The Workingmen's Compensation Acts in the various Provinces—administration of by Provincial Governments and their interpretation by the Courts.

Amendments to the Industrial Disputes and Investigation Act.

Clear definition of our position as wage-workers on the projected Old Age Pension measure now before a Special Committee of the Dominion House of Commons.

Proposed amendments to the Dominion Elections Act, to make Election Day a public holiday and to abolish the $200.00 deposit now exacted.

Payment of wages on railways, fortnightly, and many other features

Typographical Union, No. 248 at its regular meeting on Saturday evening appointed J. G. Galbraith as its representative to this convention and other local organizations will follow so it is expected Peterborough will be well represented from the various trade unions.

The bride entered the parlor on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Lizzie Hinds, sister of the bride. The young couple were unattended. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome bracelet. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Isaac Couch, after which a dainty wedding repast was served. The bride's going away dress was grey whipcord, with a black hat to match The happy couple left on the 4.19 C. P.R. for their new home in Toronto.

Wonderful Erosion.

A curious effect of the wear and tear to which the earth's crust is ever being subjected is exhibited in the singularly capped pinnacles existing on South river, in the Wasatch mountains, in Utah. There are hundreds of these slender pillars, ranging in height from 40 to 400 feet, most of them crowned by large caps of stones. They are not works of human art, as might be imagined, but are the memorial monuments of the hill from which they have been cut by the action of air and water. Those pinnacles alone remain of many square miles of solid rocks which have been washed away to a depth of some 400 feet. The greater hardness of the surface has caused it to resist corrosion more than the underlying rock, thus leaving huge caps of stone perched high in air on the points of their columns. One double column capped by a single stone forms a natural bridge both unique and picturesque.

Cols. Hodgins, London; Landry, Quebec; and Morrison, Ottawa, will attend the fall manoeuvres of the British Army.

BATHERS TO APPEAR

It is understood that proceedings will be taken against a large number of boys and young men, who were caught bathing in the river on Sunday, without proper attire. Yesterday a crowd of boys congregated on the banks of the river, and considerable disorderly behavior was noted. It is reported that the names of about twenty-five were taken.

A warning is also issued to a camp of young fellows on the Otonabee, who are causing annoyance to residents by their noisy behavior and continual shouting. A petition is being signed, to have the nuisance abated, which will likely come before the authorities shortly.

DR. LANGFELDT IN THE CITY ON HIS RETURN HOME

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt and son Otto, were in the city yesterday, the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Amys, Charlotte street, having returned from a trip to England, Germany and Switzerland.

Dr. Langfeldt looks greatly improved as a result of his trip. He sailed on the Virginian.

The Virginian received the news of the disaster to the Titanic and as soon as the news got around the ship, the people grouped around the Marconigraph instruments waiting for news. The next morning they learned that the ship had gone down. Many of the Virginian's crew had relatives on the Titanic. The big boat landed at Liverpool after a pleasant voyage.

The return trip was made on the Empress of Ireland which sailed on June 28. The sea was like a lake, and as smooth as glass. A baby born in the third cabin was baptized by Dr. Langfeldt and the event was celebrated by a collection among the first class passengers. The $90 realized was presented to the happy mother.

Some former Peterborough people aboard were Mr. W. H. Kent, local manager for the Bell Telephone Co., in 1899, and Mr. W. B. Stewart, a relative of Mr. T. B. Collins, McDonnel street.

Dr. Langfeldt left for his parish Innisfil this morning.

HIS FIRST SUNDAY AT ST. JAMES'

Rev. J. N. Clarry Heard by Large Congregations

Large congregations at St. James' Methodist church yesterday were greatly pleased with their new pastor, Rev. J. N. Clarry, who has been called to succeed Rev. J. G. Brown.

Rev. Mr. Clarry delivered two excellent sermons.

The parsonage where Rev. Mr. Clarry and family will reside is at 148 George street.

REVIEW AD. FOUND THE WATCH

Mrs. Smith, of Peterborough, lost a valuable watch last week. She advertised the fact in the columns of the Review. When J. C. Drummond, of Brownton, found a ladies' watch on the C.P.R. tracks near Knox church he scanned the Review ad columns. The result—the watch was brought to the Review and subsequently returned to the owner. The point is plain—make known your wants in the Review.

NEW TEACHER AT THE COLLEGIATE

Lindsay Post—Mr. D. A. Mackay, formerly science master at the local Collegiate Institute leaves on Monday with his family for their summer cottage, Lake of Bays, Muskoka, near Wawa Hotel, where he will spend a month. Mr. Mackay has intended taking half a year at some American university, but has been offered good positions in Ontario, within the last few weeks, and has accepted the position as science teacher in the Peterboro Collegiate Institute, which has a staff of twelve teachers. The initial salary paid is $1600 and the maximum 1900.

Mr. Mackay has been on the staff of the Lindsay Collegiate Institute for two years, and before coming here, was Science Master at Barrie Collegiate Institute for over five years. He was a member of St. Andrew's church, was an enthusiastic curler, and was held in the highest esteem by a large circle of friends, who regret his departure from Lindsay.

AVIATION FEATS TO BE GIVEN ON CIVIC HOLIDAY

"Stay at Home" Program is Being Arranged for Exhibition Grounds.

Peterborough people can stay at home on Civic Holiday, Monday, August 5th, and have a good time. A unique program of entertainment is being provided by a committee of well known men and Mr. J. M. Brooks, one of the leading spirits, informed the Review this morning that he had received the signed contract from the Curtiss Aviation Exhibition Company of New York, to send a machine and aviator to Peterborough to give a number of flights on Civic Holiday.

Mr. Brooks witnessed flights by an aviator from this company at Napanee on Dominion Day and every satisfaction was given before a crowd of 10,000 people.

The program of the day also includes horse races and probably motor cycle races and everything will be held at the Exhibition Grounds.

CHINAMEN ARE NOW CHARGED WITH PLAYING CARDS ON SUNDAY

In police court this morning, the taking of evidence against the Chinamen charged with frequenting the alleged gaming house, on George st., raided some time ago, was proceeded with. Chief Constable Kidd of Brampton, a material witness in the case was present.

Mr. J. W. Curry, K.C., of Toronto, who, with Mr. G. N. Gordon, was conducting the defence, was prevented by illness from being present.

Mr. Gordon for that reason requested an adjournment of the case for a week or ten days, when the Toronto solicitor would be able to be on hand. The court however, did not consider it advisable to postpone the case longer.

The charge against the celestials has been reduced to read, "charged with playing cards on Sunday," the penalty for which is a rather moderate fine.

None of the Chinamen were present when court opened.

The case proceeded this afternoon, but no judgment had been given up to going to press.

ORANGEMEN DO THEIR PART AGAINST EVILS OF DRINKING

Speaking to the Orangemen at Park street church last evening Rev. W. C. Riddiford said the conduct of the Past Grand Master, Dr. Sproule, of the Orange Order, in doing away with intoxicating liquors at the social functions of the Speaker of the Dominion House of Parliament was one of the biggest triumphs in the temperance cause of this country. And it was done by an Orangeman—"And don't forget it, ye blatting hypocrites, who see nothing in the Orange Order but a band of drunkards. The Orange Order has a few poor unfortunates in it, so has every church in this city. Men who have lost their self-control. They should be the object of our prayers, and not the subjects of our abuse.

"Who banished the canteen from our militia camps. An Orangeman—our own Col. Sam Hughes. I hope we will all exercise self-control next Friday—and perhaps by next 12th of July we will celebrate the 223rd anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, and the glorious victory of William of Orange, by joining in a joint celebration with our T.A.S. friends over the banishment of the bar, with all its evils from our Dominion, forever."

MR. BROCK NOT LEAVING BRINTON CARPET COMPANY

A report that Mr. Ivor Brock, manager of the Brinton Carpet Company is to be transferred to Toronto, is entirely misleading and incorrect.

Mr. Brock was asked this morning, if there was any reasonable foundation for the circulation of such a rumor.

"There is no inclination on my part to resign" he remarked, "and I do not know of anything to cause me to think that the directors desire it. In orders, production and shipments we are away ahead of any period in the history of the Company. There is an increase of 100 per cent, in orders at better prices than the Brinton Carpet Company ever before obtained, and with enough work on hand to keep the Company working over time for the next three months.

TORONTO CARPET CO.

A statement in the Examiner to the effect that the Bonner Worth Company might be in a position to supply the Toronto Carpet Company should they locate here, with materials, is absolutely excluded from consideration by a statement from Mr. Bonner Worth of the Bonner-Worth Company.

Mr. Bonner stated that should the Toronto Carpet Company decide to locate here, it would not benefit them in any way, as far as chances of suppling material was concerned "They would secure all their material from outside points," he said, "in fact we do not produce anything which would be required by the Company."

Wriggles.

This artistic problem need frighten no one who may lack confidence in his power to give expression to his thought with his pencil, for this disqualification will but add to the fun of the contest. The players, being provided with pad and pencil, each draws a short irregular line upon the paper and then passes it to his neighbor. The person who receives it must address himself to the problem of drawing a picture, figure, bird, beast or whatever he pleases, incorporating the "wriggle." He may turn the paper in any direction he pleases in order to facilitate his success and before putting it to the criticism of the company should make the "wriggle" part of the drawing heavier in outline to distinguish it from the rest.

When all the drawings are completed they are intrusted to the leader, who exhibits them in turn, inviting criticism. The name of the artist (?) of the cleverest or most ridiculous of them is revealed, and he should, with becoming modesty, accept the plaudits of the crowd.

TWO AUTOMOBILES IN COLLISION

What might have been a serious accident occurred at the corner of George and Brock streets at noon to-day, when two large automobiles came into collision. A car running with fair speed turned from Brock street onto George. The other car was coming down George street much slower. Seeing that a collision was inevitable, the first car's driver increased his speed, but struck the south-bound car, bending the front spring double and blowing out the front tire. The car from Brock street escaped with the smashing of the nut on the hind wheel. The other car was hauled to Carey and Mohler's repair shop.

"Crack-Nut" Sunday.

Last century there used to prevail a singular custom at Kingston-on-Thames, England. On the Sunday before the eve of St. Michael's Day—the population—adults and children alike—of that riverside town were wont, are repairing to church, to fill their pockets with nuts. No sooner had they taken their seats and the service had commenced than they proceeded to crack the hard shells with their teeth or beneath the heels of their boots. The noise that this practice produced was so loud and so incessant as often to cause a temporary cessation of the service, and more than one preacher has been known to break off his sermon until the extraordinary disturbance had ceased. This Sunday was known as "Crack-nut Sunday."

Father Bernard Vaughan has lately started a motor chapel. Externally it differs from an ordinary motor-van only by the two square windows on each side. The interior is fitted with a miniature altar, with kneelers in front for a dozen worshipers. When not in use, the benches are stowed away, the altar cleared of its ornaments, and the vehicle becomes an ordinary traveling van, with truckle-beds for the two priests who accompany it on its travels.

Crop reports from Saskatchewan indicate that the hot spell will reduce the estimated yield 5 to 10 per cent.

THE TOWN OF HELLERAN

ANYTHING UGLY IS STRICTLY FORBIDDEN THERE.

Beautiful Town Where German Workmen Have Artistic Little Homes and Fine Gardens Is a Model Community For All Europe—It Is In Saxony and Its People Work In a Great Craftsman Factory.

Work, act and live rhythmically if you wish to do away with friction and strife. At least, that is the argument maintained by a colony of 3,000 thinking men and women who have constructed and are managing with great success one of the queerest little cities in the world. The town, which is called Hellerau, is located in Saxony, Germany, and is the conception of Karl Schmidt, manager and part owner of one of the biggest handicraft factories in that country. Some of the greatest architects in the world give it as their opinion that Hellerau is a model city, perfect in every detail. Karl Schmidt's idea is simply this—employes as well as managers of big concerns are entitled to recognition as individuals. Being that rarest of combinations, a dreamer and a man of keen business ability he worked out, after much thought and investigation, a scheme whereby the men and women employed in his big Dresden factory could either build for themselves or rent neat, charming little houses from the Land Improvement Co., of which they might become members. There is nothing obligatory about this plan and there is nothing exclusive, for any one, whether he is employed [illegible] may live there, and the foreman is as likely as not to have his house built right next to the apprentice's. At the corner of one street stands the home of one of the assistant managers; next to him lives a seamstress with her two little children in their four-room house. But as everything is built in keeping with everything else in the place and as every inhabitant is tolerated only when on good behavior there is nothing disturbing about this fact.

But to return to the scheme upon which Hellerau is organized. Karl Schmidt was able to find a tract of about 3,200 acres within 25 minutes' trolley ride from Dresden which he bought at a low price. With a capitalization of 300,000 marks, or $150,000, he founded a Garden City Association, which should parcel off the land for building purposes to factories and individuals, but especially to a co-operative building association which should undertake the erection and maintenance of the workmen's houses. The Land Insurance Co. of Saxony was induced to take the first mortgage at three and one-third per cent. interest, with an annual amortization of one per cent., and a great many people in and about Dresden were found eager to take shares—almost every one in Germany has a share in some co-operative building association or company of one sort or another.

The most important rule governing both companies is that no land shall ever pass out of their possession, that it may be leased for an indefinite time to individuals who have shares in the company, but that these same stockholders shall never receive more than four per cent. on the capital they have invested. The surplus is to be used for objects of general utility, such as a library, a theatre, a school or a public gymnasium.

At the end of the second year the treasurer reported a surplus of a few hundred marks, besides a contribution for the sinking fund and the part payment on the debt for the borrowed capital. The officers of the company figure out that at the present rate they will have cleared themselves of all debts by the year 1930 and have a surplus of 2,500,000 marks in the reserve fund. The co-operative building association has some 419 members who together own 456 shares at 200 marks each. They have built some 140 little houses which are rented at an average of 342 marks, which is calculated to equal five and one-half per cent. of the value of land improved and building.

So much for the co-operation, but what about the rhythm? One of the biggest buildings in the town is occupied by the Dalcroze School of Rhythmical Gymnastics. M. Jacques Dalcroze is a Swiss who believes in the power of rhythmical living and who has converted many thousands to his way of thinking. All the children and all the grown-ups in Hellerau attend his classes and all live a "rhythmic life." Dancing and calisthenics are part of every day's program in the homes and every evening there are gatherings at the gymnasium where even the aged trip the light fantastic with a grace and agility one associated only with the young. But it is really from an architectural standpoint that this little city is more remarkable and most charming. There are no straight streets, no narrow alleys, but winding roads and open places at irregular intervals to supply equal amounts of air and light to each and every building on that street.

The market place of Hellerau is not finished, but there is going to be a very strict committee of censors in charge of the wares to be sold in those shops.

Hellerau also lays claim to being a model town in matters politic, as it has reduced all government to the simplest form—a democracy. At stated times all the stockholders of the community meet in assembly to air their views, to make their criticisms, to offer suggestions and to pass their laws. In the meantime the business affairs and the executive work are left in the hands of committees, appointed by the members, which serve only during good behavior and good service. In other words, the referendum and the recall, commission government and all the other fancy inventions of modern government are in full swing there, though under the simple guise of direct government.

As Karl Schmidt puts it, "There is nothing there that is not useful and not beautiful."

SERVANTS OF THE KING.

They Are Exceptionally Well-Treated and Have a Permanent Position.

There are no servants so fortunately placed as those in the royal household. They are practically always sure of being able to retain their positions until too old for work and then are certain of receiving a good pension.

It is, however, extremely difficult to obtain a position as a servant in the royal household. They are recruited entirely from the sons and daughters of people who are, or have been, in the employ of royalty and there are always a number of candidates for a vacancy.

When a man servant enters the King's employ he is put on what is known as the "personal" staff of the Master of the Horse, under whom he serves as a probationer for six months.

The general staff consists of six of the royal men servants who are specially detailed to attend on the Master of the Horse, and are relieved practically of all other duty.

The Master of the Horse is the only member of the household who has such a staff. At the end of six months the probationer, on the recommendation of the Master of the Horse, is placed on the indoor staff of yeomen and comes under the control of Mr. Darren, the Palace Steward.

The royal men servants are divided into three different classes: yeomen, grooms, and pages. A man serves, as a rule, for five years as a yeoman, and is then put on the staff of grooms. He may remain in the groom class for ten or twelve years and is then promoted to the page class.

A certain number of the royal servants are put daily, when the Court is in residence, on what is known as "close wait." That is personal attendance on the King and Queen.

The close wait attendants are selected from the grooms and pages only; the list of close wait attendants in the state apartments is made out daily by the Palace Steward, and in the personal apartments of the King and Queen, by the Chief Page.

Servants on close wait dress in black, and wear an ordinary morning coat; all the others who are on ordinary duty about the palace wear the royal livery. In this respect it may be noticed that the custom of the English Court differs from that of other European Courts where all the servants on duty wear livery, the close wait attendants being usually distinguished by a badge worn on the left arm.

There are altogether close on three hundred men servants in the royal household, but the attendance of the full staff is only required on the occasion of great state entertainments, or when a foreign monarch is visiting the English Court.

Normally there are from 150 to 200 men servants in residence at Buckingham Palace or Windsor Castle.

A large number of the servants are non-resident, that is to say they live at their own private residence, usually in London, near the palace; but some live in the country, and come up to London when their attendance at the palace is required.

There are some very well paid positions, which every man entering the royal service may aspire to. The Steward, the Chief Page, the Chief Yeomen, and the Chief Page of the Presence receive salaries varying from $1,500 to $2,500 per annum, but the rank and file of the servants are not better paid than the servants in any ordinary wealthy gentleman's service.

The majority of the royal servants are fairly good linguists. Most of them speak French and German and several speak three or four languages as well as their native tongue.

In the English, as in all royal households there are some foreign servants employed, but there are as a matter of fact, fewer foreigners in the English royal service than at any other Court in Europe, except that of the Czar, where custom forbids any but Russians being employed.

Cockatoo as Companion.

Recently a lady was seen taking a stroll through a fashionable London park accompanied by one of the strangest outdoor companions that one could possibly have—a cockatoo. This bird was perched upon the young lady's finger, and no chain or cord held control in case of flight. A West end bird fancier informed the writer that this was a unique case, so far as his knowledge went, of a cockatoo being made an outdoor companion.

Life Insurance

Marriage is a good thing. It is a part of the duty every young man owes to his race and to the community. And one of the first duties after marriage, is life insurance. The young man of riches may scoff at this, but riches sometimes "take wings" while a life insurance policy in a sound company is something that is not affected by mischance or ill fortune. The young man who depends upon his own efforts for a living, more than any other young man, should follow marriage with life insurance, and thus provide surely for a wife, or for a wife and babies, against the inevitable. Such a young man may demur at this, on the theory that he "can't afford it." But youth is not inclined to consider all possibilities in such a case. Life insurance is one of the things that should be afforded at the expense of something less important. If a young man smokes, he surely can curtail his tobacco supply by one cigar a day, or he can save an equivalent by cutting off something else he does not need. The cost of a single medium price cigar a day will pay the premium on a life-insurance policy, say, for $1,000. And thus, by a slight concession as to a single habit, some necessary provisions may be made for the future.

You will find the most up-to-date policy of to-day issued by the SUN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

For the Moderate Income—The Season's New Blouses and Materials

WHATEVER may be said of the permanent popularity of the kimono sleeve, there can be no question that the effect of the kimono, the sleeve that drops well over the shoulder, so as to give a long, unbroken line from the neck to the wrist, is still as much in demand as ever. All of the smartest of the new waists have this line, which might be said to be their chief characteristic, for they are otherwise infinitely varied in all their details.

Batiste, voile and marquisette are the favorite fabrics for the soft lingerie blouses which are as necessary a part of the wardrobe as they have ever been. Filet lace used with Valenciennes or Irish crochet, Cluny and torchon lace and English eyelet embroidery are some of the smartest trimmings, but there is great latitude in the matter of trimmings and almost any wash lace, if good in quality, is considered in fashion. Blouses trimmed only with tucks, ruffles or a very little fine stitchery are also most desirable when made of fine material and in attractive designs.

Much has been said about the length of sleeves for the new blouses, and for some time it was rumored that only long sleeves would be worn. There are a great many new blouses with sleeves which extend well over the hand, but there are also so many being shown with the elbow length sleeve that it is evident the length of the sleeve is to be a matter of personal choice.

An extremely smart blouse in fine batiste is trimmed only with hemstitching. Narrow Irish beading may be set in in place of the hemstitching. The blouse is made with the long kimono shoulder, but a group of tucks over the sleeves makes it most becoming. It has a short peplum, and from the girdle a shield-like piece extends up over the front, finishing under the collar. The sleeves, very full and gartered in below the elbow, are striking style of blouse is also most desirable ingly picturesque and becoming. A wider band holds them in at the wrist and the sleeve is finished with a deep ruffle. The when made up in chiffon or voile. If it is not meant to be laundered the stitching which forms the trimming may be done in black.

A long sleeved blouse meant for development in some colored fabric to accord with a dark skirt has the sleeves tucked from neck to wrist. A white chemisette is set into the bodice and this is bordered with a soft chiffon ruffle. The same ruffles finish the sleeves.

In embroidered chiffon trimmed with satin there is a new model particularly suitable for wear with silk or satin suits. A black and white blouse made in this design was most effective. Black chiffon is used over white for this blouse and there is a chemisette of fine white net. The bertha of black embroidered chiffon falls to the waist line in front in a point. Two inverted V's of shirred chiffon are brought up at the sides over this bertha and fasten it down. These V's may be of satin or of the material of the suit if desired. The blouse has double sleeves, each finished with an embroidered cuff.

For satin, pongee and other heavier materials a model having a long shoulder and long sleeves is shown. The sleeves are trimmed with buttons, which are placed on the outer seam from the shoulder to the wrist. The blouse has a V shaped chemisette.

Many new fabrics for blouses have this season been put upon the market and the woman who is looking for novelties in material will be easily able to satisfy her taste. Many of these fabrics are new weaves of cotton crepe or silk crepe or some one or another form of the cotton ratine weaves. There are also exquisite diaphanous materials, washable, if handled with care and most enticing for the making of fine lingerie waists. In voile and marquisette of fancy patterns and open weave there are the most delicate of webs, which, when used with Irish and filet lace, cannot be surpassed in beauty and becomingness.

Striped wash satins are among the latest materials for blouses, the designs being much the same as those of the striped wash silks. The finish alone distinguishes the material from that which has been popular for many years. The stripes are in rather vivid colors on white grounds, and almost every color in this spring's gamut can be found in these new satins. The stripes are wide apart and very brilliant. One of the most effective of these satins shows a brilliant red stripe on the white ground. The striped peau de crêpe, also a new and fashionable fabric which launders well, is softer and perhaps more dainty in effect than the wash satins, which, however, have a peculiar smartness of their own.

For the woman who likes to possess at least one dark blouse that may be washed there are solid colored wash silks in several shades. These are called Japanese wash silks and the hues in which they have already appeared are rose, green, gray and violet. There are also new striped wash silks with very dark grounds, among these being a great many with rather deep but dull yellow grounds. Black wash silks with white stripes are also being shown as among the novelties.

Satin wash crêpe, forty inches wide, is one of the most attractive fabrics that have ever been put on the market either for blouses or frocks. It is a little crinkly and of a most fascinating shade of white and it is not at all expensive when its beauty is considered. There is also a very beautiful wash cotton crepe that has a silky finish and a silk and cotton mixture to be found among the blouse materials.

La Tosca crêpes, which are woven in the ratine designs and are to be had both in light and medium weights, are among the most desirable of the new blouse materials. A little heavier than these, but still open and cool, suitable for wear in the hot weather, is the ratine crêpe which is especially useful for soft blouses to be used for golf, tennis, &c. A thinner and much more delicate fabric is the gauze frisette, which is to be much used for fine blouses as well as for lingerie gowns. While it may perfectly well be laundered if the laundress is a past mistress of her art, it is not, strictly speaking, a tubable material, and would probably have to be sent to the cleaner. The new marquisettes in fancy open weaves are quite dainty enough in appearance to suit the most fastidious, while they have a little more body to them so that they are more practical for usual occasions.

There Is No Line, Trimming or Drapery to Detract from the Height of the Figure

THE woman of short stature is always regarded humorously when she tries to add an inch or more to her height. It is far from being amusing to her, however, and as a rule she will do anything in reason, and often outside of it, to add even a fraction of an inch. High heels are a "first aid to the short," though a dangerous one, for the wearing invariably ends in a wrenched or broken ankle. Wearing a high hat or one with upstanding trimming is another apparently innocent manner of giving an impression of height that isn't successful or practical either.

The high hat trimming only makes the head too large in proportion to the body, so dwarfing the figure, and a large head is always inelegant. The high heels give an ugly walk and throw the figure off its balance, spoiling the silhouette and grace of movement expected in an attractive woman. Have you ever noticed some actress who on the stage looked tall but in private life you found to be hardly of medium height? It was not only the perspective of the stage that lent her this added stature; the effect gained was due either to careful proportions in dress or a naturally good figure.

Short women are generally small of stature because of some disproportion; the body is too long for the lower part, the head too large for the other proportions, &c. This has to be thought of and counteracted in designing her gowns. If she is long waisted, trimming lines must draw the attention from that fact; if too short waisted they must cover it up. As for the correct proportions, as nearly as they can be given in a general way, a woman should be about seven and a half heads tall. She should be about three heads to the natural waist line, while the wrists are on a level with a depth of four heads.

The average woman, alas, does not measure much more than six and a quarter heads in height, but the illusion of these correct proportions is not at all difficult to acquire once this fact is understood. Long or oblique trimming lines on the skirt lengthen the lower part of the figure, from the fact that the eye unconsciously follows such trimming lines and edges, and the time it takes the eye to do this apparently makes the distance seem longer. Rather far fetched seems such a statement on first reading, yet it is a detail well known and used by artists as well as dressmakers.

The short woman, especially if she be also stout, can prove this by a little observation of other women.

If these same skirt lines can continue up to the waist they draw the attention away from the belt line, which may cut the figure in two and break the pleasant long lines. For, after all, that is the principal excuse and reason for trimming, and not an inch should be used unless to accent a grace or to detract the attention from a defect in the figure.

The two charming Paris models here shown prove some of these points. The front and back views given show a model decidedly good for a short woman who may have too large a head and too long a waist. So the waist line has been raised to conceal the long waist, and this at the same time lengthens the lower part of the figure.

The belt, being of twisted material of light and dark strands, does not separate the figure into two parts too distinctly, and so take away from the height. A too long arm would be apparently shortened by the sleeve made in two sections. It is a most serviceable model, as it may be used for simple or elaborate occasions, according to the materials used. The other model has the advantage of being on latest lines with its touch of drapery on the skirt. The belt is especially clever, as it is in two colors, the darker not extending entirely across the waist, thereby making it apparently smaller. The plaits each side of the front make for length. It is a good model for serge, cashmere or taffeta, the season's popular fabrics.

Over the Down Quilt.

ONE of her loveliest gifts had been a plump and fluffy down quilt, with a design of pale blue and gold on a pure white ground, to match the pretty furnishings of her bedroom. But as the girl in question has a strong love for much fresh air, not only at night but through the day, when she is around the room and as several new buildings are going up in the neighborhood of those open windows making dust without end [illegible] her of protecting [illegible] from soil during the day. For this purpose she measured the width of the quilt as it lay folded across the end of her burnished brass bed—measured also the distance around the roll—and then sallied forth and purchased enough flowered silkoline in the same colors to make a cover for the folded up comforter. It was not a bag, but had an oblong piece set in at each end, and the seams were corded with pale blue sateen, which gave a certain body to the case and made it easier to slip in the quilt after it was folded up for the day. There was a twelve inch overlapping "day" to the case, running lengthwise of it, which fastened down with bows of blue satin ribbon, making a secure protection without the fuss of buttons that would catch at fringe.

This cover can be laundered without trouble and gives a smooth surface on which to rest, if the folded comforter be called on to do temporary duty as a bolster. Similar cases could be made of plain white sateen or satin jean, marked with an embroidered initial in white or [illegible] and would be a welcome addition to any store of [illegible]

TRACEY HIT HARD AT BERLIN NEW MEN FOR THE PETES

Berlin and Peterborough had a two hour game on Saturday, the Busy Bees winning by 16—12.

Tracey apparently had an off day as the despatch states he was knocked all over the lot. Manager Rowan tried three new men, Weaver, Connors and Weidman each of whom had a hit to their credit. Connors and Weaver having a two bagger. The new men replaced Tully, Beard and Nasher, and Byrnes. The Petes had seven men left on bases. They play at Berlin to-day and to-morrow, coming home on Wednesday for a four days' series with the Champions.

Berlin, July 7.—The expected shake-up of the Berlin Canadian League team will take place to-day after Manager Deneau returns from Chicago. Pitcher Connolly was given his release Saturday, and others will follow. Almost an entire new infield has been signed. Third baseman Bullock being the only player likely to be retained.

Jack Miller, the versatile player of last year's champions, who has been holding out for more money, arrived this morning from Detroit and will play second base. Manager Deneau, it is reported, will manage from the bench during the balance of the season, and occasionally take his turn as a pinch hitter.

BREEZES FROM THE DIAMOND

All is not merry as the marriage bells in the camp of the London Indians. Third baseman Nicholls has been released for indifferent play and while Shortstop Brant was suspended a week ago, he is now back in the game. The team has been accused of mutiny. Manager Bowerman is at present angling for another new pitcher, and some new material; he will not say what positions he was trying to fill. Gilhooley, who starred at short for the Niagara University in their game here, was signed up for the locals by the London club last night. He is to report on Thursday, July 11.

Russell Ford, the Canadian star pitcher of the New York American league baseball team, and Miss Mary H. Bethell of Reidsville, N.C., were married on Friday. The couple left at once for New York, where the groom pitched against the Washington team on Saturday and lost his game by one run.

The report from Berlin on the first game, gives Nasher credit for playing a spectacular game at third base. The little third bagger must have been feeling in mighty good spirits.

CANCELLA WILL UMPIRE NO MORE GAMES

"Jocko" Halligan, for many years player in Philadelphia and Jersey City, and who was for a time umpire for President Barrow in the Eastern League, has been secured by President J. Z. Fitzgerald, to handle the indicator in the Canadian baseball league. He will replace Cancella at Hamilton to-day.

FINDING SUNKEN GOLD.

Perils of Treasure Salving Do Not Deter Adventurous Spirits.

Although the average person needs no telling that a diver carries his life in his hands every time he descends beneath the waves, few realize the arduousness of his work and the many difficulties he has to overcome, particularly when engaged in the task of recovering sunken treasure.

One of the greatest difficulties, for instance, which faced the staff of divers working under Captain Young, who took charge of the operations for salving the three-quarters of a million of specie which went down with the Oceana off Newhaven, were the currents which sweep round the wreck. "It is very bad water to work in," said Captain Young, during the course of an interview, and the strength of the currents is strikingly illustrated by the fact that within a few hours of sinking the Oceana was carried nine miles from the spot where she was struck.

The Oceana went down in 90 feet of water, and the first task which fell to the divers was to find the key of the bullion room in the captain's cabin. Ultimately one of the divers managed to get into the cabin, but the current was so strong that twice he was washed out again before he succeeded in his object. Another of the divers got entangled in the wreckage, while on several occasions the men were obliged to let go their hold on the guide-ropes, and trust to luck and the currents to reach the surface.

It is the state of the water rather than the depth which has made the task of recovering the Oceana bullion so difficult, for it is by no means the greatest depth of water from which treasure has been salved.

Some years ago, for instance, $350,000 was recovered from a Spanish vessel, Alphonso XII., which had sunk off Point Gando, in the Grand Canary, in 165 feet of water, while another case was that of the Skyro, which sank off Cape Finisterre in 186 feet of water, and from which $100,000 worth of bullion was recovered some time after, dynamite having to be used in order to get at the gold. The dangerous nature of the work in this case may be gathered from the fact that the deck had collapsed to within 18 inches of the cabin floor, and at the finish of the dynamite operations the diver reported that there was no part of the wreck standing higher than himself, excepting the engines and the main boilers; it was just a heap of scrap iron.

Among other instances of recovered sunken treasure might be mentioned the $250,000 worth of specie raised from the Hamilla Mitchell, which sank in 150 feet of water near Shanghai. In these cases the great depth of the water was an important consideration. The greater the depth at which a diver works, of course, the greater the pressure, which increases by 4 1-2 pounds for every 10 feet. Those working on the wreck of the Oceana labored under a pressure of about 40 pounds per square inch. In the other instances mentioned the pressure was between 70 pounds and 80 pounds per square inch.

The greatest depth that Admiralty divers have reached—and these divers are the most scientific in the world—has been 210 feet. The first man who set up this record was Gunner Catto, who, during the Scottish experiments with the Spanker some years ago, dived to this extraordinary depth and stayed down for twenty-five minutes. The previous record was held by Angelo Erostabe, who recovered $60,000 worth of silver bars from the Skyro already mentioned. He made over eighty descents to a depth of 186 feet, and his maximum stay at the bottom was twenty-five minutes.

Sir Rodolphe Forget is now boosting Cape St. Charles, Labrador, as an all the year round port.

ENFORCING THE POINT

OBJECT LESSONS BROUGHT INTO PARLIAMENTARY DEBATE.

British Member For Rugby Recently Took a New Miner's Lamp Into the House and Attracted Great Interest —Haldane's Cordite Cane — Two Irish Pieces of Evidence — Sailorman Brings His Ears.

Every school teacher knows that a thing may be described for hours without producing much effect upon a class of children, but if the object be actually produced an impression is made upon their young minds which is never erased. He knows, then, the value of object lessons. Counsel in big cases in the law courts also seldom lose sight of the uses to which a well-constructed model, plan, or map may be put, and everybody knows that it is no uncommon thing for the actual instruments and accessories of a crime to be produced and handed to the judge and jury. Nevertheless, even with those daily examples of the use of an object lesson in illustrating a point, or making evidence clear, the members of the House of Commons very seldom resort to it, and members look upon anything of this sort as quite in the way of being a dramatic episode.

For instance, quite a little flutter was caused in the House of Commons the other night when Mr. Baird, the hon. member for Rugby, in the middle of a speech on the relative merits and different styles of lamps used in mines, suddenly produced a coal miner's cap of the type worn in Scotland, to the front of which a small lamp was attached. This he proceeded to put on his head, and showed how this particular lamp and its attachment made the work of the miner easier and safer. This simple little object lesson impressed the House wonderfully, and the member for Rugby had the satisfaction of learning later that he had brought many opponents to his own view-point.

Long before Lord Haldane was removed to the upper regions of the House of Lords he resorted to what might seem a very daring and dramatic method of enforcing his point. The composition and manufacture of that terrible explosive cordite were to be debated, and the Secretary for War wished to make certain points with regard to it plain to the House. But fire-arms and explosives and such-like dangerous things are not allowed in the precincts of the House. Nevertheless, when the dramatic moment arrived, Mr. Haldane startled his fellow members by holding up his walking-stick—an unprecedented thing in itself—and quietly explained that this innocent-looking cane was really made of cordite.

It will be remembered that the working model of a battering ram figured in an Irish debate some time since. Mr. Swift MacNeill, the hero of many a little scene in the House, was the hero of this one also, for it was he who produced it to show certain methods of eviction employed in this "disthressful counthry." He wanted to give his fellow members a sight of at least one of the wrongs of Ireland. Doubtless this object lesson had its effect. Had Mr. Swift MacNeill merely stated that the police battered down the doors of the peasants' cottages his words might have gone into one ear and out of the other as far as his fellow members were concerned, but when he actually produced a model of the ram with which the battering was done, he produced more effect than a score of fiery speeches would have done.

Even the humble potato has figured in the People's Chamber—quite apart from its daily appearance in the dining-room downstairs. It goes without saying that the potatoes used as an object lesson by the representative of Connaught constituency were neither boiled, baked, nor fried. In fact they were "threaded" on a short piece of string, and were so small and undersized that they looked little bigger than the chestnuts which boys carry about similarly strung. The hon. member explained to an astonished House that these three under-sized potatoes represent the entire product of the potato patch of one of his constituents. He had no difficulty, after dangling this string of potatoes before the eyes of his fellow members, in convincing them that the potato crop had failed and that something must be done.

Perhaps the rule which prohibits the introduction of fire-arms into St. Stephen's without special leave of Mr. Speaker, comes down from the day when Mr. Percival, then the Prime Minister, was shot by Mr. Majoribanks when making an effective display of a magazine rifle which he had brought down with him to illustrate some special point which he wanted to make in his speech. He succeeded in bringing the harmless unloaded weapon into the building, but not in smuggling it into the Commons, so he had to be content with the far less satisfactory method of verbal explanation. His object lesson was spoiled.

But a dagger was once not only brought in the House of Commons, but dramatically produced. The episode occurred, not three hundred years ago, as might be supposed, but barely thirty. An angry M.P. threw a dagger on the floor of the House, declaring dramatically that there had been times, which he rather regretted were not the present, when a man would have been killed for less provocation than he had himself received. The object lesson in assassination fell rather flat, for the House laughed.

In 1738 a merchant captain, named Jenkins, was admitted to the Bar of the House in order to tell his tale of torture by the Spaniards. As he spoke he pushed his long hair aside and showed that he was earless. Then he took from his pocket a piece of paper and thrilled the House with horror when he unwrapped it and held up between finger and thumb one of his own severed ears! This dramatic episode brought on a war which was long threatened between Britain and Spain.

As a Counter Irritant.

"Doctor, is modern medical science really making any advance in treating rheumatism?"

"Yes; it has discovered what is believed to be an absolute specific."

"What's the name of it?"

"Acetylmethylenedisalicylic acid."

"What?"

"I won't say it again. I'll write it."

"How do you take it?"

"I don't suppose you take it at all. You practice learning to pronounce it, and that makes you forget your rheumatism."

The Horrid Things.

"I didn't see you at either Sue's or Helen's party last week," said one.

"I was ill and couldn't go to either," replied the other.

"Well, at Sue's they talked about you a whole lot."

"The horrid things!"

"But at Helen's they didn't mention your name."

SASKATCHEWAN ELECTIONS THE HOTTEST IN HISTORY

Alberta Politicians Feel That the Result In Saskatchewan Will Determine the Outcome In Their Own Province and Are Entering the Fight—Federal Issues Are Chiefly In Evidence—Premier's Appeal.

Regina, July 9.—The Saskatchewan campaign, with elections only two days away, has reached the final stages. The leaders, the candidates and the papers are making their last appeals to the electorate.

Saskatchewan has had bitter campaigns, but none ever to equal the present fight. It is a desperate struggle for the control of the province.

It is becoming more than that. It is being generally represented as a federal fight for the west. As Saskatchewan goes, so will Alberta, is the general feeling. Alberta politicians evidently think so, as both sides have many speakers and workers in the province. Hon. Duncan Marshall, Hon. C. W. Cross, Hon. A. G. MacKay, and Hon. Frank Oliver are here for the Liberals. R. B. Bennett, M.P., has been speaking in Saskatoon and a number of Conservative speakers from Edmonton are stumping the north country. The issues are becoming more and more federal, largely forced by Premier Scott's adoption of "wider markets" as his main election cry. The Conservatives are countering by pointing out what the Borden Government is doing and is prepared to do to meet the grievances of the western farmers.

In cities the fights are largely local. In Prince Albert the Hudson Bay Railway and the development of the north are the main issues, both sides claiming candidates for these policies, while in Saskatoon both sides are making lavish promises of what they will do for the country.

The fight is growing more bitter daily and both sides are talking of wholesale arrests on election day. There promises to be a great deal of trouble over the election districts. This is the first time Saskatchewan has ever had printed lists. The Conservatives charge that hundreds of their votes have been left off the lists. The Liberals claim that they are as badly off in this respect as the Conservatives. Irrespective of politics, it is certain that many old settlers will not have votes this election. Through the country it is not understood that a man can no longer swear on his vote, and it is feared there may be serious trouble at the booths.

At one polling place in Gull Lake fifteen ranchers have been left off the lists. They say that if they are not allowed to vote there will be no election in that poll.

Premier Scott yesterday addressed an appeal to the electors of Saskatchewan in which he declares that the Haultain party has failed to utter a syllable of criticism of the Government's policy.

After disclaiming any intention of retiring, the Premier accuses his opponents of saying that if his Government is returned, Premier Borden will not fulfill his promise to transfer the national resources to the province. He terms this "the most brazen and unblushing attempt at the coercion of a free province, ever witnessed in Canada."

"Even more important than wider markets is provincial independence? Independence is the matter of the preservation of our electoral integrity. Never in any provincial election contest was any province overrun with such a horde of election crooks as are overrunning Saskatchewan at the present moment."

CUP HOLDER IS KILLED

Monoplane Struck Telephone Post During the Descent

Special to the Review.

Chalons Sur Marne, France, July 9.—Rene Bedel, an experienced airman and holder of the Pommery Cup, met death this morning when his monoplane struck a telephone pole as he was about to descend, after flying from Paris to participate in manoeuvres at Mourmelon Le Grand near here. Some thousands of French troops witnessed the accident.

CAMORRISTS SENTENCED

Viterbo, July 9.—The Camorrists who have been on trial for nearly two years on the charge of having murdered Genarro Cuocolo and his wife in June, 1906, were yesterday adjudged guilty in varying degrees.

The judge immediately sentenced the condemned men. Sortino, Salvi, Morra, Di Gennaro, Alfano, Rapi, Cerrato, and Di Marinas, were sentenced to thirty years' imprisonment and to ten years police surveillance; Di Mattio to 10 years and six months' imprisonment and three years' surveillance; Ascrittore to 10 years' surveillance and three years' surveillance; Vitozzi, the priest, seven years' imprisonment, and two years' surveillance; the others to five years' imprisonment, and three years' surveillance.

Pandemonium raged in the prisoners' cage and one man cut his throat, perhaps fatally.

Walloons Are Bolters.

Liege, Belgium, July 9.—A congress of delegates from the Walloon, Provinces of Belgium, adopted a resolution yesterday in favor of the administrative separation of those provinces from the Flemish Provinces with a view to "the extension of independence and the expansion of the activities of the Walloons."

MINE HORROR

Special to the Review.

Conisbrough, Yorkshire. July 9.—Thirty miners were killed and two injured by a coal damp explosion in Cadeby Colliery here this morning. King George paid a visit yesterday to the pit adjoining the one in which the explosion occurred.

Conisborough, July 9.—A second explosion occurred at Cadeby mine this afternoon, followed by a fall of the roof of some of the galleries cutting off a rescue party of thirty in the mine at the time. Government mining inspector and the manager of the pit are known to have been killed in the second collision.

CHANGE IN THE EARTH

New Land Rising in the Behring Sea

Seattle, Wash., July 9.—Permanent alterations in the climate of the Alaskan coast, through shifting of warm ocean currents by lifting of the sea bottom, the opening of new fishing banks of unestimated value, and the eventual closing of Behring Straits, owing to a rise in the floor of the sea, are among the scientific probabilities now being investigated as a result of the eruption of Mount Katami a month ago.

Various geological parties and men from several revenue cutters are exploring the bottom of the sea to determine how far submarine geography has changed. So far as the earth's surface is concerned, the eruption was beneficial, the volcanic ash having already stimulated plant growth.

Geologists assert that the tons of submerged mountains which form the Aleutian Isles are rising steadily through pressure on the sea bottom from enormous mounts of sediments, and after eventually cutting off Behring Sea, will continue to rise until what is now the sea will be replaced by a great sweep of land.

A large number of scientists will sail from Seattle to-day for Seward, there to take passage for Kodiak.

PORTUGUESE AT IT AGAIN

Special to the Review.

Lisbon, Portugal, July 9.—In an encounter between Royalists and Republican troops at Chaves this morning the former lost fifty killed and two hundred wounded. The Republican losses are not given. One Republican officer who urged his soldiers to turn against the Republicans, was shot by his men.

WILL ARRANGE SESSION.

Privy Council Will Hear Ne Temere Case.

London, July 9.—Before the Privy Council yesterday, Hon. C. J. Doherty, Canada's Minister of Justice, asked special leave to appeal in the stated marriage case. Mr. Doherty recited minutely the various steps leading to the application. The subject matter, he said, had given rise to a very considerable agitation. A good deal of strange feeling had been generated over the fact that the validity of marriages, at all events of those between Roman Catholics and Protestants, was dependent upon the ceremony performed before the Roman Catholic Church. Certain portions of the population recorded this as constituting a very serious evil.

The Government of Canada simply felt that in view of the importance of the matters involved, and the general desire that they should be settled by the judgment of the highest tribunal of the realm, it was incumbent on them to apply to their lordships for leave to appeal.

Lord Haldane, the Chancellor: "Their lordships consider it a most proper case. Obviously it is of very great constitutional importance. I understand you desire a special sitting?"

Mr. Doherty: "We have a very earnest desire that the case be heard this summer."

Lord Haldane: "In that case their lordships will endeavor to make special arrangements."

Mr. Doherty said the Canadian Government had provided for arguments on both sides.

It was decided to take the case, if possible, on the 22nd inst.

Being a King Not so Easy as it Looks; George V. Has Some Very Busy Days

KING GEORGE AS A-STOKER

Not only is he present at army and navy reviews, keenly attentive to all details and interested in the latest developments of these services—an accompanying photogarph shows him in the uniform of a stoker—but he attends cattle and dog shows, hospital dedications, polo matches, horse races theatrical performances, church services, entertainments for charity and hundreds of social functions given by the lords and ladies of the realm.

As if this were not enough work, supplemented as it is by holding courts and presiding over levees, the King is supposed to have a fatherly eye on all the activities of his subjects.

BATHING AND CANOEING EXACT HEAVY TOLL OF LIFE

Two Young Men Lose Their Lives While Swimming In Toronto, and a Resident of That City Perishes In Muskoka—Two Fatalities Occur at Montreal, Three at Quebec and One Is Reported at Ottawa.

Toronto, July 8.—Edward Irwin, 123 Bond street, a young man, about 19 years of age, was drowned while bathing in the Don River near the Winchester street bridge last night at about nine o'clock. The part of the river in which young Irwin and a number of other young men were bathing is very treacherous. There are many deep holes near the banks at this point, and it was into one of these that Irwin suddenly dropped. He could not swim. It was some time before his comrades noticed his disappearance. When they became aware of the fact that he was not among them they became alarmed and dived and otherwise tried to locate him. He evidently did not come to the surface at all after going down the first time, for neither cries for help nor splashing of the water gave his friends any intimation that he was drowning.

Albert Adams of Mount Dennis was drowned yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock while bathing in the Humber river near Humbervale. He and Thomas Cross, his brother-in-law had been bathing for nearly half-an-hour in the pond by the International Electric Light Co.'s power house, when Adams who was wading in shallow water suddenly disappeared in a deep hole not many yards from the bank. Neither he nor Cross could swim and his brother-in-law was almost drowned in his efforts to save him. The body was recovered about half-an-hour later by the employes of the Interurban Company and Dr. MacNamara of Davenport road summoned but all attempts at resuscitation were in vain. The remains were taken to the King Edward Sanitarium at Weston where Coroner Charlton of that village, after viewing the body decided an inquest to be unnecessary last night.

The young man lived with his mother and married sister on Bayliss avenue, Mount Dennis and arrived only recently from his home in England.

Toronto Man Drowned.

Toronto, July 9.—John Campbell, 24 years of age, of 349 Westmoreland avenue, was drowned while bathing in Lake Muskoka last Saturday afternoon. He was employed as chef on the C.P.R. Muskoka train. It was a case of cramps and the inability of his swimming partners to get to him in time after he had cried for help. The remains of the body were brought from Muskoka. A wife of three months survives him.

Two Montrealers Drowned.

Montreal, July 9.—After rowing for several hours on Lake St. Louis on Sunday evening in the company of two young women, Richard Weaves and Albert Munnery decided to take a swim near Dorval. Weaves jumped in and swam away from the boat for several hundred feet. He was then seen to go down. Munnery, who went to his assistance, sank in the same spot. Though their companions rowed round the place for several hours no signs of the men were seen. It is thought that they were pulled down by the dangerous undercurrents which exist at this point.

Both men resided in Montreal.

Three Drowned at Quebec.

Quebec, July 9.—A young man named Rousseau was drowned at Lotbiniere wharf. Daniel McDermott, a sailor on the steamer Crown of Canada, was drowned in the Louise basin, and Albert Gauvin was drowned at Lorette Sunday. All were bathing.

Seized With Cramps.

Ottawa, July 9.—Louis Frappier, aged 16, of Hull, sought refuge from the fierce blasts of the sun in the Ottawa river and was seized with cramps and drowned before assistance could reach him. The body was recovered.

Officers May Strike.

New York, July 9.—According to advices received in this city from London, a union has been formed by the masters and mates of Great Britain, and before the homeward rush of tourists begins in the latter part of August captains and officers of the transatlantic liners will be in a position to demand many concessions from the steamship lines with services to this port.

If the demands are not met by the owners it is feared that a concerted action on the part of captains and officers will cause a bigger tie-up of sea traffic in England this fall than has ever been brought about by striking stokers, firemen, sailors and stewards.

TO MAKE OCEAN TRAVEL SAFE

Berlin, July 9.—A conference for the drawing up of measures of safety for sea-going vessels is to be held in London in the autumn. Both the United States and Germany, which took the first initiative in the matter, have waived their claims. The German proposals to be presented to the conference will be drafted finally, only after the holding of another German conference shortly before the meeting of the international conference in London.

Spain Stays Neutral.

Madrid, July 9.—Premier Canalejas, declared in an interview yesterday that strictest orders have been given to prevent Portuguese conspiracies from being arranged on Spansh territory. He sad that all the leaders and accomplices will be arrested. Spain is considerably incommoded by the interruption to the telegraph, owing to the uprising in Portugal, but it is believed here that the movement is of little importance and has already virtually collapsed.

PREMIER BORDEN AT INSPECTION AT SPITHEAD

Special to the Review.

London, July 9.—The active British fleet in English waters and vessels from the Mediterranean station, 315 ships in all, gathered off Spithead today for the inspection of members of the House of Lords and House of Commons. Premier R. L. Borden and other Ministers of the Canadian Cabinet at present in England to confer with the Admiralty department regarding Canada's naval program, attended the inspection, which opened with a display of aeroplane and hydroplane manoeuvres.

AT THE OLMYPIAD

Special to the Review.

tockholm, July 9.—George Bonhag of the United States, was first in the flat race of five thousand metres here to-day.

A Decoleau, of Canada, was second, F. N. Nibbins, of England, third.

In the second heat, first place went to Louis Scott, of United States; Joseph Keeper of Manitoba, Canada; was second and F. W. Hutson, of England, third.

Stockholm, July 9.—Miss Fannie Durach, of Australia, won the fourth heat of the one hundred metres, free style swimming event for women, and established a new record. Time, one minute, nineteen and four-fifths seconds.

Stockholm, July 9—The four hundred metre relay race final, resulted with England first, Sweden, second, Germany, disqualified.

ITALIAN GOES UP FOR TRIAL

Considerable time has been occupied in police court within the past couple of days to the hearing of a charge of criminal assault upon an Italian girl of tender years, alleged to have been committed by a young Italian fruit dealer. The details and particulars of the alleged assault are of such an unreadable character as to prohibit their publication. In no sense could they be termed as elevating to the morals.

The girl is very bright and intelligent, but has figured in police court before in a case almost similar to the one under investigation.

Two other boys are also implicated it is allgeed, in the assault.

Mr. G. N. Gordon is appearing for the defendants.

The evidence was sufficient for the Magistrate to commit the accused for trial before Judge Huycke at an early date.

Bail was supplied by the father of the accused.

LEFT ESTATE OF FIVE MILLION

Special to the Review.

Toronto, July 9.—The Telegram to-night publishes a forecast of the will of the late Samuel Nordheimer, German consul at Toronto, stating it disposes of an estate of five million dollars. The estate is to be kept intact and annuities paid to seven daughters and one son.

Prepares for Royalty.

Winnipeg, July 9.—Preparations are actively in progress all over the city, but particularly on Main street and on Portage avenue for the arrival of the royal visitors to-night.

The duke's party reach the city at 8.30 p.m., and at the Canadian Pacific Railway station they will be met by members of the reception committee, the guard of honor and escort being furnished by the militia, under Col. Steele, district commanding officer.

From the station the Governor-General and party will drive to the City Hall.

REPUBLICANS TO PETITION PRESIDENT TAFT TO DROP OUT

If Movement to Ask the President to Retire From the Presidential Race Fails a Petition to the Same Effect Will Be Sent to Col. Roosevelt—Defeat In Sight If Peace Is Not Secured.

Washington, July 9.—A nation-wide movement to petition President Taft to withdraw as the Republican Presidential candidate is being backed by a large number of Republican office-holders, who feel that they face defeat in November unless the breach in the party can be healed.

The men include members of Congress, members of state legislatures, which will elect Senators, state and county officeholders and party candidates. If the movement to petition Mr. Taft to withdraw succeeds in gaining any volume, it is said these same men, in the interest of party harmony, may ask Col. Roosevelt also to withdraw as a prospective candidate for an independent nomination, and permit a compromise selection of some man agreeable to both factions of the party. It is the desire of the promoters of the scheme that a decision shall be reached before Aug. 5, when the Roosevelt faction plans to hold a convention in Chicago.

The circulation of petitions, it was declared, yesterday, would start within a week. It was said the movement would begin spontaneously in every state. The organizers are now circulating blank forms of petitions and appointing supervisors, who in turn will engage canvassers to solicit the signatures of Republican voters. The authors of the plan expect to offer to practically every Republican voter in the United States a chance to express his opinion of Mr. Taft's candidacy, either by signing the petition or rejecting it.

The movement is in the hands of several well known members of Congress. They are being aided by many of the extreme Roosevelt Republicans. The enlistment of the national progressive organizatin in the movement has been sought, and it was stated yesterday that Senator Dixon's organization was willing to co-operate.

Information that the petitions were to be put before the voters leaked out yesterday. No particular person is authority for the statement, and members of Congress concerned were unwilling to stand sponsors for it until the movement was under way.

Three Officers Must Go.

Ottawa, July 9.—Three officers of Canadian regiments have felt it necessary to resign their commands because they failed to see that the order of Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes relative to liquor in militia camps was observed.

Col. Hughes has laid it down that no liquor will be sold in militia camps. Yesterday he said that three officers had neglected his order and their resignations had been received. He added that other resignations were expected.

"It is the business of an officer to see that there is no liquor in the camp," said Col. Hughes.

"I know the militia business," he said, when asked about the canteen, "and I know the evils in connection with it. Liquor is one. The liquor business in the camps has got to be stopped or I'll know the reason why. Most officers realize this now."

ARTHUR TO WED

Special to the Review.

New York, July 9—A cable to The Times from London, says that the St. Petersburgh correspondent of the Echo De Paris reports Prince Arthur of Connaught, only son of the Duke of Connaught, will shortly marry Princess Irene Alexandrovna, daughter of Grand Duke Alexander Michailovitch, cousin of the Czar. The report says the marriage was decided upon last August, but the announcement deferred until the Princess reaches her seventeenth birthday, which will be soon. It is expected the marriage will be celebrated in St. Petersburg and that King George will attend.

LIBERALS JOIN IN WELCOME

London, July 9.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The attitude of the Liberal press towards the Canadian Ministers' visit is one of unaffected welcome. The Star, the most radial of our evening papers, says men of all parties are one in the warmth of greeting.

"The fact that Borden has taken Laurier's place makes no difference to Liberals," says The Star. "He is Canada, and that is enough for us. We gladly recognize there is something far higher than politics, namely, our common heritage and the hope of the British race. It is to preserve and develop that heritage that Borden has crossed the Atlantic. Whatever Canada may do to help us maintain command of the sea, which is the supreme necessity of our existence, we shall accept, not merely with gratitude, but brotherly comradeship. We are one race; we stand together."

FEAR RIOTS IN ULSTER ON 12TH

Belfast, Ireland, July 9.—The Catholic Lord Bishop of Belfast yesterday telegraphed the Lord Chancellor of Ireland demanding military protection for all Catholic institutions in Ulster during the coming week.

The anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne will be celebrated with more than its accustomed vigor by the Orangemen next Friday. Because of the resentment against the home rule bill that is generally felt in Ulster, many threats had been made against the Catholics, and the lord bishop warns the Chancellor that he will be held responsible if adequate protection is not furnished the Catholics during the week's celebration.

Fish Agreement Reached?

Ottawa, July 9.—It is understood that the inland fisheries negotiations being carried on between Hon. John E. Hedges of New York, representing the United States, and Prof. E. E. Prince, Dominion commissioner of fisheries, representing Canada, have had a successful issue and that an agreement which will undoubtedly prove satisfactorily to both countries has been reached.

It is not likely that it will be ratified for some time however. In the case of the United States, it will scarcely be touched until Congress meets after the Presidential election.

Hamar Greenwood, M.P., a Father.

London, July 9.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—A daughter was born yesterday to Mrs. Hamar Greenwood.

Special to the Review.

Toronto, July 9.—It is stated here to-day that the Farmers' Bank enquiry will be resumed at Ottawa on July eighteenth. J. R. Stratton, Dr. Beattie Nesbitt and W. S. Calvert will be examined regarding the mysterious three thousand dollar cheque.

PLUCKY MISS SAVED YOUTH FROM DROWNING

Special to the Review.

Farnham, Que., July 9.—Edward St. Pierre, aged twelve, rocked a canoe in which he was paddling with Chas. Plevin this morning, upsetting it, and he was drowned. The timely heroism of Miss Potvin, who dived from a bank into the stream and rescued Plevin, saved a double drowning.

Portfranks, Ont., July 9—Stricken with cramps while bathing, Frank Germuller, aged thirteen lost his life while bathing in four feet of water last night.

TELEPHONE GIRL PREVENTED THE MURDER OF TWO

Special to the Review.

Buffalo, N.Y., July 9—Hearing the call for police, as she responded to a ring on a party line, Lillian Hasselbeck, a Buffalo telephone gril, last night, quickly figured out the location and succeeded in getting the police there in time to prevent the killnig of Henry Reeb, and his wife, by the former's brother, Martin, who attacked them wtih a chisel after breaking his way into their house. No reason is known for the attack.

Cannot Agree on Chairman.

Washington, July 9.—The selection of a chairman for the Republican national committee was last night still in the air.

For four hours yesterday afternoon, President Taft, his secretary, Charles D. Hilles, and a sub-committee of the Republican national committee discussed the question of the chairmanship. At 5.30 o'clock last night they adjourned until to-day, no nearer a choice than they were when they met.

Garment Workers' Strike Wanes.

THE MOTOR BUS

The agitation in favor of the motor bus has at last reached Toronto where the question of city transportation has been one of the perplexing problems for years. It is claimed that a satisfactory solution is now in sight, and that the car track on public streets will soon be a thing of the past.

Cheaper transit is one of the first arguments advanced, as it will no longer be necessary to construct and keep up a permanent roadbed. Several elements of danger in the street passenger traffic would be eliminated by the use of the motor bus. Such vehicles could receive and deliver passengers at the curb, thus obviating the necessity of a patron making his perilous way from the middle of the street to the sidewalk upon a crowded thoroughfare. Narrow streets will no longer be rendered almost impassible to other vehicular traffic by the single or double street car track. The noise of the trolley car will in a large measure be done away with, and under municipal ownership the motor bus will give the public everything it has been clamoring for for years.

If this experiment is made in Toronto other cities will soon adopt the same means of civic traffic until in a few years the sight of a trolley car may become as unusual as is now the ox-cart of pioneer days.

KEEP ON MOVING

A Toronto man finding himself far from his home in Western Ontario, and separated from his last cent, essayed to make the journey home on foot, and met with no check until he reached the vicinity of Woodstock. There overcome by weariness he lay down under the shelter of a tree along the highway and slept. Some suspicious farmers who saw him, notified a local constable and the wayfarer was haled before the police magistrate in Woodstock.

There he not only refused to give his name but stoutly argued that his arrest was a defiance of justice in that the highway was public property and that he was justified in sleeping upon it where and when he chose. The magistrate, however, took a different view of the case and not only provided the prisoner with free transportation to Toronto but saw to it that upon his arrival in that city he would be given free board and lodging in the Central Prison for the period of six calendar months. The severity of this sentence no doubt arose from magisterial dignity ruffled by the tart replies and vehement argument of the offence itself.

John Doe, who must be designated by that legal fiction in the absence of his rightful name, was certainly wrong in his premises however plausible his line of defence may have been. He is evidently at heart a Socialist, who lays claim to rights and privileges which the law of the country still withholds from him.

The public highway is no more free to him as a place of rest than is any of the domain along it which private ownership has pre-empted. He is immune from official molestation on the road only so long as he keeps going and perpetual locomotion on a tramp as long as the one he undertook is a physical impossibility.

Whither then shall John Doe escape the oversight of the ubiquitous cop or how can he escape the stern decree of the magistrate under the present conditions of public and private ownership! Only by securing a proprietary or a tenant interest in some corner of the footstool can he hope to do so. Conditions as at present existing may be severe upon persons of his lack of financial standing but there is no help for them until changes are made which this latest apostle of Socialism evidently believed to be in existence when he made his unavailing argument.

There is nothing now to prevent a money king from acquiring possession of a town or county and of straightway issuing orders to his neighbors to keep moving beyond the limit of his domain. That it is not done is because the owner requires the ownerless in the prosecution of his business enterprises.

LORD MERSEY'S FINDING

Devoid of everything in the shape of purely sentimental issues and dealing only with the practical lessons that are to be learned from the Titanic disaster, the finding of Lord Mersey, who presided at the London enquiry, and whose judgment has just been published, differs widely from the flamboyant, and in some instances, illogical conclusions that were reached by the American Senatorial Committee.

None of the passengers are censured for their conduct either on board after the collision or while afloat on the lifeboats, as such had no bearing upon the cause of the catastrophe, which was the main point at issue. The case of Capt. Lord, of the California, who failed to heed the signals of distress, is left to another court.

The great lesson drawn from the wreck is that while the Titanic was built with all human skill, she was inadequately provided with life boats, a neglect for which the faulty inspection of the British Board of Trade is held responsible. Even the boats available were not filled to their capacity or promptly launched on account of a lack of organization among the crew.

It is held that Capt. Smith had received sufficient warning of the danger ahead, and that in his desire to make a record trip no reduction of the vessel's speed was made within the danger zone. Thus the entire responsibility for the tragedy is fixed upon the officer whose fatal blunder was not expiated by his heroic death.

NOTE AND COMMENT

No one can justly charge Premier Asquith with cowardice, because he dreads the militant suffragettes, who scratch his face, tear his clothes, and smash his hats. After all it is the true hero who flees from such dangers.

New aviation dangers are disclosed every day. The latest is that airships passing in proximity at a high altitude so change the currents of air that one or both are liable to lose their equilibrium and drop to the earth.

Provincial Secretary Hanna, says that the prisoners on the prison farm work as hard and earnestly as if they were getting $20 a day, where as all they actually receive is that sum for one month. If Mr. Hanna can impart to the farmers of Ontario, his secret for accomplishing this result, he will still further be regarded in the light of a public benefactor.

STATE LAW CHURCH LAW

One by one, those who cling to and profess the belief that ecclesiastical law is superior to the laws of the state are put out of court. It is now a church dignitary of the Anglican Church, who has put forward such pretension and been silenced. Gradually, all will come to see that in all these matters, affecting the legality of marriage, the State is, and will be supreme. No church or denomination, Protestant or Catholic, may put forward any claim, other than the one of discipline of their own rules, to adherents and have such recognised.

Late English papers bring details of an important case now settled, and which has just been brought to a close by the judgment of the House of Lords. This case, popularly known as the Banister case, raised an issue of great importance to the Church of England in its relation to the State.

The case began in 1907. The facts are briefly these—

Mr. Banister is a member of the Church of England. At the beginning of 1907 he was a widower living in the parish of Eaton, in Norfolk, of which Canon Thompson, is vicar.

In 1906 the Colonial Marriages Act had been passed, legalising marriage with a deceased wife's sister, when both parties were domiciled in the colonies.

Mr. Banister, in the belief that it would legalize his marriage, although he was domiciled in England, went to Canada in 1907 and married his sister-in-law. Canon Thompson informed him before he went that if he contracted the marriage, he would not be admitted to communion. In August, 1907, marriage with a deceased wife's sister, was legalized in England, and Mr. Banister's marriage with his sister-in-law, then became without question legal in the eyes of the law not only in Canada, but in this country.

Canon Thompson, however, denied the legality of the marriage, so far as the law of the Church of England was concerned and persisted in his refusal to admit Mr. and Mrs. Banister to communion.

The litigation began shortly afterward with an ecclesiastical action before the Court of Arches, the ecclesiastical court. Sir Lewis Dibdin, the Dean of Arches, concluded that Canon Thompson had failed to justify his repulsion of the two parishioners and admonished him to refrain from similar acts in the future. This judgment has been successively confirmed ment has been successfully confirmed by the Court of Kings Bench, the Court of Appeal, and lastly by the House of Lords. Only one of the twelve State judges before whom the case has been argued has favored Canon Thompson's plea.

The main issue in the case was, of course, the great importance for its bearings on the relations between Church and State. The illegality of marriage with a deceased wife's sister rests on a statute of Henry VIII., and if the action of Canon Thompson had been upheld, it would have followed that there was an ecclesiastical law independent of the law of the State and inconsistent with it.

The rubric in the Book of Common Prayer orders a clergyman to exclude from communion anyone who is "an open and notorious evil liver," or who has "done any wrong to his neighbors by word or deed, so that the congregation have thereby been offended." The question was, could the rubric override the law of the land so as to make a man an "open and notorious evil liver," because he did an act which the Legislature expressly legalized?

It has now been finally held that it could not, that the law of the land overrides the conscience of the clergyman in the administration of the Church's sacraments, and that the ecclesiastical law of England is the King's ecclesiastical law and governed by by secular enactments.

This had already been held as long ago as Coke, and seems implicit in the theory of the establishment.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

O'K

Extra Mild, Remember

Many people would drink ale, in preference to all other malt beverages, if ale did not make them bilious.

This O'K brew is brewed especially for these people. It is extra mild and extra light, and lets you enjoy the creamy deliciousness of real old English ale without the heaviness and excessive bitterness. In easily—opened seal stoppered bottles. No broken cork or tinfoil in the glass.

A Baseball Romance

"If not one way, we will another," said Solano. "After this trip is over—if we get back with our heads and skins—I'm going to visit New York, call on Mr. Kelly and invite the whole Eastman gang to a banquet at my expense. What they have done for us was well worth it, wasn't it?"

The train pulled into Pittsburg towards noon, and the youngsters debarked. They had decided to turn their route to Cleveland, then to Detroit, and thence across Michigan to Chicago, changing railroads at each city. A night train to Cleveland was selected for the next trip, and the boys put in the afternoon in the justly celebrated city of steel, shipping and eccentric millionaires. A glance at a baseball schedule showed them that Pittsburg was playing at home during the afternoon—a circumstance which settled their whereabouts for the greater portion of the day. It had never been the fortune of either boy to see Hans Wagner, and the chance was one that was not to be resisted. Even with the anticipation of a glimpse at Wagner to lure them on, Brockett and Solano did not lose their caution. Instead of going straight to Forbes field, home of the Pittsburg team, they started in the opposite direction, circled here and there among the busy streets for an hour, lunched in a restaurant with entrances on two different streets, and departed by the door through which they didn't come when they first went in. Then they separated, went 'round opposite sides of a block, and rejoined each other on a side street, so clear of traffic that they could easily have spotted anyone following or shadowing the movements of either one. The trip to Forbes field was then in order, and the youngsters worshiped at the shrine of the great German shortstop for two delirious hours. When the mighty Honus, in the tenth inning, put his weight against a fast ball and drove it over the middle wall for the home run that won the game, no native Pittsburger could have created more noise or come nearer an actual delirium than Brockett and Solano.

The early evening hours were spent in pretty continual motion, and the boys were well fagged out when they betook themselves to a Pullman car, Cleveland-bound. They had decided to take two berths, upper and lower, with Solano sleeping in the lower berth, while Brockett, with the jealously guarded letters and cipher keys, would mount on high, beyond the reach of a possible pilferer. The good-natured negro in charge of the car made up their couches without delay, and then went to the platform to receive belated travelers, arriving barely in time to swing aboard the train.

As Solano was tossing off his shoes, and Brockett loosening his tie, the train cleared the Pittsburg station, gathering speed and whizzing along on its northwestern way. The porter came grinning up to the berth where the boys were preparing for much-needed sleep, and handed a small, square envelope to Brockett.

"Gemman in de crowd done gib me dis," he explained. "Said to hand it to de young men in upper and lower seben as soon as de train was under way, so heah it am."

"Gentleman in the crowd?" echoed Brockett. "Why—what—what sort of looking man was he?"

The negro grinned and shook his head.

"Couldn't zactly tell you, suh. Dere was three or fouh people climbin' aboahd de cah, an' Ah was so busy Ah hahdly noticed anyone in pahticulah. Jest took it soht ob mechanical, suh, soht ob mechanical, an' Ah neveh did see de pusson."

Solano turned on the electric bulb in the lower berth. They drew the green curtains tight, and Brockett opened the envelope. It contained only a square white card, and across the card was written, in the diamond cipher, these letterings:

"R 3BH pos E 2BH SH W TC Fin TO SH Pos TO C O B B AB SH BB Pos TO R 3BH SB Fin PO."

"Meaning," Brockett translated, "change route at Detroit. Be watchful."

"Meaning also," said Solano, "that even if we have evaded our pet enemies we have not passed from the sight of the secret service chief. I take off my bonnet to him and to his people."

The humming motion of the wheels had soothed both boys to sleep, and Brockett was dreaming of a baseball partnership with Hans Wagner and Christy Mathewson, when the sound of an angry altercation woke him with a start. Peering down from his elevated perch, he made out the stocky form of the porter, and beside him the figure of a man in pajamas, who was expostulating earnestly.

"Ah'm sorry, suh," cried the negro, "but Ah distinctly saw yo' reach into dis behth and paw all around. Yo' behth is way up de cah, and on de otheh side. Whaffo' yo' come fussin' round dis gemman's behth, anyhow?"

Solano's head protruded from the curtains at this moment, while Brockett thrust down a leg preparatory to descending. The pajama-clad man struggled to shake off the negro's detaining clutch, and protested hissingly in German accents.

"Borter, you vas mistook. I vos coming from de vashroom, ven de train it lurch und upset me from mein balance. I dake holdt off de bert' to steady meinself, und dot vas all. Vot right haf you to insuld a resbectable drafeler in dis vay?"

The negro was not to be blarneyed. "Ah saw yo' rummagin' roun' in dat behth fo' five minutes befo' Ah stopped yo', an' yo' neveh needed no sech time as dat jest fo' to get yo' balance. Oh, dehe yo' is, suh. Is dehe anything missing from you behth, suh?"

Solano rapidly inspected his clothing. "Two pockets turned inside out," he announced, "but nothing taken. You've got a cheap railway thief there, George. Hold him tight, and the car company won't forget you."

Brockett, descending lightly from his berth, peered into the face of the pajama-clad captive.

"Glad to see you, sir," laughed the boy, exultingly. "We met in Washington only the other day, if I am not mistaken."

With a guttural roar of rage and chagrin, the baron broke from the negro's hands and rushed down the car. He gained the vestibuled platform before another clutch could be laid upon him and smashed a door open as if it had been a barrier of straw. Dressed as he was, pajama draped, hatless, shoeless, he hurled himself out into the night, and the thick darkness swallowed him from view.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, July 8.—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending July 6 were 1400 cattle, 1200 sheep and lambs, 1800 hogs and 1200 calves. The offerings on the market this morning for sale were 600 cattle, 400 sheep and lambs, 400 hogs and 400 calves.

Altho the supply of cattle was fully 200 head smaller than a week ago, a weaker feeling prevailed in the market and the prices realised as compared with last Monday's, show a decline of 25c to 50c per cwt. This is attributed to the fact that the quality of the stock now coming forward is generally poorer, consisting principally of grass fed cattle, of which a large percentage are not fully finished for the market.

The gathering of buyers was fairly large, including some from Quebec, but owing to the continued extreme heat and the falling off in the consumption of fresh meats lately, the demand was somewhat limited and chiefly for small lots. However, on the whole, a fair trade was done, and as the offerings were lighter, a good clearance was made at the above reduction in prices. A few full carloads of choice steers were sold to packers at $7.25 to $7.50, and some small lots of extra choice Manitoba hay-fed steers at $8 per cwt., and one load of Ontario choice steers brought $7.75 per cwt., less $1 per head.

In spite of a smaller run of hogs a weaker feeling developed in the market and prices, as compared with last Monday, show a further decline of 10c per cwt. At this reduction the demand was good from packers and a fairly active trade was done with sales of selected lots at $8.40 to $8.65 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

There was no further change in the condition of the market for small meats, prices being about steady at the recent decline noted. Supplies of sheep and lambs coming forward are more liberal than they have been for some time past, for which the demand is good at present prices quoted.

Butchers' cattle, choice, $7.25 to $8; medium, $5 to $6.50; common, $3.50 to $4.50; choice cows, $5.75 to $6; medium, $4.25 to $5.25; bulls, $3 to $5.50; milkers, choice, each, $75 to $80; common and medium, each $50 to $70; springers, $40 to $60.

Sheep—Ewes, $4 to $4.25; bucks and culls, $3.25 to $3.75; lambs, $5 to $6.50.

Hogs—F.o.b., $8.40 to $8.65. Calves—$1.50 to $8.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, July 8.—Cattle—Receipts, 13,000; market steady to 10c lower; beeves, $5.70 to $9.70; Texas steers, $5.80 to $7.40; western steers, $6.25 to $7.70; stockers and feeders, $4 to $6.75; cows and heifers, $2.70 to $8; calves, $6 to $8.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 30,000; market easy; early advance lost; light, $7.10 to $7.60; mixed, $7.05 to $7.60; heavy, $6.95 to $7.60; rough, $6.95 to $7.15; pigs, $5.25 to $7.10; bulk of sales, $7.30 to $7.55.

Jogging Laziness into Activity

The merchant whose business lags in the summer has himself to thank.

To slacken the selling pace in the hot season—to lessen Advertising activity—indicates a resignation which has no place in modern business.

If we think we cannot keep our business booming in summer time, we surely will not.

What a jolt it must have been to the fur trade, when the first mid-summer fur advertisement was run in a daily paper! Now many fur stores are following the example of that progressive fur man who dared to believe that fur sales need not go down as the mercury goes up.

Energy, linked with Advertising, has turned the month of January into the biggest selling season for white goods. Advertisements of a high stimulative power, combined with a disregard of "seasons," have opened up automobile selling two months earlier than was once thought possible.. Advertising has started Christmas shopping early in October instead of the middle of December.

Advertising rises superior to seasons and thermometers. The right kind of Advertising strikes a responsive cord in human nature—and human nature is the same in August as in December.

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any recognised Canadian advertising agency, or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503 Lumsden Building, Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write, if interested.

NO FURTHER ACTION IN THE GRASS HILL CASE

Lindsay, July 8—It has been finally settled that the crown will take no further action in the Grass Hill collision case. Any legal fight which may be put up now will be one for damages. It is understood that proceedings of the latter kind will be taken, and that the company have attempted an amicable adjustment of all claims, but the terms were not satisfactory to the injured ones.

REDISTRIBUTION BILL COMING

The Montreal Star puts the following comment, which may be taken as inspired and having some authority behind the statement,

"From present plans the government will introduce and put through at the next session of Parliament, the Redistribution Bill, based upon the new census. The figures have been finally collaborated.

It is probable that the bill, after being presented, will be referred to a special committee of the House, which will delimit the different constituencies and determine the units or representation in rural, as distinguished from urban divisions.

When the last Redistribution Bill was before the House, not a great deal of opposition was encountered outside of the committee, where there was considerable compromise. This time it may be different, as the east will lose ten or twelve seats to the West, and there is a striking similarity in the populations of constituencies in the list of those liable to lose representations. To say which will remain and which will be wiped out, will be a somewhat delicate task for the committee and the House.

That the Bill will be passed next session, however, is beyond doubt as in view of important matters of policy to be determined, the government may consider an appeal to the country advisable before the Parliamentary term is fully expired."

SHAKESPEARE AS AN ACTOR.

He Evidently Was Not a Player of Any Great Power.

It was probably in 1598 that Shakespeare first appeared as Adam and as the elder Knowell, and it was probably in 1602 that he first personated the ghost, being then thirty-eight years old, says Brander Matthews in the North American Review. He was to remain on the stage ten or twelve years longer, but there is no reason to suppose that the parts he played in later life were any more important.

We do not know what characters he undertook in the plays which he wrote after "Hamlet," nor do we know what parts he assumed in the many pieces by other authors which made up the repertory of the company. That he continued to act we need not doubt. For instance, he was one of the performers in Ben Jonson's "Sejanus," probably produced in 1602 or 1603.

But the absence of specific information on this point is evidence that he did not impress himself upon his contemporaries as an actor of power. As Lewes declared, "The mere fact that we hear nothing of his qualities as an actor implies that there was nothing above the line, nothing memorable to be spoken of." The parts which we believe him to have played did not "demand or admit various excellencies."

Shakespeare may have had lofty histrionic ambitions, but probably he was not allowed to gratify his longings, and certainly we have no tradition or hint that he ever failed in what he attempted in the theater. Perhaps we are justified in believing that he had gone on the stage merely as the easiest means of immediately earning his living, that he did not greatly care for acting and that he was satisfied to assume the responsible but subordinate parts for which he was best fitted.

THE ORDINARY MAN.

Some of the Snags He Struck In His Journey Through Life.

The ordinary man walked into a florist's shop and, pointing to a beautiful flowering plant, asked its price.

"That Duodecimum floriatum?" asked the florist as nearly as the ordinary man understood him. "It is worth a dollar."

He dropped in at his physician's office and requested that gentleman to tell what was the matter with him.

"Oh, you've just got a slight manifestation of Nasopharyngeal combiommerus," the doctor said, or words to that apparent effect.

The ordinary man stopped to look at an automobile, and the agent said:

"You see, the differential is set at a tangent to the assimilator, and that brings the obloid paralleling chute in diametric connection with the swiveling trunnion," as nearly as the ordinary man caught the remark.

The ordinary man consulted his lawyer.

"We will appeal to have the decision reversed," declared the attorney, "on the grounds of lex judicatum non contendre posse comitatus." At least that is what the ordinary man gathered.

So he became so bewildered over the way things are told to ordinary people that he was careless when he crossed the street and was run down by an automobile being demonstrated by the agent and was picked up and carried into the doctor's office and called the lawyer to make his will, and later the florist got an order.

And, to pursue him still further, they carved on his monument, "Requiescat in Pace."—Chicago Post.

Standard of Persian Beauty.

"Great care is taken that the Persian girl shall conform to the recognised standard of beauty, which requires her to have a cypress waist, a full moon face, gazelle eyes and eyebrows that meet," says a traveler. "Her eyes, brows and hair must be black as night, her lips, cheeks and gums as red as blood, her skin and teeth as white as almonds and her back, limbs and fingers long. If these conditions are naturally absent they are supplied as far as possible by art. Persian women are always painted, their eyes darkened with khol and their fingers stained with henna."—Chicago News.

Cannon Ball Trees.

One of the most remarkable plants in the world is the cannon ball tree, to be found in British Guiana. The natural height of the tree reaches to eighty or a hundred feet or even taller. The fruit is a hard globular capsule, seven inches or more in diameter, containing numbers of flat, circular seeds rather larger than a dime. It resembles a thirty-two pound shot, is brown in color and very rough.

That Loaded Revolver.

"And you didn't know it was loaded?"

"No, judge, I swear I didn't."

"But before pointing it at the deceased, why did you not look into the barrel to see whether or not it was loaded?"

"Why, judge, that would have been a fool thing to do! It might have exploded and killed me."—Houston Post.

Drew a Crowd.

"I once woke up, if not to find myself famous, at least to find myself attracting considerable attention."

"How was that?"

"I had fallen asleep on a hotel veranda with my mouth wide open."—Washington Herald.

Naturally.

The boys of the We Never Sleep camp, are aggrieved for fear their numerous friends may think their actions at camp, are not as they should be, as a result of an item that appeared in the Review last night, which referred to the disorderly conduct of a camp of boys on the Otonabee.

FAIR BATHERS WOULD LIKE TO SEE BATHING HOUSES ERECTED ALONG THE RIVER

There is a loud cry these hot summer days for bathing houses along the banks of the Otonabee, and it would appear that the opportunity is ripe for a wide awake alderman, or several of them to earn the grateful thanks of hundreds of the fair sex, who would "just love" to take a "G sprawl" into the cool waters. Young ladies and their elders hesitate ere they hie themselves to the unquestionable shelter of a large tree or shubbery to doff their garments, and yet the hot weather of the past few weeks has caused them to overstep the rules as laid down in the Ladies' Home Journal.

This, of course, is in places not subject to the presence of tramps and other wanderers who might be cruel enough to steal the clothes of the swimmers.

A short distance above the Auburn Mills on the east bank, about twenty young ladies and children separated themselves from Dame Fashion's decrees last night and played in the waters. Two of the fairest were admirable swimmers and swam across the river, one of them doing the feat on an ice cream wager with a small boy that she could beat him out. And she did.

There are several suitable places along the river front where bathing houses might be erected for the ladies and children. The cost would be small, and while there might be a cry of "no appropriation," the question is not one that cannot be answered some way or other.

YOUNG MAN ARRESTED HERE BORE RESEMBLANCE TO AN ALLEGED WHITE SLAVER WANTED IN TORONTO

The local police had a young man in custody last week who answers closely to a description being circulated of a certain Walter Kelly, a machinist who left Toronto on March 8th, accompanied by another man's wife. The man whom the police here had in their charge gave his name as Mason, and was supposed to have attempted to secure for immoral purposes a local woman. A budget of disgraceful correspondence to a woman containing abominable suggestions, were found in his possession.

GAVE NAME OF MASON.

Mason, as he gave his name, was allowed to depart and warned to get back to the United States, which he claimed as his home.

Another point in the case appears to have occurred in in Toronto. A young man described as being five feet four inches tall, clean shaven, fair, wearing tan shoes, a brown suit, and with shoulders rather stooped, disappeared with a Toronto car sweeper's wife, incidentally leaving four of her offspring behind. The young man boarded with the woman.

He is alleged to be a white slaver and to have lured women away for immoral purposes. The police of several Ontario towns, as well as American cities along the frontier, are looking for him.

The man who was in custody here wore a brown suit, tan shoes, and in fact resembled in all particulars the description of the man supposed to be Kelly.

At the time of the case here there was no circular advising of the man's crime. Chief Thompson was absent from the city.

NEW WHARF AT SPAULDING'S BAY

It will not be long before the citizens of Peterborough will be able to use the new dock on George street south of Matthew's Packing House.

The steamer Manita has been engaged for some time past in towing stone dredged from the canal about a mile above the Lift Lock to this new dock, for the purpose of filling in. This work is finished and now the dredge is being brought down over the Lift Lock to attack the large bank of earth in front of the wharf and to dig a channel to allow the boats to draw up.

When this has been accomplished the wharf will be ready for use.

'TWAS A HOT DAY.

Several Prostrations Reported In Canadian Cities.

Toronto, July 9.—Ninety-two in the shade and many degrees over the 100 notch in the sun, was the hottest yesterday here, and four prostrations resulted.

All of these men stayed in the hospital over night, and at a late hour were reported to be doing well.

But the heat in Ontario was not nearly as intense as that in Nova Scotia. In Chatham, N.S., the thermometer registered 98 above at one time, and Halifax experienced 96 degrees. In Montral and Quebec City, the hottest was 92, similar to our own spell.

There's a chance that it will get cooler here within a few days, but such is not promised immediately. In the west it is much cooler, with light showers in the south, and heavy ones in the northern portions of the prairies.

Record Heat at Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 9.—According to an announcement by Prof. Ellis, observer at the experimental farm here, the last six days—from 92 to 95—have constituted a record of continuous excessive heat, eclipsing anything experienced in Canada in the last century.

A Polander was picked up unconscious on the street yesterday suffering from sunstroke and died in a hospital last night without regaining consciousness.

Saber-toothed Tiger.

The saber-toothed tiger, long since extinct, was in some respects the most highly organized of the cat family. The word "saber-toothed" explains itself and alludes to the tremendous development of the canine teeth of the upper jaw, which were compressed, sharp-edged and bladelike. Projecting in some species as much as six inches below the gum, these constituted the most formidable stabbing instruments known to the cat tribe. Only in a very general sense can the term "tiger" be applied to this great cat, as a means of indicating its equality in size and strength to that well-known species. Otherwise they are not at all alike.

Judging from the skeleton remains that have been found, the saber-toothed tiger was a short-tailed, heavily-built beast, with massive forequarters, suggesting very limited leaping powers and little speed in running. The immense fangs and the muscular development required to give force to their stroke affected the shape of the head in a singular way. The space between the ear and the eye is very short. A chin much larger than usual in the cat family is also noticeable.

Although these singular animals finally become extinct through the change of ages in the strenuous growth of the world, they managed to exist for a long period, and were widely scattered over the earth. Remains of many species have been discovered in England and other parts of Europe, as well as in India.

YOUNG LAD BADLY BURNED WHILE AT PLAY

While workmen were engaged yesterday in overhauling the building to be used for the south end branch of the Union Bank, an accumulation of rubbish on the "V" at the corner of Park and Reid streets, caught fire and the blaze working itself to the black muck brought about a bed of coals after several hours.

In the evening, children were playing at this point, and Albert Smith, a youngster about six years of age, whose home is at 470 Peterson street, fell on this bed of coals and was badly burned about the arms and leg.

Chief Howard was notified of the trouble at his home, and on his arrival, the fire was extinguished.

The little lad suffers considerable pain from the burns.

WEDDING BELLS

The Calgary Herald says: — A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dafoe, when Violetta Eileen Eyres was married to Charles Arming Richardson. Rev. S. E. Marshall performed the ceremony. The bride looked very pretty in her gown of soft ivory satin with silver embroidered tunic with beaded fringe. Her bouquet was of roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, who was Miss Carrie Eyres, sister of the bride, wore a dainty frock of cream silk with bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. L. C. Wilson was groomsman. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson will spend their honeymoon at Ocean Park, Vancouver Island, and on their return will live at Hounsfield Heights.

CURTAINS TO BE REMOVED IN RESTAURANTS

Hamilton, July 8.—Alderman Bird and Alderman Davey, who were appointed a special committee by the license committee to make an inspection of Chinese and other restaurants in the city, with a view to ascertaining if it would not be advisable to pass a by-law which will provide that no rooms shall be curtained off, visited a number of places last night. It is likely that they will recommend the committee at its next meeting to immediately order all curtains removed. The rule will apply to all restaurants.

THE INDEPENDENT TIRE COMPANY

Guelph Mercury.

There has been a rumor going around the streets for the past few days that the Independent Tire Co., which has been erecting a factory in St. Patrick's Ward, is not an active industry. The Mercury asked the Mayor Thorp this morning if there were any truth in it.

"There is not one word of truth in it. The Independent Tire Company is fulfilling its obligations to the city to the very letter of the agreement, and the machinery will soon be installed and the plant in full operation. State emphatically that there is not a word of truth in the rumor." That was the mayor's answer, and it would seem to do away with any doubt there might be.

A syndicate of French, English and Canadian capitalists, headed by Sir Rodolphe Forget, is said to have approached the Government with a view to securing a subsidy for a new fast transatlantic steamship service.

A deputation representing Vancouver organized labor has asked for the appointment of a board to investigate the walkout and conditions generally in the construction camps of the C.N.R. in British Columbia.

MORE INFORMATION WANTED BEFORE PAVING OF CHAMBERS STREET IS PROCEEDED WITH

City Engineer to Prepare Specifications—Concrete Gives Satisfaction Says Wm. Lytle Who Makes an Offer to the Board—Some More Discussion on the "White Elephant"

The City Board of Works decided last evening that the paving of Chambers street will not be commenced until the City Engineer has drawn up and submitted specifications governing all conditions in connection with the work. This was agreed to, after Mr. W. H. Lytle, had been heard offering to pave Chambers street with reinforced concrete.

Mr. Lytle highly recommended concrete, quoting several places where it is in use, and giving satisfaction in every respect. Chatham, Windsor, and Brampton all have streets laid with it, and the Lakeshore Road, Toronto, was being laid with the same class of material.

Mr. Lytle's pavement is laid with a five foot base with 2 inch wear. It is reinforced with No. 9 galvanized netting.

"You will make no mistake, gentlemen," said Mr. Lytle, "if you use concrete for your paving." Some objections were raised against concrete, however, by Ald. Graham, who thought it would be extremely noisy having such a hard surface.

"Any pavement," explained Mr. Lytle, in rebuttal, "is liable to be hard and noisy, after it undergoes a low temperature."

The only thing admitted by Mr. Lytle was that nothing could be done to remedy the contraction and expansion of concrete after being laid.

The committee finally came to the decision stated, before taking any action.

It was pointed out that the property owners on Chambers street desire pavement as petitioned for, and the sooner it was done the better.

THOSE BOAT HOUSES.

The parties who erected boat houses at the end of Rink street on the river bank, will be requested to remove them. Nobody seemed to know where they received their authority.

On motion of Ald. Anderson and the Mayor, the owners will be ordered to have them removed.

ROMAINE STREET SEWER.

Willis Chipman's letter regarding the trouble at the Romaine street sewer was again brought up. The letter outlined about eleven or twelve methods for the remedying of the trouble.

Mr. Chipman offered to send Mr. Armstrong down again to oversee the repair work.

PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRY.

Ald Buller—I am not in favor of it all. I think there are brains enough in Peterborough to do the work.

Moved by Ald. Graham and Johnston, that Willis Chipman be informed that the city will endeavor to make the necessary repairs alone.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Anderson and Graham, that City Engineer Hay be given instructions to go on with the repairs at Romaine street sewer as suggested by Mr. Chipman, after consulting with the City Solicitor.—Carried.

A petition was received from East City residents on the north side of Smith street for a cement walk.

Moved by Ald. Anderson and Johnston, that the sidewalk be placed on the advertised list.

Moved in amendment by Ald. Graham, that the matter of laying the walk be left over until the committee inspect the locality.—Carried.

Mr. T. H. Rutherford and I. Eastwood waited upon the Board of Works in connection with the erection of a house for the latter over the Hunter street bridge. The Council at its last meeting decided that Mr. Rutherford must build the first wall 14 inches thick and the second storey 9 inches. Mr. Rutherford as contractor objected to these conditions on the ground that a couple of years ago, the J. M. Greene Music Company building was erected on the Charlotte street creek, the walls throughout their store being only 9 inches thick.

"It looks as if the Council makes fish of one and flesh of the other," said Mr. Rutherford.

When the matter was explained to Mr. Eastwood he announced his readiness to comply with the Council's decision which is in accordance with the building by-law.

A QUEER PRESENT.

The Memento Henry Irving Once Presented to Helen Keller.

In J. Henry Harper's book, "The House of Harper," be tells a story of Helen Keller and Henry Irving. They met at Laurence Hutton's house, and the blind girl seemed to be so conversant with "Hamlet" that Irving invited her to "witness" his performance, and she readily accepted. "After the second act Irving sent word to her that he should like to have her come on the stage if she was so inclined, and when she arrived he showed her around and explained the stage setting. She ran her hands gently over his costume and seemed to be much pleased with his makeup.

"As she was leaving to return to her box Irving thought that he ought to give her some little memento of the occasion. He realized that in his costume as Hamlet there was nothing he could readily spare, but as it was his custom to put on his eyeglasses as soon as the curtain went down he took them off and handed them to her.

"In the middle of the next act he suddenly recalled the fact that Miss Keller was blind, and he told me that it almost broke him up when he thought of the faux pas he had made."

The Office Boy's Windfall.

It takes little to encourage a poet. A typographical error, says the Washington Star, fanned the flame of hope in the breasts of the Crestville versifiers. The local editor had written this notice for the head of the editorial page:

"Poultry taken in exchange for subscriptions and advertising." But in the paper the note appeared as "Poetry taken in exchange."

However, the only person who profited by this error was the office boy, for the next fortnight he sold to the junkman a quarter's worth of paper from the wastebasket every day.—Youth's Companion.

Womanly Intuition.

Mrs. Flatleigh—The new family upstairs have a lot of money, but they used to be very poor and ordinary. Mr. Flatleigh—How do you know? Have you called on them? Mrs. Flatleigh—No, but there was a half eaten broiled lobster and a whole Camembert cheese in their garbage can on the dumb waiter this morning.—Judge.

Crazed With Heat.

Windsor, July 9.—Half-crazed with the intense heat and suffering from neuralgia, William Mickle, aged 40, a prosperous farmer residing near Amherstburg in Malden Township, committed suicide by hanging Sunday. When his mother missed Mickle from the house after an absence of several hours, she set out in search of him, and was horrified to discover the lifeless body dangling from the end of a strap attached to the rafters in a tool shed some distance from the farm house.

Mr. Mickle leaves a widow and three children. Coroner Pike, who was called, decided an inquest was unnecessary.

Jos. Jubenville, aged 70, for 21 years in the land revenue service at Windsor, is dead.

DEATH LIST AT CADEBY MINE PLACED AT EIGHTY

Presence of the King and Queen In the District Is Responsible For a General Holiday Which Greatly Decreases the Loss of Life—Sixty-Nine Bodies Have Been Taken Out—Three Inspectors Perish.

Conisbrough, England, July 10.—The bodies of 69 victims of a series of explosions in the Cadeby colliery yesterday morning have been brought to the surface. It is feared that a further search of the mine will increase the death roll to eighty. Of the killed, thirty were mine workers; the others were men who went into the pits to rescue those entombed. Among these were three Government inspectors, including Wm. Henry Pickering, chief inspector of mines, Yorkshire and North Midland district, who was to have epxlained to King George and Queen Mary this afternoon the workings of another Yorkshire colliery.

The King Monday visited a colliery adjacent to that in which the explosions occurred yesterday. The presence of Their Majesties in the district greatly minimized the fatalities, because the miners were celebrating and had taken a holiday. Therefore instead of the usual 1,236 only 32 men were working in that part of the mine where the accident happened. Thirty of these were killed outright and one, the manager of the pit, was brought up alive, but died last night.

The first explosion which killed the miners occurred early in the morning. It was followed by an explosion about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, which resulted in the collapse of the roof, overwhelming the entire rescuing brigade.

The King and Queen visited the scene last night and personally expressed their sympathy.

An accumulation of gas which was ignited by the firing of a shot is believed to have been the cause of the disaster.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY GOMPERS

Special to the Review.

Trenton, N.J., July 10.—After a conference between Gov. Wilson and Samuel Gompers, and other officials of the American Federation of Labor yesterday, Gompers announced they had discussed the platform adopted at the Baltimore conference, and expressed approval of the planks relating to labor legislation, which they thought went as far as any political party could go with assurance of making it law. He would not say whether the laboring man would support the Democratic ticket, but said the officials would report to the Federation and they would make the declaration.

Captain Brown Censured.

Ottawa, July 10.—The recent accident in the Welland Canal to the Government boat La Canadienne, which carried away a lock gate and caused a big wash, which drowned three children, has been reported by Captain Lindsay, acting wreck commissioner.

Captain Brown is severely censured, but his certificate is not suspended. He will remain in position, but the occurrence will be noted in the record of his service.

CONSERVATIVES CALLED UPON TO FIGHT CORRUPTION

Closing Days of Election In Saskatchewan Are Full of Excitement and Arrests and Counter-Arrests Are the Order of the Hour—Both Sides Claim Victory and the Result May Be Close—Violence Feared.

Regina, July 10.—Charges and counter-charges and arrests and counter-arrests are marking the closing days of the bitterest campaign in the history of Saskatchewan elections. Feeling is running high and both sides are confidently claiming victory.

The Conservatives are claiming particularly the cities, Northern Saskatchewan, and the constituencies along the main line of the C.P.R. The Liberals claim that the districts which overwhelmingly voted for reciprocity last September will remain true to the Government and are counting on Central and Southern Saskatchewan as their chief strongholds. If the election is at all close, as many are predicting, the result may not be known for several days, as results are always slow in coming in from some of the outlying divisions.

Both sides are anticipating trouble on election day and are preparing for stormy scenes at the polls. Both parties are calling upon their workers to arrest all impersonators and heelers.

The Regina Province in an editorial yesterday said:

"Conservatives must arm and protect the polls. Don't hesitate to knock on the head one of Calder's crooks. They are nothing but a band of heelers, hirelings and criminals secured to terrorize the electors. Be sure that the punishment inflicted is sufficient to put these crooks out of business for the day.

"The Attorney-General's Department has ceased to administer justice. It is making a reign of terror in this province. Conservatives must protect themselves. Smash every crook who attempts interference. There is no law in Saskatchewan, but there will be after July 11. Don't hesitate to hit the crooks, and see that the blow is sufficient to put this gang out of business."

H.R.H. In Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, July 10.—Greeted by an outburst of enthusiasm unprecedented in the history of Winnipeg, the Duke of Connaught and Princess Patricia arrived here last night. The streets blazed with lights, and fifty thousand people crowded the thoroughfares along which the royal party passed.

The royal visitors were driven to the City Hall, where Mayor Waugh extended a civic welcome.

Napoli Is Committed.

Toronto, July 10.—Joseph Napoli appeared before Magistrate Brunton yesterday morning in the county police court on a charge of murdering Michael Gyrada, and was committed for trial at the next assizes. Only two witnesses were called by the crown. These were Dr. Forbes Godfrey, who performed the post-mortem examination, and Martin Gyrada, a brother of the murdered man.

Youthful House-Breakers Sentenced.

London, July 10.—Six months each in the Central Prison was the sentence meted out by Judge Macbeth yesterday to Harry Wilson and Henry Miller, two young men giving their address as Montreal, who were found guilty of breaking into the houses of Frank Cheesman and Mrs. Emily Larsen of East London, on the day of Ringling's Circus here.

TO CRUSH THE MOVEMENT

Special to the Review.

Lisbon, Portugal, July 10—A decree published in the Official Gazette calls up immediately all reserves of all arms in first and fourth divisions. The decree adds the Government wishes to crush as quickly as possible the monarchist movement.

PLANS FOR WHITBY ASYLUM

Toronto, July 10.—The Government has drawn up plans for the new asylum at Whitby, which will cost approximately $700,000. It was announced yesterday that buildings will be constructed of concrete taken from the provincial prison farm at Guelph.

The asylum grounds will cover a plot of 600 acres, located on the west side of the bay at Whitby. Instead of one large building to accommodate the patients, the Government has devised a plan to segregate them in a number of cottages.

At the last session of the Legislature $600,000 was appropriated for the purpose of providing the new asylum to house the mental deficients, who are crowded out of the Queen street Asylum on account of the purchase of that institution and site by the railway for yards. It is believed now, however, that the outlay will not defray all the expenses, and that the Whitby institution will entail an expenditure of nearly $700,000.

While the general scheme has been outlined, two or three alternative plans will be considered by the Government. These will vary in detail only. The plans have to be passed upon by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-council before the buildings can be erected.

Although nothing official has been learned, it is understood that the Government intends to dispose of the Hamilton and Mimico Asylums, as well as the West Queen street institution here, which will shortly be demolished, and to house all the patients from these three hospitals at Whitby. Of course, in doing this, additional buildings would necessarily be constructed in Whitby to accommodate all. The Government does not mean to take this step immediately, but intends to make arrangements to this effect, to be carried out in the future.

POISONING AT RE-UNION

Four Are Dead and Others Reported as Dying.

Special to the Review.

Augusta, Ga., July 10.—Four are dead, and seven are reported by physicians to be dying, and eighteen others critically ill from eating meat poisoned through mixing seasoning containing vinegar and black pepper in a zinc tub. The meat was eaten at a re-union of a Canidy family at Garfield, Ga. All available nurses from Augusta have been rushed to the scene.

TEACHERS FROM SCOTLAND HERE

Quebec, July 10.—W. A. Main of Whitehall School, Glasgow, landed yesterday from the Scandinavian with a considerable party of Scottish school teachers, bent on a two week's tour of Ontario. J. H. Ingram, also of Glasgow, who is to conduct another large party later, traveled by the same steamer. The party, who are chiefly ladies, have been recognized by the Quebec and Ontario Governments. In Quebec they are being met by the Dominion immigration agent, Dr. Lavoie, at the instance of Supt. W. D. Scott, and they are being driven about the city. Similar attentions will be paid them in Ottawa, when they proceed to Algonquin Park and Muskoka. At Toronto the Deputy Minister of Education, the chairman of the school board and the Principals' Association have arranged for their entertainment, and they will visit Niagara. Half the party is from Glasgow, the remainder from Lanarkshire and Ayrshire. It is the first organized party of Scottish teachers in Canada.

CEMETERY OF SUICIDES.

The Dreary Plot In Which Monte Carlo Buries Its Victims.

Matilda Betham-Edwards in her book "In the Heart of the Vosges" advises all visitors to Monte Carlo to go to the suicides' cemetery before those other places for which Monte Carlo is famous. She describes the small inclosure, walled in and having a gate of open ironwork, always locked.

"Here, in close proximity to garden rubbish," she says, "broken bottles and other refuse rest the suicides of Monte Carlo, buried by the parish gravedigger, without funeral and without any kind of religious ceremony. Each grave is marked by an upright bit of wood, somewhat larger than that by which gardeners mark their seeds, and on which is painted a number, nothing more. Apart from these are stakes driven into the ground which mark as yet unappropriated spots. The indescribable dreariness of the scene is heightened by two monumental stones garlanded with wreaths and surrounded by flowers. The first records the memory of a young artisan and was raised by his fellow workmen; the second commemorates brotherly and sisterly affection. Both suicides were driven to self murder by play.

"The remainder are mere numbers. There are poor gamesters as well as rich, and it is only or chiefly the poor ones who are put into the ground here. The bodies of rich folks' relatives, if identified, are immediately removed. Many suicides are buried at Nice and Mentone, but the larger proportion further off still."
